Charles F. Clark

THE NEW YORK
Genealogical and Biographical Record.

VOL. XXXVII.

NEW YORK, JANUARY, 1906.

No. 1.

CHARLES FINNEY CLARK.

CONTRIBUTED BY HENRY TAYLOR GRAY.

Charles Finney Clark, for twenty-eight years president of the company known throughout the whole business world as "Bradstreet's," came from old New England stock of English and Scotch origin. His father, the Rev. Gardiner Kellogg Clark, born in 1776 at Bradford, Vermont, was one of a family of ten children, another of the ten being the Rev. Laban Clark, the eminent Methodist preacher, who was one of the founders of Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., and one of the organizers of the missionary system of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His grandfather, Joseph Clark of New Salem, N. H., was born in 1751, and married, in 1774, Sarah Morrison of New Hamsted, N. H. His great-grandfather was Joseph Clark of Roxbury, Mass., a descendant of William Clark of Marblehead, Mass., 1638. His mother, whose maiden name was Lucy Bement Hitchcock, was the daughter of Peter and Ruth Bliss Hitchcock of Brimfield, Mass.

He was born August 30, 1836, at Preble, Cortland County, N. Y., and was educated at Homer Academy, situated in the same county, then under the administration of Professor Woolworth. While still a student of this institution he found it necessary to become a teacher to pay his current expenses. Thus at the age of fourteen years he began teaching in a district school in Preble township, and continued to do so while obtaining his education. Upon leaving the academy he went to Detroit, Michigan, and entered the employ of Z. Chandler & Co., the head of the firm becoming afterward the celebrated United States Senator, Zachariah Chandler of Michigan. In 1857 he entered the law office of Crane and Wesson of Detroit, and studied with them for four years. During this time he became interested in Bradstreet's Mercantile Reports, which were first printed in 1849 by John M. Bradstreet, to whom belongs the credit of originating a system, and first issuing a book, of commercial ratings intended to inform merchants of all the facts necessary for the determination of the wisdom of granting credits to the subjects of the reports.

While still in the office of Crane and Wesson, Mr. Clark acted as the first Detroit representative of the Bradstreet Agency, and after leaving the law office he resolved to devote his sole attention to Bradstreet's work. Thus he began his noteworthy career, closely bound up with the progress of American commerce, and found his mission in the development of a great credit institution, which, under the animating impulse of his master spirit, became at length international in its scope. At that time, however, the value of the mercantile reports system was so little appreciated that he found it necessary to engage in other occupations for support while still developing the business upon which he had set his heart. Accordingly he published a city directory of Detroit and a state gazetteer of Michigan, and for a year was publisher of The Detroit Post, of which Carl Schurz was then the editor. Meantime he persisted in pushing the interests of Bradstreet's reports, and was repaid by the steady growth of their popularity as well as the recognition of his services by the Agency. He was promoted, first, to the Philadelphia office of Bradstreet's, then to that of Boston, and later was made general superintendent of the Agency, with headquarters at New York. In April, 1876, the business was incorporated, and Mr. Clark became the secretary of the company. His rare ability and wide experience in the conduct of the business pointed him out as the man to whom should be intrusted its guidance, and in August, 1876, he became the president of Bradstreet's, and from that time until his death his initiative and inspiration were felt throughout all the ramifications of this vast enterprise. Under his administration, and largely because of his energy and ability, the company has extended its business many fold until now it is known and appreciated throughout the whole civilized world.*

Though the development of The Bradstreet Company as an indicator and conservator of credit absorbed the best energies of Mr. Clark, particularly during the institution's formative period, his interests were not confined to it. His counsel was highly valued in business circles. He was elected vice-president of the Washington Trust Company, of which he was also one of the original incorporators, and served as director of the American Cotton Oil Company, the Cataract Construction Company, the Niagara Falls Power Company, the Niagara Development Company and the Niagara Junction Railway Company. Recognition of the place he filled in financial and business life was shown by his selection as one of the "captains of industry" representing American finance, commerce, industry, credit and invention, at the famous luncheon given in New York, February, 1902, to Prince Henry of Prussia on the occasion of his visit to the city as the personal representative of his brother, the German Emperor. He was a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce, the

* In this connection it may be interesting to note that the first printed volume of Bradstreet's Reports contained 110 pages, 17,100 names and 9 places, the intention at that time being to print only the larger cities. The last volume for 1905 contains 2,658 pages, 91,576 places and 1,468,607 names.

American Geographical Society and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. His social interests found expression in a number of clubs—the Union League, Metropolitan, Grolier, Lotos, Church and Merchants' Clubs, and in the St. Andrew and New England Societies. Since 1882 he had been an active member, vestryman and treasurer of St. James Protestant Episcopal Church of New York City. He died suddenly in London, September 3, 1904, of heart failure, presumably caused by indigestion, aged sixty-eight years. His body was brought back on the Oceanic and buried in this country.

Mr. Clark was a man of uncommon ability and singular strength of character. To an intelligence of rare comprehensiveness, fitted to view affairs in their larger relations, he joined an immense capacity for detail and a degree of executive ability such as is given to but few men to possess. His interest in the great movements of the world was keen and active, and he deemed nothing foreign to him which could in any way, however remote, affect the currents of credit. His habit of mind was essentially conservative, and nearness to events did not disturb his perspective. As he impressed his individuality deeply upon the institution which he so long directed, so he left an abiding mark upon the business of credit-rating itself, to which his labors, informed by high ideals, have added uplift and dignity. The work done by this great constructive genius has not been lost. He has left behind him a vast organization to whose elaboration he contributed the main impulse. His character, while full-orbed and evenly balanced, was specially marked by an exceeding earnestness and modesty, and by a quietness of temper which nothing seemingly could disturb.

No character and influence so dominating could pass away without the loss being keenly felt. In its memorial resolutions the Board of Directors of the Bradstreet Company deplore Mr. Clark's sudden death and say:

"When Mr. Clark entered the service of the Agency, and even when he became its President, the business of this Company and, indeed, the business of credit reporting, as now conducted, was still in its infancy, and not only this Company, but the Mercantile Agency business in general, is largely indebted to Mr. Clark for its present methods, policies and high principles, and for its efficiency as a means of promoting and safeguarding the great trade of the world under the modern credit system. Mr. Clark, with his lofty conceptions of the purposes and functions of the Mercantile Agency, insisted always upon considering it as a profession, and he devoted himself to it as a profession with zeal, broad intelligence, an insistence upon the highest ethical principles, and with a forcefulness which impressed his earnestness and elevated ideals upon all his associates.

Mr. Clark was a leader of men, with a genius for organization, an unlimited capacity for work on broad lines, and for patient attention to details. He was also the most modest of men. The name Bradstreet's is known throughout the world, but thousands of its patrons never heard the name of Mr. Clark. It was no regret to him that this was so. He pursued this career, in which he achieved such brilliant success, because he loved the work and the interesting problems it presented, and because he had profound convictions as to its importance and value to the business world; and during his Presidency his chief ambition, as he himself often stated, was to perfect the organization of the Company so that its efficiency, success and prosperity would be independent of the life of any one man. It is a consolation to those who mourn his death that this ambition has been attained; that Bradstreet's will remain as an enduring monument of his achievements, and that its great work will be continued on the lines marked out for it by the earnest and gentle spirit which created and organized it."

The Board of Trustees of the Washington Trust Company also in their resolutions, after expressing their profound sorrow in the death of their esteemed associate, Charles F. Clark, say:

"Mr. Clark was one of the original incorporators, a trustee and first Vice-President of this Company from its inception. He was a man of untarnished integrity, clear perception and of wise business foresight. In addition to these traits of character, his personality bore the charm of rare sweetness and strength. A devoted Christian gentleman, courteous, patient, free from prejudice, single-minded and equitable in his judgment, he made a firm friend of each and every one of his associates. The success attained by this Company is in an important degree due to his wise counsel and aid faithfully rendered to this corporation. His death brings to each member of the Board of Trustees a feeling of deep personal loss. We shall miss his genial face and courtly manners, and his memory will ever remain a fragrant inspiration."

Charles Finney Clark was married, first, June 12, 1862, at Detroit, Michigan, to Sarah M. Wilder. She died January 4, 1869, leaving one child, Sarah Juliette, now the wife of the Rev. Henry Phipps Ross of Providence, R. I. He married again, October 13, 1870, Ellen Marcia Fogg, daughter of Ezra D. Fogg of Providence, R. I., and Sarah Shelden Martin, and by her had two children Ella Mabel Clark and Charles Martin Clark. His widow and his three children survive him.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

Easterly part of cemetery at Rahway, N. J., on St. George Avenue, formerly the cemetery of the old Presbyterian Church. Copied from stones standing in 1903.

BY GEORGE W. THOMAS, CRANFORD, N. J.

NOTES.—The tombstones are crumbling away and letters are defacing. In many cases all the history of the dead that can now be known is that conveyed by these inscriptions. Early records were destroyed by fire during the Revolution, Church was burned, and early Elizabethtown, N. J. records are lost.

Where (verse) appears it indicates that the tombstone had one or more verses inscribed on it. (S. A. R. Monument) indicates that the Sons of the American Revolution have placed one of their iron monuments at the grave.

THE SKILLMANS OF AMERICA AND THEIR KIN.

BY WILLIAM JONES SKILLMAN, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The Skillmans of the New World are quite commonly assumed to be of Dutch descent. In one way this is a mistake, though in another clearly a fact. They are Dutch in two respects. First, the mothers of them on this continent were of Dutch or Huguenot lineage, though the father was an Englishman, an enlisted soldier under Col. Nicolls, to whom Nieuw Amsterdam surrendered in 1664, becoming thereafter New York. This conquest achieved, the ancestor, so the story goes, being specially attached to his commander, now made Governor of the Province, did not return with his comrades in arms to the homeland, but soon took a wife and settled permanently in the Newtown, (L. I.) region, at Maspeth or Dutch Kills. Then the children afterwards intermarried with their Hollandish neighbors, and so the family ultimately came to be much more largely of Belgic than of British blood. But secondly, even in England, the Skillmans were of Dutch stock originally. Their paternal forebears came to Britain from the Low Countries, some of them hundreds of years before the Nicolls or Duke of York Expedition set sail from Portsmouth Harbor for America. Flemings, we know, flocked early into England, and we are not surprised to find in 1299 an Adam Skileman at Norwich, and others of the name also at various points, especially scattered through those shires of the island, from Kent northwards, bordering on the German Ocean, particularly in the fen country of Lincolnshire. A John Skilman is of record in the Hundred Rolls of Edward I (1275), and a Henry Skileman is mentioned in Writs of Parliament. One of the name is found at Wymondham, Norfolk, and another at Eltham, Kent, is keeper of the King's Park. There have been Londoners of the name for centuries, and these Skillmans all, we cannot doubt, came ancestrally from the not far away Belgic coast. They were Dutch in short, as, indeed, were the Jutes, Saxons, and Angles of an earlier time. Quite surely, too, were they kinsfolk of the Schillemans to be found extendedly, even today, in the country round about Bruges and in neighboring South Holland. An immense family this, representatives of which from Sluis, Zeeland, singular to note, are, in our own generation, pioneers in the Netherlandish Settlements on Lake Michigan, in the State of that name in this country. Some Schillemans, in fact, are at this time living in Rochester, N. Y., later comers from the old to the new world, who, it is understood, now also anglicize their name, spelling it, that is, just as do the rest of us, their very, very far off cousins.

The Skillmans of America, hence, though not strictly Dutch, are yet, near the outset, really more Dutch than English. The head of the family came probably from London or from near there. He was a musician in the Nicolls forces, and all his life, tradition says, was a musician. With his commander he sailed in the Guincy, the chief of the three (possibly four) very small vessels that brought the adventurers to these shores. Down to this day he is known among his descendants always as Captain Thomas Skillman, a courtesy title, or one gained in later service in this country, or possibly it came from some militia connection merely. After that August morning when Nieuw Amsterdam became New York, we next hear of our ancestor the following year, when, Feb. 19, 1665, at Elizabeth Town, fifth in a list of 60 or more, bearing such names as Ogden, Drake, Tuttle, Dickenson, Whitehead, Woodruff, Crane, Marsh, and others, he took oath of allegiance to King Charles II; but he did not stay in that first New Jersey settlement, for the next year, in the Nicolls' Patent, dated Jan. 23, 1666, he is named as an "inhabitant and freeholder" of Newtown. Then very shortly, he took to another spell of soldiering, or was one of twenty-five men, sent apparently as a special contingent by the Governor himself, to chastise the Indians who three years previously had perpetrated the cruel Wiltwyck Massacre. The names of himself and companions (See Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New York, pp. 418-19) are given, and some of them, the savages having been punished, settled down and made their future homes in that region so recently harried. Among these were Thomas Quinnell, Robt. Peacock, Fred'k Hussey, Jno. Biggs, Henry Pawling (afterwards Captain), Sam'l Oliver, Edward Whittaker, Anthony Addyson, Wm. Fisher, Geo. Hall (Sheriff later on), Cornelis Arson, and others. At all events, we find the names, presumably of descendants of theirs, in the Register of the old Dutch Church of Kingston, as the original village or settlement, after the British occupancy, was called. To these twenty-five men the Governor had promised a land bounty of ten acres each at Esopus, and subsequently these "lots" were surveyed and laid out by Jacques Cortelleau (Cortelyou), from whom numbers of descendants are to-day found on Long Island and especially in New Jersey, the nearest neighbor of the writer's father, when he himself was a child in that State, and several of his own earliest schoolmates, being of that old-time Walloon household. But Thomas Skillman did not stay or enter upon his small estate at Esopus, nor are we told of any disposition made of it by him. He received his discharge as a soldier (Vol. II, p. 390, Court of Assizes, Dept. Hist. Records, Sec. of State's Office), and we note (Legis. Proceed's 1689-90) that he also was given "14 oz. of plate for services at Albany under Captain Lewis." This I cannot explain. Particulars other than these of the ancestor's life are of scant record. His death must have occurred about 1697, his widow afterward marrying Cornelis Breese. (Juriaen Bries and Volkert Bries, of "Brookland," are names found in the census list of Kings County taken about 1698.) At his death his estate fell, by his will (assumed) to Sara, his wife, she, however, April 1, 1699, transferring the fourth part of it, "housing, lands, meadows, and orchards, rights, privileges, advantages, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging and in any wise appertaining" to their only son, Thomas.

With this brief introduction we now pass to the formal record (condensed) of the Skillman Family in this country, direct and collateral, running through the first three and possibly into some of the later generations, so far as details at present date can be fairly well determined.

1. THOMAS' SKILLMAN, b. 1635-40. Soldier under Col. Richard Nicolls in Expedition of Duke of York, ordered by the King, Feb. 25, 1664, sailed from Portsmouth, May 15, and dropped anchor in the harbor of Nieuw Amsterdam (near present Fort Hamilton), Aug. 18, same year. After the surrender he stayed in this country and became "inhabitant and freeholder" at Newtown (L. I.), under Nicolls' Patent of Jan. 23, 1666. Served in Esopus War; honorably discharged April 6, 1668. (See Introduction, ante). In 1669 he m. Sara, dau. of John Petit, Newtown, of whom Huntingdon (Hist. of Stamford) says: "John Petet was here (Stamford, Ct.) early, and had children recorded to him before 1650. Inventory, dated 5, 4, 1676, made by Rich^d. Law and Francis Bell, mentions his widow, Sarah (Scofield), two sons (names not given), and daus. Sarah, Mary, and Bethia. Rich^d. Law appointed guardian of his (John Petet's) children in a court of magistrates, the Gov^r. being present, 14, 4, 1662. Debrow Pettit here (Stamford) in 1657. Name afterward spelled Petit." Rev. Samuel Orcutt (Hist. of Stratford and Bridgeport, p. 103) says: "John Pettit was in Roxbury in 1639, and at Stratford in 1651. Probably soon removed to Stamford, and thence to Newtown, L. I." John Petit and Sarah Scofield, his wife, were the parents of Sara, wife of Thomas Skillman. Children:

2 i. Thomas,² b. 1671.

3 ii. Elsje, b. 1672.

iii. Sara, b. 1675; m. Cornelis Hendricxsen, 1694. Their dau. Marytje, bap. in Ref. Dutch (Collegiate) Church, of New York, Aug. 10, 1695, Jacobus Kock and Elizabeth de Boog, witnesses.

iv. Lijsbet, b. 1677. Sponsor at bap. (Collegiate Church) of her sister Elsje's child, Jan, Sept. 21, 1701. She m. Jan Aten, of Flatbush, brother of Thomas, settled at Jamaica, L. I., and had a child bap. there (Ref. Dutch Church), in 1705, Thomas Aten and Elsje Schilman, sponsors. In 1710-15, with other members of the Aten family, Jan removed to Three Mile Run, N. J.; an Elder in the Ref. Dutch Church there in 1717. (See Records of the First Reformed Dutch Church, New Brunswick, N. J.) Jan Aten's will, probated March 13, 1743, names his wife Elizabeth.

2. THOMAS' SKILLMAN (Thomas'), b. 1671. Name signed with others, "inhabitants of Helgate Neck," to a petition, May 11, 1703. Was Commissioner of Highways, Newtown, 1714; joint owner also with Jos. and Sam'l Hallett, Sam'l and Jos. Moore, and Isaac Bragaw, of a plat, 30 x 22 feet for a School House,

May 20, 1721. This building was at Middletown (near Dutch Kills), on the road from Hallett's Cove to Newtown Village. His name appears as witness to deed given by his son, Isaac, to Sam'l Albertus in 1729. Subscribed £5 for erection of Dutch Ref. Church of Newtown, 1731. The first board of Kerck Meesters (wardens or trustees) of this church, chosen 1736, were Peter Berrien, Thomas Skillman, and Petrus Schenck. His pew in this church was No. 1, on the northwest side of the middle aisle, and his family home (which had been his father's, the homestead), was at Dutch or Maspeth Kills. In 1693, Thomas, m. Annetje, dau. of Adriaen Hendricksen Aten (Aaten, Aate, Aeten, Atje) "immigrant, 1651, 36 y'r" (his age then), from Holland (van Doesburg), who settled at Flatbush, L. I.; was chosen Constable, Oct., 1665; sold parcels of land there, April 3, and again Nov. 5 of that year; bought house-lot at Flatbush of Jan Strycker, March 27, 1680. The father and his son Thomas, "native of Flackbush," took oath of allegiance, 1687, wife and mother being Lysbet Thomas, widow of Guysbert Lubbertse. Annetje Aten, wife of Thomas Skillman and mother of his children, was a communicant member of Newtown (Ref. Dutch) Church, 1741. Her parents, March 20, 1696, made a joint will, dividing their estate at death equally among their children, except that that Maritje (bap. at Flatbush Dutch Church, March 31, 1678) was given a double portion, she remaining unmarried and having chief care of the father and mother, perhaps. The will of Thomas' Skillman (Records of Kings County and Queens), dated Feb. 13, 1739, witnessed by Barnadus Van Zandt, John Rapalje, and Cornelis Berrien, Jr., probated July 4, 1740, names his wife, Ann, and all their then living children. Two had died young. They had:

- i. Peter,³ bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church), March 4, 1694. Witnesses: Elsjie Skillman and Elizabeth Booth; also bap. Nov. 4, when Elsjie Skillman with Pieter Siraech, and Cobus Pietersen are sponsors. He d. in infancy.
- ii. Elizabeth, twin with Peter, bap. at same dates, with same witnesses and church; m. 1717, Hendrick Van de Water, N. Y. City. Infant dau. Ann, bap. (Collegiate Church), Aug. 29, 1718, Thomas' Skillman and Baafje Van de Water, sponsors. Both mother and child died. (See Annetje, post.)
- 4 iii. Jan, b. 1696.
- iv. Mary, b. 1698; m. Johannes Bant (Band, Bandt, Bondt, Bond) of N. Y. City. With Jacobus Skillman (brother) was sponsor at bap. (Collegiate Church), Aug. 4, 1726, of Maria, third child of her sister Annetje, second wife of Hendrick Van de Water. At baptism Nov. 18, 1733, of Pieter, babe of Pieter Bond and Catalyntje Meijer, the witnesses are Geo. Lamb and Maria Schilman, wife of J. Bond. Also, and in same church (Collegiate) at bap. Nov. 12, 1735, of Elizabeth, eighth child of Hendrick Van de Water and Anna Skillman, the sponsors are Cornelis Klopper and Maria Skillman, wife of Johs. Band.

- v. Mercy, bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church), Feb. 2, 1701, Isaac Brockaar (Brokaw) and Mercy Van Hove, sponsors. She m. John Fijn (Fine), son probably of Jan Fin and Aaltje Jans, bap. (Collegiate Church) May 18, 1698, Thomas Lourens and Meltje Paro, sponsors.
- 5 vi. Annetje, b. 1703.
- 6 vii. Abraham, b. 1704.
- 7 viii. Isaac, b. 1706.
- 8 ix. Jacob, b. 1708.
- 9 x. Benjamin, b. 1710.
- 10 xi. Joseph, b. 1712.
3. ELSJE² SKILLMAN (Thomas¹), b. 1673; m. 1694, Thomas Aeten, "native of Fflackbush," b. 1770,[?] son of Adriaen Hend. Aeten and Lijsbet Thomas, his wife. Took oath of allegiance (see ab.) at Flatbush, 1687. Elsjje was sponsor at bap. of Elizabeth and Peter, twin children of her brother, Thomas,² in Brooklyn, March 4 (and Nov. 4), 1695. Family removed to Somerset Co., N. J. (Valley of the Raritan), 1710-15. Rev. Dr. Abraham Messler (Somerville) gives names of Dutch families (Hist. of Somerset Co., N. J.), who secured lands on the Raritan River, and settled there between 1681 and 1720. Among these Thomas Aeten and Jan Aeten (near New Brunswick) are noted. "In the list of Families of the First Ref. Ch. (N. Brunswick) from 1732 to 1735," says Rev. P. T. Pockman, pastor 1898, appear the names of Jan Aeten, Jr., and Thomas Aeten. Jan Aeten and Thomas Aeten and wife Elsjje, were members in 1717. Jan Aeten, Jr., joined on confession, May 17, 1734. Also Catalyntje, dau. of Jan Aeten, Jr., and Jannetje (his wife), was bap. Oct. 10, 1736, and Jan, son of Thomas Aeten and Elizabeth, was bap. Dec. 31, 1738." These last are evidently of a later generation. Known children of Elsjje Skillman and Thomas Aeten:
- i. Adriaen Aten, bap. Sept. 4, 1695, in the (Collegiate Church) Ref. Dutch of New York, with grandparents, Adriaen Hend. Aten and Lijsbet Thomas, sponsors. About 1721, Adriaen removed to Readington, N. J., and there lived his life. His will, dated Dec. 8, 1757, and proved Feb. 28, 1758, names Jacobje Middagh, his wife, and her brother Pieter, executors. They had 10 children.
- ii. Jan Aten, bap. in Brooklyn (Ref. Dutch Church) Sept. 21, 1701, Jan Aten (father's brother) and Lijsbet (mother's sister) standing sponsors.
- iii. Jannetje Aten, bap. in Ref. Dutch Church, Brooklyn, April 18, 1704, Thomas Skillman (mother's brother) and Marijtje Aten (father's sister) sponsors, and "Marijtje" here may be a blunder in the record for her sister "Annetje," the wife of Thomas Skillman.

THE THROOPE FAMILY AND THE SCROPE TRADITION.

BY WINCHESTER FITCH.

24. REV. GEORGE⁴ THROOP, b. at Bristol, R. I., 10 March, 1723-4; removed as a child to Lebanon, Ct., m. there 5 Nov., 1746, Mehit-able Bliss, b. there 10 Aug., 1727-8, dau. of Nathaniel and Mehit-able (Spafford) Bliss, and sister of Elijah and Nathaniel Bliss (3), both of whom d. at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, in 1778. There were other intermarriages between these two families and the Fitches, Lymans and Terrys, all of which families sent pioneers to Nova Scotia after the eviction of the Acadians, when govern-ment lands were offered on liberal terms to settlers, many of whom were in turn driven out during the Revolution on refusing to take the British side.

Thomas Bliss, a Puritan of Belstone, in Devonshire, whose sister m. Sir John Calcliffe, was b. about 1580, and m. Margaret Lawrence. Their son Lawrence was the grandfather of Deacon Caleb Bliss, whose grandson Jeduthan Bliss, m. Susannah⁴ Tracy, dau. of Rev. Stephen and Mary⁴ (Throop) Tracy.

John Bliss, brother of Lawrence Bliss, m. Patience Burt and had son John 2nd, who m. Anna Terry, and had a son John Bliss 3rd, who m. Hannah Ticknor and had a son John Bliss 4th, b. in Lebanon, 26 May, 1726, who settled in Nova Scotia, but was driven out by Tories during the Revolution. According to tradition the latter m. Mary⁴ Throop, b. in 1744, sister of Rev. George⁴ Throop, and had a son George⁴ Bliss (60). It is certain that Rev. George Throop adopted George Bliss, who assumed the name of Throop and was brought up as his son. It is also certain that George Bliss, his "nephew by blood," was not his wife's nephew, as she was descended from Nathaniel Bliss, Sr., son of John and Patience (Burt) Bliss.

The children of John and Mary⁴ (Throop) Bliss were:

- i. John.^a
- ii. Elijah Dan, b. 1759; d. 1800-5.
- 60 iii. George Bliss (Throop).
- iv. James, b. 1763; d. 12 Aug., 1831.
- v. David.
- vi. Jedediah. (Bliss Genealogy).

Records at Willimantic, Conn., show that Mary Bliss was guardian of her sons Elijah and Jedediah.

Nathaniel Bliss, Sr., m. Mary Wright of Springfield, Mass., 3 Feb., 1697, and had: i. Nathaniel, d. y.; ii. Henry, b. 25 Oct., 1701, m. Bethia Spafford, whose son Amos m. (2) Anna Brown, and had Zerviah, the wife of Henry⁴ Throop (No. 46); iii. Nathaniel, b. 26, Oct., 1704, m. Mehitable Spafford, 4, Sept., 1723-4, whose

dau. Mehitable m. Rev. George⁴ Throop; iv. Mary, b. 3 March, 1706, m. Moses Hatch, 1 Feb., 1748; and v. Martha, b. 30 Oct., 1709, m. Jabez Lyman, 29 Jan., 1730, and had Martha Lyman, the wife of Col. Josiah⁴ Throop and Ezekial Lyman, who m. Elizabeth Bliss. (See Bliss Family Genealogy, by Mr. John Homer Bliss, Hartford, 1881, pp. 90, 248, etc.)

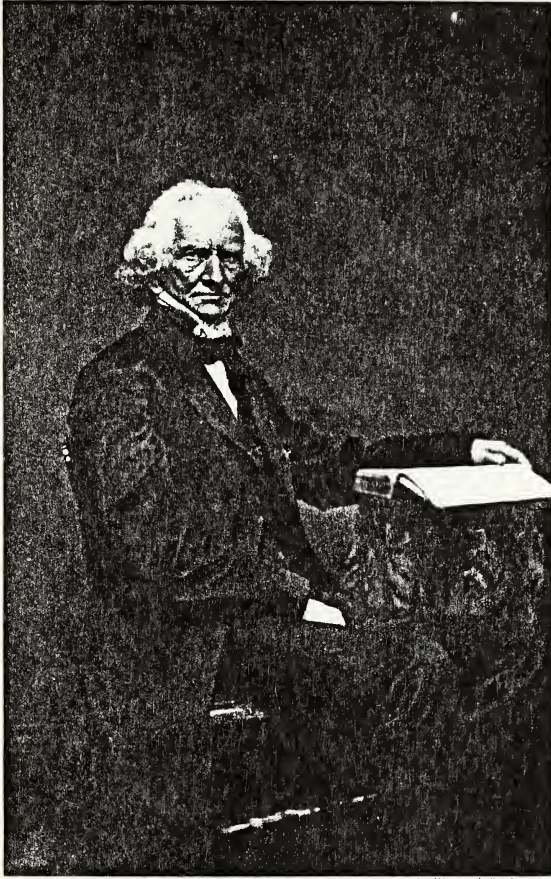

Rev. George Throop was a minister at Johnstown, N. Y., where he was tutor to the children of Sir William Johnson. He was a chaplain in the Revolution in Col. Samuel Brewster's Regiment (Roll of 12 Feb., 1777, Field Staff Rolls, Vol. 26, p. 31). His children d. y., and George Bliss Throop was his heir.

Col. Josiah⁴ Throop, when 84 years of age, in 1811, wrote the following lines in memory of his brother, and sent them in a letter to his nephew, Gov. Enos Thompson Throop:

"Sacred to the memory of the Reverend George Throop, Minister of the Gospel, who departed this life in cheerful hope of a better, May 23, 1804, aged 80 years and two months."

"Farewell! you leave a thankless world behind
Whose great concern was ever on your mind.
You warned them their best interests to pursue.
Some took it kindly and were fond of you,
A gazing number watched with eager eyes
Caught, eat, and lived on your infirmities.
A minister! To tell a merry jest
Or when 'tis told to laugh among the rest!
'O, Shame' they cry, not knowing that true grace
Leaves God's first stamp on nature as it was.
Grace knows the different tempers of mankind
And suits its blessings to their turn of mind.
The various appetites Heaven gives it feeds,
And makes them happy just as Nature needs;
The wise, the simple, thoughtful, dull and gay
Gives happiness to all, in their own way.
But now the motley farce of life is o'er.
They frown or scoff to hear you laugh no more.
We saw you at the closing scene resigned.
'Receive me Lord' you cried 'and bless mankind.'"

60. GEORGE⁵ BLISS THROOP, b. at Lebanon, Ct., 12 April, 1761, third of the seven children of John and Mary (Throop) Bliss, of Lebanon and Nova Scotia; m. 2 Nov., 1783, Abia Thompson, b. in Dutchess County, N. Sarah Hitchcock, 1745, and granddaughter of Samuel Thompson, who m. 4 Nov., 1695, Rebecca, eldest dau. of Deputy-Governor Bishop of Connecticut. Samuel Thompson was son of Capt. John Thompson, who d. Smith Thompson, Associate Justice U. S. Supreme Court, and of Hon. Jacob Sutherland, N. Y. Supreme Court. She m. (2) George W. Hatch of Johnstown, N. Y. (See *N. E. H. & G. - 24B. COL. JOSIAH⁴ THROOP, b. at Bristol, R. I., 13 July, 1727; removed as a child to Lebanon, Ct.; m. there about 1752, Martha Lyman, b. 15 Nov., 1735, dau. of Jabez and Martha (Bliss) Lyman, cousin of Mrs. George⁴ Throop (58). They owned the covenant at the Lebanon Church, 17 Dec., 1752, removed to Halifax, and were readmitted as from Halifax, 5 May, 1754. In 1765 they were of Cumberland, Nova Scotia, where her cousin Nathaniel Bliss, 4th, son of Nathaniel and Eunice (Fish) Bliss, of Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, in 1772, was a resident in 1793. (See Bliss Family Genealogy, Lyman Genealogy). Col. Throop was prospering in Nova Scotia at the outbreak of the Revolution, when, sympathizing with the colonial cause, like most of his neighbors who had come from New England, and not willing to take the British oath of allegiance, he became a fugitive, exiled from his home and his family, and a price of £500 set on his head. He was prominent in the unsuccessful attack on Fort Cumberland, 1 Nov., 1776, which is graphically described by him in his letter to Gov. Clinton, published in the Public Papers of Gen. Clinton, Vol. 5, p. 452, No. 2,693. (See also No. 3,338 and No. 4,455). This enterprise is also described in a letter by his superior officer, Col. Jonathan Eddy, published in Kidder's Military Operations in Eastern Maine and Nova Scotia. Seizing a British ship and making many prisoners, this heroic handful of men got safely to Boston, where Josiah Throop was commissioned a Captain, 28 Dec., 1776, and when ready to return with re-enforcements, learned that the arrival of the British man-of-war Albany had made the expedition so hopeless, that it was abandoned. At later dates he planned other attacks there, in an effort to rejoin his family and drive out the Tories, but the approach of Gen. Burgoyne's army prevented. He taught school in Boston in 1777. Disappointed, enduring all the miseries of exile, poverty and war, he at length reached New York, and was commissioned first a major and then lieutenant-colonel under Col. Marinus Willett.

He served with gallantry in the cruel border warfare in Tryon County, and succeeded in getting passed the New York Act of May, 1784, that threw open lands in Northern New York for the Canadian refugees like himself, whose cause he championed, acting as lobbyist, land agent and surveyor, and as attorney for many of these exiled families. (See Murdock's History of Nova Scotia, p. 456; Historical Magazine, 1864, Vol. VIII, p. 304; Masachusetts Archives, Vol. 214, p. 439; New York Land Papers in Secretary of State's Office, Vol. 36, pp. 347, 354; Vol. 37, pp. 22, 26, 41, 45, 64; Vol. 39, p. 118; Vol. 41, p. 71; Vol. 47, pp. 126-141; History of Herkimer County, N. Y., p. 59; Calendar of New York Colonial MSS., pp. 653, 684, 708, 797, 843, 844 and 848; and Sherburne's History of Chenango Co., N. Y., p. 46.)

In 1784 he signed as witness the will of John Harper in Tryon County, and was closely associated with his son, Col. Alexander Harper, the founder of Harpersfield, and son-in-law, Capt. McFarland. He was acting as attorney for the Canadian refugees as late as 1795. He finally settled his unfortunate family in Chenango, where he was a leader in promoting the welfare of the struggling settlements. When 84 years of age, in 1811, he sent the verses quoted to Gov. Throop.

22. REV. BENJAMIN⁹ THROOP, b. at Bristol, June 9, 1712. Yale, 1734. Pastor of church he organized at Bozrah, Ct., from Jan. 3, 1738, to his death, Sept. 16, 1785; Chaplain of the Crown Point Expedition in 1755; appointed to preach election sermon May, 1753, which was printed by order of the legislature (p. 400, Col. Records, Ct., Vol. 10). He m. Sept. 27, 1735, at Canterbury, Ct., Sybil, b. 23 Oct., 1714, dau. of Col. John and Abigail (Fitch) Dyer, and granddaughter of Major James Fitch, the patron of Yale, and his wife Alice, dau. of Major William Bradford, the oldest son of Gov. Bradford. Major James Fitch was the oldest son of Rev. James Fitch and his first wife Abigail, dau. of Rev. Henry Whitfield, and a descendant of the Sheafes and Mannings of Kent. (See Smith's History of Guilford; N. E. H. & G. Register, Vol. 4, 46, 49 and 51; Waters' Genealogical Gleanings and Visitations of London and Kent). Col. Dyer was a descendant of Thomas Dyer of Weymouth, Mass., who came from Shipton Mallett, Somersetshire, Eng., in 1640. Sybil Dyer was a first cousin of Col. Eliphalet Dyer, Yale, 1739, of the Continental Congress, who resigned as Comptroller of New London rather than assist Gov. Thomas Fitch in his efforts to enforce the Stamp Act. The Stamp Act was attacked by Dr. Throop in a sermon that was published.

In The History of Norwich, Miss Caulkins says of Rev. Benj. Throop: "He left behind him the reputation of a scholar, and a gentleman, seasoning all his speech with a divine relish, yet genial, social, always diffusing good humor, always thirsting for information, and ever ready to impart from his ample store to others." He d. at Bozrah, Sept. 14, 1785, his wife Aug. 1, 1793. His funeral sermon, by Rev. Andrew Leete, Yale, 1766, was published. (See Dexter's Yale Annals and Biographies, Allibone's Dictionary of Authors, Hetricks' Canterbury, and Caulkins' Norwich.)

The will of Rev. Benj. Throop was dated 14 May, A. D., 1784. "In Nomine Domine Amen: I, Benjamin Throop of Norwich."

After directing that debts be paid out of personal estate "excepting my library," he leaves to "Sybil my dear wife, use of one-half of my mansion house for her and unmarried daughter Sarah, so long as Sarah remains unmarried, also $\frac{1}{3}$ of remainder of personal estate as well as realty, one cow and use of one horse so long as she shall have occasion to use one: my negro man Shum to be at her disposal." A farm was divided between sons Dyer and Benjamin, and another piece of land west of Wolf Swamp Brook, and $\frac{1}{2}$ of mansion house and remainder in full to son William. He confirmed gifts of £60 to each of his married daughters, Elizabeth, Sybil, Abigail and Octavia, and gives Sarah £60 and his negro boy Jack. "To son Dyer books and silver tankard. If he die without male issue, same articles to my grandson Dan Throop. To son Benjamin, Sermons. To son William, books and great Bible. To two youngest sons and five daughters, rest of books, excepting those in Greek and Latin, which I give to my grandson, Dyer Throop Hinckley. To grandson Dan Throop, my silver tankard upon conditions above mentioned. If that fail it is to be made up to him in some other way. To grandson Horace Throop, my gun and the rest of my artillery. The rest of my plate to my wife, as executor, to dispose of at her discretion. Wearing apparel to my three older sons. Wife Sybil and son William, executors. Witnesses: Marshall Hackley, William Edgerton and John Edgecombe." Norwich Probate, 7, 417-418. Inventory, Oct. 21, 1785. Appraisers: David Hough and Ebenezer Buckus, 7, 434-5. Real, £481. 10. 00; personal, £252. 02. 10; Total, £733. 12. 10.

Miss Caulkins says of the "New Light" excitement, that in 1741, when Rev. Jonathan Parsons preached in Mr. Throop's church "it was reported that a great number were in tears, and some cried out, some fainted away, and one or two raged." Notwithstanding this, no new church was then formed at Bozrah, and Mr. Throop during his ministry added 277 members to his church. He was named first in the committee to manage the separation of Bozrah from Norwich.

Dyer Lathrop, father of Mrs. Leland Stanford of Cal., was of the same family as Mrs. Throop.

Otis Clapp, of Boston, a grandson of Rev. Enoch and Octavia (Throop) Hale, says in the Strong Genealogy: "There was a magnetism about Parson Hale (as he was called) and his wife not easily described. His house was a kind of tavern for all the ministers near, and the hospitality dispensed had a sort of charm that made everybody happy, and yet there was no seeming effort about it. His salary was a few hundred dollars and firewood, and he worked like other clergymen of that day with a strong heart upon the farm. His wife did her own work and taught her daughters to do theirs."

He was brevetted for gallantry, and received a grant of land in Ontario Co., N. Y., as bounty and half pay for life of $240 a year from April 20, 1818, as pension. Dr. Throop wrote under date of 20 Oct., 1896, to Mrs. Robert Carothers, a relative, concerning Col. Throop: "He was major of the fourth Conn. Volunteers and with his regiment and three others was ordered to New Jersey and Penn.: spent the winter at Valley Forge and one at Morristown: was at the battles of Trenton, New Brunswick, and Germantown, and then with Sullivan was ordered by Washington to drive the six Nations of Indians to their homes in the Oneida Country from which they came down the Chenango and Susquehanna to the Wyoming Valley now Luzerne County. With Gen. Sullivan he drove them home and after that landed at West Point on the Hudson, and was in several battles on that river. That ended his first enlistment. He re-enlisted and was in various fights even to Montreal. My father Maj. Dan. Throop went with his father as a fifer, a mere boy of fifteen, and his pension was his reward in his old age. RICHIART PENGRUFFWND.

BY Z. T. GRIFFEN.

The Visitation of Lewys Dwnn, in the Counties of Carmarthen, Pembroke and Cardigan, South Wales, signed by Richard Pengriffin, Ano. R.R. Jams 1613, as found on page 244, Vol. II, which may refer to the Edward Griffen, one of the first settlers of Flushing, Long Island, an emigrant born in Wales about 1602, is as follows:

THE PARISH OFF WALTON, H. OFF ROS. BEDSON S. MOETHIG.

Richiart Pengruffwnd—Elsbeth sister to William Mor Esq:

Gruffydd Pengruffwnd—Jowan dochder to Seimont David Esq., off Koksol Gent

In a foot-note the editor says that Ros is situated in Pembroke-shire. Also that Moethig is in Salop.

I find that there is an East Walton in Pembroke-shire, and now a parish (Paris) in the Hundred of Dangleddan, Diocese of St. David, South Wales.

And that there is a Bedson parish in the Hundred of Parstow, Rectory in Salop, Diocese of Hereford. This accords with the record made by Dwinn in 1603. I leave our good Welsh scholars to translate the rest of the Visitation. The pedigree obviously is what they call Welshry-Englishry, as was and is very prevalent in Pembrokeshire.

To finish the pedigree, John Pengruffwnd, who married Ann, daughter of Edward Langffort, and the father of what I believe is our Edward Griffen in question, had four sisters, viz:

1. Jane, wife of William Klerk, of Biganall.
2. Jowan, wife of John Langffort, son of Edward Langffort.
3. Katrin, wife of William Pieter.
4. Margret, wife of Ieuan, son of Stephen of Gascob, of Co. Radnor.

So that to my mind the line is as follows:

1. Richard Griffith, of Walton, Pembrokeshire, S. Wales, or Penrith Gowr, a soldier for Henry VII, and was present at Bosworth Field, 1486.
2. Griffith Griffith, his son, who had a son.
3. John Griffith, who had two sons and two daughters, viz:
 - a. Edward, born about 1602, left London for Virginia, Oct. 24, 1635, aged 33. Had been in the King's service, was convicted as the record states while in the line of his duty of justifiable manslaughter, and at once granted pardon by the King, January 7, 1625. Afterwards was a trusted servant and financial agent for Lady Wake, in 1633. Was in the service of Captain William Clayborne, in the war between him and Lord Baltimore, and was captured on Palmer's Island, by the soldiers of Lord Baltimore, in 1638, escaped from Maryland, and came to New Amsterdam, in 1640, where he was set at liberty, and for a time lived in Gravesend, L. I., but finally moved to Flushing, where he ever afterwards lived and died, leaving issue there.
 - b. John Griffith, born about 1609, also sailed for Virginia, Oct. 24, 1635, on ship Constance, aged 26, but there is no record of his remaining in America.

The twelfth child, Elizabeth, m. Halsey Stephens. Their son, Hiram Stephens, kindly allowed the publication of this record.

William Hallock, b. in 1816, although known by the name of Hallock, was so by adoption only.

Tombstones to Frederick and Hannah Hallock, and to nearly all their foregoing descendants, are to be found at Quogue to-day.

For additional details consult mss. at the N. Y. Genealogical Society. In this connection it may be noted that both the late Genl. Henry Wager Hallock, and the poet Fitz Greene Hallock, traced their ancestry to Peter¹ Hallock, of Southold.

HENRY ROWLEY AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

BY HOMER W. BRAINARD, HARTFORD, CONN.

This paper was begun in connection with my work upon the families of Edward and Captain Matthew Fuller. The numerous alliances of the Fullers and Rowleys rendered this necessary in the early generations. The paper was not intended to include the generations now living, and makes no claim to completeness, even in the first five generations. I have not always been able to state reasons fully, but the original records have been used. In the few cases where conjecture has been employed, the doubt is indicated by "probably," or by (?).

All the persons named in the article are descendants of Cap-Matthew Fuller, soldier and surgeon, successor of Captain Miles Standish, and Surgeon-General of the Plymouth forces. The descendants of Samuel Rowley (9) certainly, and probably those of John (10), Jonathan (12), Simeon (35), and Issachar (36), by the marriage of these four Rowleys to descendants of Edward Fuller and Richard Warren, of the Mayflower, are of the Pilgrim descent as well.

1. HENRY¹ ROWLEY was an early planter at Plymouth, Mass., where he was taxed in 1632. It is possible that he was one of the company that came over from Leyden to Plymouth in 1630. It has also been conjectured that he came with Mr. Hatherly in 1632. I have found nothing by which either conjecture can be verified. It is probable that he was married when he came over, and that his three children were born before that time. It has been declared that his first wife was Sarah, daughter of William Palmer, Senior, of Duxbury. The latter came over in the Fortune in 1621, and his wife Frances came in the Anne in 1623. In his will, dated 1637, William Palmer names "Moyses Rowley (son of Henry¹), whom I love," and provides for his bringing up, but does not state what relation Moses was to himself. Henry Rowley m. (2) Oct. 17, 1633, Anne, widow of Dea. Thomas Blossom, who embarked in the Speedwell at Leyden in 1620, but being obliged to return to Leyden, came over to Plymouth in 1629, where he d. previous to March 1632-3. Henry and Anne Rowley removed to Scituate in 1634, the year he was elected freeman. Both were members of Rev. John Lothrop's church on Jan. 8, 1634-5, and removed with him to Barnstable in 1638. He was a deputy from Barnstable to the General Court of Plymouth at least once.

Thomas and Peter Blossom came to Barnstable with their mother, Mrs. Rowley, and were probably members of the family of their father-in-law. In 1650 Henry Rowley removed, with his son-in-law, Peter Blossom, to West Barnstable, and later to Falmouth. Henry Rowley d. in 1673. Inventory of the estate of "henery Rowley of Saconessett," exhibited in Court, July, 1673, on oath of Moses Rowley. "Item: a debt of twenty-nine pounds due from Jonathan Hatch upon the repurchase of a parsell of land which the said Hatch sold to said Henery Rowley with that limitation provided." Plymouth Colony Records, Vol. iii, part 2, p. 93. Children:

- 2 i. Moses,² b. ———; m. Elizabeth Fuller.
- ii. Joseph, b. ———; living at Barnstable, 1655; said to have gone to Barbadoes.
- iii. Sarah, b. ———; m. April 11, 1646, Jonathan Hatch, of Barnstable and Falmouth, b. about 1626; d. Dec., 1710, aged about 84 years. He settled in Succonnessett (Falmouth) in 1661, and his younger children were born there. Children: Mary, b. July 16, 1647; m. William Weeks, of Falmouth; his second wife, according to Otis, based upon the mention in Jonathan Hatch's will of his dau. Mary Weeks. William Weeks m. (1) March 16, 1669, O. S. Mercy Robinson, bap. July 4, 1647, dau. of Isaac and Margaret (Hanford) Robinson. It is thought that she d. early, and some at least of William Weeks' children were by second wife, but which ones is not certainly known; Thomas, b. Jan. 1, 1649; Jonathan, b. May 17, 1652;

Joseph, b. May 7, 1654; Benjamin, b. Sept. 7, 1655; Nathaniel, b. June 5, 1657; Samuel, b. Oct. 11, 1659; Moses, b. March 4, 1662; Sarah, b. March 21, 1664, m. Nathaniel Wing; Mercy, b. April 27, 1667, m. Nathan Rowley; Lydia, b. May 16, 1669. These births are recorded in both Barnstable and Falmouth records, and the two records do not agree. (See Otis, Vol. I, p. 467.)

2. MOSES' ROWLEY (Henry¹), b. probably before 1630; d. 1705, at (East) Haddam, Conn.; m. April 22, 1652, at Barnstable, Elizabeth, dau. of Capt. Matthew Fuller. She survived her husband and d. in (East) Haddam or Colchester after 1714. The earliest mention of Moses' Rowley is found in the will of William Palmer, the elder, of Duxbury, dated Nov. 7, 1637, which is recorded in Vol I, fol. 28 of Plymouth Colony Wills and Inventories, and has been printed. (See Mayflower Descendant for July, 1900, p. 147). "I would have myne Execut^rs as as in conscience they are pswaded out of the remaynder of my estate deale wth Rebecca my Grand-child and Moyses Rowly whom I love but not so as to put it into their father or mother's hands but p^rserve it for them till they come to yeares of Discretion also I would have yeong Rowly to be placed wth m^r Partridge that hee might be brought up in the feare of God, and to that end if his father suffer it I give m^r Partridge five pounds." March 7, 1653-4 Moses Rowley was allowed a cow out of the estate of William Palmer, deceased, of Plymouth (Records of Plymouth Colony, Vol. III, p. 45.)

In 1657 he took the freeman's oath at Barnstable. From that date until 1681 I find no sure trace of him. In that year he was a constable, and was occupying lands at Succonessett (Falmouth). He was a deputy to the General Court in 1692, under the new charter according to Savage, and yet he must at that time have been thinking of removal, for I find (East Haddam Deeds, Vol I, p. 554) that Moses Rowley, Senior, "late of Saquanesset, now of Machimodus in Haddam," bought 60 acres of land of Jonathan Gilbert, originally laid out to John Henderson of Haddam, deceased. The date of this deed is May 3, 1692, and there is another deed dated Oct. 4, 1693, which names Moses' Rowley. An agreement of the heirs of James Bates of Haddam, dated Feb. 1691-2, refers to "mony in moyses rowlyes and John Ackley's hands, to be reserved to pay debts with." These records indicate that he removed to Haddam as early as 1691. That his wife Elizabeth disapproved of the removal is clear, for in 1714 she made a deed in which she declared that she had been left without support and dependent upon the bounty of her sons John Fuller and Moses Rowley, and conveyed to them all her right of dower to lands in Falmouth, which her husband had sold to the Parkers without her consent. His will, dated Aug. 16, 1704, on file at Hartford, Conn., reads as follows:

"The Last will and Testament of Moses Rowley Sen^r of east Haddam in the county of Hartford in Colleny of Connecticut in new England Wittneseth."

"In the name of god. Amen. Whereas I Moses Rowlee being weak of body but through gods good hand upon me at this present writing in perfect memory and understanding doe make and ordain this as my last will and testament."

"Imprimus: I doe give and bequeath my soul unto god in the name, meritts and mediation of the lord Jesus Christ in whose Righteousness I hope to be accepted with the father."

"And my body to Christian burial as my executors shall see meet, hoping for a glorious Resurrection at the last and great day."

"As for the portion of this worlds goods that god [hath] given and continued to me my will is that my Just Depts being paid the Remainder to be disposed of as followeth: as for the Rest of my children I have done what hath been with me and now I have not expectation of being any more capable to help myself wherefore I doe give and bequeath my land unto my sonn Moses Rowlee that is to say my half of the lott I now live upon (the other half I have given allReady to my son Matthew) to be equally divided between my sons Moses and Matthew. I also give unto my son Moses that twenty five pound right that I formerly gave to Matthew, which my son Matthew hath lovingly Relinquished again to me."

"I give and bequeath to my daughter Mehitabell fuller all my moveables both flock and household stuff whether without door or within."

"I give and bequeath half my young mare unto my son Matthew. My will further is and it is upon the account of not only what my sons Moses Rowlee and John fuller hath done for me and been kind to me but especially their willingness to take the care of me and my wife during our naturall lives and I doe expect that care and kindness of them that is meet and needfull both to myself and my wife and I therefore have done what I have done to oblige them what I cane and doe Repose my trust next under god upon these my two sons Moses Rowlee and John fuller for what I shall and for what my wife shall stand in need of between this and the grave."

"and I doe further give to my son Moses Rowlee my meadow lot and further be it known that my son Moses is to pay my just debts and moreover my will is that all the above legacies given to my children is to them and their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns forever, furthermore I doe nominate, appoint and ordain my loving sons Moses Rowlee and John fuller executors of this my last will & testament as witness my hand & seale.

The proof of the second marriage is found in the will of Samuel Corbe of East Haddam, probated Oct. 29, 1757 (Probate records at Colchester, Vol. II, p. 447), which mentions "Azariah Heath that now lives with me, who is to provide for the comfortable support of my mother, Mary Rowley."

In 1685 Moses² Rowley, junior, aid of one of the constables in the execution of his office was struck by Christopher Gifford of Suckanesset "on ye head with a certain stick or club, thereby fetching blood and shroadly wounding him to his great hurt and damage." Gifford had to pay Rowley £20 for the wound, and other fines and costs. (Plymouth Colony Records, Vol. VI, p. 180.)

Moses² Rowley took the freeman's oath at Suconesset (Falmouth) in 1690, and a few years later removed to East Haddam. He and his wife were admitted to the church in East Haddam, Nov. 12, 1704, the year of its organization. I found no record of the births of his children either at Falmouth or East Haddam. The list below is from his will (Hartford probate records, Vol. XII, p. 330), which reads as follows:

She conveyed all her right in her husband's estate to her son-in-law, Edward Fuller, on the promise of support during her life. Shubael³ Rowley was in (East) Haddam as early as 1693, for on Oct. 4 of that year he conveyed land there to "his father Moses Rowley, cordwainer, of Sockanesset in the County of Barnstable and Colony of Plymouth." On Nov. 19, 1700, he sold his Haddam lands to Timothy Fuller, of Machimoodus, and removed to Colchester. Aaron Rowley seems to have been a carpenter by trade, as he was employed to make repairs upon the meeting house. He held town offices: surveyor of highways, fence viewer, treasurer, selectman, but refused that of constable. He was a member of the church, and was chosen deacon, June 6, 1734, to assist Deacon Hatch; owing to bodily infirmity he was excused from this office, June 25, 1741. His will (Barnstable Probate Records, Vol. V, p. 340) names wife Mary, sons Aaron, Timothy, Elnathan, and daughter Mary Weeks. The sons were to have his carpentry and husbandry tools. His lands he had already given them by deed of gift. Inventory taken, July 12, 1743, was £1,403, 05, 02, old tenor. THE THREEFOLD CONSTITUTION OF MAN—CONSIDERED IN RELATION TO GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL STUDY.

THE constitution, or composition of Man is commonly spoken of as two-fold; i. e., soul (mind) and body. There is, however, a third factor, viz., the spirit, which should be considered, if we would fully comprehend the nature of Man. This fact seems to be generally overlooked by theologians, physicians, metaphysicians and psychologists. And it is, perhaps, not strange that it has been, and is, so overlooked, since the ancients seem scarcely to have had a perception of it; our systems of philosophy fail to recognize it; and by theologians as well as by those who walk in the light of Christian faith and teaching, it is but scantily apprehended, or is confusedly considered as a mere synonyme for the soul.

All these classes of thinkers and investigators understand what the body is—the tabernacle of the soul, bearing the impress of God's own image; that which connects us with the outward world, furnishes the inlets to all its impressions, and the apparatus of instruments for their reaction upon it.

Equally well, also, do they comprehend the nature of the soul—that which thinks and feels; the seat of all the passions, affections and emotions which are kept in such constant commotion by the changes and chances of this mortal life, and which is also the seat and residence of Mind, where all the powers of the understanding keep their court and fulfil their office,—that soul, of which it has been well said that, "distinct from the body and surviving its dissolution, though connected with it now by mysterious ties and made to share its shifting fortunes, clear and vigorous, if its companion (the body) is in health, but dull and depressed in its infirmity; the activity of the mind is a matter of our immediate consciousness, and recognized by Jew and heathen and Christian, as capable of existing separately and apart, however unsatisfied, without union with the body.

But the Scriptures declare, again and again; (for our argument is planted squarely upon the Christian belief in divine revelation) a three-fold constitution of Man, as unequivocally asserted by St. Paul, in I. Thess. v, 23, "I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless," and (Hebrews iv. 12, with yet more distinctive meaning, where he describes the intense power of the "Word of God," as cleaving asunder the soul and the spirit. In this passage, St. Paul (himself, both by rare intellectual gifts, and by divine inspiration, the keenest of all theologians) not only declares, and makes clear the difference, and yet the close union, between the soul (mind) and spirit: i. e. that, while the body is the apparatus of manifestation of the soul, the soul itself is but the medium through which the spirit acts. That sanctification of the whole man ("spirit, soul and body"), that perfect soundness of manhood which the Apostle so earnestly desired to see realized in his fellow-believers, must necessarily commence in the spirit of man; for it is that part of man's constitution which most immediately connects us with God—as a flame catches a flame—and so draws up after it the more sluggish and incapable parts of our complex nature, viz., the soul and body. We may also note, en passant, that the order in which St. Paul enumerates these three elements of man's nature, very clearly indicates his view of their relative importance.

So, also, the Scriptures inform us (Job, xxxii, 8) "There is a spirit in Man, And the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding:" i. e., it is by man's spirit (not his soul or mind) that he is brought into contact with spiritual truths, and by it alone that he is enabled to apprehend (though he may never fully comprehend) them. So, again, we are spoken of as being "renewed in the spirit of our mind," not in our mind directly.

It is, indeed, this much neglected and much misunderstood spiritual element of Man, which is the one element differentiating him from the other animals of God's creation.*

They possess, it is true, a certain degree of mentality, which for convenience and in lack of better knowledge, we call instinct; but have they any faculty which corresponds to the spirit of Man, which we know turns upwards to God? The teaching of Scripture is strongly against the existence of such faculty in them, nor has Science yet demonstrated it. Man, created in "the express image" of his Maker, alone possesses that intercommunicable spirit, or "spark of divine fire" which can bring him into direct contact with his Creator.

It is evident that, both in the Past and in the Present, the Body and the Soul, with their interlaced powers, faculties and weaknesses, have been more fully recognized and comprehended, because they present features more demonstrable than are those of the Soul. Whereas, the Spirit, being in its nature more elusive and less within the grasp of Man's observation, has not received the full attention which it should have done, in the consideration of man's composition.

We may, further, remark that there is an apparent analogy between this threefold character of Man, and that of the triune Godhead itself, viz.: God, The FATHER, dwelling in the light, to which no man can approach; God, the SON, invisible to the world, but revealed to those whom He chooses out of the world; and God, the HOLY GHOST, manifested before the eyes of men by his operations in the Church.

This threefold constitution of Man seems also to typify the form and meaning of that Tabernacle which God patterned and ordered to be constructed by Moses, for the Israelites in their Wilderness journeyings, and which was the prototype of the later Temples of the Jewish nation, consisting of (1) an Outer Court, uncovered and exposed to view—symbolizing the BODY, or the animal part of Man, with its involuntary impulses and instincts, and its active movements exposed to the view of others; (2) the tabernacle proper, entirely concealed from all without, and containing two divisions, of which the first was the Holy Place, accessible only to the priests—symbolizing the SOUL, the intellect or rational part of man, with its faculties of light, memory and reflection; and the second, the Most Holy Place, symbolizing the SPIRIT in which God appeared more nearly to His people, through the medium of the High Priest.

* The succeeding verse in this speech of Elihu's, viz., "Great men are not always wise, neither do the aged understand judgment," as well as the whole context of the passage, evidences that he had a clear discernment of the spiritual element of man's being, as marking the difference between Man and the beasts.

Lest, however, we should appear to be intruding too much upon the domain of the theologian, let us turn to the more practical side of the question, suggested by the title of this article, viz.: The Threefold Constitution of Man—considered in relation to the Study of Genealogy and Biography. This implied connection may seem, at first, somewhat far-fetched—but is it so? In view of what we have already said, is it not evident that the Spirit which is in Man, and “which giveth him understanding,” is just that which really forms the basic (and hence the most important) element of his nature?—the true atmosphere, indeed, of Man's character.

GENEALOGY, as it is generally understood, has for its object the discovery and permanent establishment, by proofs and evidences which would be conclusive in any court of law, of the identity of the individual, both in his relations to those who have preceded him, and to those who may succeed him, in his own particular family line; as well as in his relations to those belonging to collateral lines of the general family to which he and they are members.

Such genealogies—of which we find examples in the Bible, and in the ancient pedigree-form of family records, have, indeed, an indisputable value. But they do not achieve their full value and purpose. They may be compared to the rigid form of a tree in its winter integrity and nakedness, but having no touch of life, except in its strength and outline; but which, in its summer garb of leaf, bud, flower and fruit, fills one's eye and senses with delight. So that, it has come to pass that, in the gradual evolution and development of the Science of Genealogical study, BIOGRAPHY, happily described as “History teaching by example,” necessarily becomes the handmaid of Genealogy, and, by its deft touches, has largely vitalized and relieved the stern aspect of our older genealogies. Biography, then, gives to Genealogy its highest value; and (if it be true that “the highest study of Man is Man”), to Literature, its most interesting and instructive form of reading and knowledge.

As the Artist (especially in the line of portraiture) endeavors most sedulously to secure for the materials of his work, the peculiarities of form, local color, bodily movements and mannerisms of the BODY, and from the SOUL, as far as he can interpret its more tangible phenomena, of expression, eyes and play of the features, conversation, etc., which combine in his sitter's “make up”—so does the BIOGRAPHER, from the gleaned facts of a man's life, its visible phenomena, and from inferences of his intellectual abilities, etc., draw the materials for his sketch. But, both artist and biographer must necessarily be more at fault as to the SPIRIT of Man, because of its purely subjective, impalpable and elusive nature, so far removed from the scope of mere human observation. Still, there are a sufficient (tho' small) number of biographies extant which prove that this difficult point can be—measurably—attained, viz., the combination in a biography, of a consideration of Man's threefold constitution, “spirit soul and body.” And though difficult to accomplish, it may be remembered that what has been done, can be done again.” Thus the argument involved in our foregoing propositions resolves itself into a PLEA, for a deeper, wider scope of thought and study in biographical work, than has hitherto obtained among us. Here endeth our little homily.

OBITUARY.

ANDREWS, HERBERT CORNELIUS, died May 31, 1905, in Chicago, Illinois, aged twenty-two years. He was born March 19, 1883, in Chicago, and was the son of Alfred Hinsdale Andrews and Ella Matson, daughter of the late Newell and Flora Case Matson, all of Chicago, Ill. His grandfather, Alfred Andrews, of New Britain, Conn., was the well-known genealogist and historian whose Andrews and Hart memorials and History of New Britain are valuable additions to the history of Connecticut.

He was graduated from the high school at Lake Park, Illinois, in 1899, and later attended the Chicago University and Colorado College, Colorado Springs. After a year at the latter institution he was obliged to relinquish his studies and seek an out-door life, first in Arizona and then in California. His health having improved he entered the business house of C. F. Weber & Co., the Los Angeles agents of the A. H. Andrews Company, of Chicago. But his heart was elsewhere, and when the opportunity came to devote his entire time to genealogical study, which from his early manhood had crowded each otherwise unemployed moment, he opened a genealogical studio and gave himself entirely to genealogical research and heraldic designing. Probably he was the youngest member of his profession in this country.

He gave lectures on heraldry, and numbered among his genealogical clients people in all parts of the United States. Among the family records compiled and published by him were those of the Lecte, Willet, Hooker, Andrews, Wright, Chittenden and Faunce families. The Hinsdale Genealogy was his last undertaking, and although practically completed, was not published until after his death. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Old North-West Genealogical Society, New England Historic Genealogical Society, and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

ANDREWS, MRS. GEORGE PEIRCE, died August 13, 1905, at her summer home on Lake George, N. Y., aged sixty-six years. She was born June 25, 1839, in Sharpsburg, Pa., and was the daughter of Cornelius Kingsland Garrison and Mary Noye Re Tallack. She married, first, in 1859, Barret H. Van Auken, by whom she had three children. She married, second, June 30, 1889, in London, England, George Peirce Andrews, born September 29, 1835, in North Bridgton, Maine, son of Col. Solomon Andrews and Sibyl Ann Farnsworth. He was a descendant in the ninth generation from Capt. Robert Andrews, who came to this country in 1635, as owner and master of the ship Angel Gabriel, and settled at Ipswich, Mass. He graduated from Yale in 1859; was admitted to the bar in 1861, and practised law in New York City; was Assistant United States District Attorney, 1861-65; Assistant Corporation Counsel, 1872-82; Corporation Counsel, 1882-84, and Judge of the Supreme Court of the State of New York from 1884 until his death, May 20, 1902.

Her father, Cornelius Kingsland Garrison, known as Commodore Garrison from the large shipping interests of which he was the controlling spirit, belonged to the Huguenot family of Garrisons which were resident in the Highlands of the Hudson for more than a century, the first ancestor, Isaac Garrison, having appeared in what is now Putnam County as early as 1686. The village of Garrison's in that county, opposite West Point, is situated on the ancestral lands of the family. His great grandfather, Beverly Garrison, married a Nelson and resided at Garrison's. His grandfather, Isaac Garrison, married Elizabeth Covert and removed across the Hudson to Fort Montgomery, in the vicinity of West Point. His parents were Oliver Garrison, known as Captain Garrison, and Catherine Schuyler Kingsland, daughter of Philip Schuyler Kingsland, a descendant of Isaac Kingsland of New Barbadoes, N. J., who settled there in the latter part of the seventeenth century.

Commodore Garrison was born March 1, 1809, at Fort Montgomery, N. Y. He began his career in Canada, and afterward engaged in various enterprises on the lower Mississippi, near New Orleans. He was located there when the discovery of gold in California led to his acceptance of the San Francisco agency of the Nicaragua Steamship Line, with a salary of $60,000 a year. The next seven years of his life were spent in San Francisco, where, within six months of his arrival, he was elected Mayor of the city. His administration was the first that maintained law and order in the new municipality. Returning to New York in 1859, Commodore Garrison became concerned in many financial enterprises, and was one of the leading steamship proprietors in this country. He rendered great assistance to the government during the Civil War, especially in what is known as the Butler Ship Island Expedition, for which he received the formal acknowledgment of President Lincoln. At a time when our merchant marine had almost entirely disappeared from the high seas, he founded the service between New York and Brazil, which was the only United States mail steamship line carrying the American flag on the Atlantic Ocean. He married in 1831, Mary Noye Re Tallack, daughter of William and Esther Ferguson Re Tallack, of English ancestry, by whom he had seven children. He died May 1, 1885, in New York City.

Mrs. Andrews inherited from her father an indomitable courage and unusual executive ability, and from both her parents a disposition to respond to the call of those in distress. "So keen a judge of people and results was she that her instinct became a positive incentive to many who would under other circumstances have hesitated to undertake what proved to be great movements for the benefit of their fellow-men." She was a member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society and was interested in its work. She wrote and published the life of her husband, Judge Andrews. She leavestwo daughters by her first husband: Jessie Re Tallack, wife of Henry Tremenheere of Cornwall, England, and Cornelia Garrison, widow of Lindley Hoffman Chapin, deceased, by whom she has three children: Lindley Hoffman Paul, Katharine Garrison, and Cornelia Van Auken Chapin.

KING, FREDERICK LA RUE, died in New York City on Wednesday, October 18, 1905, after a long illness, endured with courage and resignation.

William Kinge, the founder of the family, was born in England in 1595 and came to this country in 1635.

The subject of this memoir was of the eighth generation as set forth in the Pedigree of King of Salem, Mass. (N. Y., 1887). Another account of the family may be found in the RECORD for 1901-2.

Rev. Frederick La Rue King, born in Morristown, N. J., January 2, 1823, was the second son of Frederick King, whose wife was Abigail La Rue, the widow of Timothy J. Lewis and daughter of John Perine of Lyons, N. Y., by his wife Catherine, the daughter of David and Ellen (Schuyler) Williamson.

Mr. King was graduated from Princeton University in the Class of 1844 and became assistant professor of Latin and belles-lettres in that institution. In this work he was especially successful and many of his students still speak with enthusiasm of the benefit derived from his inspiring personality. While teaching, he pursued his studies in the Princeton Theological Seminary and became a Presbyterian Clergyman. He was for a time in charge of the church at Stony Point, N. Y., and later on was settled at Hudson City, N. J. Failing strength, however, compelled him to resign from pastoral work, and for twenty years he lived abroad, seeking health in a more congenial climate. He returned to this country about twelve years ago and, until the time of his death, lived in New York City in the family of his brother, the Rev. Albert Barnes King.

Funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian Church in New York, and the interment was in the family plot in the old burial ground of the Presbyterian Church at Morristown.

R. K.

KILIAEN VAN RENSSELAER, a former member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, was born in Albany, N. Y., 14 February, 1845, and died after a short illness, of heart disease, at his residence, 155 East Seventy-Second Street, New York City, 26 November, 1905. Three days later, his funeral services were held in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, and his burial was in the family plot in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

The deceased was a descendant of Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, who, in 1630, obtained from the Dutch West India Company a grant of twenty-four square miles on the upper Hudson, embracing a large portion of the counties of Albany and Rensselaer. Here he, and his successors, ruled as patroons until 1830, when the Van Rensselaer Manor was divided among the numerous heirs. On his last visit to Holland, the present writer had the privilege of examining the original Indian deed of the property, which was sent to the first patroon in Amsterdam, and there it remains to this day, in the possession of the Dutch branch of the family.* Mr. Van Rensselaer's father was William Paterson Van Rensselaer, and his mother the beautiful Sarah Rogers, daughter of Benjamin Woolsey Rogers and his accomplished wife, who was a New York Bayard. She was born in the same famous year as her friends, Robert C. Winthrop and

* This exceedingly interesting historical relic may be seen in facsimile, in the first volume of Wilson's Memorial History of the City of New York.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, also the year of birth of Lincoln, Gladstone, Tennyson, and many other great heirs of fame. When Mr. and Mrs. Rogers sailed for Europe soon after their marriage, Dr. Timothy Dwight, President of Yale College, was moved to go to the Stamford shore as the ship sailed past, and make a prayer for their safe arrival in England. Young Van Rensselaer, who was the third of four sons and two daughters (Mrs. Atterbury and Mrs. Fairfax), was educated at Russell's School in New Haven, where he was prepared for Yale College, but, instead, he went to the war in January, 1864, as 1st First-Lieutenant in the Thirty-Ninth Regiment of New York Infantry, participating in numerous battles, before the close of the Civil War in April, 1865. After leaving the army, the handsome young officer, who was above six feet in height, established himself in business as a New York Custom House Broker, and in 1870 he married Olivia Atterbury, a granddaughter of Anson G. Phelps. They had two daughters and three sons, one of whom was married less than a fortnight before his father's sudden death, the bride using the same wedding-ring that was worn by Anna Van Weyler when she married the Amsterdam diamond merchant, Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, in the year 1628, thus lacking but little of being three centuries old!

Mr. Van Rensselaer always led a life without reproach, wearing the white flower of a blameless career, and was very active in various organizations of a philanthropic and religious character. He was a Director of the American Tract Society, of the New York City Missions, an officer of the Grand Army Mission, of the Sanitary Aid Society, and an Elder in the Presbyterian Church. He was also a member of the Loyal Legion, always being present at its meetings; of the Grand Army of the Republic, and of the Holland, Huguenot, and St. Nicholas Societies.

As an Army comrade of the Civil War days, with whom the writer always since had agreeable relations, he takes pleasure in paying this brief tribute to the memory of a Christian gentleman and a faithful lover of his country. At the last Loyal Legion banquet at which we met and sat together, Van Rensselaer alluded with pleasure to an appreciation that had been paid by the present writer to a departed comrade, remarking: "My dear General, I hope, if you deem me worthy and should outlive me, you will use the same words in my obituary." The words were Thackeray's: "Death hath this also," says Bacon, "that it openeth the gate to good fame." Van Rensselaer did not have to wait

"To muse with darkness and with death," in order to enjoy good fame, for that had been his heritage ever since attaining manhood. In all the varied relations of life, his career and conduct were of such a character as to escape censure or criticism. The beautiful words of Thackeray in speaking of a valued friend who fell on the field of battle, may now be most appropriately applied to Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, that "When he went to Heaven, the angels must have turned out and presented arms."

QUERIES.

SWART-LATHAM.—I should like to know something more of the ancestry of Cornelius Swart and his wife, Rebecca Latham, than is shown on the following pedigree and in the only account I have been able to find of the Lathams,—this latter being from an old MSS., in the handwriting of the above Rebecca Latham, now preserved by her descendants. This old MSS. says: "Dr. James Latham was born in Ireland, educated at some English University, became a Surgeon and Physician and entered the British Army in that capacity. Dr. Latham went to Holland: while there, probably in Amsterdam, he married Henrietta Wilhelmina Van Warekamp. They came to America within two years after their marriage and their first child Margaret was born at sea. They settled in Red Hook and afterwards in Albany where he practised medicine. Dr. Latham was the first one to introduce vaccination into this country. Their children were:

- i. Margaret, b. ———; m. William Wiswall and had (i) Harriet, (ii) Samuel, (iii) Thomas, (iv) Catalina.

- ii. Sophia, b. —; m. William Jenkins and had one daughter, Mary.
 iii. Rebecca, b. Oct. 11, 1769; m. Dec. 25, 1793, Cornelius Swart, and d. Jan. 21, 1825.
 iv. James, b. —; said to have gone to Canada, m. and d. there.
 v. John, b. —; said to have d. young."

SWART PEDIGREE.

This pedigree is compiled from the church records of Kingston, and from Pearson's Schenectady Settlers and Albany Settlers.

TAYLOR-SANDERS.—On page 381 of Vol. 5 of Middletown, Conn., Land Records, is entered a document, of which the following is an abstract:

"To all Christen peple: know ye that I that have passed by the name: of Willam Sandrs now in South-hampton am Taken to be Joseph Tayler formerly of South-hampton and have declared that I am Joseph Tayler. and Chalend she that Now is the Wife of Samuel Biglow. to be my former Wife. and the estate that said Bigelow. He then quit claims to Bigelow all interest in the property for £10 consideration.

On the Town Records of Southampton, L. I., are entered the births, from February, 1722-3, to January, 1733-4, of five children of Samuel Bigelow: Abigail, Timothy, Mary, Isaac and Samuel.

In April, 1723, Samuel Bigelow, shipcarpenter, of Southampton, L. I., bought land in that part of Middletown, Conn., now the town of Chatham. In July, 1735, he made further purchase, and in September, 1736, had become a resident of Middletown. He made his will, Oct. 14, 1748, which was probated eleven months later. In it, he mentions his wife Mehetable, his five children and "Elizabeth Spencer my Wifes Daughter."

The Middletown records show the marriage of John Spencer and Elizabeth Taylor, November 4, 1741. She died January, 1807, aged 90.

When and where was she born, and is there anything further known regarding her father, Joseph Taylor, alias William Sanders?

REPLY.

DELANO.—In looking through the RECORD, I find that C. L. D. W., Washington, D. C., July, 1897, wishes to know the ancestry of Elkanah Delano and Mary Sanders.

Can C. L. D. W. tell me anything about a John Delanoy, who had for a second wife Amey. He had a daughter Eliz. by first wife, who married Benjamin Mercer in N. Y. C., June, 1808?

BOOK NOTICES.

WARREN. A GENEALOGY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF JAMES WARREN, WHO WAS IN KITTELY, MAINE, 1652-1656. By Orin Warren. The Chase Press. Haverhill, Massachusetts. 1902. 8vo, cloth, pp. 138.

This record seems to have been very carefully prepared, the compiler having the love of the work in his heart, as all good genealogists must. Eight generations of Warrens are included, with a good index of names. The illustrations are a portrait of the compiler and a view of Cow Cove and the Old Warren Farm in Maine.

THE DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BROCKETT, ONE OF THE ORIGINAL FOUNDERS OF NEW HAVEN COLONY. Illustrated with portraits and armorial bearings. An historical introduction relating to the settlement of New Haven and Wallingford, Conn. The English Brocketts. "A pedigree of Brockett," published in England in 1860. By Edward J. Brockett, assisted by John B. Koetteritz and Francis E. Brockett. East Orange, N. J. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 266.

"We owe it to the generations that go before us, and to those that come after us, to perpetuate the memory of those who in a signal manner made themselves serviceable to humanity," seems to have been Mr. Edward J. Brockett's motto in taking up this work, which has resulted in a well-arranged, well-printed genealogy of his family in this country and a chapter on the English Brocketts, all well-indexed and illustrated with many portraits and the family coat-of-arms in color.

GENEALOGICAL CHART OF THE BALCH FAMILY OF NEW ENGLAND. Samuel W. Balch.

Male lines of descent only are shown in this handsome chart, which carries the pedigree from John Balch of Naumkeag, now Salem, Mass. The chart is printed on map paper of the first quality, forty-two by twenty-one inches, handsomely lithographed and hand-painted in five colors, and contains the name, together with date of birth and death, business, residence and military services of all of the Balch name for nine generations. The line of descent of any Balch descendant may at his request be distinctively colored on the chart.

FIRST REUNION AND ORGANIZATION OF THE BALCH FAMILY ASSOCIATION BY THE DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BALCH, ONE OF THE "OLD PLANTERS" OF NAUMKEAG, NOW SALEM, BEVERLY AND NORTH BEVERLY, MASSACHUSETTS. Philadelphia. J. B. Lippincott. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 52.

This is an unusually valuable specimen of a Reunion report, containing considerable genealogy in addition to the minutes of the meeting. The addresses include an interesting one on Heredity, by Samuel W. Balch, compiler of the Balch Chart, and foot-notes contain names of officers of the frigate Boston in 1778, and of the officers and men of the Third Alarm List in 1775. The pamphlet is handsomely printed, and has for a frontispiece the homestead of John Balch at North Beverly, Mass., built in 1638.

THE MCCLUNG GENEALOGY. A Genealogical and Biographical Record of the McClung Family from the Time of Their Emigration to the Year 1904. Rev. William McClung. Pittsburgh, Pa. 1904. 8vo, cloth, pp. 296. Price, $3.50, postpaid.

This is the record of a Scotch-Irish family, whose first ancestor in this country, James McClung, landed at Philadelphia about 1740, and settled in Lancaster County, Pa. James McClung had eight children, three of whom went to Virginia. Their numerous descendants are scattered all over the Union. The genealogy records nine generations, has a complete index, is embellished with some two hundred family portraits, and has blank pages bound in the back for future records. Among the allied families treated of are those of Alexander, Berkeley, McGhee, McDowell, Wylie, Patton, Worrell, McConnell, Humphreys, Steele, Dismukes, Humes and Niles. The book is for sale by the author only, at 860 North Twenty-third Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A PARTIAL RECORD OF THE ANCESTORS AND COMPLETE RECORD OF THE DESCENDANTS OF CHRISTOPHER AND CLARISSA (HUNTINGTON) REYNOLDS, OF MANSFIELD, CONNECTICUT. Mrs. Jane Adaline (Eaton) Wright. Springfield. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 38.

The object of this pamphlet, as stated by the compiler, is "the preservation of records collected from various sources of the author's branch of the Reynolds family, hoping thereby to aid the genealogist who may undertake to publish a complete record of the descendants of James and Deborah Reynolds, who were living in Rhode Island, 1665." Christopher Reynolds was of the seventh generation from James aforesaid, and lived with his family in Mansfield, Conn.

GENEALOGY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF JOHN ELIOT, "APOSTLE TO THE INDIANS," 1598-1905. Prepared and published by the committee appointed at the meeting of his descendants, July 3, 1901. 8vo, cloth, pp. 344.

A genealogy of the Eliot family was published before 1854, but the compilers of this 1905 edition say: "With the exception of the genealogy proper, we have not incorporated much of the old material, thus leaving that book still valuable for many purposes. The present work brings the family records down to date, and is a carefully arranged and most valuable book. Dr. Ellsworth Eliot, a distinguished and honored member of the N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Society, has devoted much time gathering material for this publication, and is known to all Eliots as "Chief of our Tribe."

THE ANCESTRY OF ROSALIE MORRIS JOHNSON, daughter of George Calvert Morris and Elizabeth Kuhn, his wife. By R. Winder Johnson. 1905. Printed for private circulation only, by Ferris & Leach. Sm. Quarto, cloth, pp. 294.

This very elaborate compilation traces the various lines of ancestors of Rosalie Morris Johnson back through many generations, and, aside from the genealogical and biographical records, contains much interesting family history. A feature of the book is the many pedigree charts printed therein.

A BRIEF GENEALOGICAL HISTORY OF ROBERT STARKWEATHER, OF ROXBURY AND IPSWICH, MASS., who was the original American ancestor of all those bearing the name of Starkweather, and of his son John Starkweather of Ipswich, Mass., and Preston, Conn., and of his descendants in various lines.

1640-1898. Carlton Lee Starkweather, M. D. Auburn, N. Y. Knapp, Peck & Thomson. 1904. 8vo, cloth, pp. 356. Illustrated. Price $5.00.

John Starkweather was apparently the only son of Robert, which explains the reason for following his line of descent. The family was a New London County one for the first one hundred and fifty years, so that the old names of Stonington and Preston are frequent amongst its intermarriages, and the book will no doubt be serviceable to those interested in that neighborhood. The compiler numbers all the descendants. Those whom he is unable to follow are marked with an X. Dr. Starkweather deserves commendation for carrying out the daughters' lines for two or more generations. Most people whose pedigree has gaps, find that it is a missing grandmother who causes the trouble. Therefore, the family feeling which shows recognition of the daughters' descendants, deserves much praise.

MUMFORD MEMOIRS. Being the story of the New England Mumfords from the year 1655 to the present time. By James Gregory Mumford, M. D. Privately printed by D. B. Updike. Boston. 1900. The Merrymount Press. 8vo, cloth, XX+248.

The author of this book (for he is not a mere compiler), in his introductory writes learnedly on the subject of genealogy, and then convinces you of his knowledge, by presenting a record and history of his ancestors and kin that is unique in its arrangement and charming in its manner of recital. His ability and taste are still further displayed in the outward appearance of the book, which is most beautiful in its simplicity.

THE RESSEGUIE FAMILY. A Historical and Genealogical Record of Alexander Resseguie, of Norwalk, Conn., and Four Generations of his Descendants. By John E. Morris. Hartford. The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Co. 1888. Pamphlet, pp. 99.

A concise genealogy with a good index.

THE MAGAZINE OF HISTORY, WITH NOTES AND QUERIES. September, 1905. New York. William Abbatt.

This magazine keeps up the promise of its early numbers, and in the present issue presents some valuable additions to American history. The papers on The Army of the Potomac and The Liberty of the Press are continued, and there are papers on the "Unknown Exile" of Madison County, N. Y., the origin of the name of Washington, and "Admiral" Pierre Landais, the latter with a portrait. The genealogical department is well maintained, and there are interesting news items about historical societies.

THE HANDBOOK OF PRINCETON. John Rogers Williams. With an Introduction by Woodrow Wilson, LL.D. New York. The Grafton Press. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. XVII+154. Illustrated.

Beginning with the history of the University, this attractive volume also describes the grounds and buildings, the clubs, the town and the Lawrenceville school. The illustrations are numerous and excellent.

TRYPHENA ELY WHITE'S JOURNAL. Being a record, written one hundred years ago, of the daily life of a young lady of Puritan heritage. Published by her only remaining granddaughter, Fanny Kellogg. New York. The Grafton Press. 1904. 12 D, cloth, pp. 46.

This quaint little diary was kept by a girl of twenty-one, whose family went from West Springfield, Mass., to settle in Onondaga County, N. Y., about the time the journal was written, and it gives us an interesting picture of pioneer days. A chart shows Miss White's ancestry, and there are, as illustrations, a view of a dam built by her father, and a fac-simile of a page of her diary.

SOME OF THE ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL CONVERSE, JR., OF THOMPSON PARISH, KILLINGLY, CONN. Major James Converse of Woburn, Mass. Hon. Heman Allen, M. C., of Milton and Burlington, Vt.

Captain Jonathan Bixby, Sr., of Killingly, Conn. Compiled and Edited by Charles Allen Converse. Boston. Eben Putnam. 1905. 2 vols. Quarto, cloth, pp. XIX+960. Price $15.00.

One of the most complete of the season's genealogies lies before us, in these two fine volumes. The work begins with six key charts setting forth the descent of heads of families descended from Deacon Edward Converse, the first American ancestor. From thence the compiler proceeds with a history of the family which abounds in biographical details, and is illustrated by a remarkable number of family portraits. There are three excellent indexes, besides the table of contents. The volumes are handsomely printed and bound, open well, and are very attractive in appearance. Many lines of ancestry are followed out in the body of the book and in the appendices, and in the list of military services references to State documents are cited. In the historical sketch of Winchester a picture of Edward Converse's house, built in 1640, is shown. The family boasts many well-known descendants, amongst them being the distinguished Sir Benjamin Thompson, Count Rumford.

PERFECTING OR VALUATION LISTS OF KITTERY, MAINE, 1760. Nathan Goold. N. P., N. D. 8vo, pp. 18.

This list is divided into parishes, and contains the names of those liable for poll, estate and faculty tax. The brochure contains an explanation of the meaning of the Faculty Tax, by Thomas Hills, Esq., of South Boston.

DERBY GENEALOGY. Being a record of the Descendants of Thomas Derby of Stow, Mass. Viola A. Derby Bromley. New York. The Grafton Press. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 141.

The descendants of Thomas Derby of Stow are the only ones treated of in the body of this work, but the Introduction refers to others who were early settlers of this country. The genealogy is very well put together, the type being especially good. Many of the statements have references annexed. There is a set of blanks bound in just before the index, in which the owner of the copy may record his lineage.

HALF CENTURY AT THE BAY, 1636-1686. Heredity and Environment of John Williams, "The Redeemed Captive." George Sheldon. Boston. W. B. Clarke Co. 1905. 12 D, cloth, pp. 149+10.

This entertaining volume might well bear as a sub-title something descriptive of boyhood in colonial times, for the early environment of John Williams, during the formative period of his character, is the part most dwelt upon. It is a pleasing study of early social conditions in Massachusetts, and the great names of the time, such as Rev. Edward Taylor of Westfield, Rev. John Eliot of Roxbury, Judge Sewall, Captain Turner and their compeers, are sown upon every page.

A MONOGRAPH OF THE DESCENT OF THE FAMILY OF BEEBE, FROM THE EARLIEST KNOWN IMMIGRANT, JOHN, OF BROUGHTON, ENGLAND, 1650, including details of patriotic services of individuals during the early settlement of the country, in times of peace and war. Part II. Clarence Beebe. New York. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 21+126.

Part I of this genealogy was reviewed in the RECORD in 1903. The second part completes the work, and brings the records to date. Illustrations of the coat-of-arms, Broughton, the home village in England, a facsimile of John Beebe's will, and a portrait of the compiler, form pleasing additions to the book, and there is a good index.

OLD FAMILIES OF SALISBURY AND AMESBURY, MASS., WITH SOME RELATED FAMILIES OF ADJOINING TOWNS AND OF YORK COUNTY, ME. Vol. II. Parts 9, 10 and 11. David W. Hoyt. Providence. 1905. 8vo. Pamphlets.

It is with sincere regret that we read the editor's note at the end of this volume, to the effect that the expenditure involved in producing it will prevent the writer from continuing the work any further. It is surprising that in this day of intelligent interest in family history any work of general value such as this should fall to earth for lack of financial encouragement. The present volume consists of over 400 pages, and contains the later generations of Salisbury and Amesbury families, church records, service in colonial wars and other valuable matter, and has place and name indices.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL MISCELLANY. Data relating to the settlement and settlers of New York and New Jersey. John E. Stillwell, M.D. Vol. I. New York. 1903. Quarto, cloth, pp. 483. Price $5.00.

This is a treasure-house for the practical genealogist and the searcher for title. Among the many valued records may be found the Parish Register and Epitaphs from Christ Church (Episcopal), Shrewsbury, N. J., the Friends' records from the same place, and early county records of Richmond, N. Y., and Cape May, N. J. Five of these volumes are promised by the compiler, and the origin and expansion of his plan for their publication is interestingly told in the preface. The price of the book is nominal, and could only be possible through the public spirit of Dr. Stillwell.

TABLE OF THE DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM CUMMING, OF FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND. Montgomery Cumming. Chart.

This very elaborate wheel-chart is concerned with the descendants of William Cumming, who was born near Inverness about 1725, was made a prisoner at the battle of Culloden, reached Maryland a year after, married Sarah Coppage, of an old Eastern Shore family, and became a large landed proprietor in Frederick County.

TABLE OF THE DESCENDANTS OF JOSEPH CLAY, OF SAVANNAH, GEORGIA, 1741 to 1804. Montgomery Cumming. Chart.

The arrangement of this chart is similar to that of its fellow, the Cumming Chart, by the same compiler. The present pedigree is that of the distinguished patriot Joseph Clay, who was born in England, but, becoming identified with this country, became a Member of the Continental Congress of 1778-1780, and held other high offices. Both charts are handsomely lithographed on heavy paper.

WHITE FAMILY QUARTERLY. Almira Larkin White, Editor. Haverhill, Mass.

Including the report of the tenth Reunion, the Quarterly continues the Prescott family records and deals with the English ancestry of James Hosmer.

THE SHERMANS OF YAXLEY, IN SUFFOLK, ENGLAND. Thomas T. Sherman. Register Reprint. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 4.

These are abstracts relating to the Sherman name from several Parishes of Norfolk and Suffolk, and will no doubt be of value to those seeking to establish an English ancestry.

NEW ENGLAND COX FAMILIES, No. 17. Rev. John H. Cox. West Harwich, Mass. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 135-142.

The record of descendants of Robert Cox is continued in this number, which also contains two portraits, one being that of the compiler.

REPORT OF THE FIRST REUNION OF THE ASSOCIATION OF DESCENDANTS OF ANDREW WARD, HELD AT FAIRFIELD, CONN., MAY 10, 1905 New York. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 49.

An account of the life and possible ancestry of Andrew Ward, with notes on his children and their matrimonial alliances, together with the membership, by-laws and addresses usually found in similar publications, and some excellent portraits, particularly one of General Wheeler, make this pamphlet of enduring interest.

SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. Daniel Claus' Narrative of his relations with Sir William Johnson and experiences in the Lake George Fight. Lake George Celebration executive committee report.

Native troops in our colonial possessions. Major Louis Livingston Seaman, M. D. Printed by order of the Society. 1904. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 40.

IPSWICH IN THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY. Part I. Historical. A History of the town from 1633 to 1700, containing the letters of Major Samuel Appleton, lists of soldiers in the Indian Wars, records and depositions of the usurpation period, and facsimiles of ancient documents, bearing many autographs of the early settlers. Part II. Houses and Lands. An account of the original grants of house lots and the successive owners of lands and houses, to the present time, illustrated with diagrams, ancient maps, and photographs of many ancient houses. With Seven Appendices. By Thomas Franklin Waters. Ipswich, Mass. 1905. The Ipswich Historical Society. 8vo, ½ leather, pp. 586.

Seldom has so much local history, biography and genealogy been gathered into one volume. The author says: "I have tried to tell accurately, but in a readable fashion, the story of the builders of our town, their homes and home life, their employments, their Sabbath-keeping, their administration of town affairs, their stern delusions, their heroism in war and in resistance to tyranny," and right well has he done it. The Index is a history in itself, giving, after the name, some description of the person or thing sufficient for identification. The work is beautifully printed on deckel-edged paper, with many illustrations, maps, fac-similes of old documents, views of ancient buildings, land-marks, etc. The book is complete and very attractive.

THE FELT GENEALOGY. A record of the descendants of George Felt of Casco Bay. By John E. Morris. Hartford, Conn. 1893. Press of The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Company. 8vo, cloth, pp. 568.

Though the compiler admits that the origin of the Felts is unknown, as is also the former home of George Felt, the immigrant, he has made records in this book of over 3,000 of his descendants, and arranged them in generations. "It's a plain, unvarnished tale," and a good genealogy, fully indexed.

BOOKS IN PREPARATION.

"THE HISTORY OF THE PATENTEES OF NEW HARLEM, N. Y. (1666), AND THEIR DESCENDANTS; being an account of the claimants to the lands of New Harlem" is the title of a new book in preparation by Murray Edward Poole, D.C.L., LL.D., President of the American Genealogical Society, of Ithaca, N. Y.

All descendants are requested to communicate with the compiler.

REV. JOHN FRELINGHUYSEN JACKSON.

THE NEW YORK Genealogical and Biographical Record.

VOL. XXXVII.

NEW YORK, APRIL, 1906.

No. 2.

THE ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS OF THE REV. JOHN FRELINGHUYSEN JACKSON, WITH SOME NOTES ON THE BELDENS, WESTBROOKS AND GOULDS.

BY HOPPER STRIKER MOTT.

George Scot, the Laird of Pitlochrie, who had suffered for conscience's sake in Scotland, in that he persisted in attendance at conventicles and in associating with those who "kept conventicles," was, after a number of terms of confinement and the payment of large fines, released from the Bass prison on April 1, 1684, on his own petition, wherein he engaged to "go to the plantations," and promised to take with him his wife's cousin, Archibald Riddell,* one of the obnoxious preachers. He occupied his liberty in preparing a "model of the government of East New Jersey in America," and when he announced his intention of embarking with his family for the newly-discovered asylum for the oppressed, his position in society, his connection with many of the first families of the Kingdom and the persecutions to which he had been subjected caused a number of individuals to associate themselves with the undertaking. Accordingly, in May, 1685, he chartered the Henry and Francis, of New Castle, "a ship of three hundred and fifty Tun and twenty great guns, Richard Hutton, Master," and, having in the interim collected his company, the vessel left the harbor of Leith on Sept. 5. Among the two hundred settlers thereon, seventy of whom died on the voyage, including the Laird, his wife, with his sister-in-law, Lady Aithernie, and her two children, came William Jackson,¹ who had been banished with Scot for like reasons. He was from Edinburgh, and became the progenitor of the family in this country. Settling in New York, he m. Jan. 24, 1694, Anna, daughter of Hartman Wessels, a graduated physician and practitioner of medicine in the colony of New Amsterdam. Mr Jackson lived for many years on Pearl

* Mr. Riddell was the brother of Sir John Riddell. On arrival in America he ministered unto the settlers, but political changes having occurred at home which removed the obstacles to the enjoyment of life and liberty by the non-conformists, he set sail on his return to Scotland in June, 1689.

Street in New York City, and was a most zealous Presbyterian. On a Sunday in January, 1707, he opened his house for the first divine service held in that faith in this city, the pastor officiating on this occasion being the Rev. Francis Makemie, a Presbyterian minister who had arrived from Scotland, and for this act Lord Cornbury had him, with a companion, confined in the city jail for two months. The son, Patrick Jackson,² was baptized in the New Amsterdam Dutch Church, March 16, 1701, and m. Anna Van der Spiegel, June 10, 1727. From this union was born William Jackson³ (Rev.).

On June 22, 1753, while studying under the direction of the Rev. John Frelinghuysen at Raritan (now Somerville, N. J.), the Dutch churches at Bergen and Staten Island united in extending him a call, moderated by Mr. Frelinghuysen, who was himself an eminent divine. This required Mr. Jackson to go to Holland, there to prosecute his studies to a successful termination and to obtain ordination from the Classis of Amsterdam. He accepted the call in September, 1753, and immediately made the necessary arrangements. He remained in Holland four years. His congregation, meanwhile awaiting his return, paid for his support the sum of £100. Returning in the year 1757, after receiving his Master's degree from the University of Utrecht, he was installed as the pastor of the church at Bergen on Sept. 10 of that year. Shortly afterwards he married Anna Frelinghuysen, the sister of his old preceptor, and they became the occupants of the house which had been prepared for his reception by the congregation. He retained the pastorate of this church and that at Staten Island for thirty-four years. He was a trustee of Queen's College, a man of extraordinary pulpit eloquence, and was regarded as a second Whitefield. Two years after his installation he was called as an assistant pastor with the Rev. Jacob R. Hardenbergh of the Collegiate Church of Raritan, but rejected it, that he might remain true to the people for whose service he had prepared himself at their expense. During his ministry the church at Bergen became too small for the growing congregation, and a more commodious sanctuary became necessary. There were within a few years many aged persons still living who had heard the Rev. William Jackson, whose united testimony spoke of him as a learned man, a devoted minister of Christ, and as one who in his best days was much sought after and of great renown as a field preacher. The late Professor Cannon of the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, remembered having personally heard him preach to immense assemblies, and on one occasion, at the Raritan Church, the gathering was so large that Domine Jackson was obliged to leave the pulpit and station himself at the front door to deliver his sermon, as far more were without the building than they who were within. He acquired great renown through all the country round. In 1763 he was honored by the Trustees of Yale College with the degree of M. A., and a like distinction was subsequently conferred upon him by Columbia and Princeton. Upon becoming Pastor Emeritus in 1789 the Consistory of the Church at Bergen secured to him during his life the use of the parsonage house erected for him while he was in Holland and occupied by him throughout his long ministry, together with the land adjacent, consisting of four acres.

The present edifice of the Bergen congregation is located on the site of this old parsonage. Domine Jackson d. July 25, 1813, and his remains were interred in the graveyard surrounding this church, which was erected during his ministry. They are marked by a plain marble slab, which, still standing, bears this inscription :

AGED 81 YEARS.

Anna Frelinghuysen, the wife of the Rev. William Jackson and the mother of the Rev. John Frelinghuysen Jackson, was the daughter of the Rev. Theodorus Jacobus Frelinghuysen, who was regarded as one of the great lights of the American church by such men as Gilbert Tennent, George Whitefield and Jonathan Edwards. He was the first settled Reformed minister of Central New Jersey, and had a long and useful ministry, in charge of churches in Somerset and Middlesex Cos., N. J., and exerted a very wide influence and built up a very large congregation, so much so that upon his death these churches were divided and settled two pastors. He is said to have been possessed of a bold evangelical spirit, and the piety of all his household, doubtless largely due to the instruction and influence of the mother, Eva Terhune, is shown by the fact that all his five sons entered the ministry and his two daughters became the wives of ministers of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Winfield's Land Titles, Hudson Co., gives Domine Jackson's issue :

William, b. Aug. 14, 1758.
Theodorus, b. Dec. 26, 1760.
Hannah, b. Jan. 27, 1763.
Hendrick, b. Feb. 9, 1765.
Peterick, b. April 17, 1767.
Johannes, b. June 8, 1768.

Patrick, b. April 28, 1770; m. at the Bergen Church, Feb. 10, 1802, Mary Wright.

Ferdinandus, b. Sept. 5, 1771; d. Jan. 7, 1772.

Eva, b. Sept. 17, 1774; d. Sept. 27, 1774.

Robert, b. Sept. 21, 1778; d. May 1, 1779.

Their father's will, dated Jan. 1, 1811, and proved Nov. 2, 1813, is of record in New York Co. After granting annuities to his sons Patrick and Theodore, he gives "all my real estate which is in the City of New York, which I inherited from my late father, Patrick Jackson," to his sons Henry and the Rev. John F. Jackson.

Domine Jackson⁴ was b. in the town of Bergen, N. J., June 8, 1768, receiving his early education at the Bergen Columbia Academy in his native town. He graduated in 1788 from Queens, now Rutgers College, at New Brunswick, and after studying under Domine Livingston for two years, was ordained to the ministry in 1790 by the Synod. The following year, at the age of twenty-three, he became the pastor of two churches jointly—the old Dutch Church at Sleepy Hollow, in Westchester Co., and the old Dutch Church of Harlem. The church edifice at the latter place was ruined during the Revolution, and another was begun in 1788. His was the first ministry in the new structure. Until the organization of St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Manhattanville, in 1823, the Reformed Church was the only one of any denomination within the entire limits of Harlem. It is related that Domine Jackson's learning and natural dignity from the first commanded respect, and no man thought lightly of him because of his youth. Finding the cares and duties of both churches too arduous, he resigned his Harlem ministry, though still nominally pastor, but continued in the spiritual charge of the church at Sleepy Hollow, of which he was the fifth pastor, until April, 1806; and the records of that church show, even more conclusively than the abundant traditions with which his ministry is invested, a most laborious parochial activity. The first entry made by him appears under date of Feb. 6, 1791, on which occasion he officiated at the marriage of John Helliker and Laney Van Wart. He commenced a Register for children Jan. 2, 1792, and kept the records of births, baptisms, including nearly 600 names, of marriages and church membership, in his clear, scholarly chirography. Several children are found therein to have been named after him. Until his marriage, in 1804, Domine Jackson made his residence in Tarrytown with the family of David Storm, in one of the few pre-historic houses yet standing, and later owned and occupied by D. O. Archer, formerly president of the village and a great-grandson of David Storm. The Domine had purchased the Joost Paulding farm at East Tarrytown in 1794, and this continued in his possession until his death. After his connection with this historic congregation ceased, he preached there occasionally while supplying the pulpits of the Reformed churches at Fordham and Cortlandt.

Scharf's History of Westchester Co. states that Domine Jackson had been sent out by the New York Classis in 1792 to visit the church at the latter place. Their edifice had lately been destroyed by fire, and Mr. Jackson reported that the congregation had diminished in numbers and was greatly scattered. The historian adds: "To Mr. Jackson is due the credit of having done much towards re-establishing the congregation." The church building stands, in a good state of preservation, on the hill to the west of the Hudson River Railroad station which bears the name of Montrose, just south of Peekskill. On March 31, 1795, James Cockcroft, of New York City, presented the Elders and Deacons with a warranty deed for one and a half acres of land on which to erect a new edifice. It had originally stood on Montrose Point, on land which at present belongs to the estate of Frederick W. Seward, and was erected circa 1729. The present building was constructed on the Cockcroft grant between 1795 and 1799. The deed was signed only by James Cockcroft, and his widow, Lydia, who afterward married Charles White, gave a quit-claim to the property Dec. 26, 1799. Sixteen acres now surround the church and the cemetery established thereon. In 1819 Domine Jackson was called as pastor of the Fordham Church, and while still filling this station died at his home in Harlem. It has been said of him that in all his intercourse with other men his manner was characterized by a certain hauteur, and that he was too proud to have been altogether popular with the people, but all agree that he was a man of sound and practical piety, of great simplicity of character and singleness of heart and of self-denying humility, serving his Master with singular consistency, faithfulness and zeal. The associations of his birth and education placed him possibly somewhat out of touch with most of those with whom he was thrown in contact, but of detractors he had none. His refined spiritual face denotes him the scholarly, cultured man that he was. He lived a life above reproach, and by many who were favored with his confidence and friendship he was loved for the exceptional beauty and nobility of his life and character. Of the world at large he neither sought praise nor recompense. Possessed of an ample personal fortune, his services to the church were rendered throughout his life almost gratuitously.

The two hundredth anniversary of the old Dutch Church of Sleepy Hollow was held on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 10-11, 1897. A very interesting program was presented. On the afternoon of the latter day, the Rev. David Cole, D. D., late pastor of the First Reformed Church of Yonkers, delivered an able and interesting historical address, in which he paid the following beautiful tribute to Domine Jackson: "He left behind him an honored name, and the memory of a consecrated and useful life. His ministry is said to have been wonderfully sacred, faithful, and zealous. His life, we are told, was filled up with laborious usefulness, and when on the verge of death he was all self-renunciation, humility, gratitude, hope, and joy. Such a life and character must have told in blessing on your church. The fruits of it must assuredly be lingering with you still."

On Sunday, Oct. 29, 1899, Mrs. James W. Randell, formerly Anna Jackson Belden, presented to this ancient church—located in that part of the Hudson Valley to which has been given forever, by the magic pen of Irving, the charm that is associated with the famous rivers of the Old World—a bronze tablet, designed and made by Louis Tiffany, to the memory of Domine Jackson, her grandfather. It was placed on the wall to the right of the pulpit.

Domine Jackson m. Feb. 2, 1804, Hannah, widow of Peter Benson, of the well-known Harlem family, and daughter of John Horn, of the "Bloomingdale Road," as Riker's Harlem has it. She inherited a large property from her father, whose residence was at the present junction of Broadway and Fifth Ave., in front of the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Hence the valuable estate bequeathed to their descendants. She d. April 4, 1854, aged 82, leaving a will which is of record in New York Co., in L. 110 Wills, 46, wherein she bequeathed the portrait of her husband, by Inman, to her son.

On her marriage she had not far to remove. The Benson stone house, in which she lived, and in which her first husband's children were born, stood in 109th Street, between Second and Third Avenues, until 1865, and the stately frame dwelling which her new husband built, stood in the centre of the block between 113th and 114th Streets, between the same avenues. Here he lived after his marriage and here his children first saw the light. This was later the residence of his son, the doctor, and his daughter Mrs. Belden afterwards lived there. It sat diagonally facing 114th Street, a two story structure with hip roof. Its interior cosiness matched its exterior stateliness. Carved wooden mantels, decorated with carved wreaths of roses, with bows of ribbons pendent, was a feature of its large rooms. Here he d. March 26, 1836, and both he and his wife were interred in the yard of the Harlem Church but now lie in Woodlawn. His will, dated Dec. 12, 1835, proved May 2, 1836 (L. 75, Wills, 91), contains twenty-five separate items and a codicil. It bequeaths numerous pieces of realty to his children, granting "the house in which I now live and the ground adjoining" to the widow for life, fee to his son Dr. Jackson, and certain lands on Twenty-first Street, near Sixth Avenue, to the Dutch Reformed Church for the erection of a church building. An imposing structure was built thereon largely through the generosity of the family, and became a conspicuous landmark on the line of old Love Lane for some thirty years. Among its noted pastors were the Rev. Abraham R. van Nest and Dr. George W. Bethune. The Rev. A. R. Thompson became pastor in 1862, and during his ministry the property was sold to Holy Trinity Lutheran Congregation, in violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the bequest.

descend from William Belden who settled (1635-6) in Wethersfield, Conn. He m. Commarcine ———, in 1646, and d. at that place circa 1660, leaving six children. The second son, Daniel, b. Nov. 20, 1648, removed to Deerfield, Mass., where in Sept., 1696, his wife (Elizabeth Smith) and several children were killed by Indians. He was sold to the French and taken captive to Canada, where he was found with other prisoners, by Cols. Peter and Abraham Schuyler, the Commissioners delegated to bear to Canada the copy of the articles of peace between England and France. He went with them to Albany, and there remained until the arrival of his younger brother John, who arranged for his visit to Norwalk, Conn., John's home. On Daniel's return to his former home, he married again. The eldest child by his first wife, William, b. Dec. 16, 1671, passed his early life in Deerfield, but eventually found his way to the home, in Norwalk, of his uncles John and Samuel Belden. He m. Margaret Arms, May 2, 1700, and had twelve children. The youngest, Azor, was b. in Deerfield, Dec. 10, 1723, and brought in infancy to Norwalk, where he married. His son, Azor, b. 1749; m. Hannah Couch Smith, and had seven children, of whom Lewis (M. D.), b. May 14, 1787, graduated from Princeton 1811, married twice, his second wife being Anna Maria, daughter of Rev. John Frelinghuysen and Hannah (Horn) Jackson. Their only child, Anna Jackson, m. Nov. 11, 1856, James Wells Randell, and had: John Frelinghuysen Jackson Randell, b. Nov. 22, 1858; d. July 14, 1865.

From a brochure, entitled, "A Loving Tribute to a Devoted Mother," this sketch of Mrs. Belden's life is taken: "She was a woman of remarkable and beautiful character, and throughout her long and active life exercised a wide and helpful influence. She was descended from a noted and pious ancestry * * * * Mrs. Belden was more than worthy of this noble ancestry, and in her own life displayed the same distinguishing traits which had made the lives of her forefathers so rich in honor and usefulness. By the force and beauty of her disposition and the qualities of a clear and vigorous mind, she strongly impressed all with whom she came in contact, and she retained unimpaired her wonderful vigor and activity down to almost the time of her death. She was a tower of strength in the church, and in the various societies for associated work and in the services of the church. She was always, if possible, at the post of privilege and duty. Steadily, year after year, she pursued her life work, and for twenty-five years she taught in the Sabbath School, where by faithful and loving work, she left the impress of her devout and earnest spirit upon class after class, and did much to mould many a young character into a closer likeness to her Blessed Lord. Her gifts to the church and the poor were most generous, and always gave her the greatest amount of joy and pleasure, especially when in later years, though necessarily laying aside many activities, she yet maintained a strong interest in every Christian effort. She did her Master's work in every field with an earnest zeal and a deep human sympathy, ever ready and eager to help the unfortunate and sorrow-stricken. Many a sorrow has she lightened, many a hard path has she made smooth by the sweet and sympathetic spirit of the giver no less than by the gift itself. In all that she did, her thought was not the praise of man but the glory of God, and following the sacred behest her left hand knew not what her right hand was doing. The humility, the sweetness and earnestness of her religious life, and her long devotion to acts of mercy and kindness, make her worthy of the love and esteem of the many friends who now mourn her loss with a deep sorrow, but under the influence of her own serene faith they feel that she has simply gone before, and that her Savior, whom she served so faithfully, has taken her to Himself."

Mrs. Belden and John Frelinghuysen Jackson Randell were buried at Greenwood.

Schools at New Brunswick, 1833-6; Pastor at Cortlandtown, 1836-50 (for sketch of his life vide Corwin's Manual, p. 904). He preached generally in English, occasionally in Dutch, d. 1858. The 75th Anniversary Number of the Christian Intelligencer, June 1st, 1904, comments as follows concerning the issue of the paper: "The association secured as editor the Rev. Cornelius D. Westbrook, who for nearly 25 years had been the efficient pastor of the church at Fishkill and whose acquaintance with and attachment to the church, as well as his natural and acquired gifts, peculiarly fitted him for the position. Dr. Westbrook had the assistance of Drs. Brownlee and DeWitt, particularly the latter, and when he resigned the arduous post in 1833, the editing was assumed by the pastors of the Collegiate Church."

In another place in speaking of the published portrait the paper adds that during his editorship he resided in Harlem and was in the vigor of his powers which were of a high order. "He did much good work as a preacher, pastor, teacher, but none perhaps more important in its permanent results than the starting aright this weekly visitor to the homes of the Reformed Church."

THE SKILLMANS OF AMERICA AND THEIR KIN.

BY WILLIAM JONES SKILLMAN, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

In due order we come now to the third generation, to the children of Thomas² Skillman and Annetje Aten, and grandchildren of Thomas¹ Skillman and Sara Petit.

4. JAN³ SKILLMAN (Thomas², Thomas¹), bap. June 24, 1696, in the Collegiate Church, N. Y.; Johannes Borgers and Francina Stultheer, widow of Jan Wesselszen, sponsors, and next heard of not until a full generation later. A tract of land on the Millstone River, below Rocky Hill, Somerset Co., N. J., was then conveyed by John Van Horne and Catharine, his wife (deed dated Dec. 14, 1729), to Thomas, the father, who purchased the same, 500 acres and more, jointly for Jan and his brother Isaac. There in that wilderness Jan Skillman built his house, near where Beden's Brook (of to-day) joins the river. Peter Vanderveer lived there (and Lawrence Vanderveer across the road) over a century later, and there Jan d. about 1765 "of a lingering, painful disease," probably cancer. Jan Skillman may have married and had children long before on Long Island, but there is no record of it. Coming to New Jersey, he m. Anna Hull (b. 1710-12), dau. of Benj. (b. 1680) and his wife Sarah, who was a dau. of Rev. John Drake, first pastor of the Piscataway Baptist Church (Middlesex Co.), N. J. The father of this Benj., also Benj. Hull, and the latter's brother, Hopewell Hull, were pioneer settlers of that region, coming there from Piscataqua, Me. The Hulls were closely interrelated with the Dunns, Doteys (Doughtys), Fitz Randolphs, Folsoms, Runyons, and others. Sarah, becoming a widow, m. Israel Folsom (they lived near the "Landing," just above New Brunswick), and her will as Sarah Folsom, dated May 2 and proved May 22, 1749, names "my beloved dau. Anne, wife of John Skillman;" and the will of this "Anne, widow of John Skillman, Somerset Co.," dated Dec. 25, 1772, and proved before Gov. William Franklyn, Jan. 9, 1776, names 3 sons and 1 daughter. Children of Jan Skillman and Anna Hull:

- 11 i. Osie, b. 1730? Aaghje or Agatha?
- ii. Christopher, b. 1732; m. circa 1758, Ruth, 4th dau. (b. 1740) of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph and wife, Rebecca Mershone, of Princeton. Nath. Fitz Randolph gave the original plat of land for the campus of Nassau Hall, and perhaps did more than any one else to plant the College of New Jersey at that point. He was 7th child (b. Nov. 11, 1703) of Benj. Fitz Randolph and Sarah Dennis, who removed from Piscataway to Princeton, 1696-99. Edw'd, his father, was a native of Nottingham, Eng. The grave of N. F. R. was recently discovered (1902) in a corner of the University grounds. His sister, Ruth, aunt of Ruth Skillman, m. (1) John Harrison, of Griggstown, N. J. (2 child'n), and m. (2), in 1720, John Snowden, of Philadelphia (4 child'n). Christopher Skillman d. probably soon after m., and without issue. His name is not in the mother's will of 1772.

iii. Isaac. "To my loving son, Isaac, £50." So he is remembered in the will of Anne, his mother.

12 iv. Jacob, b. circa 1736.

v. Sarah. "My loving daughter," her mother calls her, "wife of Thomas Skillman, of Kingstowne." She was b. 1738, and m. 1762 her cousin, Thomas, 2d son of Benj. Skillman and wife, Margaret Coe, then of Dutch Kills. She herself gets her mother's "moveable estate" at death; and to her dau., Anne, the grandmother by will, as name-gift, bequeaths "one chintz gown." Later on, on becoming a widow, the name of Sarah appears in property transfers signed "Sallie Skillman" (Middlesex Co. Records, N. Brunswick), i. e., "two lots or parcels of land at Kingston" sold for $800, Capt. William Jones (great-grandfather of the writer) being witness to the deed. (See Thomas' Skillman, post.)

13 vi. Benjamin, b. about 1740.

14 vii. John, b. 1742.

5. ANNETJE³ SKILLMAN (Thomas², Thomas¹), bap. Ref. Dutch Church of N. Y. (Colleg.), Jan. 13, 1703; Pieter Bant (Bond) and Catharine Davids, sponsors. By a blunder, the babe's mother at the bap. had been recorded as Annetje Wijt, instead of Aten. The wife of Pieter Bant was Martha Wijt, and it seems to have been assumed that she and the mother were sisters; hence the confusion. Annetje became the second wife of the widowed husband of her elder sister, Elizabeth Skillman, Hendrick, eldest son of Johannes Van de Water and his wife, Baafje Jans, bap. Nov. 23, 1692; Jan Siphens and Grietje V. de Water, sponsors. In the Collegiate Church Register are these two entries, marriages: (1) Johannes V. de Water, j. m., van N. Yorck, en Baafje Jans, j. d., als boven heijde wonende alhier, Aug. 5, 1692; (2) Hendrick V. de Water, j. m., van Amsterdam, en Margaret Van der Meulen, j. d., van Rotterdam, April 21, 1662. These were parents and grandparents of Hendrick, and grandma Grietje was sponsor at his baptism. Children of Annetje and Hendrick Van de Water:

- i. Anna V. d. Water, bap. Dec. 26, 1722; Thomas Skillman and Petronella V. d. Water, sponsors.
- ii. Pieterrella V. d. Water, bap. Nov. 4, 1724; Cornelis Klopper and Pieterrella Bonnet, sponsors.
- iii. Maria V. d. Water, bap. Aug. 4, 1726; Jacobús Skillman and Maria Skillman, sponsors.
- iv. Albertus V. d. Water, bap. Nov. 22, 1728; Willem V. d. Water and Petronella V. d. Water, sponsors.
- v. Thomas V. d. Water, bap. July 4, 1731; Daniel Bonnet and Petronella V. d. Water, sponsors.
- vi. Pieterrella V. d. Water, bap. Aug. 5, 1732; Jacobús Quik and Pieterrella V. d. Water, sponsors.
- vii. Thomas V. d. Water, bap. March 27, 1734; Cornelis Klopper, Sr., and Catharine Greveraart, wife of Cornelis Klopper, Jr., sponsors.
- viii. Elizabeth V. d. Water, bap. Nov. 12, 1735; Cornelis Klopper and Maria Skillman, wife of Johs. Band, sponsors.
- ix. Hendrick V. d. Water, bap. Nov. 13, 1737; Benj. Skillman and Rijntje Van Brakele, wife of J. Stevens, sponsors.
- x. Margrita V. d. Water, bap. Jan. 16, 1739; Cornelis Brouwer and Anna V. d. Water, j. d., sponsors.
- xi. Heijltje V. d. Water, bap. Feb. 8, 1744; Thomas Hollik and Heijltje Klopper, widow of Jacobús Quik, sponsors.
- xii. Thomas V. d. Water, bap. March 6, 1746; Willem Pears and Maria V. d. Water, j. d., sponsors.

6 ABRAHAM⁶ SKILLMAN (Thomas², Thomas¹), bap. April 18, 1704; Jan Aten and Sara Breese, sponsors. Lijsbet Skillman, aunt of the babe, was wife of Jan Aten, and Sara Breese, now wife of Cornelis Breese, was his grandmother. Abraham m. Margaret Fine of N. Y. City. Notes of interest as to this New York family: Judith, dau. of Gov. Stuyvesant, was sponsor at the bap. Aug. 27, 1751, of Judith, dau. of Capt. Francois Fijn (Val. Man., 1863). John Fine (Nat. Man., 1864) had children bap. in Ref. Dutch (Colleg.) Church, N. Y.: Gerrit, Sept. 26, 1697; Jan, May 18, 1698; Gerardus, Sept. 3, 1699, and Willem, July 26, 1702; also, in strangely close succession, Barendius, bap. Dec. 7, 1707; Jacob, Dec. 14, 1707, and Maria, Dec. 17, 1707! How explain this? Then in a muster roll of "souldjers for y^e Expedition of Albany, A.D. 1689, y^e 13 March," is a Johannes Fine of N. Y. (Doc. Mix., Vol. I, pp. 116, 117). Capt. Thomas Skillman (see Introduction, ante, p. 23) received "14 oz. of plate for services at Albany under Captain Lewis, 1689-90. Later, Thomas Fijn and Johanna Rúnjen (Runyon) had Joseph, bap. (Ref. Dutch Church, N. Y.) June 30, 1762, Egbert V. der Hoev and Margarita Hendersly, his wife, being sponsors. Jacob Fijn also, May 11, 1703, is one of the Helgate Petitioners, along with Thomas Skillman and his step-father, Cornelis Breese, and others. Abraham Skillman's home during life was upon the ancestral farmstead (father's and grandfather's) at Dutch or Maspeth Kills. In the division of the land after his father's death, he had the north half, leaving to his brother Benjamin the south half and the old-time home where all the children of this generation, and of the preceding one, perhaps, were born. In the Revolutionary War (long after) Abraham took refuge in New Jersey, probably with his brothers there. During that dark time the well at his home was poisoned, and some Hessian soldiers camped on the farm were victims; and, probably to shield the Patriots, this deed was charged to a negro. Abraham's fine apple orchard, cut for firewood during the War, was a sad regret to him the rest of his life. His home, built by him on these ancestral acres, where he, his wife and children lived, perched on its grassy slope, was swept away about 1840 by the growth of Long Island City, now, with Brooklyn, the whole of the Newtown region and its hamlets and villages, Maspeth or Dutch Kills, Newtown village, Middletown, and later, Astoria, besides regions beyond, to-day being swallowed up in the Borough of Brooklyn, Greater New York. This Abraham Skillman house was long conspicuous. "It stood, a celebrity for generations, on the roadside a few yards north of Thompson Avenue." (L. I. City Star, March 28, 1879.) Skillman Avenue, Brooklyn, owes its name to this ancient landmark. The dwelling stood at the highest point of the old (undivided) farm, a little north of the original homestead dwelling, the old stone house, where, as said, all the Skillman's in this country were born and up to this generation had probably lived some portion of their lives. Children of Abraham Skillman and his wife, Margaret Fine:

- i. Thomas: Some doubts occur here as to the record. Never m. and was lost at sea, is the tradition. But this is uncertain. Was b. circa 1730.
 - ii. Hester, b. 1732; m. William Paynter, who came, a Quaker, from Philadelphia (others say from Southampton, L. I.), to whom his father-in-law (also inclined to Quakerism and never went to church), in a deed, 1788, conveyed his farm at Dutch Kills (see ab.); consideration, £767. This led to a law-suit and to sore trouble in the household. (Skillman's of N. Y., p. 18.)
 - iii. Elizabeth, b. July 9, 1737; d. June 7, 1807; m. John Morrell. Two sons of theirs, John and Abraham, served in the Rev. War, on the Patriot side. A dau., Margaret Skillman Morrell, m. Thomas Cumberson, and d. at 12 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, April 28, 1878, ae. 101 yrs., 5 mos. and 19 days.
 - iv. Catharine, m. Isaac Messerole, of Bushwick, great-grandson of Jean Messerole and his wife, Jonica, who in 1663 came in the Bontekoe (Spotted Cow) "with sucking child" (only son), Jean, from Picardy, France.
7. ISAAC³ SKILLMAN (Thomas², Thomas¹), b. 1706; record of bap. lost. First public account of him is found in deed given at sale of his farm (Dutch Kills) of 24 acres to Samuel Alburtis, Nov. 25, 1729, for £140. Thomas, his father, was witness to this deed, and Isaac is described as Cordwainer. He is mentioned third in his father's will, Feb. 23, 1739, and the following therefrom specially concerns him and his elder brother: "Whereas I have a conveyance of John Van Horne and Catharine his wife for a certain tract of land lying at Rariton, New Jersey, and my sons, John Skillman and Isaac Skillman, have paid part of the consideration money, my will and order is that if they shall pay the remaining part thereof, so as I and mine are fully discharged therefrom and acquitted thereof, that then my other sons, by name Abraham, Jacob, Benjamin, and Joseph Skillman, shall release the same unto the s'd John Skillman and Isaac Skillman." This "tract" (see Ante) on the Millstone below Rocky Hill, N. J., stretched upward toward Sourland Mountain, and contained 500 and odd acres. Isaac Skillman built his home, very much in the wilderness then, on the upper or western portion, near the present village of Harlingen. Just who Isaac's wife was we do not know. By one tradition she was "a Hull from Black River (small stream, near Peapack, N. J.) and was an Englishwoman." "The children were laughed at in Harlingen because they did not speak Dutch." There were Hulls in the Black River or Peapack locality, members of the family at Piscataway. By others it is thought that Isaac's wife was a Beekman. Neither tradition is yet established. He was certainly married before leaving Long Island, circa 1726, and with Jan, his brother (John), removed to New Jersey in 1730. Children of Isaac Skillman and wife (unknown):

- 15 i. Thomas, b. 1727.
 - 16 ii. Benjamin, b. 1729.
 - iii. Isaac: First gospel minister of the name; b. 1740. Prepared under care of the First Baptist Church of N. Y. City, at Rev. Isaac Eaton's School at Hopewell, Hunterdon Co., N. J., and was graduated at Princeton (a few miles distant) in 1766. He declined a call to the Hopewell Church (Bap.), tendered him July 26, 1773; but same year became pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Boston, Mass., where he remained 14 years. In 1787 he returned to New Jersey, becoming, Sept. 18, 1790, pastor of the Salem Baptist Church in that State, dying suddenly June 8, 1799, "in his 59th year," and is buried in Salem Baptist Churchyard. He received the doctorate (D.D.) from Rhode Island College (now Brown University) in 1774, and never married.
 - iv. Jacob, settled as a pioneer in Ohio, near Cincinnati probably, where he was visited by relatives (three grandchildren of his brother Thomas) on their way to Lexington, Ky., in 1817. They reported him "a well-to-do farmer with servants, and his wife a pleasant woman; but they had no children."
8. JACOB* SKILLMAN (Thomas*, Thomas'), b. 1708, and bap. in Brooklyn; record lost. When 18 he was one of the sponsors (Aug. 4, 1726) at the bap. in Ref. Dutch Church of New York of Maria Van de Water, his sister Ann's third child. In 1731 he subscribed £2 15s. for building the first Ref. Dutch Church at Newtown. Had children afterward bap. there, and also at Flatlands. His pew (No. 10, n.w. side, middle aisle, in Newtown Church) was transferred, Jan. 8, 1757, to William Van Duyn, and some time before that he removed with his family to Kingston, N. J. There he bought land (600 acres says tradition), and built the first mill at that point, just where the Great Road to and from New York and Philadelphia (half-way between the cities) crosses the Millstone. There also he opened a store, and besides kept a tavern. Jacob Skillman's home on Long Island, previous to his removal, was a farmstead purchased by his father, near Hempstead Swamp, about 2½ miles south of Newtown Village, whereon he built him a house. About 1729 he m. Jannetje, dau. of Johannes Van Alst and Aeltje his wife. Of Netje's sisters, Leah m. John Parcell, and Geesje m. Abraham Rycker (see Ryker's Newtown). The father of these three, Johannes (b. Aug. 5, 1667; d. 1749), was the only son (having issue) of Joris Stevenson Van Aalst de Caper, who came to New Amsterdam from Bruges, 1652, and settled at Maspeth, where he m. Geesje, dau. of Harman Hendricksen. He was originally from the Aalst or Alost district of West Flanders, the name "de Caper," doubtless because of sinister or ambiguous import, being soon dropped. Jacob d. about 1783 and Jannetje somewhat earlier. Children of Jacob Skillman and Jannetje Van Alst:

- i. Jane, bap. at Amersfort (Flatlands) Ref. Dutch Church (Vincentius Antonides, pastor), May 31, 1731. No further record.
- 17 ii. John, b. 1733.
- 18 iii. Jacob, b. 1735.
- iv. Sara, b. 1738. Vague tradition; the name a mere shadow of a shade; scarcely that.
- 19 v. Abraham, b. 1740.
- vi. Leah, bap. in Ref. Dutch Church of Newtown, 1742, and named for her mother's sister, Leja Van Alst, wife of John Parcell; father and mother witnesses.
- vii. Thomas, b. 1743? In "names of persons for whom marriage licenses were issued" prior to 1790 (Penn. Archives, Vol. II, p. 267), a "permit" was issued for Thomas Skillman and Mary Finney, Nov. 7, 1767; and in 1769, presumably the same person, classed "shopkeeper" and "rated £5 on 40 acres of land, 1 horse and 1 cow in Oxford Township, County of Philadelphia, Thomas Shallcross," assessor, is named. (Penn. Arch^s., Vol. XIV, p. 39.)
- viii. Mary, b. 1745? m. July 21, 1766, William Fullerton, Philadelphia (Penn^a. Arch^s.). All is conjectural (here as with preceding Thomas) except dates of record; but there is no place for these names elsewhere; they are of this generation, and I find warrant for setting them in this list.
- 20 ix. George, b. 1747.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

Easterly part of cemetery at Rahway, N. J., on St. George Avenue, formerly the cemetery of the old Presbyterian Church. Copied from stones standing in 1903.

BY GEORGE W. THOMAS, CRANFORD, N. J.

NOTES.—The tombstones are crumbling away and letters are defacing. In many cases all the history of the dead that can now be known is that conveyed by these inscriptions. Early records were destroyed by fire during the Revolution, Church was burned, and early Elizabethtown, N. J. records are lost.

Where (verse) appears it indicates that the tombstone had one or more verses inscribed on it. (S. A. R. Monument) indicates that the Sons of the American Revolution have placed one of their iron monuments at the grave.

JOHN VAN DYCK OF NEW UTRECHT, L. I., AND SOME OF HIS NUMEROUS DESCENDANTS.

CONTRIBUTED BY GEORGE C. BEEKMAN.

Jan Van Dyck resided in the vicinity of what is now known as Fort Hamilton or the Narrows in Kings County, Long Island, and died there in 1736.

The first settlement in that neighborhood was made by people from the Netherlands and they called the straggling village after one of the famous provinces of their motherland, "Utrecht," with the prefix of "New."

Jan Van Dyck left a will executed May 16, 1735, in the presence of Cornelius and Joost Van Brunt, Theophilus Ellsworth and Christopher Codwise, who sign as witnesses. This will was proved Nov. 9, 1736 and is recorded in Surrogate's office of New York in Liber 13, p. 35. It is also published in the Collections of the New York Historical Society for the year 1894, entitled Abstracts of Wills, Vol. III, 1730-1744, p. 214. In this testament Jan Van Dyck describes himself as a resident of "New Utrecht in Kings County."

He bequeaths to his two sons John and Matthys and his three daughters, "Catharine, widow of Daniel Hendrickson," "Jannettie, wife of Capt. Rutgers Van Brunt," and "Angentye, wife of Simon De Hart," all of his personal property, except as follows: To his grandson, John Stephens, five shillings; to his granddaughter, "Teuntie, widow of John Fleigh," £25; to the children of his deceased daughter, "Catalynte, late wife of Garret Kettleletas," being three sons and three daughters (not named) each five shillings. He leaves to his great-grandson, John Van Beuren, a son of his granddaughter "Teuntie Ricpon, deceased, who was the wife of Doctor John Van Buren, Jr.," fifteen pounds. His two sons, John and Matthys Van Dyck and two of his son-in-laws, Rutgers Van Brunt and Simon De Hart, are appointed executors.

The descendants of the above testator are now, in this year of our Lord, 1906, very numerous and can be found in nearly all the states of our Union. Through his daughter, Catharine, the wife of Daniel Hendrick or Hendrickson, who settled in Monmouth County, N. J., his descendants will number at least one thousand persons. Daniel Hendrickson by his wife, Catharine Van Dyck, had four sons and seven daughters. They all married and nearly all the seven daughters had large families. Among them at this time are found persons of the well-known English names of Stillwell, Hubbard, Holmes, etc.; of French, names such as Perrine, Dubois and Denise or Denyse; Welsh names like Jones and Lloyd; Scotch names such as Forman, Murray and Crawford, and Dutch names such as Schenck, Conover, Smock, Van Doren, Van Cleef, Van Brunt, etc. Daniel Hendricks, according to the Dutch spelling of his name, married Catharine Van Dyck about 1692 and soon after removed to Monmouth County, N. J., and settled on lands in what is now Holmdel Township, where he lived until his death in Jan., 1728. He left a will, now on record in the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton, N. J., in Book No. 2 of Wills, pp. 491, etc. His lineal male descendants have owned and occupied the homestead down to the present day, or over two centuries.

Daniel Hendrickson was the first Dutchman to hold the office of High Sheriff of Monmouth County; he was appointed by Lord Cornbury at request of Capt. John Bowne who was one of his nearest neighbors. For a full account of his eleven children and who they married, see Early Dutch Settlers of Monmouth County, p. 116, etc.

The children of John Van Dyck's daughter who married Capt. Rutgers Van Brunt are named, I think, in the Genealogy of the Van Brunt Family by Hon. Teunis G. Bergen.

I have no knowledge of the six children of the daughter who married Garret Kettleletas. I do not know where they resided.

Simon De Hart who married "Angentye" as her name is spelled in her father's will, resided in what is now Brooklyn City and died there in 1745, leaving a will, dated July 30, 1744, proved Nov. 27, 1745, and recorded in Surrogate's office of New York in Liber 15, p. 478. It is also published in Collections of New York

Historical Society for year 1895, entitled Abstracts of Wills, Vol. IV, 1744-1753, pp. 60-61. Simon De Hart describes himself as a resident of "Brookland" at a place called "Gowanus." He gives his wife "Angeltie" as he spells her name, the use of six hundred pounds for life, if she remains a widow, two cows, "firewood ready cut at her door," the large room in his house and little room next to it, all household goods, a negro girl and a negro woman, use of kitchen and his silver tankard. He devises to his son "Symon" all his real estate in the "Township of Brookland" in Kings County, all cattle except as reserved, and all his farm with all rights and privileges. His son Simon is to pay his five daughters, "Geertie, Teuntje, Jannetie, Angentie and Tryntie" one thousand pounds. Jannettie and Tryntie are to have four cows, for they seem to have been unmarried at this time. He appoints his wife, son Simon, his three son-in-laws, Jacobus Lott, Peter Cortelyou and Hans (John) Bergen, executors.

This son Simon about 1740 married Catharine, a daughter of Roelef Schenck and Geesie Hendrickson his wife, of Monmouth County, N. J. His wife's mother was eldest daughter of Daniel Hendrickson and Catharine Van Dyck his wife, mentioned in John Van Dyck's will aforesaid. Simon De Hart's mother was therefore a sister to his wife's grandmother.

This son however did not long survive his father. His will is dated March 5, 1747, proved May 9, of same year and recorded in Liber 16 of Wills, p. 99, Surrogate's office of New York. It is also published in same volume of the Collections of the New York Historical Society as his father's will on p. 116. He states his residence in "Brookland," Kings County, and "that he is very sick." He leaves all his estate to his wife "Coty" as he calls her for the maintenance of herself and his children so long as she remains his widow. After her death or marriage all his estate is to be divided into three parts, between his wife and his son Simon and daughter Geesie, except one silver tankard which he gives to son Simon. After his son Simon is of age he is to have all the real estate and pay three hundred pounds to his wife and daughter. He appoints his father-in-law Roelef Schenck and his brother-in-laws Peter Cortelyou and Johannes Bergen, executors.

This Roelef Schenck who is named as one of the executors was the eldest son of John Schenck and Sarah Couwenhoven his wife, who had removed from Kings County, Long Island about 1694, and settled in what is now known as Pleasant Valley, Holmdel Township, Monmouth County, N. J. A full account of John Schenck and his children, etc., is given on p. 4 of Early Dutch Settlers of Monmouth County. His daughter Catharine after death of Simon De Hart, married for second husband, Peter Couwenhoven. Their marriage license is dated July 27, 1749, and is on record in Secretary of State office in Trenton, N. J. By this last husband she had four children. Some original documents referring to her six children by the two husbands is published in Old Times in Old Monmouth, p. 310, etc. Roelef Schenck is also mentioned in Well's Memorial Address at Brick Church as the man who fixed the location of the church edifice at the place where it has remained to the present day. This locality is better known at the present time by name of Bradvelt Station. Roelef Schenck the father-in-law of Simon De Hart died Jan. 19, 1766, and was buried by his wife in Schenck-Couwenhoven graveyard in Pleasant Valley, where his tombstone is still standing and well preserved. He left a will dated April 10, 1765, proved March 3, 1766, and recorded in Book I of Wills, p. 93, etc., at Trenton, N. J. He bequeaths 280 pounds to the six children of his daughter Catharine by her two husbands. They are named in this will as Simon De Hart, Geesie De Hart, Jacob, Ruliff, Mary and John Couwenhoven.

The facts stated in this article will doubtless enable some of the numerous and widely scattered descendants of the four daughters of Jan Van Dyck to trace back their genealogies, and for this purpose I have written it.

COVERT ANCESTRY.

COMPILED BY EDSON SALISBURY JONES.

CONTRIBUTED BY BYRON BARNES HORTON, SHEFFIELD, PA.

The first man in America, as far as yet seen, who bore a surname which was one of the many variants of the modern form, Covert, was Theunis Janssen, who came to the Province of New York in 1651, according to his oath of allegiance, taken in Sept., 1687.

When New Amsterdam was first settled, the surnames of the Dutch were patronymic. The patronymics of children were the Christian names of their fathers somewhat varied to denote the sons and daughters. As an example,—the sons of a Jan Pietersen (meaning Jan, son of Pieter) took the patronymic, Janse, Janssen or Janszen (meaning son of Jan); and the daughters properly took the form, Jans (meaning daughter of Jan). If Jan Pietersen had a son, Theunis, he took the name Theunis Janssen; and all the latter's sons took the patronymic Theunissen. Soon after arrival in New Amsterdam, men began to take what became true surnames. These were often the names of the towns or localities where they had formerly resided, with the prefix, van (meaning of or from),—as van Aarnhem (from Aarnhem, Province of Guelderland); sometimes Dutch words indicating occupations,—de Riemer (the saddler); or others expressing condition or characteristics,—as de Ryck (the rich man), and de Witt (the white one—of light complexion), etc., etc.

The derivation of the surname, Covert, seems to be uncertain; and four Dutchmen (familiar with the origin of names) have furnished no solution. Possibly it came from Coevorden, or Koevorde, a fortified town in the Province of Drenthe, Holland, 23 miles S. S. E. of Assen. This town-name form has not been seen in connection with Theunis¹, whose surname is variably recorded as Coevors, Coevers, Couverts, etc.; but has been seen in two instances connected with his alleged children. These are (a) in the record of marriage of Aeltje, where she appears as "Aeltje Theunis Van Couverden" (N. Y. Du. Ch. Rec.—N. Y. G. & B. Soc. Coll., 1890, p. 45); and (b) in Snell's Hist. of Hunterdon and Somerset Cos., N. J., p. 561, and Messler's Hist. of Somerset Co., p. 34, where the authors say that among the heads of families, who came from Long Island to New Jersey, was "Jan Hans Coeverden." The next nearest form is in the deed from "Abraham Coverd" to his brother "Isaac Coverd." In olden times, spelling was very variable. In such times, too, the wives of Dutchmen were usually spoken of and recorded by their maiden names.

Bergen's "Early Settlers of Kings Co., N. Y.," treats the Covert family the most extensively of any work seen. Of Theunis¹ and his family, he says:

COEVERS OR COVERT. Teunis Janse emigrated in 1651, from Heemstede, in North Holland; m. Barbara Lucas or Jans; resided at first in New Amsterdam, and finally settled in Bedford in Booklyn, at which place he took oath of allegiance in 1687; member of Ref. Du. Ch. of New Amsterdam prior to 1660; member of Ref. Du. Ch. of Brooklyn in 1660, 1677 and 1685; and died prior to 1700. Issue:

Hans Teunise, m. Jannetje Boka (Bragow); oath of allegiance, 1687; on the Raritan, N. J., 1705.

Marretje Teunise, m. Nov. 24, 1682, Jean Messerole, Jr., of Bushwick.

Lucas Teunise (see under Lucas Covert and family).

Mauritz Teunise, bap. Aug. 6, 1663; m. April 1, 1690, Anne Fonteyn, widow of Jacob Jansen; oath of allegiance, 1687.

Aeltje Teunise, m. May 18, 1679, in New York, William Pos or Post of New York.

Sarah Teunise, m. April 7, 1680, in New York, Arent Fredrickson of New York.

Annetje Teunise, bap. Aug. 18, 1661; m. April 16, 1687, Garrett Sprong.

Jannetje Teunise (supposed), m. Titus Syrachs DeVries.

Aaggrica or Echtje, m. Derk Paulus of Jamaica.

Jahannes Teunise, m. Jannetje ———; oath of allegiance, 1687; settled on the Raritan, N. J.

THEUNIS' COVERT AND FAMILY.

Original authority that Theunis¹ came from Heemstede has not been seen, but it may be in the records of the N. Y. Dutch Church.

That he came to the Province of New York in 1651 is shown by his oath of allegiance. On the list of oaths taken Sept. 26-30, 1687, among the Brooklyn men was "theunis Janse Couverts, 36 Jeare" [36 years in Prov. of N. Y., 1687-36-1651]. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., I, p. 430.

Among the members of the Ref. Du. Ch. of New York, before 1660 (as printed), appear:

"Theunis Jansen Coevers, en "Barbara Jans sÿn hÿÿsv"	} Vertrocken na } Breÿckelen"	} (N. Y. G. & B. Rec., IX, p. 72.)
---	----------------------------------	---------------------------------------

Among the members of the Ref. Du. Ch. of Brooklyn, on Sept. 12, 1660, appear:

"Teunis Janse, Barbar Lucas." (Holland Society Year-Book, 1897, p. 133.)

As "Barbara Jans," the wife appears but once; but as "Barbara Lucas," she is found several times on the Church Record. No marriage of 'Theunis' has been seen, and it seems uncertain, as yet, that these two women were identical.

Some Theunis Jansen was assessed in Brooklyn in 1675. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., IV, p. 93.)

Some Theunis Jansen was assessed in Brooklyn in 1676. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., II, p. 275.)

Some Teunis Jansen was assessed in Brooklyn in 1683. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., II, p. 290.)

The latest appearance of Theunis with wife that has been seen was March 29, 1691, when "Theunis Janszen Couvors" and "Barbara Lucas" witnessed bap. of Theunis, son of Maÿritz Couvors and Anneken Fonteÿn, in N. Y. Du. Ch. (N. Y. G. & B. Soc. Coll., 1901, p. 202). The last appearance of Theunis was March 13, 1692, as "Teunis Jansen Coevers," a witness to bap. of Jan, son of Dirck Poulusseen and Sara Jeets, in Brooklyn Du. Ch. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 164). Dec. 27, 1696, "Barbar Coevors" witnessed a bap. in Brooklyn Du. Ch. (id., p. 171); but it is uncertain whether she were wife of 'Theunis' or of Lucas.

HANS (Theunis'). In dealing separately with this son, Bergen calls him Hans or Jan; and the last child of 'Theunis', named by Bergen, is "Johannes." For the following reasons, the "Hans" and "Johannes" of Bergen would seem to be identical:

(a) Hans and Jan were both diminutives of Johannes, all three names being often used for the same man.

(b) "Jan Couverts, native" (born in Prov. of N. Y.), took oath of allegiance in 1687. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., I, p. 430.) No Hans Couvert did so.

(c) Bergen gives "Hans" and "Jan" wives having the same Christian name. (No marriage of Hans or Jan has been seen.)

(d) In deeds by the text of which "Hans" was grantor, the deeds are signed "Jan."

(e) The three children bap. in Brooklyn and New York (two of "Hans" and one of "Jan") are found in the will of "Jan Koevers," of Millstone, N. J. No will of "Hans" has been found, or any administration on his estate.

It would seem that the wife of this Hans or Jan was Jannetje, dau. of Bragoon Braghar (or Bourgen Broecord, or Broeckaert). Before the removal to New Jersey, two of the issue of this couple were bap. in Brooklyn and one in New York, as follows:

Bap. Aug. 3, 1690, Ariaentje, dau. of Hans Teunissen Coevers and Jannetje Boka. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897.)

Bap. April 16, 1693, Theunis, son of Jan Coeverts and Jannetje Broeckaert. (N. Y. G. & B. S. Coll., 1901.)

Bap. March 29, 1696, Bragon, son of Hans Coevers and Jannetje Coevers. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897.)

Bergen gives "Johannes" a son, Teunis, bap. in New York, April 11, 1693; but only the bap. of Theunis, on April 16, has been seen.

Some Jan Teunissen was assessed in Brooklyn in 1683. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., II, p. 292.) No assessment of "Hans" has been found.

June 21, 1690, Hans Tunis Covert and Bourgen Broecord, both of Bedford, Kings Co., N. Y., bought land in Newtown, Queens Co., N. Y. (Queens Co. Deeds, B. II, p. 353.)

Jan. 26, 1695/6, Johannes Covert and John Miserole, Jr., of Kings Co., bought a corn mill and meadow. (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 238.)

Feb. 4, 1698/9, Johannes Covart, of Newtown, Queens Co., sold said mill and meadow. Signed, "John Covert." (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 238.)

Feb. 21, 1700/1, John Covers and wife, Jane, of Newtown, sell land there. Signed, "Jan Coevers, Jantie Coevers." (Queens Co. Deeds, B. II, p. 319.)

May 9, 1702, John Coverson and Bragoon Braghar, of Somerset Co., N. J., planters, bought 2,000 acres at the mouth of Millstone River, N. J. (E. J. Deeds, C. II, p. 447.)

March 13, 1706/7, Jno. Covers, of Millstone River, N. J., confirmed his sale of Feb. 21, 1700/1. Signed, "Jan Coevers." (Queens Co. Deeds, B. II, p. 324.)

March 15, 1706/7, Hans Coverd and Andrew Bird, Jr., of Millstone River, N. J., and Isaac Bourga, of Newtown, N. Y., sold Newtown land. Signed, "Jan Coevers." (Queens Co. Deeds, B. II, p. 318.)

Will of "Jan Kuvers," of Millstone, Somerset Co., N. J., yeoman, stricken in years, dated May 2, 1719, and pr. April 13, 1723, names wife Jane; sons, Tunis (eldest), Bergen and Lucas (youngest); and daus., Catherine Bird, Orianchy Courser (bap. "Ariaentje"), Jane, Marry and Bathseba. Signed, "Jan koevers." (E. J. Wills, A., p. 244, and original will.)

Rev. E. T. Corwin's "Historical Discourse on the Occasion of the Centennial Anniversary of the Reformed Dutch Church of Millstone" (N. J.) refers to the purchase of the 2,000 acres on the banks of Millstone River by "John Covers and John Brocars" (p. 25).

Snell (p. 561) and Messler (p. 35) refer to "Johanes Coevert" as living near New Brunswick early in the eighteenth century. The mouth of the Millstone is about 6 miles from New Brunswick. Snell (p. 818) says that among the subscribers to ministerial fund for church at Three Mile Run, N. J., in 1703, were Lucas Coevert and Brogun Coevert. The only Brogun (Bragon or Bergen) Coevert seen was the one bap. March 29, 1696, who would have been but seven years old in 1703. If the year of this subscription be correct, it would seem that the subscription of "Brogun" was in his name, he being then a child; and that of Lucas may have been in his name as a child—as Jan's will shows sons of these names. But, if Lucas were adult, then he would seem to have been the man that Bergen makes Lucas' (Theunis'). If so, he most likely subscribed as a resident of Madnan's Neck, and possibly while visiting at Millstone River. (See under Lucas and Family.) It seems more probable, however, that the year was about 1723, when Lucas and Bragon, sons of Jan, would have been adults. Had the year been 1703, it would have been most natural for Jan himself to subscribe, but in 1723 he was dead.

MARRETJE. Some "Marritje," dau. of a Theunis Jansen (mother's name not given), was bap. April 20, 1653, in the N. Y. Du. Ch. (N. Y. G. & B. Soc. Coll., 1901.)

Nov. 24, 1682, m. Jean Mesurella and Martetje Tunis Couvers. Flatbush Du. Ch. Rec. No parents or witnesses given. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1898, p. 90.)

LUCAS. (See Lucas and Family.)

MAURITZ. Bap. Dec. 5, 1663, Maurits, son of Teunis Janszen Coevors and Barber Lucas, of Breuckelen. Brooklyn Du. Ch. Rec. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 148.)

April 1, 1690, m. Maurus Covert and Antie Fontyn. Flatbush Du. Ch. Rec. No parents or witnesses given. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1898, p. 94.)

Aug. 29, 1694, Mauritz Couverts and wife, Annetie—she "the last widow of Jacob Janse," of Bushwick—exchanged land with Charles Fonteyne. (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 13.)

April 26, 1697, Mauritz Coevorts and wife Anne, of Bushwick, sold land that had belonged to Jacob Soldate, whose widow said Anne had been. (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 130.)

It would seem that Antie Fonteyn had m. (1) Jacob Soldate; m. (2) Jacob Janse, and m. (3) Mauritz Couverts.

Sept., 1687, oath of allegiance of "Mauritius Couverts, native." (Doc. Hist. N. Y., I, p. 430.)

AELTJE. May 18, 1769, m. Willem Pos, j. m., van N. Yorke, en Aeltje Theunis Van Couverden, j. d., van N. Breucklen. N. Y. Du. Ch. No parents given. (N. Y. G. & B. Soc. Coll., 1890, p. 45.)

SARA. Some Sara, dau. of Theunis Jansen, was bap. April 20, 1653, in N. Y. Du. Ch. (Id., 1901.)

April 7, 1680, m. Arent Fredrickson, j. m., van N. Yorke, and Sara Theunis Coevers, j. d., van N. Brooklyn. N. Y. Du. Ch. Rec. No parents given. (Id., 1890, p. 47.)

ANNETJE. Aug. 28, 1661, bap. Annetie, dau. of Teunis Janssen and Barber Lucas, of Breuckelen. Brooklyn Du. Ch. Rec. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 145.)

April 16, 1687, m. Gerrit Sprongh and Anneke Tunisen. Flatbush Du. Ch. Rec. No parents given. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1898, p. 92.)

Riker's "Annals of Newtown, L. I.," p. 293, says that Annetie (Theunis') m. Joris Brinckerhoff, but gives no date or proof; and further says that she d. June 11, 1760, aged nearly 85 years.

JANNETIE. The bap. or m. of this woman has not been seen. Bergen says that one of the name m. Titus Syrachs De Vries.

Some Jannitje Teunis and her husband, Jan Hansen Bergen, had Adriaentje bap. Dec. 11, 1681, with Hans Teunissen and Annitje Teunis as witnesses, in Brooklyn Du. Ch. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 154.)

ЕЕЧТІЕ. No bap. of this woman has been seen, or her m. to Paulus; but Dirck Poulussen and Eechtje Teunis had sons, Johannes and Wilhelmus, bap. May 23, 1680, in Brooklyn Du. Ch., with Teunis Jansen Coevors, Arent Fredericksen, Jannitjen Teunis and Jannetjen Klaes Van Lendersloot as witnesses. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 152.)

Before leaving Theunis¹ and his family, it needs to be said that there was a Teunis Jansen in New Amsterdam before the arrival of the above-named Theunis¹, as shown by the printed "Records of New Amsterdam from 1653 to 1674." In these records (VI, p. 73) is an entry concerning a suit for land, wherein it is stated that the plaintiff, Pietersen, had "bought, heretofore, from one Teunis Jansen, sail maker, a lot in the Pearl Street * * * according to the groundbrief thereof dated 4th July, 1645, granted to said Teunis Jansen by Gov^r. Kieft." The defendant, Blanck, claimed the lot, and tried to disturb the plaintiff in his possession. The jury awarded the lot to the plaintiff. The date of this entry is June 8, 1667. What became of this Teunis Jansen is unknown.

NEW BRUNSWICK LOYALISTS OF THE WAR OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

COMMUNICATED BY D. R. JACK. HISTORIAN OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK LOYALISTS' SOCIETY; COR-SECY. OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK HISTORICAL SOCIETY; AUTHOR CENTENNIAL PRIZE ESSAY, HISTORY OF ST. JOHN; EDITOR ACADIENSIS ETC.

NOTE.—The reference letter in the second column in the list of New Brunswick Loyalists indicates, it will be remembered, the source of the information from which the list has been compiled. The readers of the Record are requested to note the following additions to the schedule which appeared in the January, 1904, issue.

"Q." Roll of Loyalists, etc., settled in Belle Vue in Beaver Harbor, Charlotte County, 10th July, 1784.

"O." Muster of passengers on transport Cyrus on 21st Aug., 1783, upon her trip from New York to the Saint John River. On the 6th of Sept., she was at sea, and on the 14th of Sept., she was in the Saint John River. Copy of return furnished by H. A. Powell, Esq., of Sackville, N. B. (See Collections of New Brunswick Historical Society, No. 5, 1904, pp. 277-8-9.)

"K." New Brunswick Loyalists, 1799 in number, whose names appear in the Passamaquoddy section of Major General Campbell's Muster of Loyalists and Disbanded Soldiers, from an original copy initialed by Col. Edward Winslow—of the expedition of the Acadians fame—compiled 1784 (see Canadian History Readings by G. U. Hay, said original copy being now the property of Ward C. Hazen of Saint John, N. B.). The names appearing in this compilation have been copied from the said original by the compiler of this record.

"S." Loyalists who settled on Kemble Manor, Saint John River, N. B., mentioned by Jonas Howe in his article upon that subject, (see New Brunswick Magazine, Vol. 1, p. 157.)

— This sign indicates that the individual was less than 10 years of age in 1783.

+ This sign indicates that the individual was a child but more than ten years of age in 1783.

MAJOR BENJAMIN WOODWARD AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

BY THERON ROYAL WOODWARD, CHICAGO, ILL.
Life Member of N. E. H. & G. Society.

I. MAJOR BENJAMIN WOODWARD, a gentleman residing in Chester, England, raised a regiment or body of troops about 1649-50, and led them to Ireland, where he fought under Oliver Cromwell, Lord High Protector of England. Many estates were confiscated, and large grants were made in Ireland to those who had assisted in overturning the rebellion. Among others a large tract of land was awarded to Major Benjamin Woodward. Major Woodward abandoned the cause of the Parliament early in 1660, and welcomed the accession of Charles the Second in that year. General Monk, afterwards Duke of Albemarle, had been sometime planning the return of Charles, and was supported by Major Woodward and most of the army. Edmund Ludlow, one time Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and in 1660 Member of Parliament, says in his Memoirs (1698), vol. II, p. 849, that Captain Walton who had been an officer in Ludlow's Regiment, went towards Chester in the interest of the Commonwealth (1660), and being within twelve miles of that place, he sent a letter to Major Woodward, of whose fidelity to the Parliament he thought himself sure; but so great a change had the late turn wrought in men's minds that the Major gave Captain Wolcot's letter to Colonel Redman, who by General Monk's order then commanded the Irish Brigade, and who immediately sent a party of horse who seized the Captain, but gave him an opportunity to escape. Charles landed at Dover, May 25, 1660, and after his accession the main question in Ireland was how to satisfy alike the recent English immigrants who had received lands from Cromwell, and the Irish proprietors who had been deprived of their lands in favor of the intruders. In 1661, at the King's desire, an Act of Settlement was passed attempting to satisfy as many as possible of both parties, but as the Irish House of Commons was filled with men of English descent and Protestant religion, the English continued to maintain much of what they had taken with the strong hand. Thus Major Benjamin Woodward held the Irish estates which were given him by Cromwell.

These lands were situated in Meath and West Meath Counties and were entailed, yet subject to an annual tax of three pence per acre. In consequence of the war and other reasons, large tracts of these lands were not cultivated and did not yield any income, and as the taxes continued to accumulate, the Woodwards relinquished some of their rights. A portion of the estate was transferred to the Marquis of Headford, ancestor to the Duke of Wellington, and the city of Kells occupies some of the old Woodward lands. The family retained the De Mesne or

Manor of Drumbarrow near the city of Kells in County Meath. This large and productive estate has only recently passed out of the Woodward name. Most of the following records are taken from the old family Bible dated 1603. We have many facts preserved in manuscript written by magnates of the family, and there is no question but what this line of Woodwards were legitimate descendants of the nobility of England. Major Benjamin Woodward died Jan. 15, 1702. His children from family Bible:

2. i. Joseph,² b. Oct. 25, 1654; d. May 20, 1726.

5. BENJAMIN⁴ WOODWARD (Benjamin,³ Joseph,² Benjamin¹). He was a merchant at Dublin, Ireland. In 1798, in consequence of the rebellion, he sold his possessions in Ireland and removed to Charlton, Somersetshire, England, where he died. He m. (1) a Miss Boyd, dau. of a British merchant residing at Bordeaux, France. She d. in child-birth. Ten years later he m. Elizabeth Grant, Jan. 7, 1783; she d. at Hector, N. Y., April, 1848, aged 86, having survived her husband 32 years. She was dau. of John Grant, of St. Anstle, in Cornwall, England. She descended from a long line of titled ancestry. She was grand-daughter of Archdeacon Grant, of Exeter, who m. a dau. of Stephen Weston, Bishop of Exeter, whose father was also a Bishop. Her great-grandfather was rector of a church in Fleet St., London. The Earl of Buckingham, when Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, acknowledged her as his relative, and gave her brother William his first commission in the army. When nearly 80 years old she wrote as follows from Hector, N. Y.:

"My father died when 38 and left his five children with small fortunes. I was kept in school from 6 to 18; my last year being at Mrs. Hannah More's, where French alone was spoken. When 18 I went to my father's sister, Aunt Waite, and was at once ushered into the first circles of Ireland. I spent three years with her, one in Bath, and one in London, and we spent a life of, alas, great gayety and grandeur. My Aunt Waite was wife of Hon. Thomas Waite, one of the Secretaries of Dublin Castle, and Privy Councilor to his Majesty, George Third. She was Housekeeper to Dublin Castle, and Keeper of the Royal Robes. They had seats in the Royal Chapel. My brother William was Captain in the 19th British Infantry. Served in America, in Holland with the Duke of York, and in the Indies. A sister of my grandmother (Weston) married Archdeacon Baker, of Exeter, whose son, Sir George Baker, was physician to Queen Charlotte for many years. A brother was Archdeacon Weston, afterward one of the "Golden Prebends," as they were called from their great income. My uncle Weston was Secretary to George 2d, and after to George 3d, and took my brother Edward when he was 8 years old. The wife of Thomas Shorlock, Bishop of London, was my great-aunt, and Dean Fountain, of York, married another of my aunts. Sir Charles Gould, Master of the Horse, was a relative of ours and a number of the great folks of Wales; of their grandeur I have heard, but nothing of their saint-ship. King George often went over to his beloved Hanover and always took my uncle Weston with him. We are descended from William of Wykeham, and any one of my family, if sent to Westminster school for two years, could enter Oxford. I made out the whole pedigree with the assistance of Simon, the old Earl of Harcourt and his dear lady, who took great pains to help us. I have many rich, and some noble relatives, who were very intimate with "Miss Grant" and "My dear cousin," until I refused a very great offer, and gave my hand and heart to a very respectable foreign merchant, when I was not of rank sufficient for them."

After the death of her husband she came with her son John and family to America. They sailed in the ship Acaster, Capt. Chadwick, the day after Good Friday, April, 1825. The first week they failed to get out of sight of land, the next six weeks were spent on the ocean, and after sighting land, it was a week before they reached the pier in New York. They then went by a barge, towed by a steamer, to Albany, thence by the Erie Canal to Cayuga Bridge, and after being towed up Lake Cayuga, they were poled up the inlet to Ithica. They then proceeded through the woods to Hector, Schuyler Co., New York, where John had purchased a farm. Here they settled, living in a log house, and suffering all the privations incident to a new country. Children, some probably born in Dublin, Ireland, were:

- i. Benjamin,^s b. Oct. 25, 1783 (godmother Aunt Dowager Countess Antrim). Captain in the 9th Regt. of Native Infantry; d. 1806, in Bengal, East Indies, between Madrass and Singapore.
- 7 ii. John, b. Nov. 18, 1784 (godfather Lord Carleton); d. Hector, N. Y., Jan. 15, 1848.

THE BARNES FAMILY OF EASTHAMPTON, L. I.

BY RICHARD WYNKOOP.

There are several families of Barnes, in these United States, and they cannot be traced to a common origin here. And it would be difficult, and probably impossible, to find a common source for them in England, from which country they came. They are found in Cambridgeshire, Norfolkshire, Hampshire, Gloucestershire, and Dorsetshire.* Charles, who is claimed herein, as the progenitor of the Easthampton Barnes, was from Norfolkshire, and it is probable that Joshua was his brother.

The name appears with the termination in e s, also as s without the e. It seems to have been written also as Barense* which was probably pronounced as one syllable, prolonged—and suggests Barend, the equivalent of Bernard, as the original form.

* Essay toward Topographical Hist. of Co. of Norfolk, London, 1808, Vol. IX, p. 149, et seq. Pioneers of Mass., p. 34. Hart., 1166, fo. 5b. N. E. Hist. & Geneal. Register, Vol. IX, p. 371.

The Barnes, of the Easthampton family, are certainly descended from William, who died Dec. 1, 1699, and Elizabeth—, his wife, who died Feb. 28, 1724, aged near eighty.† But the parentage of William has not been ascertained with absolute certainty. Tradition says that he was son of Charles‡ and Mary (—) Barnes, who have been traced at Easthampton, L. I., in the period 1655–1663. All efforts to find the ancestry of William, in any part of New England, or of Old England, have failed; and it will be shown, herein, that he was not descended from any of the other early Barnes settlers of Long Island; so that, if he was not son of Charles, we know nothing of his ancestry. By a process of examination and exclusion, the other early Barnes of Long Island will be led away from this William.

There was a William Barnes of Southampton, L. I., 1644–1652. In the year named last, May 15, he sold his house and three acres of land to James Hampton of Salem,§ and disappears from our view. He was a rover, and it is incredible that he was identical with either of the William Barnes of East Winch, father and brother of Charles. The father was well established there, having five sons, including “William the eldest son,” and Owen, the “3rd son,” a bachelor, and thirteen daughters. The son William, dying March 16, 1661, having Anne Coppin for wife, also, was well established there and left three children: Thomas, who married Isabella Griffith; Edward, of Carleton East, in Norfolkshire; and Martha, who died unmarried.|| This William of Southampton is thus excluded from the East-Winch line. On March 7, 1644, he was chosen one of the men at Southampton, to dispose of cast-up whales.¶ The sale of his place at Southampton, to a Salem man, leads to a research in the place named last; and we find a William Barnes, from Gloucester, Eng., admitted as freeman, June 2, 1641. In 1644, he was involved in legal proceedings in the court at Salem, and William Addis became surety for him. Barnes' wife, Sarah, petitioned for delay, “till her husband return again into the country.” The fine was at length remitted. Mrs. Barnes obtained a divorce, April 6, 1648, and married John Tinker, and died about Oct. 13, 1648, leaving two young daughters (Barnes), the elder of whom was cared for by Richard Cooke, and the younger, by John Tinker. This William has not been traced further. He should not be confounded with William of Salisbury, Mass., whose wife was Rachel.

There was a Richard Barnes of Southampton, L. I., who, in 1652, sold his homestead, and disappeared.* In the same year a Richard Barnes appeared at Cambridge, Mass., to prosecute a claim for moneys, on deposit during his minority. These Richards appear to be identical. And as the William, named above, was of Gloucester, Eng., of Salem, Mass., and of Southampton, L. I., and the Richard, now appearing at Cambridge, was from Penton, Hants, (Hampshire), Eng., of Southampton, and of Marlboro, Mass., and each of them sold land at Southampton, in 1652, and removed, there is a strong suggestion of relationship between them. It seems that they could not have been brothers. Perhaps Richard was nephew of William. This Richard, thus found at Cambridge, was baptized Feb. 20, 1631, in the parish of Way Hill, Hampshire, Eng., son of Richard and Agnes (Bent) Barnes, who had been married April 11, 1630, in the same parish. She was a daughter of "Robert Grafton," whose inventory, Aug. 30, 1631, mentions his son, John Bent, and grandson Robert, also his daughter, Agnes Barnes, and her son, "young Richard Barnes." Agnes' mother was named Anne. The elder Richard Barnes died, apparently, before his father-in-law, and his widow married Thomas Blanchard. Richard, the younger, is mentioned as of Penton, Hants. Anne Bent went up from Andover to London, and thence for Boston, with her daughter, Agnes, and Thomas Blanchard, 2d husband of Agnes, and their infant child (which child died on the voyage), and the son Richard Barnes, on the ship Jonathan, and arrived in 1639. Agnes died in the harbor of Boston, before the vessel was made fast. Her son, Richard, was maintained by his maternal uncle, John Bent, at Sudbury and Marlboro, for seven years, and then was apprenticed to Thomas Blanchard. He seems to have found his way to Southampton, perhaps on account of William's presence there; and then on his coming of age, he went to Cambridge to obtain the moneys in the hands of John Bent. He married Oct. 16, 1667, Deborah —, widow of Edward Dix, and had children:

- i. Sarah, b. 1669.
- ii. Richard, b. 1673.
- iii. Deborah.
- iv. John.
- v. Edward.
- vi. Abigail.†

There was a Joshua Barnes at Southampton, L. I., Oct. 6, 1649, at which time the town made a settlement with him for the hire of his boat. He seems to have lived in that place, but to have had property interests in Easthampton also. Joshua had been bound apprentice at Boston, Sept. 4, 1632, to Mr. — Paine, for five years from the time of landing. Hence it may be argued that he was then 16 years old—five years short of his majority; and that he was born in 1616. On March 5, 1639, he was added to the committee charged with the distribution of the arable land at Yarmouth. On June 1, 1641, he was proposed at General Court, Yarmouth, for admission at the next General Court, as freeman. At the end of that year, and in the year next following, he was in some irregular courses, as to wrecked goods and disorderly conduct at religious services and at town meeting. Traces are found of him next at Martha's Vineyard; for, in 1660, land at Edgartown, belonging to Thomas Daggert, is described as follows: "which was Joshua Barnes'." Joshua's name appears very frequently in the town records of Southampton, down to 1696.*

Joshua Barnes married Prudence —. and had two children, Samuel and William. The latter, according to Barnes Genealogies, 1903, p. 4, was born in 1649. William removed to the Borough of Westchester, N. Y., about 1684, and there he married Hannah Underhill. Samuel married Nov. 9, 1676, Patience Williams, and had children: Patience, born Aug. 31, 1677; Temperance, born Jan. 16, 1679; and Joshua, born April 8, 1683. Samuel died Feb. 21, 1693, and his widow administered upon his estate. She and her only son, Joshua, sold the homestead, March 22, 1706, and removed to Jamaica, L. I.†

There was a Shamgar Barnes at Easthampton, traced there 1701-1707. He is interesting here, chiefly because of the recital that he had had children baptized at Middletown, (Conn.?), which suggests that, as a field for research. His child, whose name is not mentioned, died Jan. 1, 1701. Abigail, who was baptized July 18, 1703, was his child also, probably. A transcript from the church record reads: "A child of Wm. Barnes (?) by 2nd wife, Abigail," and it is manifestly incorrect, but how far so is uncertain. There was no William who had a second wife. Thomas married twice; but the baptismal record of his children seems to leave no place for this Abigail. Benjamin had a child, Abigail, baptized at Branford, Conn., in Aug., 1701, which child may have died, and been succeeded by this Abigail; but then he had a child, Daniel, baptized at Branford in June, 1704, and the dates would be very close together. Besides, Benjamin's name has not been found in the annals of Easthampton; and yet this is not conclusive.

Shamgar's first wife died April 20, 1704. He married (2) Nov. 2, 1704, Elizabeth Flood—who is elsewhere called Stead. They had a daughter baptized July 6, 1707, but her name is not mentioned.‡

Thus all the early Barnes settlers of Southampton or Easthampton, L. I., except Charles, have been traced away from William, who married Elizabeth —, and died in the year 1699.

Charles was the son of a William, and grandson of Edward of Cambridgeshire, Eng. William purchased about April 20, 1620, the Manor of Grancourt, Parish of East Winch, Hundred of Freebridge, County of Norfolk, and removed thither, apparently after his second marriage. He married (1) Thomasine Hovell, daughter of Richard of Hillington, in Norfolk, and had five daughters; he married (2) Thomasine Shepherd, daughter of Owen of Kirby Bedon, in Norfolk, by whom he had five sons and eight daughters. William is identified as his "eldest son;" Owen, born 1618, as "3rd son," died unmarried; Frances, who married — Stanton, as "second daughter." Deborah, wife of Thomas Say, and Mary, appear as other daughters. Joshua, born about 1616, hereinbefore mentioned, may have been the second son. Charles described himself as son of William of East Winch, and he was the 4th or 5th son, unless he was the 2nd. Owen died in "1670, aged 52." William, the father, died in 1657, in his 77th year (born about 1581), and his son William administered upon his estate, Dec. 1, 1657.

William, brother of Charles, died March 16, 1661. His wife was Anne Coppin, daughter of Thomas, of Marketcell, in Bedfordshire. He had a son Thomas and a son Edward, the latter of Carleton East, in Norfolk, who married Lucy Barber; and a daughter Martha, who died unmarried.

Thomas (son of William, grandson of William, great-grandson of Edward) married Isabella Griffith, widow of William Langley; and, by will dated July 28, 1691, proved Oct. 31, 1691, he devised all his lands to his step-son, William Langley, in trust for his widow and his son, Henry Humphrey Barnes, and as residuary devisee, if Henry should die without issue, which proved to be the case.*

Charles Barnes, in a power-of-attorney to his wife, Mary —, in 1663, stipulates that her action should be for the benefit of them and the issue from their bodies. The instrument does not disclose whether or not such children were then in existence; but a William Barnes and an Amy Barnes are found in Easthampton, and it has been shown herein that such William, who married Elizabeth —, could not have been the child of any of the other early Barnes of that region; and, therefore, the inference is natural that William, and probably Amy also, had Charles and Mary for parents.

Charles Barnes was schoolmaster at Easthampton. Under date of July 6, 1655, an account is given of his ejecting Daniel Fairfield from the school-house for unbecoming language and conduct. In the same year he entered an ear-mark for his cattle. On Sept. 15, 1657, he obtained judgment against John Mulford,

Thomas Baker and John Hand, £3 from each, for slander. On Oct. 6, 1657, at General Court, a thirteen-acre lot, without meadow, was awarded to him. He executed a power-of-attorney to his wife, as follows: "This indenture made ye twenty-ninth of January in ye year of our Lord God one thousand six hundred sixty-three and in the sixteenth year of ye reign of our sovereign Lord King Charles the Second, witnesseth that I, Charles Barnes and son of William Barnes Esquier of Eastwinch, in the County of Norfolk, gentleman, Do by these p'sents and good considerations moving me thereunto, improve institute and ordaine Mary my well-beloved wife, as my true and lawfull agent to act and do in all my estate in England belonging to me ye aforesaid Charles by will from my father or any other gift or propriaty sum or sums of money or whatsoever other estate in goods lands or chattels that may be legally ye due rite or title of me ye said Charles either in my native country or in any other part of ye Christian world: And that ye aforesaid Mary my wife shall by these presents for time to come, from the day of ye date hereof till the day of my death and that she live so long and have full power to make demands receive discharge sue recover improve all ye aforesaid estate for ye best advantage of me ye said Charles and ye children issuing from our boddys: Also I ye said Charles doe retaine power at my death and time of departure out of this world to dispose of what shall then be my proper estate by will to my wife and children according to my discretion and ye said Mary my wife shall have ye full power to dispose and order my estate for our benefitt dureing ye terme of my life according to ye true intent of the premises. On Nov. 18, 1663, at Southampton, Capt. Scott asked £100 from Charles Barnes for slander. Defendant made acknowledgment and was forgiven, but must pay costs. In the same year, on complaint of Mr. Odell, Charles Barnes was held in £10 for December Court.†

Charles Barnes is not found of a later date. Tradition says that he returned to England and died there.

It will be assumed herein that he was father of William, who married Elizabeth — and died Dec. 1, 1699. He is credited with children as follows: Thomas, Benjamin,‡ Stephen, Matthew, Isaac, Nathaniel, Samuel, Recompence, William, Mary, Elizabeth and Hannah.

‡ Information is desired corroborative of the tradition that Benjamin was son of William and Elizabeth; or, if he was not a son of theirs, tending to show who were his parents. Byron Barnes Horton, of Sheffield, Warren Co., Pa., is a descendant of this Benjamin Barnes, and at his instance the researches were made that have led up to this article.

EDITORIAL.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE has said that the word which expresses the spirit of the present age is "together." Co-operation, instead of competition, is the idea which now dominates the world. Even our religious denominations are federating together for common service.

The consolidation of the Astor, Lenox and Tilden libraries is a signal example of the spirit of the times. These three great institutions, without losing their legal identity, have merged their interests, and have agreed to come together in the magnificent building now being erected in New York City, to be known as the New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations. This great institution was established in 1805 by the consolidation of "The Trustees of the Astor Library," "The Trustees of the Lenox Library" and "The Tilden Trust," twenty-one trustees being chosen from the trustees of these corporations. This impressive example should inspire other quasi public societies and associations to come together for more efficient work and for the general welfare.

There are in New York, as well as in every large city, societies which are measurably pursuing the same ends, and should, therefore, be allied together. If, for example, our twenty-six, or more, different patriotic societies here in New York could unite their forces and own together a suitable headquarters, library and hall of archives, all under one roof, how great would be the saving in money and what an increase of influence and power would result! Measures of importance to each, such as the establishment of a National Historical Manuscripts Commission, or of a State Commissioner of Public Records, might be carried if these bodies were in full co-operation with each other.

The laborers in every such society are lamentably few, and the workers need to come together for mutual benefit. This could be accomplished by a plan of equitable federation, without any organic union or the absorbing by one society of another and the latter thereby losing its own identity. In this consideration no pride or autocracy of feeling that one society is older, richer or more distinguished than another, or any prejudice in favor of certain methods solely because they are old, should have weight. The altruistic and fellow-craft spirit should abound in the counsels of societies which have common interests and are devoted to kindred labors.

PURLEIGH CHURCH.—An appeal is made to Americans for aid in the restoration of the fine tower and the hanging of the musical peal of five bells of this ancient church (erected in the fourteenth century) at an estimated cost of £600 ($3,000), to commemorate its connection with George Washington, first President of the United States, whose ancestor, Rev. Lawrence Washington, was Rector of Purleigh, 1632-1643. Donations of any amount will be thankfully received, and may be sent to the Rector, Rev. R. T. Love, Purleigh Rectory, Maldon, Essex Co., England, or to Gen. James Grant Wilson, 621 Fifth Avenue, New York City. The last mentioned, a former President of our Society, when recently in England became greatly interested in "the Washington Church," and has undertaken to raise one-third of the required amount on this side of the Atlantic. Subscriptions of $25 each have already been received from the Duchess of Marlborough, Mrs. J. V. L. Pruyn, Mrs. Frances Evans, Mrs. John Morgan Richards, Hon. Levi P. Morton, William K. Bixby, Rev. M. E. Dwight and Hon. Henry Clay Evans. Smaller sums of $20, $10 and $5 have also been sent to General Wilson. An American lady has presented a large American flag, to be unfurled from Purleigh Church Tower, when restored, on every anniversary of Washington's birth.

SOCIETY PROCEEDINGS.

ANNUAL MEETING, JANUARY 12TH, 1906.

The Thirty-seventh Annual Meeting of the Society was held on Friday evening, January 12th, 1906; President Dwight in the chair.

The Executive Committee reported the election since the last meeting of: Miss Mary E. Dowd, 601 West 148th Street, New York City, proposed by Miss J. G. Aycrigg; Merrill W. Gallaway, 68 East 55th Street, New York City, proposed by Mrs. F. E. Youngs; Everett L. Zabriskie, 322 North Maple Avenue, Ridgewood, N. J., proposed by Mrs. F. E. Youngs.

Attention was called to the decease of William Bennington Toler, July 24th, 1905.

Secretary Mr. Drowne read his Annual Report as follows:

The membership is now composed of 270 Annual, 126 Life, and 8 Honorary members, making a total of 404, being a gain of 6 names, and in addition thereto we have 11 Corresponding members.

The additions to the roll for 1905 consisted of 16 Annual and 12 Life members; there were also 3 members transferred from the Annual to the Life membership class.

Seven regular meetings at which papers were read have been held during the year, at which the attendance has as a rule been both large and satisfactory.

The Board of Trustees elected Henry Russell Drowne as a member of the Board to fill the unexpired term of Thomas G. Evans, deceased.

The Society is to be congratulated on the fact that its revenue for 1905 shows an increase over 1904, and that we are not only now free from debt, but have a substantial balance remaining on hand in the treasury.

Attention is called to the fact, that during the year a new class designated Corresponding Members has been added to our rolls, to represent various counties in the State of New York, and assist the Historian of the Society in his work.

A committee has been appointed to rewrite and improve the Constitution and By-Laws, and after their work has been approved and adopted by the Board of Trustees, it is proposed to publish the same in connection with the new Year Book.

The report of the Treasurer, Mr. Morrison, was read by Capt. Totten, who stated that the net assets of the Society were now $70,662.02, being an increase for the year 1905, of $5,200.70; that the cash balance on hand was $827.39, and in addition thereto $316.24 in the Permanent Fund.

Receipts from membership account, $2,290.00; from the RECORD and other publications, $1,707.65, and from rentals, $2,464.00.

A full detail of all the receipts and expenses of the Society with trial balances, etc., was printed at length, which had been duly audited.

The Librarian, Capt. Totten, reported that 1,101 books, pamphlets, charts and manuscripts had been added, of which 270 were bound volumes, being an increase of 99 over the previous year. That the estimated number of books, pamphlets and charts now 13,229. That the estimated value of the total accessions amounts to $1,558.52. That 1,457 visits were made to the Library during the year. That the creditable showing of the Library was largely due to the interested, intelligent and capable work of Mrs. Florence E. Youngs, the Assistant Librarian.

The Historian, Dr. William Austin Macy, reported by letter, and spoke of his endeavors to get together an organized body of workers, interested in collecting genealogical and historical notes relative to New York, and that he was endeavoring to gradually secure corresponding members scattered throughout the State, and representing as far as possible each County in the State. A list of manuscripts received from the Committee of Research was attached.

Vice-President Clarence Winthrop Bowen then took the Chair, and the Necrologist, Rev. Dr. Dwight, President, read obituary notices of the following persons: Hiram Radcliffe Romeyn, John Henry Jones, Edward Payson Cone, Alexander John Reid, William Henry Parsons, Thomas Grier Evans, our late President, Edward Floyd De Lancey, a former President, and also a brief mention of Herbert Cornelius Andrews, Gen. Charles William Darling, William Pennington Toler, Mrs. George Pierce Andrews, Henry Clinton Carter, Herbert Valentine, and Killae Van Rensselaer.

Registrar of Pedigrees, Mr. Winchester Fitch, reported that 9 pedigrees had been filed, and that the Library now contained a total of 48.

The Executive Committee, Capt Totten, Chairman, presented its annual report, and called attention to the improvements made by the Society in redecorating the Hall and supplying new chairs, also that a new system of ventilation had been installed, for which we were indebted to the generosity of our President. That a sum had been set aside as a Permanent Fund for the support of the RECORD, sufficient to purchase $1,000.00 in Bonds bearing 4½%. That the Society had also during the year originated Life and Perpetual Subscriptions to the RECORD, thus laying the foundation for a permanent fund for its support. That the building and collection had been kept in good condition and repair. That the room rents of the Society's building, $1,524.00, being an increase of $63.00 over 1904, and that the Hall rents had been $940.00. Other matters were presented in detail, and in conclusion the Committee expressed to the Board of Trustees its appreciation of the earnest and energetic assistance it had received from the Curator, Mr. Swords.

President Dwight, Chairman of the Publication Committee, reported that at last the receipts of the Publication Committee exceeded its expenditures, and that a balance of $380.00 stood in favor of the Committee at the close of the year. That the RECORD was growing, and for 1905 contained twenty-six (26) more pages than for any previous year, and that he hoped the day would come when every member of the Society would subscribe to it.

The Committee on Heraldry made no report.

The report of the Nominating Committee being next in order, the Secretary presented the nominations for Trustees for the term 1906 to 1909 of Melatih Everett Dwight, James Grant Wilson, Tobias Alexander Wright. Mr. Wright requested that his name be withdrawn and the name of Capt. John R. Totten substituted in his place. No further nominations being made, and the election being next in order, the Secretary was on motion duly authorized to cast one ballot for the election of the three Trustees, and accordingly declared Messrs. Dwight, Wilson and Totten duly elected.

The following Resolution was presented and adopted:

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees deem it advisable in order to keep pace with the growing needs of the Society that their number should be increased; and

WHEREAS, such a step requires the sanction of the members of the Society:

RESOLVED, that the number of Trustees of this Society be increased from nine to fifteen.

Col. Asa Bird Gardiner presented the following:

WHEREAS, there is a bill, known as S.686, now pending in the Senate of the United States to establish a United States Historical Commission, consisting of fifteen persons of experience in historical research, said Commission to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and to serve without remuneration; which Commission shall collect from public archives and private manuscript collections abroad and in the United States, abstracts or copies of important documents illustrating American Colonial history, and the early history of the United States; present annually a report of its labors to Congress, and prepare for publication such series of archives as it deems advisable and as approved by the Secretary of State; therefore,

RESOLVED, that the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society commends this bill for the establishment of a United States Historical Commission, deeming its creation a means for the promotion of genealogical and biographical as well as historical knowledge, and therefore a matter in which it has a vital interest.

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the United States Senators for the State of New York, and that they be respectfully requested to vote for this bill and endeavor to secure its passage.

Seconded by President Dwight and carried.

Vice-President Bowen then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. William Webster Ellsworth, who delivered an illustrated lecture, entitled "From Lexington to Yorktown."

President Dwight complimented Mr. Ellsworth and expressed the thanks of the Society for his interesting paper.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

REGULAR MEETING OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES, JANUARY 16TH, 1906.

On motion Gen. James Grant Wilson took the chair. Present: Messrs. Gibson, Morrison, Pierson, Totten, Wilson, Drowne and Dwight.

The Minutes of the Meeting October 10th, 1905, were read and on motion approved, subject to the correction as to Mr. Pierson being Chairman of the Outlook Committee.

The President, Rev. M. E. Dwight, entered and took the chair.

The Annual Election being next in order, nominations were called for, and the following persons were duly elected:

President, REV. MELATIAH EVERETT DWIGHT.

First Vice-President, CLARENCE WINTHROP BOWEN.

Second Vice-President, TOBIAS ALEXANDER WRIGHT.

The appointment of the Committee on Research was deferred for the present.

Letter of December 7th, 1905, from Isaac Townsend Smith was read, in which he requested, on account of his advanced years and infirmities, that he be dropped from the roll. It was duly moved and seconded that Mr. Isaac Townsend Smith be made a Life Member, on account of exceptional services, as of January 1st, 1905. Carried.

Mr. Pierson, as Chairman of the Outlook Committee, reported at length, and suggested that a circular be submitted to all the members of the Society; that the circular give an outline of the proposed plan of consolidation of the New York Historical Society and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and asking merely for an expression of opinion as to whether they favored or opposed the project.

A general discussion followed, participated in by Messrs. Pierson, Morrison, Capt. Totten and Dr. Dwight.

Mr. Morrison suggested that the matter be discussed at a future meeting, and that a formal written report be presented, duly signed by the Committee.

Capt. Totten moved the Outlook Committee be discharged with thanks. Seconded and carried.

Wilson for a most enjoyable evening, and mentioned his endeavors and success in raising funds for the Columbus Monument. Motion was seconded by Col. Asa Bird Gardiner with appropriate remarks to the memory of Lincoln.

HENRY RUSSELL DROWNE, Secretary.

CORRECTION.

In the obituary notice of Mrs. George P. Andrews, on page 69 of the January number of the RECORD, it is incorrectly stated that her husband, Judge Andrews, was a descendant in the ninth generation from Captain Andrews, who came to this country in 1635 as owner and master of the ship Angel Gabriel. The owner of this vessel was John Cogswell, my deceased wife's ancestor and the founder of the American branch of the family. Her cargo consisted of his property, and comprised a large part of his valuable estate. The Angel Gabriel arrived off the coast of Maine in a fearful tempest, and was wrecked near Pemaquid Bay, 15 August, 1635, the ship having sailed from Bristol 23 May. The passengers and crew were all saved, but a large part of her cargo was lost. After camping out for a few days, Mr. Cogswell chartered a small bark, which landed him with his family, servants, silverplate, furniture, and such books as he saved, at Ipswich, Mass., where some of his descendants still reside. Later in the same year he purchased an extensive tract of land and erected the third house built in Ipswich. John Cogswell was an opulent London merchant, who left his large estate near Ipswich, England, for the new world, for the identical reasons that led to the founding of Plymouth Colony fifteen years before. I may be permitted to add that my wife's maternal ancestor was Madame Bayard, who accompanied her brother, Governor Stuyvesant, to New York in May, 1647.

NOTE.

DUMONT FAMILY.—As one of the principal missing links in my account of the Dumont family of Somerset Co., N. J., printed in the RECORD, Vol. XXIX., pp. 103, 161, 237; Vol. XXX., p. 36, and Vol. XXXIV., p. 191, permit me to make this brief addition: "Henry Dumont, Middlesex, and Mary Traverrie (r), Monmouth, m. Dec. 20, 1743." (See "Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New Jersey," Vol. XXII.; Marriage Records, 1665-1880, p. 111; Paterson, N. J., 1900.

QUERIES.

BROWN.—My great-grandfather was Frederick Brown (b. 1753), of Yonkers, who m. Mary Devoe (b. 1758), dau. of Daniel Devoe and Allida Odell. I have a note that Frederick's father was Hendrick or Garrett Brown and his mother Hannah or Nantchee (?); that Hendrick took up lands from Manor of Philippe, Yonkers, and that he was supposed to have come from New Jersey. My mother once told me that "Nantchee" spoke no language but Dutch. I wish to trace the ancestors of Hendrick or Garrett Brown and of Hannah or Nantchee, his wife.

MRS. EVA S. FENYES,

RUSSELL-BARNARD.—Information desired of the parentage of Eunice Russell and of James Barnard, of Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., New York. They were probably married about 1779. It is said that Eunice was brought, an orphan, from Nantucket, and was educated by an aunt, Deborah Coleman.

MISS C. C. FRALEIGH,

265 Lexington Ave., New York City.

CLARK.—Thomas Clark, of Egg Harbor, N. J., died there in 1752, leaving four sons. His history I find in several volumes of THE NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD. Did one of these sons settle in New Castle Co., Del., where John Clark m. in 1733 Mrs. Mary Hadley? He had a son Thomas, and another son, John, was an officer in the Revolution.

MRS. L. B. ROWLEY,

Madison, Wis.

LAWRENCE.—Wanted, the parentage of Mary Lawrence, who was b. 12 Feb., 1757; she m. 17 July, 1779, Nicholas Van Antwerp; she d. 11 June, 1820. (Above dates all from Family Bible.)

I imagine the family was driven from New York during the British occupation, for I find in the records of the Reformed Dutch Church, Hackensack, N. J., the eldest children of the above marriage as follows:

Son James, bap. 25 April, 1781.

Son Thomas, bap. 1 Sept., 1782.

From the fact that the Christian name of Thomas is entirely unknown in the Van Antwerp family prior to this marriage; I have always suspected that the father of Mary Lawrence was probably Thomas Lawrence. Any information which would lead to a solution of this problem would be very highly appreciated.

F. E. YOUNGS.

REICHERT (RICKARD, RIKERT).—In his will, Dec. 30, 1783, David Reichert (Rickard, Rikert), of Rhinebeck, Dutchess Co., N. Y., gave to his eldest son, Joseph, "my Big Dutch Bible."

David Reichert, b. West Camp, Ulster Co., N. Y., April 17, 1714, was son of Joseph Reichert, of Wurttemberg, Wurttemberg, Germany, who, in 1710, came to New York with 3,000 people from the Rhinish Palatinate. This company came in ten ships under command of Governor Robert Hunter. I am very anxious to locate this Bible if it is still in existence. It cannot be found among the descendants.

S. H. RIKER,

GARRISON-FUNK.—William Garrison, b. in England (a soldier for England in the Rev.), m. Elizabeth Funk; both were buried at Schoharie, Schoharie Co., N. Y. Children: William, Samuel, Elizabeth, Jacob; John, m. Jane Howard; Hannah, m. John Tompkins; Mary, m. Jeri Hogan; and my grandfather, Henry (b. Dec. 9, 1785; d. April 4, 1857), m. May 25, 1806, to Hannah Dolley or Dawley; she b. Nov. 1, 1785, and d. Dec. 18, 1860. Both died and were buried at Arkport, Steuben Co., N. Y.

Where in England was the first William Garrison born, and who were his parents, brothers or sisters?

Where did the above children of William and Elizabeth (Funk) settle and marry aside from those noted?

Who were Elizabeth Funk's parents, brothers or sisters, and where was she born?

Jan. 25, 1777, Abraham and William B. Garrison petitioned for a farm on the south side of Schoharie Creek, Schoharie Co., N. Y. Who were they?

Is there a family history of the Funks and Garrisons in print?

HANNAH CATHERINE (FREER) MCCOLLUM,

1320 Williamette Boulevard, Portland, Ore.

ROGERS-DRAKE.—Wanted, the parents of Elizabeth Rogers, who m. John Drake, of Windsor, Conn. He was b. about 1600, and d. Aug. 17, 1659. She d. Oct. 7, 1681. Her son, John Drake, m. Hannah Moore, Nov. 30, 1648.

Any facts relative to Elizabeth Rogers Drake will be appreciated.

HOAGLAND.—Who were the parents of Margaret Hoagland (bap. July 14, 1730), who m. Jan. Vanderbilt? Some gave the mother as Maria Hardenbrook, some Hardenberg.

R. H. G.

HARCOURT.—I would be very grateful for any information concerning the Harcourt family, and also for data relating to the following named persons:

Richard Harcourt was a son of Francis Weston, and settled in Warwick, R. I., about 1650. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Potter. He (Harcourt) removed with the Townsends to Long Island about 1656, and afterward became one of the leading settlers of Oyster Bay. Was Justice of the Peace, Surveyor, appointed to confer with the Governor, etc. His children were: Daniel, Benjamin, Isabel, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, Mercy, Meribath. Of Daniel, I know nothing, except that his wife's name was Sarah, and that he moved to New Jersey. Benjamin m. Hannah Dickenson, and his sons were Nathaniel and Robert. This Nathaniel may have been the father of Richard (of Ulster Co., N. Y.), as he named his eldest son Nathaniel. He speaks in his will of his mother, Esther. Probably this was Esther Townsend, of Oyster Bay, as one of the Harcourt's sons married her. The residence of Richard was about 200 yards from the present steamboat landing at Oyster Bay (1866).

MARTENSE HARCOURT CORNELL,

Wappingers Falls, N. Y.

MANDEVILLE.—A short account of the descendants of Yellis de Mandeville, early emigrant to the New Netherlands is in preparation. Proof is desired of the parentage of his grandson, David Mandeville, who m. Jannetie Woertendyk. Records of the grandchildren of David and Marytie (Van Hoesen) Mandeville are also wanted.

BOOK NOTICES.

VITAL RECORDS OF THE TOWN OF HALIFAX, MASSACHUSETTS, TO THE END OF THE YEAR 1849. Literally transcribed under the direction of George Ernest Bowman. Boston. Published by the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants at the charge of the Old Colony Town Record Fund. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. xii+211.

Having ably demonstrated in the volume of Brewster Records, recently printed, the sanity of his plea for literal copies of original records, Mr. Bowman presents this second volume to the student of Massachusetts ancestry with the certainty of a warm welcome. Halifax was incorporated in 1734 from parts of the towns of Middleborough, Pembroke and Plympton, and its vital records begin with that year. Under Historical Notes may be found statistics concerning the population of Halifax from 1765 to 1905, and a list of its town clerks to 1904. There is a double index, for names and places.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM BRADFORD'S LETTER BOOK. Reprinted from The Mayflower Descendant. Boston. Published by the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 62.

In this convenient form, with its good index, has been reproduced the interesting and valuable book which once had so narrow an escape from destruction. It is a fragment of the original book, covering the period from 1624 to 1630, and will no doubt be of added value in its pamphlet form.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA. January, 1906. Vol. III, No. 1. Printed by The Wickersham Printing Co., Lancaster, Pa.

Among the valuable matters in this irregular publication are continued Abstracts of Wills at Philadelphia, Memoranda from the Diary of John Dyer of Plumstead, Bucks Co., Pa., from 1763 to 1808, and an instructive paper, Some Genealogical Obstacles Considered, by John F. Lewis.

THE FAMILY OF JAMES THORNTON, FATHER OF HON. MATTHEW THORNTON. Charles Thornton Adams. New York. 1905. Quarto pamphlet, pp. 31.

A manuscript in possession of Dr. James D. Clyde of Cherry Valley, N. Y., is authority for the statements that the Thorntons were of English origin, emigrating to the north of Ireland, and that James Thornton and Nancy Smith his wife were living near Londonderry at the time of the siege in 1689, afterwards emigrating to America. James and Nancy Thornton were the parents of Matthew Thornton, a Signer of the Declaration of Independence. The descendants, not numerous, are detailed in this very readable pamphlet.

ANNALS OF THE SINNOTT, ROGERS, COFFIN, CORLIES, REEVES, BODINE AND ALLIED FAMILIES. Mary Elizabeth Sinnott. Edited by Josiah Granville Leach, LL.B. Philadelphia. Printed for Private Circulation, by J. B. Lippincott Company. 1905. Quarto, cloth, pp. 278.

Dealing with the history of the ancestors of Miss Sinnott, this artistic volume, enriched with many views, and decorated with numerous head and tail pieces illustrative of some circumstance connected with the pedigree, will be found of general interest. Beside the families named in the title, records are displayed of the Hammond, Winslow, Jess, Lippincott, West, Wing and Mayhew lines. Most of these families, while having their first American origin in New England, removed early to New Jersey, there becoming people of substance and consideration. The Sinnotts were Irish, going to Philadelphia from County Donegal as late as 1854. The history of their name is traced in this book to the twelfth century, when the first Sinnott, an adventurer under Fitz-Stephen, settled in County Wexford. In addition to the direct line of ancestry, many records of collateral relatives are cited herein, so that each family chapter is an epitomized genealogy of that house. Footnotes abound, in many cases quoting authorities, and a good index completes the work. The permanent value of this book will be at once apparent to descendants of these families and others interested.

YEAR-BOOK OF THE HOLLAND SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, 1905. (Second Albany Book.) Prepared by the Secretary, Henry L. Bogert. New York. The Knickerbocker Press. 8vo, boards, pp. xxi+342.

In this volume the Records of the Reformed Dutch Church of Albany show the marriages and baptisms from 1700 to 1725, and this part of the book has a list of abbreviations and an index. The records are preceded by a portrait of Kiliaan Van Rensselaer, first Lord of the Manor, and a picture of the Manor of Rensselaerwyck from a pencil sketch made by Major Francis Pruyn in the year 1839. The rest of the book is given up to membership lists, constitution and by-laws and the speeches at the twentieth annual banquet of the society.

SUFFOLK MANORIAL FAMILIES. Vol. II. Part 8. Being the County Visitations and Other Pedigrees. Edited, with extensive additions, by Joseph James Muskett. Privately printed. Exeter. 1905.

The present number of this valued publication is devoted to the family of Pretzman of Bacton, showing their wills and inquisitions from 1475 to 1738. Pedigrees are also shown of the Pretzman families of Thorndon, London, Driffield, Buckinghamshire and Wetherden, and a Royal descent of Bridgeman-Pretzman.

A DOCUMENTARY HISTORY OF THE DUTCH CONGREGATION OF OYSTER BAY, QUEENS COUNTY, ISLAND OF NASSAU (NOW LONG ISLAND). Parts 7 and 8. Henry A. Stoutenburgh. New York. The Knickerbocker Press. 1904, 1905. 8vo, pamphlets, pp. 535-701.

Part 7 begins with the Stryker family and ends with that of Van Nostrand. Part 8 begins with Van Nuys and ends the alphabetical arrangement. In this latter part is an interesting account of Anneke Jans and the Teller family. Mr. Stoutenburgh does not confine himself to Dutch families, but includes records of the Valentine, Vernon, Townsend, Weeks, Youngs, White, Wiggins and other English people, thus adding to the general interest of his work.

A COPY OF EPITAPHS IN THE OLD BURYING-GROUNDS OF LEXINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS. Francis H. Brown, M.D. The Lexington Historical Society. 1905. Square Octavo, cloth, pp. 169.

This valuable work is a literal copy of the tombstone inscriptions in the Old Burying-Grounds in the rear of the Unitarian Church in Lexington and in the Robbins Cemetery in the East Village. Seven hundred and sixteen epitaphs are given, and they embrace all those on stones now visible above the ground. In many cases genealogical notes are added by the compiler, and a map of the burying-grounds accompanies the text, enabling the student to exactly locate each grave. The preface contains a brief history of the grounds, and altogether the work is most complete and satisfying.

THE MAGAZINE OF HISTORY, with Notes and Queries. November and December, 1905. New York. William Abbatt.

The leading article in the November number is a paper by Rev. W. E. Griffis, L. H. D., on "Sullivan's Great March into the Indian Country," followed by "The British Navy in the Revolution," by Reginald Pelham Bolton.

The pamphlet contains a number of original documents. In the December issue are various interesting articles, the most striking titles being, "Where are Evangeline and Gabriel Buried," by Martin I. J. Griffin, "Captain James Duncan's Diary of the Siege of Yorktown," communicated by W. F. Boogher, and "Relics of Com. John Barry in Philadelphia."

REGISTER OF THE MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY OF COLONIAL DAMES OF AMERICA, 1893-1905. Boston. Printed for the Society. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 428.

Clad in buff and blue, this attractive volume is one of which the Massachusetts Society may well be proud. The frontispiece is a fine view of the Quincy homestead, known as the "Dorothy Q." house, of which historic building the Colonial Dames have a ninety-nine year lease, and in which they are placing relics of Colonial days. A portrait of "Dorothy Q." with a facsimile reproduction of a verse of Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem, with the poet's signature is also presented. Following the Constitution and By-Laws, are the Rolls of Membership and the Ancestors and Descendants. The Society has at present 550 members, divided into Colonial and non-Colonial, and they are indexed under these heads. Type and paper are excellent, and the book is a valuable addition to the literature of patriotic societies.

THE ANCESTRY AND POSTERITY OF JOHN LEA, OF CHRISTIAN MALFORD, WILTSHIRE, ENGLAND. AND OF PENNSYLVANIA IN AMERICA, 1503-1906, James Henry Lea and George Henry Lea. Philadelphia. Lea Brothers & Co. 1906. Quarto, cloth, pp. xv+611.

This monumental work begins with an exhaustive treatise on the English ancestry, proven and probable, of John Lea of Pennsylvania, with a number of pedigrees of other families of the name, this section being followed by a map of a portion of England, showing relative positions of points of interest. The American section covers nine generations, taking up 310 pages, and seems to be unusually complete. After a number of blank pages, bound in, apparently for notes, the work carries on the ascendants of the wives of the earlier generations, thus affording us genealogies of the Gibson, Harlan, Vernon, Marshall, Pascall, Fawcett, Fearn, Hopton and Dench families. The appendix to the American section contains copies of original documents, while the English appendix has an array of abstracts of wills, Chancery Proceedings, and quotations from parish registers. There is a fine index of 52 pages. The work was begun by Mr. J. Henry Lea, and carried on some years, but about fifteen years ago, owing to many calls upon his professional abilities, he turned the family history over to Mr. George Henry Lea, who brought it to a happy conclusion.

MORSE GENEALOGY, COMPRISING THE DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL, ANTHONY, WILLIAM AND JOSEPH MORSE AND JOHN MOSS. Being a revision of the Memorial of the Morses, published by Rev. Abner Morse in 1850. Compiled by J. Howard Morse and Miss Emily W. Leavitt, under the auspices of the Morse Society. Section II. New York. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 55-244, 75-301, 13-24, 23-139.

The work on these various lines is progressing rapidly, this section containing records of the fifth and sixth generations from each of the progenitors named in the title. The compilers have adhered strictly to genealogical matters, possibly leaving extended biographical notices to a later number. When the index appears it will of course add greatly to the working value of the book.

A RECORD OF THE DESCENDANTS OF SIMON HENRY (1766-1854) AND RHODA PARSONS (1774-1847), HIS WIFE, with appendices containing some account of their ancestry, and of collateral lines. Being a contribution towards a comprehensive genealogy of the descendants of Sergt. John Henry, Freeman, of Topsfield, Mass., 1690. Frederick Augustus Henry, A. M., LL. B. Cleveland. Press of J. B. Savage, 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 65.

The main part of this history begins with Simon Henry, who was of the fifth generation from Sergt. John of Topsfield. He was born in Lebanon, Conn., and he dwelt successively in Bolton and Enfield, Conn., and in Middlefield and Washington, Mass. There are several appendices, taken up with other Henry lines, with the Walley tradition, and the ancestors of Rhoda Parsons and Mary Gager. A portrait of Simon Henry is used as a frontispiece, and there are several facsimiles and views. The little book is copiously annotated and has a practical index. It is so well done that it should stimulate the family to the production of the larger work for which the compiler hopes.

RECORDS OF THE TOWN OF EAST-HAMPTON, LONG ISLAND, SUFFOLK COUNTY, N. Y. VOLUME V. Sag Harbor. John H. Hunt, Printer. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 647.

The town records are herein brought down to 1901, and take up about two-thirds of the book. The remainder is devoted to the town and church records, which, we rejoice to say, are literal transcriptions. The baptisms from 1699 to 1798, the marriages from 1699 to 1794, and from 1830 to 1881, and the deaths from 1696 to 1881, are printed. In many cases the immediate cause of death is given. The value of this method of printing town records cannot be too highly praised.

THE ALLEN MEMORIAL. FIRST SERIES. Descendants of Edward Allen, of Nantucket, Mass., 1690-1905. Orrin Peer Allen. Palmer, Mass. Press of C. B. Fiske & Co. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 123.

In the first few pages the compiler indulges in speculations as to the foreign origin of the family, but of the immediate ancestors of Edward Allen nothing is known. He married a daughter of Joseph and Ann (Bunker) Coleman, and settled in Nantucket, but his descendants seem to have early removed to the mainland and to have scattered far and wide. The appendix sets forth the ancestry of some of the wives of the Allens, and there is a satisfying index. The second series of this work will show the descendants of Samuel Allen, of Windsor, Conn., including Ethen Allen, of Vermont, and the third volume will contain records including several generations of each of the fifty distinct Allen lines in America.

SOMERSETSHIRE PARISHES, PART VI. (MILVERTON TO RODHUISH). A handbook of historical references to all places in the county. Arthur L. Humphreys. London. 1905. Quarto, pamphlet, pp. 95.

This index, under the headings of the several parishes, gives information as to the extent and condition of church records, lists of wills, grants and other genealogical matters, and contains short biographical notices, with many references to published and unpublished records.

REPORT CONCERNING CANADIAN ARCHIVES FOR THE YEAR 1904. (Being an Appendix to the Report of the Minister of Agriculture.) Printed by order of Parliament. Ottawa. S. L. Dawson, Printer. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 792.

These annual reports almost always contain material relating to the colonial period of American history. The present number contains, of such matter, documents relating to the war of 1775-6, and description and state of the new settlements in Nova Scotia in 1761, with maps.

THE TWINING FAMILY. (Revised Edition.) Descendants of William Twining, Sr., of Eastham, Massachusetts. With Notes of English, Welsh and Nova Scotia Families of the Name. Fort Wayne, Ind. Compiled and Published by Thomas Jefferson Twining. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. xiii.+251.

The progenitor of this family settled in Plymouth Colony about 1641, and was an inhabitant of Yarmouth and Eastham. The chapter headed Twining Notes gives some interesting statistics as to the distribution of the family, which apparently remained in Barnstable County until 1695, when a branch settled in Bucks County, Pa. Various foot-notes assist in tracing the genealogy of the wives, and there are a number of illustrations, amongst them being a view of the David Twining place in 1787. The compiler has given us a good index, but it could be wished that he and others would adhere to the Register system of numeration, instead of original forms, which are obstacles in the way of searchers.

SUPPLEMENT TO SCHUREMANS OF NEW JERSEY. Richard Wynkoop. N. P., N. D. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 31.

A curious fact stated by the compiler at the outset of this pamphlet, is to the effect that of this line only four men remain to perpetuate the Schureman name. The supplement consists of additions and corrections to the larger work, and is well indexed. Portraits of Rev. Dr. John Schureman, 1778-1818, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Santvoord, 1816-1901, Anna Maria à Schuerman, 1607-1678, and others, with drawings of Schureman arms, enliven its pages.

YOUNGS GENEALOGY. Descendants of Rev. John Youngs of Southold, Suffolk County, N. Y. Selah Youngs.

This genealogy is now in press and we hope to give it an extended review in the July number. The family has always been of importance in Long Island, and its history is to a great extent, at least in early times, the history of Suffolk County.

GRAVESTONE RECORDS IN THE ANCIENT CEMETERY AND THE WOODSIDE CEMETERY, YARMOUTH, MASS. From literal copies of the inscriptions made at the expense of Thomas W. Thacher and Stanley W. Smith. Compiled by George Ernest Bowman. Boston. Published by the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants at the expense of the Cape Cod Record Fund. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 47.

The comparative scarcity of early death records, which forms so serious an obstacle in some genealogical cases, makes every collection of this kind precious to the student, and Mr. Bowman's well-known zeal for literal copies of records makes one sure of having all the facts. The arrangement is alphabetical, but an index is included of those names not appearing in this order.

CAPTAIN EDWARD JOHNSON OF WOBURN, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS. Edward Francis Johnson. Boston. Press of David Clapp & Son. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 53.

This brochure treats of the author of the "Wonderworking Providence" and his children to the ninth generation. He was a son of William Johnson, of Canterbury, England, and was born there in 1598. Most of the heads of families in this line have been soldiers, and the military record of these men is quite unusual. The system of enumeration used is that of the Register, which is the best known at present, and the pamphlet has a good index.

AMERICAN HISTORICAL MAGAZINE, JANUARY, 1906. VOL. I., NO. 1. The Publishing Society of New York.

The initial number of this magazine promises well. Its list of contents shows articles on the "Morris Family of Morrisania," by W. W. Spooner, "The Board of Proprietors of East New Jersey," by Cortlandt Parker, LL.D., "The Fur Trade in the Early Development of the Northwest," by Henry M. Utley, "Early New England Exploration of our North Pacific Coast," by Horace S. Lyman, "The Discoverers of Lake Superior," by Henry C. Campbell, and "The Charter and Constitution of Connecticut," by Lynde Harrison. We wish the new periodical all success.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE SAINT NICHOLAS SOCIETY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK. Containing the lines of descent of members of the Society, so far as ascertained by the Committee on Genealogy, to July 1, 1905. Edited by Florence E. Youngs, New York. T. A. Wright. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 335. Price, $2.72, postpaid.

This is the first Society, so far as we know, which has printed the entire descent of its members, from the propositus, who gave eligibility to the Society, with dates of birth and death. All pedigrees have been included which were returned to the committee before July 1, 1905, and they form perhaps the most extensive work on New York genealogy which has yet appeared. The pedirees take up 193 pages, followed by some forms bound in for the use of the owner. There are over sixty pages of biographical matter relating to the first settlers represented in the book, and in these notes the Revolutionary and other important public services have been verified. There are sixty-six pages of index. Type and paper are unusually good. It is to be wished that other societies would print their records with the fulness set forth here.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND, SCOTLAND AND IRELAND. A Handbook for the Student. J. Henry Lea. Boston and London. Printed for the author. 1906. 12 D, pp. 112.

This invaluable guide is small enough to be easily carried about, and its facts are clearly and concisely stated. Beginning with a chapter of general advice as to preparation for British research, the compiler goes on to give us a Table of Probate Jurisdictions, showing county, court, location and earliest date. Then follows an index of will registers in the Probate Court of Canterbury, first by dates, and then alphabetically. There are also indices to registers of wills in the Consistory and Commissary Courts of London. Proceeding to marriage records there is a brief resumé of conditions, with a table of marriage licenses by district location and date. A table of Chancery Proceedings, with dates, titles, indices and notes is next furnished, followed by a list of Herald's Visitations, showing date, original, copies and printed. Scotland and Ireland are next treated with the information tabulated, and the book closes with data about Probate Registers in England, with place, homes and accommodation. Mr. Lea's long and successful practical experience, makes this handbook an indispensable guide to British research, and the well-arranged tables, printed in type which is helpful to the eye, will be found most satisfactory.

THE POST FAMILY. Marie Caroline de Trobriand Post. New York Sterling Potter. 1905. Quarto, cloth, pp. xii.+314+xxv.

A lengthy and, it would seem, exhaustive treatise on the name and arms of the various European Post families begins this work, which is truly a family history. On reaching the American progenitor Richard Post, the compiler, while chiefly concerned with his descendants in the line of Jotham, diverges from her intention in order to set down some notes concerning other branches. Numerous charts illustrate the pedigree, and the biographical details are very full, the family having made a number of brilliant alliances. A good index completes the work.

THE EARLY HILDRETHS OF NEW ENGLAND. Arthur Hildreth. Boston. Privately printed. 12 D, cloth, pp. 60.

Told in narrative form, this little book contains an account of the founder of the family and his children, with occasional references to present-day descendants.

ELIAB ALDEN OF MIDDLEBOROUGH, MASS., AND CAIRO, N. Y.: His Alden Ancestors and His Descendants. Charles Henry Alden, M.D., U. S. Army, Retired. Boston. Printed for private circulation. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 55.

The first part of the pamphlet is devoted to the Alden ancestry of Eliab Alden, showing the children of each generation in the direct line, with their marriages. Eliab Alden was of the fifth generation, was born in Middleborough, Mass., and finally settled in Cairo, N. Y. The pamphlet is well printed and indexed, and is a useful contribution to Alden genealogy.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.

PIKE FAMILY.—A collection of notes from English archives, relating to the Pike family, is now being formed, with the assistance of an experienced and reliable record-searcher in London, England. The latter has already supplied several interesting notes on this subject. The material, of course, consists of unpublished data obtained from the Public Record Office, British Museum, etc.

These original gleanings will be of considerable interest to many other families, and will probably be published. For particulars, address

EUGENE F. MCPIKE,

RIKER FAMILY.—The history of this family is in course of preparation by Smith H. Riker, 802 Second Avenue, Troy, N. Y., who will be glad to receive additional records.

ISAAC TOWNSEND SMITH.

BY JAS. GRANT WILSON, D.C.L.

Isaac Townsend Smith, a life member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, was born in Boston, Mass., 12 March, 1813, and died of pneumonia at his residence, 14 East Sixtieth St., New York, 30 March, 1906. Two days later his funeral services were held in the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, and his burial was in the family plot in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn. Among many prominent persons present was the Siamese Minister, who came from Washington bringing a floral wreath, the gift of the King of Siam, and a large delegation from the Union League Club, of which the deceased was the oldest member. On the day of Mr. Smith's funeral, all of the official flags of the metropolis hung at half mast.

His father, Ebenezer Smith, was a well-known Boston merchant, and the son received his education at Captain Partridge's Military Academy in Middletown, Conn., where so many distinguished soldiers were students, also Admiral Dewey, second only to famous Farragut in the American navy. Several decades later the Military Academy became Norwich University, and recently conferred upon Consul-General Smith the degree of LL.D. He early entered mercantile life and at the age of twenty-one was appointed supercargo of a large ship bound for the East Indies, making from time to time voyages to China, Java, Manila and South Africa, on one occasion landing at St. Helena, then the burial place of Napoleon. In 1853, Mr. Smith settled in New York as a merchant and ship owner; soon after receiving and satisfactorily executing for the King of Siam a commission for a steam yacht and a gatling gun, which led to his appointment of Consul-General and financial agent for the Siamese potentate. Some years ago when he visited that country, in making a tour of the world, he enjoyed the unusual honor of being the King of Siam's guest at Bangkok, for six months. At the time of Mr. Smith's death he was the oldest Consul-General in point of age and service in the United States. He was one of the incorporators, and for twenty-five years, the President of the Metropolitan Savings Bank of New York City. For several years, he was Commissioner of Immigration, and he was associated with the writer in supervising the translating and publishing of the Dutch Municipal Records in seven octavo volumes. Mr. Smith was one of the earliest of those who rocked the cradle of the Republican party, being an original Fremont Republican, and in 1864, when Lincoln was elected for the second time, he was a Presidential Elector, and it is believed for several years the only surviving member of that Electoral College. During the past decade the Consul-General frequently delivered addresses before this, and other societies, embodying his recollections of matters connected with American shipping and the United States navy, of which he had many interesting reminiscences, including the docking of the frigate Constitution by Commodore Hull on the occasion of President Jackson's visit to Boston more than seventy years ago. Our venerable friend celebrated his eightieth birthday by a large family gathering, and more recently also his ninety-third birthday, when he was honored by a congratulatory letter from President Roosevelt, and also from Secretary of State Root, who wrote: "I congratulate you on being able to spend so much time in this interesting world, and upon having seen so much and having done so much. There is something very pleasing about the contemplation of old age, full of honor, with the battles all fought and rest well earned, and with the esteem and affection of a host of friends."

Mr. Smith married Elizabeth Palmer Putnam, daughter of Judge Henry Putnam of Brunswick, Maine, and granddaughter of Gen. Joseph Palmer, President of the First Revolutionary Congress at Boston. Another member of the family, Major Joseph Pearce Palmer, was one of the leaders of the famous Boston Tea Party that threw the shipload of taxed tea overboard on the memorable 16 December, 1773.

In the memorial address delivered by the Rev. Dr. Tupper, and printed by Mr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. George B. Loring, he said: "With his wife's mother, Catharine Palmer Putnam, a woman of unusually strong intellect and fervid piety, he founded in 1843 the first Mariner's church, New York, and for over a half century was an earnest and active worker in the various Christian enterprises here and elsewhere. One of the most interesting chapters in all the benevolent life of this noble man of God is that which tells of his splendid generosity toward the missionaries of the Southern Baptists when, during our sad Civil War, the Federal blockade of Southern ports cut these missionaries off from communication or support from the Board in Richmond. And this is only one of the many generous deeds of this 'Son of Consolation,' whose worth and work have led his former pastor, the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, to write thus of him: 'His long services in the church, his splendid character, his wide experience in ecclesiastical matters, his simple, beautiful, earnest Christian life made him a tower of strength to all and a source of inspiration to those associated with him.'"

My last letter from Mr. Smith dated 18 January, 1906, showed no indication of his nine decades, being neatly and distinctly written. He says: "Your very kind note of the seventeenth inst. is received, also the tribute to Mr. Kiliaen Van Rensselaer.

I am much gratified at the action of the Trustees of the Genealogical and Biographical Society. I hope to be able to visit the Society occasionally, and thereby keep in touch with old friends for whom I have a great regard. I have read your admirable paper with much interest, both as to the valuable matter, and finished manner, in which the character of Mr. Van Rensselaer is portrayed."

About a month before his death, I spent an hour with the Consul-General, who, it may be mentioned, bore a striking resemblance to Henry Clay. He was in a reminiscent mood, and described some of his many voyages made as supercargo seventy years previous, and alluding to the fact that he remembered the arrival of the Great Western, on her first voyage across the Atlantic. He had seen John Adams when a schoolboy, adding the very interesting statement that he had known, or seen, all but six of our Presidents, not quite equal to Horace Binney's record, who, as he informed the writer, had known Washington and all his successors down to Grant inclusive, during whose second administration he passed away at the great age of ninety-six. Mr. Smith then described the grandeur of Webster's appearance and oratory, he having frequently heard him speak in Boston, New York and Washington, also alluding to the charm of Clay's oratory. He then gave me interesting particulars of the way in which he aided the Baptist missionaries during the Civil War, which has been already mentioned in this article. As I left the venerable Christian gentleman who had lived a spotless life, and whom I had enjoyed the pleasure of knowing for two score years, the words of the old poet occurred to me as not inappropriate to him:

Of no distemper, of no blast he died,
But fell like autumn fruit that mellowed long,
Even wondered at because he dropped no sooner;
Fate seemed to wind him up for four score years,
Yet freshly ran he on twelve winters more,
Till, like a clock worn out in eating time,
The wheels of weary life at last stood still.

The accompanying photogravure of the Consul-General is copied from a photograph made by Alman and Company of New York, in 1898.

THE SKILLMANS OF AMERICA AND THEIR KIN.

BY WILLIAM JONES SKILLMAN, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

George⁴ Skillman (No. 20), b. 1747, named at the close of the previous paper, it may be added, was the writer's great-grandfather. His full record will be given in due order. The names of his two uncles, his father's younger brothers, added, close up the present or third generation, and we then enter upon the fourth.

9. BENJAMIN³ SKILLMAN (Thomas,² Thomas¹), b. 1710, bap. in Brooklyn. He was sponsor at the bap., 1737, in N. Y. (Ref. Dutch Church) of Hendrick V. de Water, 9th child of his sister Ann. With his brothers Abraham and Jacob, he was appointed executor of his father's will of 1739. His name also with Abraham's appears in a list (Newtown, May 26, 1755) of "owners of negro slaves." Benjamin's home from birth was the ancestral "stone house" (see Ante) of which the northwest corner, when the old Dutch Kills road (later, School Street, Brooklyn) was widened, jutted into the highway. These 78 acres fell to him as his share of his father's property, and this farm he sold, April 11, 1764, to Abraham Polhemus, (the deed being witnessed by Thomas,⁴ son of Abraham³ Skillman), and removed to Kingston-Princeton, N. J. Benjamin m. about 1731, Margaret, dau. of Samuel Coe and Margaret Van Zandt, his wife. Margaret Coe's grandfather, Capt. John Coe, was son of Robert,² and grandson of Robert¹ Coe, who, b. 1596, came from Norfolk, Eng., in the ship Francis to Watertown, Mass., in 1634, and to Boston the same year. (Huntingdon's Hist. of Stamford). The son Robert removed to Hempstead, L. I., in 1644, then to Jamaica in 1656, and finally to Newtown. Sam'l Coe, Margaret Skillman's father, removed to Haverstraw, N. Y., and d. there in 1742. By will, dated May 11, 1741, he left "Margaret, wife of Benj. Skillman of Newtown" £40. Benj. Skillman d. 1783, his wife earlier. By his will, June 5, 1777, probated Jan. 31, 1784, Jacob Skillman, Jr., Wm. Badcock, and Lemuel Scudder (great grandfather of the writer) witnesses; two sons and six daughters are named. Children of Benjamin³ Skillman and Margaret Coe his wife:

- 21 i. Samuel,⁴ b. 1732.
- ii. Ann, b. 1735, and m. at Dutch Kills her own cousin, Benjamin, 2nd son of Isaac of Harlingen, Somerset Co., N. J. He afterward was farmer and inn keeper for many years at Griggstown, N. J. Ann d. March 3, 1795, and her remains lie in the Beekman burying ground at Griggstown. They had four sons.
- iii. Margaret, b. 1737. To her was bequeathed, as to each of her six sisters, £60, by the will of 1777 of the father.
- 22 iv. Thomas, b. 1739.
- v. Elizabeth, bap. Oct. 4, 1741, at Newtown Dutch Ref. Church, by Domine Johannes Henricus Goetschius, Abraham, Benjamin's elder brother serving as one of the sponsors, and the babe's grandmother, Annetje Aten, as the other.
- vi. Mary, b. 1743.
- vii. Sarah, b. 1745.
- viii. Mercy, b. 1747.

10. JOSEPH³ SKILLMAN (Thomas,² Thomas¹), b. 1712; record of bap. is non-extant. Joost, as he was called, was lame in one of his feet from childhood, and much kept within doors at home in his youth, and yet had spent apparently a rather robust out-of-door life for sixty years. He was "a farmer" in Bushwÿck (heart of Brooklyn today), Skillman Street getting its name from this family, and the farm on which he spent his life he gave at death to his 4th son, John, by will of Oct. 1, 1767, probated April 18, 1772. The witnesses to this will were William Craambos, Peter Vandewater, and Jno. Roosevelt, the executors being Sarah, his wife, Jacob Messerole, his brother-in-law, and his friend Theodorus Polhemus. By this will other small lots of land in Bushwick were bequeathed to his son Joseph, and varying sums of money to each of the remaining members of the family. To his wife (who survived him), the testator devised "also the use of my negro Tom to wait on her during her life." All the heads of families of this generation of Skillmans were probably owners of slaves, though they never called them such; Abraham and Benjamin as well as Joost or Joseph were, and quite certainly the others. Thomas,² their father, in his will of 1739, gave his executors full power "to sell my negro man Sam and my negro woman Dorcas, as soon as convenient after my decease." In 1735 Joseph m. Sara, dau. of Jan³ Messerole and Elizabeth his wife, of Bushwick. Sara was sister of Isaac Messerole who m. Catharine Skillman, the dau. of Abraham, Joseph's elder brother. Isaac and Sara here were grandchildren of Jan³ or Jean Messerole, Jr., the "sucking child" (and only son) of Jean Messerole and Jonica, his wife, brought with them in 1663 from Picardy. Their grandmother was Maritje Coevert. Children of Joseph and Sara (Messerole) Skillman:

- 23 i. Thomas,⁴ b. 1736.
- ii. William, b. 1739? Governor Clinton (Dec. 22, 1780) pledged the faith of his State (N. Y.) to persons advancing money for American prisoners (Rev. War) on Long Island. Of those who made the advance or cashed these pledges, never perhaps expecting a return, were Thomas Skillman and William Skillman, first of that forename in the family. There were 149 men of Long Island on this roll of honor, and all were paid eventually (1785?). (See N. Y. in Rev. as Col'y and State. Supplementary Vol. 2, p. 169). Undoubtedly William belongs in this family, but he has no further record.
- iii. Elizabeth, b. 1741; m. May 28, 1762, her cousin, Albertus Van de Water, son of Hendrick and Annetje (Skillman) Van de Water of N. Y. City; was sponsor at bap. July 17, 1767 (Ref. Dutch Church, N. Y.) of Abm., son of Jeremia Brouwer and his wife Elizabeth, sister of Albertus. At same church their own dau. Petronella, was bap. Jan. 27, 1775, "Lucas C. Quik en de moeder getuigen" (witnesses).
- iv. Sarah, b. 1743; m. (1) Oct. 13, 1762, John Hubbard; m. (2) March 26, 1773, Rich'd Smith; m. (3) March 23, 1776, James Brush, of Huntington, L. I.
- v. Mercy, b. 1745; m. June 19, 1773, William Conselyea, descendant of Jan de Conchilier, immigrant from Holland with wife and five children in 1662. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., Vol. III., p. 33).

- 24 vi. Joseph, b. 1748.
 25 vii. John, b. 1750.
 viii. Antje or Anna Maria, bap. at Flatbush, Oct. 22, 1752, dau. of "Joost Skillman en Sara Miserol;" m. Sept. 1, 1773, Benj. Brush of Huntington, L. I.

This closes our record of the third and brings us in proper order to the fourth generation of the descendants of Captain Thomas Skillman of Newtown, L. I. (Maspeth or Dutch Kills) and Sara Petit, his wife, and of their only son, Thomas and wife Annetje Aten.

11. OSIE⁴ SKILLMAN (Jan,³ Thomas,² Thomas¹) b. 1730; m. (2nd wife) John Doughty, b. June 4, 1709. The Doughtys (Dotey, Doten) were from Cape Cod, descendants of Edw'd Doty of the Mayflower Company who m. Faythe Clark, b. 1619. Their son, Sam'l Doty, b. at Plymouth "on the High Cliffe," 1643; m. Nov. 5, 1678, Jane Harmon. Their son, Sam'l, b. 1679, m. 1700 (Piscataway, N. J.), Elizabeth, dau. of Sam'l Hull (son of Hopewell Hull) and Mary Manning, dau. of Joefrey and Hepsaba Manning. John Doughty (he preferred Doty) was their 4th son. He and wife Osie Skillman lived at Basking Ridge, N. J. They had:

- i. Thomas Doughty, b. 1750; m. a Skillman and had ten children. A blacksmith, he removed to Farquier (or Culpepper), Co. Va., and 1805 to Kentucky, and there d. 1841, æ. 90 years. His 5th child, Osie, m. Patrick Brady in Virginia, and his third child, Skillman Doughty, removed from Kentucky to Abingdon, Ia., where a dau. of the latter, Susan Doughty (1901) still lives.
- ii. Skillman Doughty, b. Oct. 17, 1755 at Basking Ridge; m. there Hannah Hayden, b. Dec. 4, 1762, and had five children. In the Rev. War he was in a Militia Regt. of Somerset Co., and also artificer in the Quart. Mast. Gen's Dept. Removed, 1810, to Romulus, N. Y., and d. there, 1840; wife 1850.

12. JACOB⁴ SKILLMAN (Jan,³ Thomas,² Thomas¹), b. 1736. In will, 1772, "item, to my loving son, Jacob, £100, and my negro wench, Dinah." With "Thomas Skillman, of Kingstowne" (brother-in-law) appointed executor; paid taxes (1790) on 200 acres in Amwell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.; afterward "removed to some German Settlement, near Allegheny Mts. Penn.;" and later appears with family among early pioneers of Ohio (Miami Valley). He and wife Massa (Mercy?) had four sons. Other children may have remained in the East. These four sons were:

- 26 i. Isaac,⁵ b. 1770.
- 27 ii. Benjamin, b. 1776.
- 28 iii. Jacob, b. 1778.
- 29 iv. Abraham, b. 1782.

13. BENJAMIN⁴ SKILLMAN (Jan,³ Thomas,² Thomas¹), b. 1740, and his mother's will (1772) gives "two sheep to him and his assigns forever." He paid tax on 220 acres (1790) at or near Mt. Airy, Hunterdon Co., N. J. Had:

- 30 i. Benjamin,⁵ b. 1773.

14. JOHN⁴ SKILLMAN (Jan,³ Thomas,² Thomas¹), b. 1742, and, grown up, purchased or inherited the home-farm (253 acres or ½ the tract bought by his grandfather Thomas² for his father Jan³ and his uncle Isaac.² This he sold April 30, 1768 (deed witnessed by Thomas⁴ Skillman, cousin, and Edw'd Van Harlingen), to Roelif Van Dyck for "£300 current money of the Province," and then with family removed to Loudoun Co., Va., (near present Leesburg). In 1763, John Skillman m. Catharine, dau. of Christopher Beekman and Sarah Cox, his wife. This Christopher Beekman was 3d son of Christoffel Beekman (son of Gerardus of Flatbush) and Maria de la Noy (b. Jan. 4, 1681; m. Jan. 28, 1704). Catharine's father d. at his home, near Griggstown, of smallpox, and Sarah, her mother, being made a widow, in 1766 became the 3d wife of William Allen, with her five Beekman children besides Catharine. All these Beekmans and Allens with other families, under the lead of John Skillman, after the sale of his farm, removed to Virginia, as said, the next year, 1769. William Allen d. and John Skillman was the executor of his estate, and a few years later, near the outbreak of the Rev. War, he himself died, his will being proved Feb. 10, 1777. The property was left to his wife "for the benefit of our Child'n." In the course of time the widow m. Jesse Edwards and by him had five other boys and girls. The children of John Skillman and Catharine Beekman his wife, in addition to a dau. who m. a Hegeman and removed to Evansville, Ind., were these five sons:

- 31 i. Christopher,⁵ b. 1767.
- 32 ii. Abraham, b. 1768.
- 33 iii. John, b. 1770.
- 34 iv. Isaac, b. 1772.
- 35 v. William, b. 1777.

15. THE FIRST STANFORD (BAPTIST) CHURCH AT BANGALL, DUTCHESS CO., NEW YORK.

EARLY MARRIAGE RECORDS, AND ABSTRACTS OF TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.*

CONTRIBUTED BY EVELYN BRIGGS BALDWIN.

The earliest records of this Church are dated from Great Nine Partners, Charlotte Precinct, N. Y. Its first members appear to have emigrated from Massachusetts, and were organized into a Church, Oct. 15, 1759, in Dutchess County, by covenanting together and appointing Ephraim Bullock and Comer Bullock to preach the gospel and administer the ordinances among them. At this meeting the members had the assistance of Elder Jabez Wood and Elder Robert Wheaton, who were elders of the First Baptist Church in the town of Swansea, Mass.

For nearly twenty years harmony prevailed in the church, but in 1778 dissension arose concerning the singing of Watt's Psalms, which the parent church of Swansea, Mass., had lately introduced into its order of worship, and on May 9, 1778, twenty-four of the members separated from the others and formed another church under the leadership of Elder Comer Bullock. It is to this new organization that the following history and records properly belong.

Elder Comer Bullock continued to be the pastor of the church until 1804. It is not recorded that he ever received a penny as a salary. He did, indeed, on one occasion receive a contribution, and for so doing was called "an hireling," whereupon the church promptly voted that he had a perfect right to receive any contribution the people were disposed to make him. During his ministry several branches were established, some of which afterward developed into independent Baptist churches, viz.: Kinderhook, Oswago, Noble, Dover, West Branch, South-West Branch and Rhinebeck.

In 1806, Elder Luman Burch was ordained pastor of the church, and at the same time, Comer, the son of Elder Comer Bullock, was ordained Deacon. During his ministry a parsonage was built and a new house of worship erected. Besides caring for the Bangall church, Elder Burch ministered to the needs of other places, as Amenia, Fishkill, Pleasant Valley and Pine Plains. At the latter place a church was organized in 1839. Elder Burch closed his labors as pastor in 1855, having been stricken with palsy. He lingered a sufferer until Nov. 17, 1858, when he died, aged eighty-one years. Thus for nearly a century this church was served by two pastors only.

In 1855 Elder Elijah Lucas accepted a call to the church and in September, entered upon his pastorate. He was succeeded by Elder John Vassar, who was soon followed by Elder J. Holmans.

* Originals deposited with the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. Records transcribed by Evelyn Briggs Baldwin.

In 1865 the latter tendered his resignation and the following year Elder E. C. Ambler became pastor of the church. In 1867 a survey was made for the Dutchess and Columbia Railroad. This passed through the church building which had to be removed to give passage to the railroad. Damages were awarded and the present house of worship was then erected about a quarter of a mile south of the other at a cost of $12,000.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS IN OLD GRAVEYARD
AT SALEM, WASHINGTON CO., N. Y.

COPIED BY MISS MABEL GIBSON.
CONTRIBUTED BY TOBIAS A. WRIGHT.

Salem was first settled in Aug., 1764, by a colony from Pelham, Mass., and in the spring, 1766, Dr. Clark, with his Scotch-Irish church colony, from Balibay, Ireland, also settled here. (See N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record, XXXIV, p. 162.) This was the first burial place of these settlers and the only one, except a few family plots on farms, until the Salem Evergreen Cemetery was established about one hundred years later.

ADDITIONS TO THE GENEALOGY OF RAYNOR OF SOUTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND, N. Y.

FROM THE MSS. OF HERRICK J. RAYNOR, ELIJAH RAYNOR AND OTHER SOURCES.

BY LUCY D. AKERLY.

JONATHAN¹ RAYNOR (Jonathan,² Thurston,² *Thurston*¹), of Southampton, b. 4 March, 1681; m. 27 July, 1704, Irene³ Herrick (William,² *James*¹). His will, 31 Jan., 1740-1, proved 7 April, 1741, names no wife, but disposes of his large holdings of land in Southampton Town, and other possessions to his family. (Lib. XIV., p. 46, N. Y. Wills.)

The following treats of three of his ten children.

NATHAN⁶ RAYNOR (Jonathan,⁴ Jonathan,³ Thurston,² *Thurston*¹), of Southampton Town, b. 14 Feb., 1716-17; d. 20 Nov., 1772; m. Jerusha Bowers, b. 21 Dec., 1717.

By his father's will, Nathan was to inherit all his lands and meadows in Apocock Neck, one right of commonage in the west purchase, from Apocock Neck west, and half a lot in Cedar Swamp, Riverhead.*

Nathan and Jerusha are said to have been buried, without tombstones, on Apaucuck Neck. Much of the land is still owned by Raynor descendants.

Nathan apparently left no will, but the testament of his widow Jerusha, 24 May, 1801, proved 26 Aug., 1809, names her daughters Phoebe, Mehetable, Martha and her heirs. (Lib. C., Suffolk Co. Wills.) Issue:

- 1 Nathan, b. 11 March, 1740.
- 2 Jerusha, b. 1 Nov., 1742.
- 3 Elizabeth, b. 11 Oct., 1747.
- 4 Sarah, b. 18 March, 1749.

* Apaucuck Neck, Westhampton, is west of Beaverdam stream, which was called the Pocock River in old deeds. No more attractive spot can be found in Southampton Town.

- 5 Phoebe, b. 15 April, 1750; d. 17 Nov., 1807; m. 3 March, 1790, George Howell of Quogue, b. 10 Jan., 1751. Children: Hiram Howell, b. 5 Dec., 1790. Warren Howell, b. 15 Nov., 1793; d. 30 April, 1797. Tombstones to Phoebe and Warren at Quogue.
- 6 Elihu, b. 15 May, 1752; d. 15 Jan., 1826; m. Elizabeth Albertson, who d. 13 Jan., 1800, in her 42d year.
- 7 Ichabod, b. 2 April, 1755; was a soldier in the Revolutionary War.
- 8 Mehitable, d. about 1828, single.
- 9 Martha. Mr. H. J. Raynor thinks she d. single. As her mother mentions her dau. Martha's heirs, it may be that she m. Edward Stephens of Quogue, and d. 12 July, 1835, aged 77 years.

WILLIAM^o RAYNOR (Jonathan,⁴ Jonathan,³ Thurston,² *Thurston*¹), of Ketchabonack, now Westhampton Beach, b. 1 Oct., 1718; d. 3 Jan., 1784; m. Esther Woodhull, who d. 5 Aug., 1828, in her 98th year.

In the absence of his family record, which disappeared some years ago, it is suggested that Nathaniel Raynor (who d. 29 March, 1802, aged 40 years, and whose wife, Milicent, d. 19 Dec., 1802, aged 34 years), buried near William and Esther at Westhampton, may have been his son. We are only sure of one child, however.

- I William, who m. Mary Pierson of Southampton. They may be buried at Westhampton, without tombstones. William's will, 19 Jan., 1808, proved 26 Jan., 1808, names wife Mary, sons William, Woodhull, Elijah, daus. Mary Jessup, three unm. daus., Sophia, Harriet and Susannah. (Lib. B, 488, Suffolk Co. Wills.) Harriet afterwards m. John Sills Brewster of Quogue, and Susannah m. Silas Jessup of Quogue.

HUGH^o RAYNOR (Jonathan,⁴ Jonathan,³ Thurston,² *Thurston*¹), of Southampton. We have no dates of birth, marriage or death for him. His father gave to him and his male heirs a lot in Little Onuck, his home lot and buildings in Southampton, by his will, before quoted.

Hugh's will, 12 March, 1799, proved 22 Dec., 1802, names wife Sarah, sons Stephen and Henry, the latter to have lands and a mill at Setuck River, daus. Jane Jessup, Phoebe Foster and Abigail Tuthill, children of dau. Prudence Pierson and son James who is to have the residue of the estate. James sold his grandfather's homestead in Southampton to Elie Pelletreau in 1812. (Lib. B., 218, Suffolk Co. Wills, N. Y. Hist. Soc. Coll., 1894, p. 325.)

Sarah, wife of Hugh Raynor, was dau. of Ambrose⁴ Horton (Jonathan,³ Jonathan,² *Barnabas*¹), and his wife Anna, dau. of John and Phoebe Jessup of Westhampton. (Journal of Jonathan Horton—L. I. Traveler, 19 Jan., 1906.) Sarah d. 26 March, 1806, aged 81 years, and is buried in the plot of her son-in-law, Henry Jessup, at Quogue.

For modern descendants see a Mss. Raynor Chart at the N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Soc.

COVERT ANCESTRY.

COMPILED BY EDSON SALISBURY JONES.

CONTRIBUTED BY BYRON BARNES HORTON, SHEFFIELD, PA.

LUCAS COVERT AND FAMILY.

When dealing separately with Lucas, Bergen says that he emigrated in 1653; m. Aug. 27, 1682, Barbara Sprong, of Flatbush; member of Ref. Du. Ch. of Brooklyn in 1677; took oath of allegiance in 1687, residing in Bedford; resided at Madnans Neck, in Queens Co., in 1697, and at Three-Mile Run, N. J., in 1703. Issue, "all bap. in Brooklyn:"

Abraham, bap. May 27, 1683.

Isaac, bap. May 27, 1683.

Lucas, bap. April 9, 1699; m. Femmetje ———, and resided on the Raritan, N. J.

"Signed his name 'Lucas Teunissen.'"

Bergen's year (1653) for the emigration of Lucas is wrong by ten years, as proved by the number of years he had been in the Province of New York when he took oath of allegiance. The archivist of the State reports that the items relating to Coeverts, on the original lists, are correctly printed in Doc. Hist. N. Y., I, p. 430, where it is shown that in Sept., 1687, "Luijcas Coeverts, 24 Jaere" (24 years in Prov. of N. Y.; 1687-24=1663), took the oath, among Brooklyn men.

Aug. 27, 1682, Lucas Tuniz Coevers and Barbara Sprong, m. as per Flatbush Du. Ch. Rec. Names of parents or witnesses do not appear. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1898, p. 90.)

In what has been printed of the Brooklyn Du. Ch. Rec. in Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, Lucas is not shown as a member of that church "in 1677," but the original records may prove it.

Bap. May 27, 1683, Abraham and Isaac, sons of Lucas Tuniz Coevers and Barbara Sprong. Witnesses: Teunis Janz Coevors, Hans Tuniz Covers, Altie Tunis Covers (w. of Wm. Post), Gersje Leiwes. Flatbush Du. Ch. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1898, p. 128.)

Bap. April 9, 1699, Lucas, son of Lucas Coevers and Barber. Witnesses: Gerrit Sprong, Annetje, his wife. Brooklyn Du. Ch. (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 174.)

Some "Luickes Teunise" was assessed in Brooklyn in 1683. (Doc. Hist. N. Y., II, p. 292.)

April 26, 1697, Lucas Coeverts, of Queens Co., N. Y., bought land in Bedford, Brooklyn township, N. Y. (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 140.)

April 26, 1697, Lucas Coeverts and wife, Barbara, of Madnans Neck, Queens Co., N. Y., sold this same land. Signed, "Lucas (I) Coeverts, his mark; Barbara (B) Coeverts, her mark." (Kings Co. Deeds, II, p. 142.)

June 7, 1697, Lucas Covert and twenty-one others (no residences) gave consent for change of a highway (location not stated). Signed, Lucas (I) Covart, his mark. (Queens Co. Deeds, A, p. 134.)

Aug. 15, 1704, Abraham Coverd, of Madnans Neck, in Hempstead, Queens Co., N. Y., for £120 and a horse, sold to his "brother, Isaac Coverd," of the same place, all grantor's lands (location not stated). The deed states that "the land abovesaid is y^e land which was Lucas Coverd's where he lived and deceased." (Queen's Co. Deeds, C, p. 73.) Madnans Neck is now called Great Neck, and is in the N. W. part of the present town of North Hempstead.

If this deed state the exact truth, it shows conclusively that Lucas lived the latter part of his life and died on Madnans Neck, Queens Co., N. Y. If he ever were at Three Mile Run, N. J., it was but temporarily. There is no probability that he was the subscriber to the ministerial fund at the latter place in "1703." (See under Hans [Theunis.'])

The printed records of North and South Hempstead do not mention Lucas, as far as the indexes show; and his name has not been seen in public records except as above. No will or administration on his estate has been found, and none as to his wife. Apparently Abraham was his eldest son, and inherited his father's lands as such.

Was Lucas the son of Theunis'? No absolute proof of it has been seen. According to their oaths of allegiance, Theunis came to the Province of New York in 1651, and Lucas arrived in 1663. Lucas married (his only wife, as far as known) in 1682, nineteen years after his coming. It is quite possible that Lucas was a son of Theunis,¹ and was left a child in Holland, when his father emigrated. The nearest approach seen, to evidence, that Lucas was son of Theunis,¹ is that the latter witnessed the bap. of Abraham and Isaac, sons of Lucas, in 1683, as did Hans Tuniz Covers and Altie Tunis Covers; but this was possibly due to membership in the same church, to friendship, or to Lucas having come from the same place in Holland as Theunis. The name, Theunis, was fairly common in Holland; and in those early times all sons of Theunises took the patronymic, Theunissen. Among the catechumens in the Brooklyn Du. Ch., on Nov. 26, 1662, were two named Jan Teunisse, and one named Lucas Teunisse (Hol. Soc. Year-Book, 1897, p. 135). On the same date and in the same record appear Catalyntie Teunise, Saertie Teunise, Nys Teunis, Annetie Teunis, Aecht Teunis and Jan-naken Teunis. This was probably before the arrival of Lucas, though it is possible that he came in Oct. or Nov., 1663 (and would not, therefore, have been quite 25 years in the Province in Sept., 1687). Lucas Coevert witnessed the bap. of Maurits, son of Maurits Coevert and Anna Fonteyn, in Brooklyn Du. Ch., Jan. 16, 1696, which was an association with a proved son of Theunis¹ that is suggestive of relationship; and there are a few other similar associations.

ABRAHAM. The bap. of Abraham, son of Lucas Tuniz Coevers and Barbara Sprong, has been given above; also an abstract of the deed by which he sold the lands of Lucas Covert to his own brother, Isaac. No other item concerning him has been seen on public records, except that the printed records of North and South Hempstead, II, p. 142, show that his earmark was entered thereon Nov. 29, 1710. It has been said, however, that he m. Egbertje, dau. of Eldert and Styntie (Hendricks) Voorhees, and had the following children bap. in Jamaica: Lucas, 1709; Antie, 1711, and Jannetje, 1713. A plot of the land of some Abraham Covert, 103 acres, is in E. J., Deeds, H⁸, p. 421, but it is without date.

Although the deed from Abraham to his brother, Isaac, does not say that the lands transferred by it were those of their father, it is quite certain that such was the case. The indexes of Queens Co. Deeds do not show Abraham as a grantee, nor do those of the printed records of the Hempsteads. Further, Lucas was the only father of sons, Abraham and Isaac, that has been found.

ISAAC. The bap. of Isaac, in Flatbush Du. Ch., May 27, 1683, as son of Lucas Tuniz Coevers and Barbara Sprong, has been given above; as well as the purchase from his brother, Abraham, of their father's lands on Aug. 15, 1704. Immediately succeeding this deed on the record, is the following:

Feb. 19, 1705/6, Isaac Covert, of Madnans Neck, in Hempstead, assigns to Henry Defreiz, of Bushwick, all his "right and title of this within bill of sale." Signed, "Isaac (I) Covert, his mark." (Queens Co. Deeds, C, p. 74.) Evidently this assignment was written on the deed itself. Next immediately following is this deed:

Feb. 18, 1705 (probably 1705/6), Isaac Covert, now living on Madnans Neck, in Hempstead, Queens Co., Yeoman, sells to "my father-in-law, Henry Defreize, now of Bushwick," all his lands, meadows, marshes, houses, etc. Signed, "Isaac (I) Covert, his mark, Elizabeth (X) Covert, her mark." Isaac acknowledges this deed "for himself and his wife," March 21, 1711, before a Justice of Queens Co. (Queens Co. Deeds, C, p. 74.)

The natural inference to be drawn from this deed is that Henry Defreize was the father of Isaac's wife, Elizabeth; but we cannot be certain of this, as the term "father-in-law" was often used in early times for step-father. So, it is possible that Henry Defreize had m. Isaac's mother, Barbara Sprong, as a second husband (she probably was about 44 years old at this time, if living, having been bap. July 27, 1661); or that Defreize was then the husband of Elizabeth's mother.

Search has been made under the surnames Defreize, De Frees, De Foreest and De Forest, but no Henry has yet been found who had a daughter, Elizabeth. There was a man, whose name was generally entered on the Du. Ch. Rec. as Hendrick or Henricus de Foreest, who was bap. in N. Y., Sept. 9, 1657, and m. there, July 5, 1682, Femmetje Van Flaesbeeck. Five of their children were bap. in the N. Y. Du. Ch., 1683-1693. Of this man, Riker's "Revised Hist. of Harlem," p. 783, says he settled at Bushwick, L. I.; was commissioned justice of the peace in 1683; in 1705, bought land at Madnans Neck and removed there; and d. in 1715. Rikers gives him no dau. Elizabeth, and speaks of no second marriage. At present, the parentage of Elizabeth is uncertain. Between the date of the deed and time of its acknowledgment, Elizabeth may have died, and Isaac have re-married.

No other deed to which Isaac was a party is indexed on Queens Co. Rec.; and his name is not indexed in printed Hempstead Rec. No will, or administration on the estate of an Isaac of Queens Co. has been found. He seems to have disappeared from that locality; though sometimes men lived a long time in a place without their names being found on public records.

ISAAC COVERT, OF WESTCHESTER CO., N. Y.

Within about four years after the date of the deed last mentioned, by which Isaac, of Madnans Neck, sold all his lands, an Isaac Covert was of Rye, Westchester Co., N. Y., about ten miles across Long Island Sound from said Neck. That these Isaacs were identical has not yet been proved; but it is very probable that they were one. Isaac first appears on the records of the county as a brother-in-law of John^s Horton, of Rye, as shown by the following deed:

April 5, 1710, John Horton, of Rye, gave to his "brother-in-law, Isaac Covert," of Rye, 38 acres in Will's purchase. (Westchester Co. Deeds, D, p. 103.) No deed of sale of this land by Isaac is of record, but a deed of it by John Purdy, Aug. 3, 1725, shows that it had passed into his possession. (Rye Deeds, C, p. 68.)

Whether Isaac's wife was Horton's sister, or Horton's wife was Isaac's sister, or these men had m. sisters, is as yet uncertain. In 1716, John Horton sold his "brother-in-law, Daniel Purdy," of Rye, meadow in that town. (Westchester Co. Deeds, G, p. 127.) Weighing the gift of land to Isaac Covert against the sale of land to Purdy, it seems rather probable that Isaac had m. John Horton's sister; and the probability is increased from the fact that, in 1711, this John Horton gave land to all his brothers. No proof has yet been found, however, that John Horton had a sister, Elizabeth; but the names of all the children of his father are not known.

The first book of Rye Deeds and the early Town Proceedings long ago disappeared; so it is now impossible to know what they may have shown of Isaac Covert's coming to Rye (no earlier Covert has been found in Westchester Co., and none but Isaac is of record for many years), or the grants of land he may have received from the town, or purchases he may have made from the inhabitants.

The lands in "Will's Purchase" and in "White Plains Purchase" were bought by Rye people. A survey and a Patent were sought for the latter Purchase, and Isaac Covert was among the petitioners. Their prayer for the survey was granted by the Governor and Council, Jan. 11, 1721/2. (Land Papers, VIII, p. 104.) The Patent was granted March 12, 1721/2. (Patents, VIII, p. 450.) As not all who had the rights in the White Plains Purchase were included among the patentees, the latter confirmed the rights of the former by a deed dated Jan. 18, 1722/3, in which Isaac Covert was one of the grantors. (West. Co. Deeds, G, p. 393.)

Nov. 11, 1725, a highway was laid out within White Plains Purchase, which passed Isaac Covert's house. Probably this road was what has been known as West St. It seems, by the language of the lay-out, to have extended southerly (from the old road leading from White Plains to East Chester) to Mamaroneck River, running toward Rye Neck. (Old Highway Book, p. 14.)

April 5, 1726, Isaac Covert was chosen a surveyor for the White Plains Purchase. (Rye Town Rec., "1738-1838," p. 40.)

Land of Isaac Covert was mentioned as a bound in deeds of White Plains lands, in 1729, 1733 and 1735. (Rye Deeds, D, p. 298 and C, p. 262, 155.) Into whose hands these lands passed, later on, has not been discovered. Unfortunately, Isaac Covert left no will; and no administration or division of his estate is indexed of record. A great many old deeds were never recorded; and many estates of intestates were settled privately by the heirs. Nothing further of Isaac has been seen of public record.

COLONIAL MUSTER ROLL.

CONTRIBUTED BY CATHERINE A. VERPLANCK.

A recent examination of the family papers of my father, the late Mr. Philip Verplanck of Yonkers, N. Y., has disclosed five original Muster Rolls of the Companies in the Upper Battalion of Westchester County, N. Y., Militia. The first is endorsed:

"Cap^t Jacob Tellers The 3^d Company in the Upper Battalion 1760 No 3"

The document is well preserved and the handwriting exceptionally good; it reads as follows:

"A Roll of His Majestyes Third Company of Meletia in North Batalion in the County of Westchester whereof William Willet Esq. is Colonel James Verplanck Leitu^t. Colonel, and Pierre Van Cortland Major."

HENRY ROWLEY AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

BY HOMER W. BRAINARD, HARTFORD, CONN.

24. MATTHEW⁴ ROWLEY (Nathan,³ Moses,² Henry¹), b. Nov. 10, 1720, in Falmouth; d. there May 31, 1801, aged 80 years; m. Feb. 27, 1745-6, Christian Weeks of Falmouth, b. ———; d. March 15, 1808, aged 92 years; the church record says aged 91 years. Matthew Rowley was a carpenter; lived at Woods Hole, on the Great Neck. Was grand jurymen in 1767, surveyor of highways in 1758, 1761, 1772.

Child:

- i. Mary,⁵ living unm. 1804; member of Falmouth church.

Perhaps others.

25. MOSES⁶ ROWLEY (Moses,⁴ Moses,³ Moses,² Henry¹), b. Sept. 5, 1713, in East Haddam; d. after 1773, probably in Richmond, Mass.; m. about 1735-6, Mary ———. "Mary, wife of Moses Rowley, Jr., admitted to church in East Haddam, Sept. 5, 1736," and she united with the church at Kent, Conn., on May 6, 1744. This Moses Rowley is found in many towns. Deeds in the several places show that he resided until 1739 in Middletown, Conn.; from 1739 to 1743 in Sharon, Conn.; from 1743 to 1745 in Kent; from 1746 to 1748 in the Oblong, N. Y.; and from 1748 to 1772 in Kent, and after 1773 in Richmond, Mass. In Kent he lived on a tract of land west of Housatonic river, which is described as being in "Scatacook," a part of Alger's grant. He also bought large tracts of Jabez Castle, and Robert Watson, and appears to have been an enterprising man. His dwelling was near Macedonia Brook in Kent, and near the line between Connecticut and New York.

THE BARNES FAMILY OF EASTHAMPTON, L. I.

BY RICHARD WYNKOOP.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. WILLIAM¹ BARNES (supposed son of Charles and Mary), d. Dec. 1, 1699. Elizabeth —, his wife, d. Feb. 28, 1724, "aged near eighty." * Several tracts of land at Easthampton were allotted to him, July 5, 1653. He entered earmarks for his cattle, at a date not clearly indicated.† The Town Meeting at Southampton, Nov. 13, 1672, granted unto William Barnes, that John Rose should have ten acres of land at Sagabonack, adjoining the house lot of William Barnes, instead of the land which Rose was to have taken up at the Mill Stone Brook. On April 2, 1681—and, it seems, in pursuance of the foregoing—John Lupton received land from John Rose, upon the account of William Barnes.‡

At Easthampton, April 4, 1699, a highway is mentioned as "flanking to the westward side of William Barnes' lot." On April 16, 1706, land was assigned to William Barnes and his brothers, except Thomas. (These were children of William and Elizabeth.) On May 7, 1708, land was drawn by the widow of William Barnes. (This was Elizabeth, for Mary, the wife of the son William, was then dead.) On April 4, 1710, there was a vote in town meeting, and action thereupon, May 13, 1710, by which land was allotted to the heirs of William Barnes. About the same time, in an account of each man's right of commonage, the heirs of William Barnes, deceased, were credited with 4 acres, 2 roods; and the heirs of William Barnes drew a triangle of $4\frac{3}{4}$ acres, 18 poles.§ Then three items occur, as to which it is doubtful, to which William they refer: On April 6, 1736, at town meeting, the heirs of William Barnes got $45\frac{1}{2}$ acres; on Feb. 6, 1740, they got $22\frac{1}{2}$ acres; and, on the same date, by a vote of the proprietors, they got $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres.||

Of the children of William and Elizabeth, Thomas is distinctly named the "eldest son." The order of their birth has not been ascertained, and they will be given here as they are given by Hedges and by Howell, except that Matthew is put before Isaac, because, in several conveyances, in which their names appear jointly, Matthew's name precedes Isaac's, which suggests that Matthew was the elder of the two. Elizabeth, the daughter, mentioned by Hedges and by Howell, is not identified; but there was a Hannah, who seems to belong among these children.

Children:

- 2 Thomas,² m. (1) before March 3, 1692, the widow of Thomas Bee. She d. Jan. 26, 1701. He m. (2) March 18, 1702, Mindwell Dibble.
- 3 Benjamin, known as "Deacon," b. about 1671; d. July 23, 1740; sup. m. Abigail —. He had a child bap. at Branford, Conn., in Aug. 1701. (It is not certain that he was child of William and Elizabeth.)
- 4 Stephen, m. Mary Barnes, dau. of — and Hannah (Linsley) Barnes; removed to Branford between April 6, 1701, and Dec. 13, 1702.
- 5 Matthew, d. Feb. 6, 1703; m. Sept. 16, 1702, Elizabeth Leeds or Leek.
- 6 Isaac, d. Aug. 20, 1769; m. April 19, 1704, Anna Rogers.

- 12 Elizabeth, mentioned by Hedges and by Howell, but not identified otherwise.
- 13 (Sup.) Hannah, d. Feb. 13, 1742, "aged between 60 and 70 years;"* (b. 1672-1682). She may have been the dau. of Joshua and Prudence.

SECOND GENERATION.

2. THOMAS² BARNES (William,¹ sup. Charles), "eldest son; † d. after April 3, 1716, perhaps after Sept. 7, 1717; † m. (1) before March 3, 1692, the widow of Thomas Bee. § She d. Jan. 26, 1700, ¶ and he m. (2) March 18, 1702, Mindwell Dibble. No trace has been found of any child of his first wife. He may have lived elsewhere than at Easthampton during the period of his first wife, and that may have occasioned Mr. Howell to note him as "removed." †† The first mention of Thomas found, was on March 3, 1692, under which date he conveyed land to Jacob Skellinger, reciting himself as possessed of it, by reason of his marriage with the widow of Thomas Bee. On May 13, 1697, he entered earmark for his cattle. On Sept. 25, 1701, describing himself as of Easthampton, weaver, he conveyed land to Isaac Barnes, weaver, reciting, as to part of it, that it had been laid out to William Barnes, deceased. On March 12, 1703, he conveyed to Matthew Barnes and Isaac Barnes, part of the land at Montauk, that had belonged to William Barnes, deceased. On March 26, 1705, he conveyed to John Davis, land, bounded on the westward by land of Nathaniel Barnes. On July 25, 1705, he conveyed to Isaac Barnes, land, bounded westwardly by land of William Barnes, and eastwardly by land of Recompence Barnes. On June 2, 1709, as "eldest son and heir apparent," he confirmed a sale of land by Recompence Barnes. On April 3, 1716, it was agreed at town meeting on his request, that he should take eight acres of land in Indian Well Plain, on condition that he lay down so much land in Acabonick Neck, at a place called the Flaggy Hole, for the use of the proprietors.*

Children of Thomas (all by his second wife):

- 14 Abel,³ bap. Nov. 22, 1702, at East Hampton.† On that date the mother, Mindwell, "owned the covenant."‡ This was according to a practice then prevailing, of accepting intellectual assent in order to secure the baptism for child, in place of confession of faith.§ It savored of the old superstition of baptismal regeneration.
- 15 Abigail, bap, Jan. 30, 1704.† She was probably the one who m. Joseph Chandler. Sept. 19, 1726.¶
- 16 Johanna, bap. Nov. 4, 1705;† m. Dec. 25, 1730, at Branford, Conn., Deliverance Burnell. She was then described as of Easthampton.
- 17 Mindwell, bap. Feb. 22, 1708;† d. Jan. 6, 1726, "aged about 16, while living with John Hedges."¶
- 18 Lemuel, bap. Aug. 23, 1713.† He d. at Guilford, Conn., Sept. 9, 1797; and his own widow, Elizabeth —, Nov., 1798, in her 80th year.
- 19 Mary, bap. Sept. 7, 1717.†

3. BENJAMIN² BARNES (sup. William,¹ sup. Charles), known as "Deacon," b. about 1671; d. at Branford, Conn., July 23, 1740, in his 69th year. His wife's name is given as Abigail —, but on what authority is not apparent, except it be that Abigail Barnes was recorded as a church member in the year 1700, and Benjamin Barnes in 1701.†† Benjamin's name has not been found in the annals of Easthampton. Howell mentions him as a son of William and Elizabeth, and as removing to Branford about the year 1700.‡‡ Branford had been settled by a group of persons from Wethersfield in 1644; and the Rev. Arthur Pierson from Southampton, with a part of his congregation, joined them, and he became their pastor.§§ (Joseph Pierson in 1675, m. Amy Barnes, sup. dau. of Charles.) In proceedings relating to the probate of Benjamin's will, his children, under date of Aug. 31, 1740, were named as follows. Daniel, "eldest son;" Nathaniel;

He had removed to Branford between April 6, 1701, and Dec. 13, 1702. Stephen entered an earmark for his cattle at Easthampton, May 26, 1696.† He owned the covenant at that place, March 31, 1700,‡ and had then a child bap. there, and another, April 6, 1701, and the next child was bap. at Branford, Dec. 13, 1702. He "owned the covenant," Aug. 15, 1703.‡‡ His name is placed herein before that of Isaac, because his name precedes in several conveyances in which both are mentioned, which suggests that he was the elder of the two. On March 18, 1695, Matthew Barnes entered earmark for his cattle. On May 3, 1702, Matthew Barnes, Isaac Barnes, and Samuel Barnes, received 10 acres of land near Amagansett; also two pieces of meadow at Napeage, from Robert

Parsons in exchange for land in the Northeast Plain. On March 12, 1703, Matthew Barnes and Isaac Barnes received conveyance from Thomas Barnes, of 1-6 part of the whole share throughout Montauk, which formerly belonged to William Barnes, deceased.* Child:

25 Matthew,³ bap. Aug. 15, 1703.† He has not been traced further.

6. ISAAC² BARNES (William,¹ sup. Charles), b. about 1675;† d. Aug. 20, 1769;§ m. April 19, 1704, Anna Rogers, dau. of Noah and Elisabeth (Taintor) Rogers). He is mentioned by Pelletreau as a native of Southampton, and as descended from Charles Barnes, the first schoolmaster in that town.¶ On March 18, 1694, Isaac Barnes entered earmark for his cattle at Easthampton. On Sept. 25, 1701, a conveyance was made to him as of Easthampton, weaver, by Thomas Barnes. On May 13, 1702, a conveyance of land was made by Robert Parsons to Matthew Barnes, Isaac Barnes, and Samuel Barnes in exchange for other land. On March 12, 1703, a conveyance was made by Thomas Barnes to Matthew Barnes and Isaac Barnes, of land that had belonged to William Barnes, deceased. (As Isaac's name follows Matthew's in the two deeds named last, he was the younger, probably.) On April 13, 1704, Isaac Barnes, husbandman, received a conveyance of land from Samuel Barnes. On March 30, 1705, Isaac Barnes, brickmaker, received a conveyance of land from Jacob Schillinx. (As Isaac Barnes, 6, was described before and afterwards, as a weaver, he must have engaged in husbandry and brickmaking also, unless there was another Isaac Barnes. His own son Isaac was b. about 1705.) On July 25, 1705, Isaac Barnes, weaver, received a conveyance of land from Thomas Barnes. On June 2, 1709, Isaac Barnes, weaver, received a conveyance of land from Recompence Barnes. On March 17, 1710, Isaac Barnes, weaver, received a conveyance of land from Samuel Barnes.

Subsequent to the above, it is difficult in the town records to distinguish Isaac, Senior, from Isaac, Junior, and the items will be cited under Isaac, Junior. Children:

SOME DE GROVE POSTERITY.

CONTRIBUTED BY HOPPER STRIKER MOTT.

It appears from the Report of the Commissioners of the Land Office of the State of New York, dated April 1, 1835, found among some family papers, that Edward W. DeGrove petitioned them, in pursuance of the 23d Section of "An Act concerning Escheats" passed April 29, 1833, for a release of No. 33 Wall St., which had escheated to the people of the State for lack of an heir-at-law capable of inheriting the estate (of which this realty was part) of his cousin Rachel Anderson, who married Capt. Thomas White and lived only a brief space thereafter. "White," says Valentine's Manual, 1860, p. 543, was "a wealthy Englishman then (1762) lately become a resident of this City." He bought that year the corner of Broadway and Ann St., the quondam site of Barnum's Museum and later of the Herald Building. With his second wife Ann, he joined in selling the corner plot of this purchase to Andrew Hopper, April 20, 1773 (L. 40, 359) and Aug. 10, 1784, Ann, the widow, conveyed to the same grantee (L. 42, 167) land adjoining "on the southerly side of a certain Street lately laid out and intended to be opened by the said Ann White leading from the Commons to Nassau St., and intended to be called and known by the name of White St." Various have been the surmises made to account for the origin of the name of Ann St. Let us hazard the assertion that as Ann opened it, very naturally it assumed her name after her husband's death.

Peter DeGrove and Rebecca his wife, conveyed the property No. 33 Wall St., in 1746, to their son-in-law John Anderson for £180, so says the petition (deed not of record) and the latter's daughter Rachel, who became the wife of Capt. White, inherited it. In 1779 Capt. Thomas White was attainted of adhering to the enemies of this State and his estate escheated to the people. (1 Greenleaf, 26; Laws of 1779, Chap. XXV, Sec. 1.) Although he had no interest in this property the Commissioners of Forfeitures, supposing him to be the owner, declared it forfeited. Sale thereof was stayed by the Act of May 1, 1786, "until further order of this Legislature." (1 Greenleaf 276, Laws 1786, Chap. LVIII, Sec. 24.) In the Second Report of the Bureau of Archives for the Province of Ontario, Cameron, printer, Toronto, 1905, it is stated that Capt. White testified before the British Commissioners, Col. Thomas Dundas and Mr. Jeremy Pemberton, that this Wall Street house and lot "would have sold before the war for 1100 pounds currency." It appears from this book that Mrs. White succeeded in recovering some property that stood in her name.

In furtherance of DeGrove's application to the Land Office a chart of the respective heirs was drawn up. Endorsed thereon is this title: "A list of all the Heirs of the Property of No. 33 Wall St., liable to pay their Quota of the Expenses of the Law-suit for the obtaining the said Property." No date is disclosed but the chart would seem to be coexistent with the petition. The drawing represents the dwelling as occupied by the Whites. Ann White, the second wife and widow, continued in possession until her death in 1826, and her executors two years later conveyed the premises to the Fulton Fire Insurance Co. for $21,050 in which conveyance her children and grandchildren joined. The Great Fire of 1835 rendered this company insolvent and its Receivers, by virtue of an Act of the Legislature passed Jan. 18, 1836, sold it to the Merchants' Exchange Co. for $40,100. (L. 359, p. 293.)

Benjamin Coles wrote from Savannah, May 18, 1843, to Joseph D. Stewart, "oil merchant, Hudson St. near Broome, N. Y.," the husband of his daughter Amanda, detailing the evidence which had been submitted to the Court and stating that "Mrs. Winifred Mott had in possession some time since a very elegant sampler worked by Aunt Anderson (sister of my grandmother Albertson), or her daughter Mrs. White, which sampler was made a present to Mrs. W. Mott's mother or grandmother. Mr. Bronson, who first commenced the suit for the State, stated, I think, that any articles given by the original owners to the heirs, if identified in Court, would have considerable weight as collateral evidence in favor of Plaintiff's claims."

This sampler now in possession of the writer is $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $11\frac{1}{2}$ inches in size, is fashioned in colors and besides the usual letters and figures contains these lines:

THIS x WORK x IN x HANDS x MY x FRINDS x MA

There seems to be some confusion as to Rebecca Albertson and accordingly it is apt to enter here Mr. Cocks's comments on the situation. Under date of April 12, 1906, he writes: "I find after an exhaustive review of the N. Y. Dutch Church Records of baptisms and marriages that "chart" is in error in giving the parentage of Rebecca De Grove, wife of Derick Albertson as daughter of Peter de Grove and Rebecca. My opinion in this matter is confirmed by the contribution of Mr. Ver Planck entitled The van Borsum Family. Rebecca, bap. Feb. 17, 1706, was dau. of Adolphus de Groof or de Grove, bap. Oct. 25, 1679. He was a mariner; lived during the latter part of his life in Island of Jamaica and died there circa 1737. He married May 22, 1703, Rachel, dau. of Franz and Rebecca (Ennis) Goederus who was bap. (not shown on record), m. Dutch Church Rec. Adolphus was son of Pieter Adolfsen Van der Groeft, bap. Dutch Church, July 8, 1657, whose marriage is given in same Church Rec., Dec. 16, 1678, to Jannetje Van Borsum, bap. Nov. 23, 1653. She was dau. of Egbert and Annetje (Hendricks) Van Borsum, whose was the first recorded marriage on the Dutch Church Book. Pieter is mentioned in the Baptismal Record as being the son of Adolf Pietersen Van der Groeft and Aefje Dircks. This seems to be a regular succession of Pieters and Adolphs. One of the line known as Pieter Adolph seems to have been either living here or doing business with Musketa Cove men."

Against Mr. Cocks's contention and in the favor of the chart, it should be added that the latter was prepared to support the de Grove claims in an action at law. It is not likely that an error would be made at so vital a point as the descent of an heir from whom the property would descend.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

Easterly part of cemetery at Rahway, N. J., on St. George Avenue, formerly the cemetery of the old Presbyterian Church. Copied from stones standing in 1903.

BY GEORGE W. THOMAS, CRANFORD, N. J.

NOTES.—The tombstones are crumbling away and letters are defacing. In many cases all the history of the dead that can now be known is that conveyed by these inscriptions. Early records were destroyed by fire during the Revolution, Church was burned, and early Elizabeth town, N. J. records are lost.

Where (verse) appears it indicates that the tombstone had one or more verses inscribed on it. (S. A. R. Monument) indicates that the Sons of the American Revolution have placed one of their iron monuments at the grave.

EDITORIAL.

THE importance of genealogical and biographical study cannot easily be exaggerated, and it is something which should be impressed upon the people of this generation—to whom has been given this new and salutary means of improvement. For, contrary to misconception on the part of some, such study is an antidote both to pride and presumption, as well as to the prevalent undue estimation of material possessions. A little genealogy, like littleness in other matters, may be a dangerous thing, but a proper knowledge of it is conducive to the broadening and deepening of the elemental virtues of humanity. No one can thoroughly study even his own ancestry simply without becoming more humble as regards himself, more reverential to his elders, more democratic concerning his fellow-man, and more patriotic towards his country. It is natural for us to welcome anything which is said upon this subject. We are pleased, therefore, to publish the following from a communication received from one of our members:

In Genealogy and Biography we have the beginning of a living science, vital to the profoundest philosophy and forming the material out of which is acquired a true history of fatherland, of childhood and age, all of which appeals strongly to every fostering energy which has been at work in the past and which should exert an ever widening influence in the present.

As against individualism or commercialism we can place traditionalism and an honest faith in the virtues of the dead, and a willingness to be taught by their example, which cannot but guide well our lives and our efforts for the real betterment of mankind. The knowledge that one is well-fathered and has worthy forbears aids the citizen to stand hard knocks in life's battle. Good courage goes with good blood, and with this should also go a spirit of altruism rather than selfishness, and a desire to make our city a better place to live in. If I neglect to use my talents and these civic and historic studies for improving the conditions of a corrupt environment, be it in the slums or in political councils, then am I responsible in part for whatever increase of crime and poverty may come upon us. As the years go on we are glad to remember that the RECORD has always aimed to expound intelligently all those basic elements of genealogy and biography which tend toward love of kindred, and that mutual social interdependence by which civilization is advanced and society purified; and we believe with Goethe that "Happy is the man who recalls his ancestors with pride, who treasures the story of their greatness, tells the tale of their heroic lives, and with joy too full for speech realizes that fate has linked him with a race of goodly men."

President Dwight in the Chair.

Present: Messrs. Totten, Morrison, Drowne, Dwight, Wilson and Wright. Regrets received from B. W. Pierson and James Stokes.

Announcement was made that Edmund Abdy Hurry had declined his election as a member of the Committee on Heraldry and that Mr. Hopper Striker Mott has been appointed by the President in his place.

The resignation of Mr. William Bunker as a member of the Executive Committee was read, and on motion of Dr. Dwight, Mr. William Isaac Walker was elected in his place.

On motion the Committee on Research was carried over as it stood last year.

Capt. Totton, as Chairman of the Executive Committee, gave a report in detail as to RECORD subscriptions, dues and fees, sale of Society's publications, room and hall rents, etc., which showed a very satisfactory and encouraging condition.

Mr. Morrison reported that he had received the certificate from the State authorities authorizing the proposed increase in the number of Trustees.

The Librarian reported accessions of 326 books, as compared with 207 received for a like period in 1905, also that there had been 429 visitors as compared with 370 during the previous year.

There was a discussion with regard to the number to constitute a quorum of the Board of Trustees under the new constitution, and it was agreed that it should be five (5) members as under the old constitution.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE SOCIETY, APRIL 6TH, 1906.

The death of Mr. Isaac Townsend Smith was announced, he having died March 30th, 1906, aged 93 years and 18 days.

The Executive Committee reported that the following persons had been elected members of the Society: Robert Goelet, Annual Member, 9 West 17th Street, City, proposed by John R. Totten; Charles Clinton Marshall, Annual Member, Milestone, Millbrook, N. Y., proposed by Mrs. F. E. Youngs.

The chair announced that at the May meeting of the Society, Mr. Hopper Striker Mott would lecture on the Bloomingdale District of New York, illustrated with stereopticon views.

The Chair then introduced the speaker of the evening, Judge T. Astley Atkins, who, after paying a tribute to his friend Isaac Townsend Smith, delivered an address entitled: "State of Indian and Dutch Society on the Hudson River prior to Massacre of 1655." Mr. Atkins spoke of the treatment of the Indians by the Dutch, their greed and sharp practice. The confidence of the natives and their treatment by Hudson. The change of names, and the survival and transposition of the Dutch ones, spelling and changes. How the Dutch robbed the Indians of their land, sold them intoxicating liquors, refused to pay them for their work, made ridiculous bargains for deeds of valuable tracts of land, even the payments thereof were seldom forthcoming. The Indians were peacefully disposed and regarded the whites as a superior race, but finally their continued outrageous treatment caused the Indians to retaliate and to regard the whites with contempt. Frequent incursions and massacres occurred, and after a time the Dutch slaughtered the Indians in large numbers, their cruelties being of the most outrageous description.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, APRIL 9TH, 1906.

President Dwight in the Chair.

Present: Messrs. Pierson, Totten, Dwight, Wilson and Drowne, and by invitation Mr. Tobias A. Wright and Mr. William Isaac Walker.

On motion it was moved that Mr. Huntington be advised that the Board of Trustees desire to express their full appreciation and thanks for his generous offer of a lot on 155th Street and Broadway, for a new Society Building, but are not in a position to decide immediately on so important a matter, and ask if he will kindly extend them the privilege of giving a positive answer until Oct. 1st.

Capt. Totten moved that a committee be appointed to endeavor to raise a building fund of $70,000 for the Society, with no decision as to site, and that the President of the Society be appointed Chairman thereof, with no restriction as to numbers.

Moved and carried that the Quorum of the Board under the new Constitution remain at five as under the old.

Moved and unanimously carried that Mr. Archer M. Huntington be nominated as an Honorary Member.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, APRIL 9TH, 1906.

On call of the President, and after due notice by the Secretary, the Board of Trustees were again called together at 10 P. M.

The nomination of Archer M. Huntington, as an Honorary Member, proposed at the last meeting, was then brought up for action and on motion he was unanimously elected.

OBITUARY.

HOLDEN, EDWIN BABCOCK, a life member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, died June 8, 1906, at his residence, 323 Riverside Drive, in New York City, aged 43 years. He was the eldest son of Edwin R. and Emeline T. Holden, and was a member of the well-known firm of Horre & Co., coal dealers, of No. 1 Broadway.

Mr. Holden was a noted collector of historical books, prints and autographs relating to the United States as well as of historical and graphic material pertaining to the City of New York, and his collection of American portraiture was extensive. He was a diligent worker in the Grolier Club, and at the time of his death was gathering data for additions and corrections of that Society's publication of Washington portraiture. He was also a working member of the Society of Iconophiles, the object of which is the preservation by engraving of the historic and interesting features of the streets and buildings of New York City. Besides these, he was a member of several clubs and societies, including the Century, Players and Suburban Riding and Driving clubs, the New York Historical, New York Genealogical and Biographical, and Zoological societies. He was also a director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and an alumnus of Columbia University.

SMITH, ISAAC TOWNSEND, a life member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, died of pneumonia at his residence, 14 East Sixtieth St., New York, March 30, 1906, at the great age of ninety-three years. He was born March 12, 1813, in Boston, Mass., and was the son of Ebenezer Smith, a well-known Boston merchant. He married Elizabeth Palmer Putnam, daughter of Judge Henry Putnam of Brunswick, Maine, by his wife Catherine Palmer, daughter of General Joseph Palmer, president of the first Revolutionary Congress at Boston.

A sketch of the life and eminent services of Mr. Isaac Townsend Smith will be found in the beginning of this number of the RECORD.

NOTES.

MR. EDITOR:—In looking over the April number of your RECORD, for 1905, p. 140; I find a note in regard to Jan Evertse Keteltas. This note speaks of his being twice married. I think this is an error. In your RECORD, Oct., 1875, p. 184, under the date, 7 July, 1669, Jan Evertsz. j. m., van Lansmeer in N. Holland, marries Aeltje Schepmoes, j. d., van N. Jork. In your RECORD, Oct., 1876, p. 161: Jan Evertsz. Keteltas and Aeltje Jans have a son Johannes baptized. The witnesses are Mr. Evert Keteltas and Sara Schepmoes.

Aeltje Schepmoes was the daughter of Jan Schepmoes and his wife Sara Pieters. Hence she is often called Aeltje Jans as the Dutch custom was. I can find no record of Jan Evertse Keteltas having married any one but Aeltje Schepmous.

Very truly yours,

MARIA DUANE BLEECKER COX.

The following translated records are from the N. Y. Dutch Church Marriages, and tend to confirm Mrs. Cox's opinion:

"Married 7 July, 1669, Jan Evertsz, young man, of Lansmeer in N. Holl^d, and Aeltje Schepmoes, young woman, of N. York." P. 33, N. Y. Dutch Ch. Mar.

"Married July 13, 1687, Johannes Van Giesen, young man, of Utrecht, and Aeltje Schepmoes, widow of Jan Evertsz Keteltas, the former living at Bergen, the latter here." P. 62, N. Y. Dutch Ch. Mar.

That the children of Jan Evertsze Keteltas, according to note at end of Mr. Botsford's contribution to the April, 1905, RECORD, were all born between 1670 and 1683, and Aeltje Schepmoes, his widow, married again in 1687, is reasonable evidence that she was the mother of all of his children, although Mr. Botsford's note says the last two were by second wife.—[EDITOR.]

MCPIKE FAMILY.—A clue has at last been found which may lead to the discovery of sufficient documentary evidence to establish the connection between the Pike or McPike and the Halley families in London, as described in the RECORD, Vol. XXXIV, p. 52. For particulars, see Notes and Queries, London, tenth series, V., 265-266, quoting a deed, 21st April, 1694, to Edmund Halley and Richard Pyke.

BOOK NOTICES.

LYON MEMORIAL. Massachusetts Families, including Descendants of the Immigrants William Lyon of Roxbury, Peter Lyon of Dorchester, George Lyon of Dorchester, with introduction treating of the English ancestry of the American families. Editors, A. B. Lyon(s), M.D., of Detroit, Mich., G. W. A. Lyon, M.D., of Philadelphia, Pa. Associate Editor, Eugene F. McPike, of Chicago, Ill. Detroit. Press of Wm. Graham Printing Co. 1905. Sq. O., cloth, pp. 491.

In the preface the editors say that they "have aimed to lay a secure foundation on which others may build," and it appears to have been very thoroughly done. As in many genealogical enterprises, so much more material was obtained than the compilers looked for, that they have been compelled to publish two volumes instead of one. The second will contain the closely related families that settled first in Fairfield County, Conn., those namely, of Richard, Thomas and Henry Lyon. Each volume is complete in itself. The present book is copiously illustrated, has military lists and lists of alumni, and notes on English Lyons. The index is good, and has a plan for identification of the individual with his line of descent. A note on the first page of the index says: "Names of children who died in infancy or adolescence are not to be looked for in the index."

ECCLESIASTICAL RECORDS, STATE OF NEW YORK. Published by the State, under the supervision of Hugh Hastings, State Historian. Vols. V, VI. Albany. J. B. Lyon Company, Printers. 1905. 8vo, cloth.

The period covered by these volumes is from January, 1751, to August, 1810. Most of the contents is concerned with the difficulties, external and internal, of the various religious bodies, but there are tables in the back of Volume VI, containing names of Dutch and French ministers in the Middle Colonies between 1628-1700, names of the Reformed churches, and matriculations in the Universities of Groningen, Leyden and Utrecht.

TAYER (THAYER) FAMILY ENTRIES IN THE PARISH REGISTER OF THORNBURY, GLOUCESTERSHIRE, ENGLAND. By Walter Faxon and Edward Henry Whorf, with Introduction and Notes by Henry Ernest Woods, A. M. Reprinted from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for July, 1906. 8 vo, pamphlet, pp. 11.

Thomas and Richard Tayer, from Thornbury, Gloucestershire, England, settled at Baintree, Mass., 1639-1641. This pamphlet contains the sacramental records of St. Mary's Church, Thornbury, relating to the family, from 1557-8 to 1644, and abstracts of wills from 1600 to 1683, preceded by a well-referenced account of the surname.

HISTORY OF ST. STEPHEN'S PARISH IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK, 1805-1905. J. Newton Perkins. New York. Edwin S. Gorham. 1906. 8vo, cloth, pp. 184.

St. Stephen's was organized in 1805, at which time the city of New York was bounded on the north by Anthony Street, on the east by Chatam Street, and along the west water front of Manhattan Island to Harrison Street. "Country residences of its citizens occupied the banks of the Hudeon, and of the East River, above Grand Street." At this time there were but eight clergymen, four parishes and six (Episcopal) church edifices in the city. Therefore this very readable parish history, abounding in reminiscences and well illustrated, will be found of especial interest. The appendices contain lists of clergymen, wardens and vestrymen, and diocesan delegates as well as others connected with the parish life.

A VOLUME OF RECORDS RELATING TO THE EARLY HISTORY OF BOSTON, CONTAINING BOSTON TOWN RECORDS, 1796 TO 1813. Thirty-fifth Report. Boston Records. Boston. Municipal Printing Office. 1905. 8vo. cloth, pp. 377.

This is the ninth book of Boston town records, and covers a period of many changes, including that of the War of 1812, so unpopular in Boston. An interesting feature is a letter from S. Parkman Blake to City Clerk McCleary, in 1877, establishing the authenticity of the Stuart portrait of Washington in Faneuil Hall.

BENTLEY GLEANINGS. Compiled and published by (Mrs.) Julia Harrison Lobdell, 6212 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago. Also Family of John Witherstine, William Witherstine. Chicago. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 128.

The editor began this work intending to trace certain Revolutionary ancestors, from which effort the present compilation has grown. Correspondence, excerpts from church records and printed books, and similar notes compose the work, which will no doubt be serviceable to a future historian of the Bentleys who may undertake a more elaborate genealogy.

A GENEALOGY OF THE SOUTHWORTHS (SOUTHARDS), DESCENDANTS OF CONSTANT SOUTHWORTH, WITH A SKETCH OF THE FAMILY IN ENGLAND. Samuel G. Webber, A.B., M.D. (Harvard). Boston. The Fort Hill Press. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 487.

An excellent genealogy, in plan, scope and finish, will be found here. Contrary to most cases, the American progenitor of the Southworths was a man of great importance in the colony in which he sat down, and he was a gentleman of long descent. Constant Southworth's brother, Capt. Thomas, was also distinguished, but died leaving only one child, a daughter who married Joseph Howland. The English pedigree has been thoroughly dealt with, and there seems to be a very strong probability that they were of the Samlesbury family. In the appendixes unconnected lines are given, being those of John Southard of Boothbay, Me., and Isaac Southworth of Sharon, Ct. The indexes of persons and places are full and sensible, except that Chapter V, containing the English ancestry, is not indexed. There is a chart of the English pedigree. With the exception of a few good pictures of the places in England connected with the family, there are no illustrations. The book is very satisfactory.

THOMAS FERRIER AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS. Elizabeth Ferrier Lane. Elkhorn, Wis. The Independent. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 56.

Thomas Ferrier, according to tradition, was born in 1705, and came from Ireland, of which it is believed he was a native, although of French Protestant parents, and settled in Orange or Ulster County, New York. His descendants are not numerous, but are well represented in this pamphlet. As far as possible the compiler has included the ancestry of those marrying into the Ferrier stock, and a table of the ancestors of Hiram W. Lane is included. There is a good index.

DOCUMENTS RELATING TO THE COLONIAL HISTORY OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY. Edited by William Nelson. Volume XXV. Extracts from American Newspapers relating to New Jersey, Vol. VI, 1766-1767. Paterson. The Call Printing and Publishing Co. 1903. 8vo, cloth, pp. xii+568.

In this series, aside from the very entertaining reading afforded by the quaint language of our forefathers, much sober information in the way of vendues, inventories, executors' advertisements, and the like genealogical material may be found. The class of 1766 of the College of New Jersey is given, with short biographical sketches in footnotes. At this period a gentleman came from London to claim Elizabeth-Town as part of his estate. Descriptions of costumes and manners are numerous, and are welcome informal illustrations of pre-Revolutionary days.

THE MAGAZINE OF HISTORY WITH NOTES AND QUERIES. March, April, 1906. New York. William Abbatt.

The March number contains Canby's Campaign in New Mexico, 1861, by Col. Latham Anderson; Letters from Virginia, 1774-1781, A. Francis Stewart, communicated by Gen. James Grant Wilson; Veterans of the Mexican War; the Washington Church in England, and other interesting matter. In the April number is an important article by Edward Hagaman Hall on the Palisades of the Hudson; there are also papers on Re-marking Western Trails; Recollections of a Peculiar Service, by Lieut. George Ashmun; the Hudson and Jamestown Celebrations, and Lincoln's First Visit to Washington. The periodical is fulfilling its early promise and, it is hoped, is a permanent institution.

DATA CONCERNING THE FAMILIES OF BANCROFT, BRADSTREET, BROWNE, DUDLEY, EMERSON, GAMBLE, GOODRIDGE, GOULD, HARTSHORNE, HOBSON, KEMP, KENDALL, METCALF, NICHOLS, PARKER, POOLE, SAWTELL, WAINWRIGHT, WOODMAN, ETC., ETC., IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA, 1277 to 1906, A. D. Compiled from official sources by Thomas Gamble, Jr, Savannah, Ga. Printed for the subscribers. 1906. Quarto, cloth, pp. viii+240.

A good deal of interesting material has been collected and printed in this volume, which is chiefly of a biographical nature. Two genealogical charts accompany the work, and illustrate the compiler's descent from the families treated of in the body of the book. The illustrations are numerous and interesting, authorities for genealogical and other statements are cited, and a good index completes this desirable addition to the modern form of pedigree printing.

ULSTER COUNTY, N. Y., PROBATE RECORDS IN THE OFFICE OF THE SURROGATE, AND IN THE COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE AT KINGSTON, N. Y. A careful abstract and translation of the Dutch and English Wills, Letters of Administration after Intestates, and Inventories from 1665, with Genealogical and Historical Notes, and List of Dutch and Frisian Baptismal Names with their English Equivalents. Gustave Anjou, Ph.D., with introduction by Judge A. T. Clearwater, LL.D. New York. Gustave Anjou. 1906. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, pp. 248, 280.

These abstracts appear to be most thorough and painstaking, and are greatly to be commended for their clear and excellent arrangement. Other volumes of wills in the counties of Dutchess and Queens are forthcoming, as well as volumes of land evidence in all three counties.

VITAL RECORD OF RHODE ISLAND, 1636-1850. First Series. Vol. XV. James N. Arnold. Quarto, cloth, pp. 577.

This volume contains marriages from the Providence Gazette, letters D to Z, and deaths from the United States Chronicle, from A to Z. The records of each are preceded by a brief account of the history of the newspaper represented. It should be understood that these marriages and deaths are in many cases those of people outside of Rhode Island, and their general interest thus becomes apparent.

A BRANCH OF THE CALDWELL FAMILY TREE. Being a Record of Thompson Baxter Caldwell and his wife, Mary Ann (Ames) Caldwell, of West

Bridgewater, Mass., their ancestors and descendants. Charles T. Caldwell, M.D. Washington. (Privately Printed.) 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 18.

This is the branch whose American root is Robert Caldwell of Warwickshire, England, and Providence, R. I. The line of Dr. Caldwell's descent from him is first given, followed by sketches of West Bridgewater, of King Philip's War, the Colonial Wars, and the Civil War, designed to show the position and influence of various ancestors in American history. Next come charts showing all Dr. Caldwell's American ancestry, in which he numbers fifteen "Mayflowers," and sketches of notable members of the family close the brochure.

THE DESCENDANTS OF ADAM MOTT OF HEMPSTEAD, LONG ISLAND, N. Y. A Genealogical Study. Revised Edition. Edw. Doubleday Harris. Lancaster, Pa. The New Era Printing Co. 1906. 8vo., pamphlet, pp. 10.

This edition, besides corrections and additions to the former one, has a page of Mott queries, showing the compiler's wants. Among them are copies of Mott Bible records, and locations of Mott farm burial places, particularly on Long Island.

RISE OF THE UNITED EMPIRE LOYALISTS. Viscount de Fronsac. Kingston, Ont. British Whig Publishing Company, Ltd. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 121.

This work contains "the only account of the Maryland Manors yet unpublished," the Patroonates and Manors of New Netherland and New York, the list and prerogatives of the Landgraves and Caciques of Carolina, the history and proclamation of the kingdom in Virginia and the Legitimists' Declaration of Independence of 1781. A few mistakes are noticeable. Joanna, wife of Frederic Philipse, Jr., was the daughter of Acting-Governor Anthony Brockholst, not Rockholer (see page 40); the Bayards and Coldens were not Dutch (p. 39); and some may be found to disagree with the statement concerning the "Livingston, Morris and de Lancy" families, "the best of whose descendants were royalist émigrés to Canada at the close of the American Revolution in 1783."

MATTHEW THORNTON OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. A PATRIOT OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION. Charles Thornton Adams. Philadelphia. Dando Printing and Publishing Co. 1903. Quarto pamphlet, pp. 61.

In a previous pamphlet Mr. Adams recited the ancestry of Matthew Thornton. The present publication contains his biography, preceded by a portrait from an engraving made for Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet from an old miniature. Matthew Thornton was one of the three signers of the Declaration of Independence who were born in Ireland. The town of Thornton, Grafton County, New Hampshire, was named for him.

THE GENEALOGY OF THE CUSHING FAMILY. An account of the ancestors and descendants of Matthew Cushing, who came to America in 1638. James S. Cushing. Montreal. The Perrault Printing Co. 1905. 12 D, cloth, pp. 598+lxx.

Matthew Cushing of Hingham, Mass., the American progenitor, was of the eighth generation from William Cushing of Hardingham, Norfolk, England, who flourished in the 14th century. It is a pretty well established fact that, with the exception of a few families who have come to this country during the past century, all persons bearing the surname of Cushing in the United States and Canada are his lineal descendants. This numerous progeny comes through the only two sons of Matthew Cushing who left descendants in the male line. Lieut-Governor Thomas Cushing of Massachusetts, Chief-Justice William Cushing of the same State, Hon. Luther Stearns Cushing, author of "Cushing's Manual of Parliamentary Practice," Hon. Caleb Cushing, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to China, negotiator of the Chinese treaty in 1844, General Samuel T. Cushing of the Civil War, and numerous ministers, judges and soldiers show the value of the stock. The book is well arranged and illustrated, has pages bound in for additional records, and the index shows the year of birth, as well as the page.

THE DYER FAMILY, Descendants of Samuel Dyer of Albermarle County, Virginia, from the records of Thomas B. Dyer of St. Louis, Mo. Theodore H. Price. Arranged by Charlotte P. Price. New York. Tobias A. Wright. 1906. Chart.

This beautifully printed chart is arranged on a system not common in pedigrees, the main branches from the second generation having their lines running down instead of across the page. This admits of space for more biographical matter than is usual in charts. The father of Samuel Dyer was John, of Bristol, England. The wife of Samuel Dyer was Celia Bickley, a descendant of Henry Bickley of Chidham, Co. Sussex, England.

PATRIOTIC CALENDER FOR MEMORIAL CONTINENTAL HALL. Orange Mountain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Edith A. Brockett. N. P. 1906. 12 D, pamphlet, pp. 27.

This little work shows a great deal of patient research, and will prove a handy reference book for dates of Revolutionary persons and battles.

A MEMOIR OF DR. JAMES JACKSON, WITH SKETCHES OF HIS FATHER, HON. JONATHAN JACKSON, AND HIS BROTHERS ROBERT, HENRY, CHARLES AND PATRICK TRACY JACKSON, AND SOME ACCOUNT OF THEIR ANCESTRY. James Jackson Putnam, M.D. Cambridge. The Riverside Press. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. xii+456.

The first part of this book is concerned with a biographical account of the Jackson, Tracy and Lowell families. Part two being devoted to the life and character of Dr. James Jackson, called by Oliver Wendell Holmes "a model of the wise and good physician;" gifted with a gentle and kindly sense of humor, many-sided, and with wonderful insight into human nature, Dr. Jackson could not but leave a strong impression upon the place and times in which he lived. He was the first physician in this country to see the value of vaccination; the first occupant of the chair of "Clinical Medicine" in the Harvard Medical School, and he helped to found the Massachusetts General Hospital. The biography is well written and printed, illustrated with portraits from miniatures and silhouettes, and with views, and has a good index.

REGISTER OF MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY OF COLONIAL DAMES OF AMERICA.

In reviewing this work in the April number of the RECORD, the statement was made that the Society has 550 members. These are, however, only its non-Colonial members, there being 244 Massachusetts members. We are asked to make this correction and cheerfully do so, regretting the mistake. It should therefore be understood that there are 794 members in the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames of America.

No. 4.

RUSSELL SAGE.

BY MELATIAH E. DWIGHT.

Hon. Russell Sage, congressman, capitalist and master spirit in the world of finance and industrial enterprise, died July 22, 1906, at his country house, Lawrence Beach, L. I., of exhaustion due to the summer heat and his great age. Had he lived two weeks longer he would have reached the age of ninety years. Two days later his funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian Church of Far Rockaway and his burial was in Oakwood Cemetery, Troy, N. Y.

The Sage family of Connecticut to which Mr. Sage belonged, is descended from David Sage, who, when a lad of thirteen, came with his mother from Wales and settled about 1652 in Middletown, Conn., being one of original settlers of that place. The stone marking his grave is still standing in the Riverside cemetery upon the banks of the Connecticut at the north end of Main Street, Middletown. He was twice married. By his second wife, Mary Willcox, daughter of John Willcox of Middletown, he had a son, Timothy, 1678-1725, who married Margaret Holibert and was the father of Amos Sage, 1722-1759, who married Rebecca Willcox and had a son Elisha, 1755-1801, who married Martha Montague. Their son, Elisha, 1779-1854, married Prudence Risley and was the father of the subject of this sketch. Elisha Sage, Jr., was a man of ability. He had served in the war of 1812 and had become acquainted with the fertile lands at the West. So upon the conclusion of the war he packed his household goods in an ox-cart and started with his family for Michigan. He traversed the central portion of New York and came at length to the little settlement of Shenandoah, in Verona Township, Oneida County, N. Y. Here he stopped for the night, and here, Aug. 4, 1816, his son Russell was born. Before the child's mother was able to travel the father had found that he was in a goodly land and had decided to remain there. He settled in Verona. Two years later he removed to a farm near Durhamville in the same county and there remained until his death in 1854.

Here young Russell Sage lived, attending the district school in winter and working upon the farm the rest of the year, until he was fourteen years of age, when he was sent to his brother, Henry Risley Sage, who had a store in Troy, N. Y., then a straggling village of two thousand inhabitants. The work was hard, but he had his evenings to himself and improved them by diligent study. Realizing that he was lacking in education he attended a night school paying for his tuition nearly half of his small earnings. He also borrowed some books on history and read all the papers which came in his way. His native shrewdness quickly manifested itself. Before he was twenty-one he had paid off the mortgage on his father's farm, was the owner of several city lots and of a sloop which he navigated from Troy to New York. He handled a lot of horses on commission and sailed back with a cargo of provisions. The trip was profitable and upon reaching home he abandoned his clerkship and entered into partnership with his brother, Elisha Montague Sage. In less than two years he was able to buy out his brother. And now, in 1839, at the age of twenty-three, finding himself possessed of two sloops and a good working capital he sold out his store at a profit and entered into the wholesale grocery and commission business with John W. Bates as partner. The firm prospered. In a short time it controlled several branches of trade, not only in Troy, but in Albany. In 1844, Mr. Bates retired with an ample fortune, and henceforth Mr. Sage conducted business alone. He never had another partner. About this time he began to interest himself in railroads. He became one of the directors of the Troy and Schenectady Railroad, and afterward president of the same, and held office when the railroad was united with the general system between Albany, Troy and Buffalo. At that time, 1853, Mr. Sage was elected a director in the consolidated company, the New York Central, and served six years. A little later he became a large owner in the La Crosse Railroad.

In his earlier years Mr. Sage was deeply interested in public affairs and took a prominent part in political matters in the State of New York. When a resident of Troy, in 1845, he was elected to the Board of Aldermen. While holding this office he was also made treasurer of Rensselaer County, the finances of which were in a tangled condition. He speedily straightened them out and held the office for seven years. In 1848 he was a delegate to the National Convention of the Whig Party. He controlled twenty-eight out of the thirty-two New York delegates and took a leading part in the nomination of General Zachary Taylor for the presidency. It was at his suggestion that the convention nominated Millard Fillmore for Vice-President. This selection by Mr. Sage of Fillmore for Vice-President made him President, for General Taylor died while in office and Fillmore succeeded him. The part taken by him in General Taylor's nomination gave him much influence with the President, and when the latter disregarded the nominations for federal office made by Mr. Seward, who was then United States Senator for New York, Mr. Sage was chosen as the best representative of the Seward Whigs to convince the President that his prejudices were unfounded. He visited Washington, saw General Taylor and was entirely successful in his mission. In 1850, Mr. Sage was nominated for Congress by the Troy Whigs, but owing to the defection of a faction of the party opposed to Mr. Seward he was defeated. He was again nominated in 1852 and was elected by a small majority. Two years later he was returned to Congress by the unprecedented majority of seven thousand votes. During his four years in Congress the great talents of Mr. Sage in financial matters found recognition in his appointment as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, the most important committee of the House. He served also on the Invalid's Pension Committee which had charge of the pensions incurred by the Mexican War, and took part in the five weeks' struggle which finally resulted in the election of Nathaniel P. Banks as Speaker. But the incident in his Congressional career which brought him most reputation was the appointment of a committee through his efforts to inquire into the condition of Washington's old estate at Mount Vernon, Va. The committee's report bore fruit in the formation of the Mount Vernon Association, the purchase of the estate and its dedication as a permanent memorial of the Father of his Country.

At the end of his second term, notwithstanding his success in political life, Mr. Sage determined to abandon politics and devote himself exclusively to business. He therefore declined another nomination. The panic of 1857 which ruined so many, while it left him comparatively unscathed, had an important effect upon his business career. He had advanced considerable money in the La Crosse Railroad. To protect his loans he found himself compelled to advance yet larger amounts and finally through legal proceedings to become owner of the road, which ultimately extended into the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system. This opened to him a wider entrance into the transportation business of the country. It would be hard to point to a man who took a greater part in the development of American railroads. During his career he achieved the presidency of no less than twenty railroad corporations. He was connected in an official capacity, at one time or another, with the Iowa Central; Union Pacific; Missouri Pacific; St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern; Wabash, Texas and Pacific; Troy and Bennington; Troy and Boston; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Manhattan Elevated, and other railroads. He was one of the largest stockholders in Manhattan Elevated and took an active part in its management. One of his favorite ideas concerning elevated roads was that they should be double decked so that express trains might run on the upper tracks. Other enterprises in which he had been active are the Pacific Mail Steamship Company; the Mercantile Trust Company; the Importers and Traders National Bank; Western Union Telegraph, International Ocean Telegraph, and American Telegraph and Cable Companies; the Standard Gas Light Company and the Fifth Avenue Bank—of which he was one of the founders and the only one living at the time of his death. These are only a portion of the corporations and enterprises in which he was engaged as an officer or director, and in whose management he played a foremost part.

In 1863 Mr. Sage gave up his Troy business altogether and removed to New York to devote himself wholly to the promotion of his own and other railroads and to operations in stocks. He opened an office in William Street and gave his first attention to Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul securities. Later he extended his interest to other railroads and gradually enlarged his field of operations until it covered nearly the whole range of stocks listed on the Exchange. He was unsurpassed as a judge of values and his success became proverbial. It is said that only once did he sustain any great loss. This was at the time of the failure of Grant and Ward in 1884. He was the originator of the system of the sale of privileges and did a large business in what are known as "puts" and "calls." He said that he started this business to assist brokers of moderate means. But it was as the largest operator in cash loans, that Mr. Sage was generally known. Certainly no other individual did so large a business in lending cash on loans subject to be called for payment at any time. With his millions lent under such circumstances it is easy to perceive that in the event of his death, if all of his loans of this nature should be called in, serious disturbance in the price of securities might follow. It is illustrative of Mr. Sage's character that he took steps to avoid any such disaster. He prepared a special form of contract for all cash loans whereby it was expressly stated that upon the death of the lender the loan should not be called merely for that reason. One of the features of Mr. Sage's financial career was his friendship with Jay Gould. They had come together as promoters of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company which was later merged into the Western Union. Until Mr. Gould's death Mr. Sage counted the day lost in which he did not spend an hour with Mr. Gould at the luncheon prepared for the directors of the Western Union, of which Mr. Sage was one until the time of his death. Their trust in each other was implicit. The fortune of either was ready to help the other out. Mr. Sage was the more astute of the two in the opinion of many.

On Dec. 4, 1891, Mr. Sage, while in his office at 71 Broadway, escaped instant death as by a miracle. An insane crank, Henry W. Norcross of Somerville, Mass., entered the office carrying a bag loaded with dynamite and demanded that the sum of $1,200,000 be given him immediately or he would blow up the building. Mr. Sage saw that he was in the presence of a madman, rose and retreated from him; whereupon the maniac exclaimed: "Well then, here goes," and lifting the bag high in air dashed it violently upon the floor. The explosion which followed blew off the dynamiter's head, killed a clerk, injured others and wrecked the office. Mr. Sage was much shaken and received wounds in front, but was able to return to business in a few days. One of those most injured was William R. Laidlaw who had called upon some brokerage business. Laidlaw brought suit for damages against Mr. Sage, claiming that the latter had seized him by the shoulder and swung him round, using his body as a shield against the force of the explosion. The jury awarded Laidlaw $25,000 damages. Mr. Sage was much criticised for refusing to pay this judgment. But he believed that he had not used Laidlaw as a shield and naturally sought to defend himself against this imputation of his courage. He appealed from the verdict and obtained a new trial, in which the jury failed to agree. At the third trial Joseph H. Choate appeared for the plaintiff and obtained a judgment for $43,000. Again Mr. Sage appealed, and in Jan., 1899, the Court of Appeals reversed the judgment. "There are certain physical facts," so stated the Court in its opinion, "established by the proof and uncontradicted which tend to show that the plaintiff's theory that he was in front of the defendant was impossible. If, as claimed by the plaintiff, the defendant employed his body as a shield, and it was between him and the place of the explosion, it is quite difficult to comprehend how the missiles which were found in the defendant's body in front and near the median line could have reached him."

No one can follow Mr. Sage's career without being convinced that he was a man of remarkable and varied powers. He could have succeeded in almost any field of action that he might have chosen. He could have continued in the political arena and become one of the foremost statesmen of this nation. He chose rather the largest, hardest and most dangerous field of all,—the development of the transportation system of the country. For Mr. Sage, above all else and from first to last, was a promoter and manager of railroads. That he was also a lender of money, particularly in his old age, was merely an incident in his long and useful life. "He was an American and loved his country," said Henry Clews on hearing of his death. He loved his country, believed in it and was ready, therefore, to venture as well as labor in its behalf. He made it his purpose to assure and advance its prosperity. "My aim in life," so he confessed in an interview which was published Dec. 19, 1897, in the New York Herald, "has been to do my share in developing the material resources of the country. I have spent millions on the railroad systems of the United States and am now connected with more than twenty thousand miles of railroad and with twenty-seven different corporations."

It has been said that Mr. Sage "was a man of peculiarities." If this means that he was a man of strong individuality it is measurably true. In several ways he was different from his associates. He loved work for its own sake and found his greatest pleasure in doing it well. This was so marked a trait in his disposition that it was popularly believed he never took a vacation. While this was untrue, yet he himself has recorded his opposition to the vacation habit, saying that it was "the outgrowth of abnormal business methods." It is easy to deny that he loved his work for its own sake, and say that he loved it rather for the gains it brought him. But greed is never just, although it is sometimes generous. Mr. Sage however, was a just man. "One of his peculiarities," said John F. Dillon in a warm tribute to him, "that stood out above all was his integrity in everything even to the smallest things." Another of his traits was his frugality. It is this feature of his character which has provoked more criticism of Mr. Sage than any other. His name, indeed, has become a synonym for economy in the midst of riches. It may be questioned whether he did not render good service to his country by such a conspicuous example of simple living. But this is certain: it is of vastly more importance to the community that a man make his money honestly than spend it generously. The veriest miser who hoards his gold to gloat over it is immeasurably less of an enemy to society than the rich man who makes his millions by unjust methods though he fare as sumptuously as Dives and feed every Lazarus laid at his gate. Mr. Sage was honest and straightforward in his dealings. It is true that he was surprisingly economical for one so rich, yet his frugality has been greatly exaggerated. He was unassuming in his disposition, and his personal wants were few. He cared little for luxuries, but those he wanted he enjoyed and paid for. He lived in a good house and kept a good stable, for he loved horses and his one pleasure except business was to drive them. He did not hoard his money but caused it to circulate. Until far advanced in age he staked it boldly in the promotion of the railroads and telegraphs of the country, and sometimes lost it,—to all appearance with equanimity. He had, indeed, a horror of extravagance in any form, but this feeling is commendable. Another trait of character was his fidelity. He was faithful to his word, his friends, his family and to the many corporations in which he was a director. He stood firm and true for nearly half a century at the very center of trust in the financial world and in the fierce and sometimes unfriendly light of publicity; he was an officer in twenty-seven great corporations and for many years was in the thickest of the struggle for commercial advantages; yet never was his uprightness denied by his associates. As one of them has lately testified: "His financial operations have always been without reproach." He acknowledged also his religious and moral obligations. In his maturity, when thirty-four years old, he united with the Presbyterian Church of Troy, and since that time the churches of his choice have found in him a devout and constant worshipper. "I have always tried," he said, "to do my duty to my brother man and to the community in which I lived, and this will be a great comfort to me when I depart this life."

Russell Sage was twice married, but had no children. His first wife, whom he married in 1841, was Maria Winne, daughter of Moses I. Winne of Troy, N. Y. She died in 1867. Two years later, Nov. 24, 1869, he married Margaret Olivia Slocum, born Sept. 8, 1828, daughter of Joseph Slocum of Syracuse, N. Y., who survives him. She is one of the founders of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, being herself descended on her father's side from Captain Myles Standish, the Mayflower pilgrim as follows: Her father, Joseph Slocum, who married Margaret Pierson Jer-main, was the son of William Brown Slocum by his wife Olivia Standish Joselyn, who was the daughter of Stockbridge Joselyn by his wife Olivia Standish, who was the daughter of David Standish and Hannah Magoun, who was the son of Thomas Standish and Mary Carver, who was the son of Alexander Standish and Desire (Doty) (Sherman) Holmes, who was the son of Captain Myles Standish by his wife Barbara. Mr. Sage had known her since his early manhood and she had been an intimate friend of his first wife. She was a graduate from the famous Emma Willard Seminary of Troy, and in 1897 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her graduation by addressing the graduating class. It was on account of her connection with this institution and according to her desire that Mr. Sage some years ago presented to the Seminary a handsome dormitory building known as the Russell Sage Memorial Hall. With her Mr. Sage's home life was a happy one. Of all the good bargains he made, so his friends were wont to declare, his marriage to this estimable woman was the best; and among the maxims of Mr. Sage, to which he said that he owed his success, is one that intimates his own appreciation of her worth: "The tender care of a good wife is the finest thing in the world."

He was a firm supporter of the East Village Congregational Church and parish until the change in the mode of raising the minister's salary by annual sale of pews instead of the old method of taxation so disaffected him towards the Society that he ceased to attend worship and selected a spot on his own farm for his burial.

CORRECTION.

On page 58 of the RECORD for January, 1906, Henry Rowley is called father-in-law of his second wife's sons, Thomas and Peter Blossom, and Peter Blossom is called son-in-law of Henry Rowley. This is in accord with the ancient meaning of the words father-in-law, and son-in-law, but of course conveys a wrong impression as the words are now used. We now use the terms step-father and step-son for these relationships.

On the same page of the RECORD for January, 1906, the statement about Mary Hatch, dau. of Jonathan and Sarah (Rowley) Hatch, being the second wife of William Weeks, according to Otis, cannot be clear to the reader as it stands. William Weeks married first, March 16, 1669, Mercy, dau. of Mr. Isaac Robinson, and hence if Mary Weeks mentioned in the will of Jonathan Hatch was the wife of William Weeks, as seems most probably true, we must assume, as Otis does, that Mercy (Robinson) Weeks died early, and that Mary Hatch was William Weeks second wife.

 COVERT ANCESTRY.

COMPILED BY EDSON SALISBURY JONES.

CONTRIBUTED BY BYRON BARNES HORTON, SHEFFIELD, PA.

THE NEXT GENERATION OF COVERTS IN WESTCHESTER CO.

Items of Coverts in Westchester Co., in the generation following the above Isaac, are not numerous on public records. Certain men, who were very probably sons of Isaac, resided in the Manor of Cortlandt, to which place quite a number of people from White Plains, and vicinity, went for farms. Coverts, Hortons and Purdys were associates in that part of this Manor which became Yorktown.

April 11, 1758, Elisha Covert, John Gedney and Henry Purdy witnessed the will of Caleb Horton, Jr., of Cortlandt Manor. (N. Y. Wills, XXI, p. 14.)

April 14, 1761, the ear-mark of John Covert was entered. (Yorktown Rec., I, p. 10.)

Per. 4, 1769, same Covert was husband of Martha, dau. of John Gedney, as per said Gedney's will. (N. Y. Wills.)

May 7, 1772, administration on the estate of John Covert, deceased intestate, was granted to his widow, Mary. (N. Y. Adm. Book "1768-1774," pt. 4, p. 46.)

Feb. 24, 1775, Adolph Covert, son of John, deceased, sold to his brother, Jacob, his share in farm No. 5, in Lot No. 3, Cortlandt Manor, which said Adolph and Jacob had bought of their uncle, Isaac Covert. (Unrecorded Deed in hands of G. W. Cocks.)

Will of Elisha Covert, of Cortlandt Manor, dated Sept. 23, 1779, and proved July 14, 1781, names daus. Sarah, Dorothy, Mary, Phebe, wife of Jesse Nelson, Elizabeth, wife of William Horton, Tamer, wife of Peter Warren, and Hannah, wife of John Teed. (N. Y. Wills, XXXIII, p. 266.)

Will of Isaac Covert, of Cortlandt Manor, dated May 4, 1780, and proved Aug. 8, 1781, names wife Mary, his three brothers Abraham, Elisha and Luke Covert, Elizabeth Lamereux, and Phebe Travis, widow. (N. Y. Wills, XXXIII, p. 268.)

Sept. 22, 1781, a John Covert was husband of Elizabeth, dau. of Henry Purdy, as per will of said Purdy. (N. Y. Wills.) This John, however, was of a subsequent generation.

In the foregoing items, we have Isaac, Abraham, Luke, Elisha and John Covert as brothers. The first three of these Christian names are found in the family of Lucas Covert (who came to the Prov. of N. Y. in 1663, and died on Madnans Neck.) It is exceedingly probable that these brothers were sons of Isaac Covert, of Rye and White Plains, who was very probably son of Lucas, of Madnans Neck; but absolute proof of this has not yet been found. It is thought that the said Isaac had two other sons, Jacob and Sylvanus, and probably daughters. (G. W. Cocks.)

In these times, the desire for large farms caused many to leave the settled parts of the county for others where land was both more plentiful and cheaper. Soon after Cortlandt Manor was surveyed and apportioned among the heirs of Stephanus Van Cortlandt, the farms there began to be leased on long terms, with the privilege of purchase. It is not unlikely that Isaac Covert (probable son of Lucas) leased "farm No. 5, in Lot No. 3," and that he, or his son Isaac, purchased it later on. A similar removal, probably, from White Plains to this Manor was that of Daniel Horton, who leased a farm there in 1739, for his own lifetime and that of his son Stephen. No record of the lease by Horton, or deed of purchase of the same is of record (in these times, leases were not recorded); but a deed of partition of the farm between two great-grandchildren of said Daniel (viz.: Jacob and Eliza Horton, only surviving children of Caleb, son of said Stephen, son of said Daniel) recites that their grandfather, Stephen Horton, had bought the farm from Philip Verplanck (the original lessor), April 18, 1794. (West. Co. Deeds, 479, 14.) If Covert family papers have been preserved and can be found, it is not unlikely that Isaac Covert (son of Lucas) will be seen to have leased "farm No. 5, in Lot No. 3." If so, the probability that he was the father of Isaac, Abraham, Luke, Elisha and John will approach a certainty.

ELISHA COVERT, OF CORTLANDT MANOR, AND FAMILY.

The indexes of Westchester Co. Deeds do not show Elisha Covert as grantee or grantor, in deeds recorded up to 1886; and no item of him has been seen on town records. That he was a resident of Cortlandt Manor is proved by his will dated Sept. 23, 1779, and proved July 14, 1781. Probably he died in the latter year. The name of his wife has not been discovered. His age at any time has not been found; nor have the birth-dates of any of his children, except Elizabeth and Phebe.

The inscription on the gravestone of Elizabeth (who married William Horton) in Colchester, Delaware Co., N. Y., states that she was born Jan. 4, 1743, and died June 24, 1831. (Ex. inf. Byron Barnes Horton.)

The inscription on the gravestone of Phebe (who is alleged to have m. (1) Nicholas Budd, and m. (2) Jesse or Justus Nelson) in St. Philip's Churchyard, Garrison, N. Y., states that she was born Nov. 7, 1743, and died June 4, 1819. (Ex. inf. James Nelson, a great-great grandson of Phebe and Justus.)

As disclosed by his will, the children of Elisha Covert were the following:

Sarah.

Dorothy.

Mary.

Phebe, wife of Jesse Nelson. (As above stated, she is alleged to have m. (1) Nicholas Budd. The will of Nicholas Budd of Rumbout Precinct, Dutchess Co., N. Y., dated Aug. 17, 1772, and proved Oct. 1, 1772, names wife Phebe; and appoints as executors his "friends Elisha Covert and Joseph Strang, both of Cortlandt Manor." (N. Y. Wills, 28, 350.) Her marriage to Jesse or Justus Nelson is alleged to have taken place about 1776. (James Nelson, above.)

Elizabeth, wife of William Horton.* (She was b. Jan. 4, 1743; m. 1768; and d. June 24, 1831. Her husband, William Horton, was b. Jan. 10, 1743; and d. April 4, 1831.

* The ear-mark of some William Horton was entered March 14, 1764. (Yorktown Rec. I, p. 15.)

A William Horton, of Cortlandt Manor, bought farm No. 3, in Lot No. 2, on south side of Croton River, 163 1-2 acres, Feb. 1, 1775. (West. Co. Deeds, I, 134.)

One William Horton and wife Elizabeth, of Cortlandt Manor, sold 5 acres there, May 5, 1785; and both acknowledged the deed May 17, 1785. (West. Co. Deeds, K, p. 67.)

No further items, which seem to relate to this couple, have been seen on any records in Westchester Co. They removed to Colchester, Delaware Co., N. Y., where he was a prominent man, and there both deceased. (See Early Hortons of Westchester Co., N. Y., N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, Vol. XXXVI, p. 108.)

Tamer, wife of Peter Warren. (An editorial footnote, p. 436, in the Journal of Rev. Silas Constant, states that she married Warren as his 3d wife, having married (2) Capt. Samuel Jefferds; and that she died March 8, 1829, aet. 80 years.)

Hannah, wife of John Teed.

No further information concerning Elisha Covert has been obtained.

APPENDIX.

SPRONG ANCESTRY.

As stated above, Lucas Tunis Coevers m. Barbara Sprong or Sprung. Bergen's Early Settlers of Kings Co., N. Y., gives the following concerning her family:

SPRONG OR SPRUNGH. Jan, or Johannes, the common ancestor of the family, a soldier from Bon, in the Province of Drenthe, m. Oct. 23, 1660, Anna, or Johanna Sodelaers, from Connex, in Bergen, Norway, and d. prior to Sept. 15, 1694, for at that date his widow was m. to Claes Tunisie Clear. Was a smith by trade, residing first at New Amsterdam, and afterwards at Flushing; and while a resident of the latter place, he bought, May 29, 1679, of Catharine Van Werven, widow of Do. Polhemius, for 3300 gl., a house and out-buildings, with five home-lots, in the village of Flatbush, as per page 63 of Liber AA of Flatbush Rec., to which place he probably removed and joined the Ref. Du. Ch. of said town. In 1689, he bought a lot of Derick Woertman at the ferry, as per Liber I, p. 137 of conveyances. He finally removed to Bushwick. Issue:

JAN SPRONG AND FAMILY.

From various sources the following items are taken:

Oct. 23, 1660, "Jan Sprong, van Bon, Soldaet, en Anna Sedelaers, van Conincxbergen," married in N. Y. Du. Ch. (N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Soc. Coll., 1890, p. 26.)

Bapt. July 27, 1661, Barbara, dau. of Johannes Spronck and Annetie Sedelaers, N. Y. Du. Ch. (N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Soc. Coll., 1901, p. 61.)

Bapt. April 8, 1663, Gerrit, son of Jan Spronck and Annetie Sÿlers, N. Y. Du. Ch. (Id. p. 69.)

Bapt. Feb. 16, 1667, Johannes, son of Jan Sprong and Annetje Johannes, N. Y. Du. Ch. (Id. p. 86.)

Bapt. July 18, 1668, Abraham, son of Jan Sprong and Jannetje, N. Y. Du. Ch. (Id. p. 91.)

Aug. 27, 1682, Lucas Tuniz Coevers and Barbara Sprong married, as per Flatbush Du. Ch. Rec. Names of parents or witnesses do not appear. (Hol. Soc. Year Book, 1898, p. 90.)

The above items are the only ones that have been verified. The printed records of Brooklyn Du. Ch. Marriages, in Hol. Soc. Year Book, do not extend to 1694. In the printed marriages in Flatbush Du. Ch., there was none of Claes Tunisse Clear in 1694; but this entry appears therein:

Feb. 12, 1692, "Claes Tunissen Ole—(?) to Anetje Sprong." It is not stated that she was a widow. (Hol. Soc. Year Book, 1898, p. 95.)

No will or administration of estate of Jan Sprong is indexed in N. Y. Reg.

The father's will (1777, proved 1784), witnessed by Lemuel Scudder and others, gives "my son Samuel, all my Mansion House and Plantation near Kingstowne," etc., etc. This farm on the "Great Road" (also near Princeton or Queenston, now long a part of Princeton) Samuel sold after his father's death in 1784 when it became the home of the writer's great grandfather, Capt. William Jones who d. there in 1824. After this Samuel is lost track of; probably removed with other Skillmans to Pennsylvania (near Allentown), then westward, later on becoming a pioneer in the Miami Valley in Ohio. One son was:

Francis Titus was a tory, while his son-in-law, Thomas Skillman, was Lieut. in the Militia on the patriot side in the Battle of Long Island. At Kip's Bay (34th Street, N. Y.), the latter was taken prisoner, 1776, and confined in New York, but his royalist father-in-law interceded, and both he and his brother John took advantage of Lord Howe's proclamation, and returned to their homes in Bushwick. LETTER OF COL. PETER SCHUYLER.

CONTRIBUTED BY FREDERICK MORGAN STEELE, CHICAGO, ILL.

Anything relating to the personality of a character who has been prominent in our history, or who has been an important factor in the upbuilding of the Country in his day and generation, is a common matter of interest.

Col. Peter Schuyler, sometimes known as "Quidor," the early Colonial Governor of New York, and the friend and advisor of the Indians, is a historical character whose imprint upon the early destiny of the New York Colony was most important.

Appended is a letter written by his son, Col. Philip Schuyler, born Jan. 15th, 1696; died Feb. 16th, 1758, written to his uncle and aunt, Robert Livingston, Jr., the nephew, and his wife Margarita Schuyler, born Nov., 1682, half sister of the writer of the letter, and the only surviving child of the first marriage, in 1681, of Col. Peter Schuyler, born Sept. 17th, 1657, to Engeltie Van Schaick, born 1659, died 1681, and daughter of Capt. Goosen Geritse Van Schaick, the Commissary of Albany, by his second wife, Annetje Lieversen.

Col. Philip Schuyler married, Dec. 29, 1720, his cousin Margarita Schuyler, daughter of Johannes. She is better known as the "American Lady," and who was still a "grande dame" in her 83d year, when she died Aug. 28th, 1782.

The letter announces, with some detail, the close of the useful life of the Governor, and gives a glimpse of the religious aspect of his character. As far as I know, it has never been published. It belongs to the writer, who is a lineal descendant of the worthy whose death is announced, and also of the couple to whom it is written, and forms one of a valuable lot of family souvenirs which are also to be regarded as historical documents of importance. The original letter is written in Dutch, and is in a fine state of preservation. I give a translation below.

GEN. CHARLES W. DARLING.

BY E. B. SANFORD, D. D.

Charles William Darling, the subject of this sketch, was born Oct. 11, 1830, in New Haven, Conn., and was descended on his paternal side from a distinguished line of New England clergymen. His father, the Rev. Charles Chauncey Darling, a Presbyterian clergyman and a graduate of Yale College and of Princeton Theological Seminary, was the son of Dr. Samuel Darling, a graduate of Yale and a physician in New Haven until his death at the age of ninety, by his wife Clarinda, daughter of the Rev. Richard Ely of Saybrook, Conn. His great grandfather, Judge Thomas Darling of New Haven, was also a graduate of Yale and Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas of the State of Connecticut; his great grandmother, the wife of Judge Darling, was Abigail, daughter of the Rev. Joseph Noyes of New Haven (son of the Rev. James Noyes of Stonington, Conn., a founder of Yale College and standing there as the first on the list of Fellows) by his wife Abigail, daughter of the Rev. James Pierpont, pastor of the First Church of New Haven and also one of the founders of Yale College, by his second wife, Sarah, daughter of the Rev. Joseph Haynes of Hartford, son of Governor John Haynes of Connecticut. Judge Thomas Darling was the son of Samuel Darling of New Haven, who was born in England in 1695; came with his wife Susannah Childs to Rhode Island and afterward removed to New Haven where he was admitted to the bar and practised law until his death in 1760. General Darling's mother was Adeline E., daughter of William and Eliza Dana of Boston, Mass., and granddaughter of Major Robert Davis, an officer of artillery in the war of the Revolution.

After graduating from the New York University General Darling for a time was engaged in business. Not long before the breaking out of the Civil War he made his first trip to Europe, returning to take an active part in the great struggle that involved the life of the Union. He won his commission as Colonel in the State Militia and during the riots that occurred in New York City during the summer of 1863, he rendered efficient service that was gratefully recognized both by his superior officers and Mayor Opdyke. Colonel Darling in these years was closely identified with military and public affairs and in 1867 he was appointed military engineer in chief of the State of New York with the rank of Brigadier-General.

Having means at his command that enabled him to indulge his fondness for travel he made extended trips with his wife in Europe, Asia and Africa, returning to his home to give his time to historical study and writing and identify himself with every good cause in the beautiful city of Utica that was so long his place of residence. While declining political office he did not shirk his duty as a citizen and was ready both to lead and serve in Christian activities. For many years he was a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Utica and President of the Young Men's Christian Association. He became deeply interested in the work of bringing the Christian forces and churches of the State into closer cooperative relations and at the time of his death was President of the New York State Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. General Darling through his love of historical studies became an expert in many lines of research connected with the colonial and other periods in the history of our country. Few men have had so wide a knowledge of the work of the various national and State historical societies. He was a member of more than fifty of these organizations.

General Darling will long be remembered as a splendid type of that Christian manhood that enjoys close and helpful touch with many activities. He was a true friend and genial comrade, as well as a man of scholarly instincts and distinction. With Christian fortitude he passed through the sorrows that shadowed his later years leaving a memory that is treasured by those who were honored with his friendship.

General Darling died June 22, 1905, at Asbury Park, N. J., aged seventy-four years. He was married in 1857 to Angeline E. Robertson, daughter of Jacob and A. Robertson of New York City, and granddaughter of Archibald Robertson, the Scotch artist, who, while a guest of the first President of the United States, painted from life the celebrated miniature of General and Martha Washington. He left no immediate family.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

Easterly part of cemetery at Rahway, N. J., on St. George Avenue, formerly the cemetery of the old Presbyterian Church. Copied from stones standing in 1903.

BY GEORGE W. THOMAS, CRANFORD, N. J.

NOTES.—The tombstones are crumbling away and letters are defacing. In many cases all the history of the dead that can now be known is that conveyed by these inscriptions. Early records were destroyed by fire during the Revolution, Church was burned, and early Elizabeth town, N. J. records are lost.

Where (verse) appears it indicates that the tombstone had one or more verses inscribed on it. (S. A. R. Monument) indicates that the Sons of the American Revolution have placed one of their iron monuments at the grave.

EDITORIAL.

OUR Canadian neighbors, as it seems from the notice published in this number of the RECORD, are preparing to celebrate, in 1908, the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of their country, and are sending forth their invitations to those they wish to ask to participate in this celebration. There is a fine flavor of heraldic form and aristocratic usage about the notice of invitation sent us for publication which shows to some rhetorical advantage the monarchical character of the government of our northern neighbors. Such harmless advantage, however, we do not begrudge to our Canadian friends. We can do without the blare of trumpets and the voice of the Herald-Marshall, and really prefer to have our speech, and invitations, seasoned with the salt of democratic institutions. There are others, perhaps, who will be gratified with this heraldic announcement and will simply revel in the thought of the pomp and ceremony of the great occasion. We trust, however, that the Manour-Lords of New York, if any of them accept the invitation and share in the ceremonies of this historic anniversary, will soberly reckon everything attending it at its proper value.

But what has moved us to notice this summons of the Herald-Marshall of Canada to such of our New York families as are deemed worthy of invitation is the thought of the compensation that some of them are now receiving for their loyalty to the mother country during the war of the American Revolution. Their sacrifices, as well as those of other loyalists, were great. Some of them were despoiled of their possessions and driven into cruel exile. Others felt constrained to abandon their country and with such goods as they could carry emigrate to colonies still loyal to England. The total number of loyalists who thus suffered was also enormous. We are now publishing a list of the loyalists, mostly from New York, who settled in New Brunswick alone. The number already published is large and it grows with every issue of the RECORD. It would have been better had the fathers of this republic shown greater mercy to these families who conscientiously adhered to the crown. Now some of them are having their reward. They are remembered by the loyal subjects of Great Britain and are invited to sit in the foremost seats of honor at the forthcoming celebration of the birth of the Dominion of Canada. Their compensation, indeed, is small, but it is legitimate, and we do not begrudge them their satisfaction.

OBITUARY.

SAGE, RUSSELL, member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society since 1888, died July 22, 1906, at his summer home, Lawrence Beach, L. I., in the ninetieth year of his age. He was born Aug. 4, 1816, at Shenandoah, Verona Township, Oneida County, N. Y., and was the youngest son of Elisha Sage, Jr., and Prudence Risley. His father was the son of Elisha Sage of Middletown "Upper Houses," now Cromwell, Conn., who was a Revolutionary soldier and one of the builders of the old State-house at Hartford, Conn. He contracted to do the outside mason work of the old capitol building of which Mr. Bulfinch was the architect. His mother was probably descended from John Risley of East Hartford, Conn., grandson of Richard Risley who went, in 1636, with Rev. Thomas Hooker from Newtown, Mass., to Hartford and became one of the founders of the Connecticut commonwealth.

For a further account of Hon. Russell Sage, see pp. 245-251 of this number of the RECORD.

SCHIEFFELIN, EUGENE, a member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society since 1881, died Aug. 14, 1906, at the Hartshorn Villa, Newport, R. I., aged seventy-nine years. He was born Jan. 29, 1827, and was the seventh son of Henry Hamilton Schieffelin, a prominent lawyer of New York City in the early part of the last century. His grandfather, Jacob Schieffelin, married Hannah Lawrence, daughter of John Lawrence who was the grandson (Richard, Joseph) of William Lawrence, 1623-1680, the ancestor of the Lawrence family of New York. His mother was Maria Theresa Bradhurst, daughter of Samuel Bradhurst.

Mr. Schieffelin was for many years a member of the old and well-known wholesale drug firm of William Schieffelin & Co., of New York City. He was an artist of some distinction, and painted the full length portrait of Gen. Philip Peter Schuyler which hangs in the St. Nicholas Club. He was the first to import English sparrows into this country,—his purpose being to exterminate the caterpillars which infested the trees in Madison Square where the Schieffelin home was. He imported and liberated many other species of birds, among them the starling. He took a great interest in genealogical studies and was the founder of the Colonial Order of which he was grandmaster. He was also a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the New York Zoological Society, the Union Club, the St. Nicholas Club and the St. Nicholas Society. He married Catherine Hall, daughter of the late Valentine G. Hall of New York who survives him.

NOTES.

JOHN FIN, OR FINIE.

IN the paper on "The Skillmans of America and Their Kin," in the RECORD for April, the author gives, on page 93, some baptismal notes of the Fine family, taken from Valentine's Manual for 1863 and 1864. There are some errors in these notes which may be corrected, supplemented by comparison with the following extracts from the records of the Reformed Dutch Church of New York, as published in the Collections of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society:

John Finis and Sara Hardenberg had child Johannes, bap. Aug. 31, 1694.

- Jan Fini and Sara Hardenberg had child Neeltje, bap. March 27, 1696.
 John Finie and Sara Hartenberg had child Gerret, bap. Sept. 26, 1697.
 Jan Fini and Sara Hartenberg had child Gerardus, bap. Sept. 3, 1699.
 John Finey and Sara Hartenberg had child Barendina, bap. Dec. 10, 1707;
 Jacob, bap. Dec. 14, 1707; Maria, bap. Dec. 17, 1707. It is probable that these three children were born at regular intervals between Sept.
 3, 1699, and Dec. 10, 1707, tho it is not clear why they should have been baptized on three several days.
- John Finn, j. m. Uyt oudt Engel' en Aeltje Jans, j. d. Van Schenechtade, beyde wonende alhier, were married in the New York Dutch Church, July 16, 1693. Issue:
 i. Jan, bap. May 18, 1698.
 ii. Willem, bap. July 26, 1702. In the latter case the mother's name is given as Aeltje Jonkers.

MANOUR-LORDS OF NEW YORK AND THE QUEBEC CELEBRATION.

THE Seigneurs and Noblesse in Canada and the Baronets of Nova Scotia, being descended from founders of the Country and being grantees of authority from the crown of which the Country is a fief, are to celebrate in 1908 the 300th anniversary of the establishment of Quebec (1608-1908). They have determined to invite to participate with them the descendants of the other Patrician founders of America who were grantees of authority under the Crown, such as the Lords of the Manours of New York and Maryland and the Landgraves and Caciques of Carolina. The Duc de Veragua descendant of Columbus will also be invited as well as the representative of the Prince de Carignan whose regiment in 1668 formed the first military establishment of Canada. Old Colonial corps like the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. of Boston, Governor's Foot Guards of Rhode Island, etc., are expected to parade. The Seigneurs, Baronets and Lords (their descendants) of the old Provincial manours and other noblesse will wear on that occasion court-dresses of dark blue, faced with buff with flat buttons with 3 fluers de lys thereon. The ceremonies will be historic and grand: precedence will be granted these descendants of Patrician founders as by law, next to the representative of the King. The meeting of Oct. 3, this year, is to form the various committees and those descended from any of the above sources are to send names, addresses, pedigrees, coats-of-arms and historical evidence of descent to the Herald-Marshal. Besides the manorial families of Van Courtlandt, Pell, Van Renssalaer, Philippe, Morris, Livingston, Pauw, de Vries, Melyn, Lovelace, Billop, Palmer, Evans, Chambers, Mayhew, Welles, Smith (of Brookhaven Manor), and Paine of Tysburg Manor, there are the noble families of de Peyster, de Lancey, Delafield, Sterling, (Alexander), etc., whose descendants should be heard from. The collection of their arms and pedigrees in this College will be displayed on that occasion with those of others.

BOOK NOTICES.

HINSDALE GENEALOGY. Descendants of Robert Hinsdale, of Dedham, Medfield, Hadley and Deerfield, with an account of the French family of De Hinnisdale. Compiled from the notes of Honorable Sanford C. Hinsdale of Denver, Colorado, by the late Herbert Cornelius Andrews, heraldist and genealogist. Edited by Alfred L. Holman. Lombard, Ill. Printed for Alfred Hinsdale Andrews. 1906. 8vo, cloth, pp. 507. Price $5.00.

This book was the last work of the late Herbert Cornelius Andrews, an esteemed member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. Mr. Andrews, having received all the manuscript and data, representing many years' labor, from Hon. Sanford C. Hinsdale of Denver, Col., materially added to the compilation. It is a handsome volume, containing the Hinsdale coat-of-arms in color, photographs of members of the family, and a full and complete index. The work includes an extended account of "the ancient and noble family de Hinnisdal" of France, whose pedigree extends back to 1170 A. D. In this country the record begins with Robert Hinsdale of Dedham, who was slain by Indians at Bloody Brook, Deerfield, Sept. 18, 1675. There are many noted descendants of Robert Hinsdale mentioned in these pages, among them Elihu Burritt, "the learned blacksmith," Levi P. Morton, Vice-President of the United States, Mrs. Emma Hart Willard, the poetess and educator, etc. The book is published by the parents of Mr. Andrews, and reflects great credit on all concerned.

GENUNG-GANONG-GANUNG GENEALOGY. A history of the descendants of Jean Guenon of Flushing, Long Island. Mary Josephine Genung (Mrs. L. N.) Nichols, and Leon Nelson Nichols. Brooklyn. A. W. Heinrichs Printing Co. 1906. 8vo, cloth, pp. 711. Price, $5.00.

The first ancestor in America was the only Huguenot of the Guenon family known to have come hither. He married into a Holland Dutch family and settled in Flushing. There have been great variations in the spelling of the patronymic, the most prominent being Ga Nun, Ganung and Genung. The compilers have made the praiseworthy endeavor to give records of all descendants of Jean Guenon of Flushing, not only in male but in female lines as well. The work contains extended accounts of many families related to the Genung and Ganong families. Prominent names among them are Anderson, Baker, Betts, Butler, Chase, Clark, English, Gardiner, Haight, Hoyt, King, Lyon, Mead, Morse, Taylor, Townsend, Wright and Youngs. An interesting account of the Guenon family of France completes the book, which has an excellent index covering 53 pages.

A HISTORY OF ONEONTA FROM ITS EARLIEST SETTLEMENT TO THE PRESENT TIME. Dudley M. Campbell. Oneonta, N. Y. G. W. Fairchild & Co. 1906. 12D, cloth, pp. 190.

"In preparing this work for publication," says the preface, "the aim of the author has been to put into preservative form such information as has been gathered from private and public documents and from the tradition of the older inhabitants who were 'to the manor' born, but who have passed away." In this laudable endeavor the author has collected a considerable amount of material both serious and amusing, put together in a well-bound, well-printed book.

CANADIAN YEAR BOOK FOR 1906. Toronto. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 406.

This useful publication contains lists of post offices, historical happenings in Canada, militia, and members of the Canadian government, and has a number of other departments.

CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS, TOWN OF SPENCER, NEW YORK, 1795-1906. Copied by Mary F. Hall. Published by Mary F. Hall and Ida Hallock Fisher. Ithaca. I. P. C. Press. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 51.

In compiling this valuable little brochure, the editor has been most thorough and painstaking, including a list as complete as can be made of people buried in unmarked graves and quotations from the Sexton's books. Soldiers' graves are especially indicated, and the introduction gives us an interesting history of the graveyards themselves. The arrangement of the book is alphabetical.

THE HISTORY OF PENET SQUARE, AND HEREIN A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE LIFE, CHARACTER AND OPERATIONS OF PETER PENET. An address delivered on the occasion of the observance of the Centennial of Jefferson County, N. Y., at Watertown, N. Y., on June 22, 1905. Irving W. Near. Hornell, N. Y. W. H. Greenhow, Printer. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 15.

Peter Penet was a merchant of Nantes, France, who came to this country in 1775 and entered into dealings with Washington and the government, looking to supplying ammunition to the American forces. How he came to own a large and valuable tract of land in New York State, including the present towns of Clayton and Orleans, is interestingly told in this treatise, which is a valuable addition to Jefferson County Annals.

IRISH-AMERICAN HISTORICAL MISCELLANY. Relating largely to New York City and vicinity, together with much interesting material relative to other parts of the country. John D. Crimmins. New York City, Published by the author. 1905. 8vo, cloth, pp. 493.

Beginning with the early settlement of America, Mr. Crimmins gives us most interesting account of Irish people who were early in New York and New England. Later chapters deal with Irish merchants, Tories, Continentals, "Jersey" prisoners, and many others, concluding with some five hundred biographical sketches of notable Irishmen. The collection makes interesting reading.

THE HISTORY OF ARIZONA FROM THE EARLIEST TIMES KNOWN TO THE PEOPLE OF EUROPE TO 1903. Sidney R. DeLong. San Francisco. The Whitaker & Ray Company. 1905. 12D, cloth, pp. 199.

This is an attempt to present, in a compact form, a history of one of the most picturesque parts of our country, a territory whose claims to statehood have never had proper recognition, yet which has pluckily and stubbornly held out against all attempts to merge it in some more fortunate State. The author presents in Part I an account of the territory as a whole. In Part II county history is set forth. One misses from these pages many picturesque details, such as accounts of the "bad men," the Earps, "Doc" Holliday, and others; of Cochise's stronghold and its wonderful defence; Geronimo's campaign, etc., but as the author's aim is to call attention to the resources of Arizona, he may have felt some objection to placing these events on further record. To those who love Arizona, two things seem of paramount importance—namely, statehood and irrigation. With these two aids, the Land of Sunshine has a future as bright as California's own.

RECORDS AND PAPERS OF THE NEW LONDON COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Volume III, Part I. Edited by the Secretary. New London. Published by the Society. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, iv+166.

This number contains an account of the unveiling of the John Winthrop monument, well illustrated with pictures of the statue and its surroundings, the tablet, etc. There is also an article on the Old Town Mill, illustrated, besides papers on "New Connecticut or the Western Reserve," "The Parentage of Phebe Brown—Lee—Larabee—Cornish;" "Four Lost Legacies of the Early New England Civil Polity," and the Society's reports.

A DIGEST OF THE EARLY CONNECTICUT PROBATE RECORDS. Vol. III. Hartford District, 1729-1750. Compiled by Charles William Manwaring. Hartford. R. S. Peck & Co., Printers. 1906. 8vo, cloth, pp. xx+794.

Herewith is presented the third and last volume of Mr. Manwaring's invaluable compilation. It is sincerely to be hoped for that some antiquarian as enthusiastic and devoted as Mr. Manwaring can be found to carry on the work brought to a close by the compiler's death. Twenty pages of errata begin the present volume, followed by a facsimile of the will of Gregory Wolterton. As with the preceding volumes, various court records accompany the wills, making each record as complete as possible. There is a fine index.

LEWISIANA OR THE LEWIS LETTER. Carl A. Lewis, Editor. Guilford, Conn.

This exceedingly "live" little paper keeps up its prompt and pleasing monthly appearance. Every one of the name of Lewis is urged by the editor to help towards recording his own branch and to assist others. Reports of "Lewis Day" and the Lewis Congress are to be found in recent numbers.

A MEMORIAL BIOGRAPHY OF THE VERY REVEREND EUGENE AUGUSTUS HOFFMAN, D. D. (OXON.), D. C. L., LL. D., LATE DEAN OF THE GENERAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY. Theo. Myers Riley, S. T. D. In two volumes. Jamaica, N. Y. The Marion Press. 1904. 8vo, cloth, pp. 795.

This very fine and full biography is not only a history of Dean Hoffman's life, but in a quite remarkable degree the contemporaneous history of the Episcopal Church. Dean Hoffman's influence on the life of the Church was a marked and beautiful one. He was "a much trusted counsellor in the great affairs of the Church, in its deliberative and executive bodies; a man much desired for the Episcopate; a great builder and collegiate head, devising and accomplishing great results." Most of all is he to be remembered for his loving-kindness and many deeds of charity. The book before us is a fine memorial of a great man.

A GENEALOGY OF THE LINEAL DESCENDANTS OF JOHN STEEVENS, WHO SETTLED IN GUILFORD, CONN., IN 1645. Compiled by Charlotte Steevens Holmes. Edited by Clay W. Holmes, A. M. Elmira. Advertiser Press. 1906.

This genealogy is printed for private distribution. It does not attempt to show the English ancestry, but successfully overthrows a theory advanced by an earlier compiler. The tabular portion is very well done, and is followed by an appendix, setting forth a copy of the Planters' Covenant of Guilford, wills and other Steevens data, and there is an excellent double index.

RECORDS OF THE TOWNS OF NORTH AND SOUTH HEMPSTEAD, LONG ISLAND, N. Y. Edited by Benjamin D. Hicks. Vols. VI, VII, VIII. Jamaica. 8vo, cloth.

The last of these valuable volumes contains Libers H and I, bringing the records down to 1880. It also contains the Book of Laws and Deeds, 1684-1696, and A Record of the Division Made by the "Proprietors" of the Land Held by Them as Patentees of the Town of Hempstead. Each volume of this useful series contains several indices, which are practical and helpful, and the whole work owes much to the devoted labor of Mr. Hicks, in memory of Henry Onderdonk, Jr., whose research in Long Island history places his successors under a great debt.

MEN OF AFFAIRS IN NEW YORK. An Historical Work, Giving Portraits and Sketches of the Most Eminent Citizens of New York. New York. L. R. Hamersly & Co. 1906. Folio, half leather, pp. 294.

This volume of contemporaneous biography carries out its promise, and those whose history is herein recited may, almost without exception, be regarded as leading citizens of New York. The portraits are good and the reading matter is interesting.

SUFFOLK MANORIAL FAMILIES, VOL. II, PART 7. Joseph James Muskett. Exeter, Eng. William Pollard & Co., Ltd. 1906. Quarto pamphlet, pp. 241-280.

In this number appear the Royal Descents of Kempe, Suckling and Nelson; the pedigrees of Jermyon of Rushbrook; Garneys of Kenton, Chevallier; and Keble of Stowmarket; all illustrated by wills, armorial bearings, inquisitions, etc., of great genealogical and historical value.

OTSEGO COUNTY, NEW YORK, GEOGRAPHICAL AND HISTORICAL, FROM THE EARLIEST SETTLEMENT TO THE PRESENT TIME. With County and Township Maps from Original Drawings. Edwin F. Bacon, Ph. B. Oneonta. The Oneonta Herald. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 85.

While primarily intended for a school text-book, the compiler has been careful to include descriptions of newspapers, population, business enterprises and the like, making the volume a convenient hand book for most practical purposes.

THE MAGAZINE OF HISTORY WITH NOTES AND QUERIES. May, 1906. William Abbatt. New York.

The leading features of this number are an article on The Battle of Allatona, from a Union standpoint, by Captain Mortimer R. Flint; Extracts from British Archives, by Eugene F. McPike; and an important paper on The Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

PRINCETON HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION, EXTRA PUBLICATION NUMBER I. A Brief Narrative of the Ravages of the British and Hessians at Princeton, 1776-1777. Princeton, N. J. The University Library. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 56. Price, $1.00.

The Princeton Historical Association, in beginning the issue of a series of special publications, presents this hitherto unpublished document as its initial number. It was written in the spring of 1777, contains accounts of the battles of Trenton and Princeton, and is a most interesting record of conditions prevailing in New Jersey at that period. It is edited by Mr. V. L. Collins, Reference Librarian of Princeton University Library, and is in a limited edition of 300 copies.

GENEALOGY IN THE LIBRARY. Otis G. Hammond. Manchester, N. H. John B. Clark Co. 1906. 12D, pamphlet, pp. 18.

This amusing and truthful little brochure was read by Mr. Hammond, of the New Hampshire State Library, before the New Hampshire Library Association, and contains some useful suggestions as to modern record making.

WYOMING COMMEMORATIVE ASSOCIATION, PROCEEDINGS, JULY 4, 1904. Wilkesbarre. Press of the Wilkesbarre Record. 1904. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 44.

Following the membership list and report of exercises, the bulk of the pamphlet is devoted to an address by Mayor George G. Groff of Bucknell University, on "A Colony Out of the Northern Wilderness." It consists of a careful and thorough account of the Palatine emigration and settlement in Schoharie County, N. Y., and later in Pennsylvania, and exhibits the sterling qualities of those comparatively early pioneers.

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER. Index of Persons, Volumes I-50. Boston. New England Historic Genealogical Society. 1906. Price, $5.00 per part.

This exceedingly valuable index has now reached Vol. II, Part II, and is one of the most labor-saving of modern publications.

HISTORICAL PAPERS, NO. XII. Historical Society of Newburgh and the Highlands. Newburgh. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 100-154.

Articles on the New Paltz Patents and its Boundmarks, by E. M. Ruttenber; The Gedney Family, by Albert G. Barratt; and Inscriptions in Bethlehem Cemetery, by J. N. Weed, are the leading features of this number. There are obituary records of five members, with portraits.

AN HISTORICAL ADDRESS DELIVERED AT GROTON, MASSACHUSETTS, JULY 12, 1905, ON THE CELEBRATION OF THE TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SETTLEMENT OF THE TOWN. Samuel Abbott Green. Groton. 1905. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 52.

No better annalist of Groton could be found than Dr. Green, author of so many treatises on this, his beloved native town. Part of his address was taken up with the derivation of the name of the town, and with accounts of its various namesakes. An outline of the history of settlement, enlivened by many reminiscences, makes this a worthy addition to Dr. Green's previous work of many years.

VIRGINIA COUNTY RECORDS, VOL. III. WILLIAMSBURG WILLS. William Armstrong Crozier. New York. The Genealogical Association. 1906. 12D, cloth, pp. 77. Price, $5.00.

In the present work will be found abstracts of all wills now on file at the Chancery Court of Williamsburg. In the burning of Richmond many county records deposited in that city for safekeeping were destroyed. Williamsburg being a Chancery Court, many records were on file there, and this volume contains abstracts of all that remain. The value of the work will be readily understood by all those familiar with the difficulty and expense of Virginia research.

EX-LIBRIS LEAFLETS, NO. 4. Allyn Hyde of Ellington, Connecticut, together with a review of "An Early Connecticut Engraver and His Work." James Terry, 78 Wethersfield Avenue, Hartford. Printed for the author. 1906. 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 17.

A brief biographical account of Allyn Hyde, M. D., faces a fine copper engraving of his bookplate. The major part of the pamphlet is devoted to an investigation as to the claims of Richard Brunton to be ranked among early American engravers.
