About this document:

I have been researching all known descendants of Richard Hendy for the last 30+ years [1979-2014]. This Richard Hendy is a direct ancestor of my wife, Judith (Shanley) Petrie. Her great grandfather, Horace Jackson Hendee, was born in 1842 in Pittsford Township, Rutland County, Vermont.

The following document starts off with several pages of information on the Hendee family in general including the source of the Hendee name and the family's history in France.

This is just a Microsoft WORD document [MS Windows-7 - .docx file type] so you should be able to download, open and share it without any special software. The document is in outline format with children indented under their parents. So brothers and sisters and cousins line up underneath each other. By tracing upward and toward the left in the document, you can see parents, grandparents, great grandparents, great great grandparents, etc. back many generations.

The document is over five hundred pages long now, so if you want a printed copy, I would copy it to a disk and take it to a copy store like a Fed Ex Kinkos. Its not that expensive and you will save on ink, paper and wear on your printer.

To find things in the document, since it is so large, I use the "find" function in my WORD software menu to search for specific names, dates or places. If you look for "Newark," for example, you will be able to step through the document and see those Hendee descendants who have a connection to Newark, Wisconsin or Newark Cemetery.

A special thanks to all those researchers of the Hendee and related families who have contributed to and continue to contribute to this living document.

I have included my email address above (as of 2013) and would welcome questions, corrections or additions to the document.

"I was told as a child and have read many times since that the Hendees were Huguenots who fled Normandy, France for England at the time of the persecution of Protestants (1520-1680). The Richard Hendee (Hendy) who arrived in Boston could have been born in France or, more likely, in England of French parents or grandparents. Does anyone have any real evidence of this such as the dates they left France; where they lived in France; how long they were in England? Why the name change from Hendey to Hendee? I am curious. Thanks." [Jane Sencer - [Jane Sencer - jbsencer@mindspring.com] "It seems that the oral history is quite pervasive. I too was told the same thing by my mother in Vermont as a child in the 50's. I and a Hendee cousin have traced our line back as far as the early 1800's in that area of Vermont. I've intended to find out more from our local LDS library, but haven't gotten there yet. So, as you say, it appears to be accurate. When I get there I'll email you to let you know what I find out. In the meantime, if you want to know a little more about my lineage (names, locations, etc) email me. I had never heard about the immigrant to Boston, but that would make good sense considering the number of Hendees in Vermont. Most all Vermonters came from somewhere in downcountry New England or New York." [Samuel R. Seward -srseward@yahoo.com] "Hi, Samuel: Do you live anywhere near Pittsford, Rutland County? Deacon Caleb Hendee was one of the early settlers of Pittsford. He moved there from Connecticut before the Revolution. His son, Caleb [Jr.], kept a journal for many years in which he recorded all the information he had about his family. I have a copy. If you would send me the names of your early ancestors I will see if I can find them. Caleb also recorded a letter about 1839 from Abner Hendee, a cousin still in Connecticut, which told about the family fleeing Normandy at the time of "the religious wars" in France, and the early arrival of Richard Hendee in Boston. Richard had a son Richard, who had a son Jonathan, who was Deacon Caleb's father." [Jane Sencer - jbsencer@mindspring.com] "Hi Jane, we've emailed before. Our oral family history said the same thing as far as leaving Normandy is concerned. I also noticed that someone else was doing Hendee research and made the same statement of the Hendees originating in Normandy. There must be some truth to it!" [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - http://rootie.org/hendee.php] "My line is Richard 1, Richard 2 (with Sarah Smith), Johathan (with Martha Millington), Caleb Sr., David, Clark Kendrick, Frank Clark, Frank Chester, me (all Hendees until I married). My Grandma Hendee saved everything, which I have now processed, along with gathering information from a few other sources. I never talked to her about these issues. She was 78 when I was born and died when I was 16. However, I also somehow grew up with the story that our Hendee ancestors fled from France and arrived in England. Her version was that it was the Ven Dee region of France and that the name changed into Hendee in England. But, I find no documentation in her various papers for that. (The VenDee region is discussed in the 1989 issue of National Geographic--all on France. It does discuss fleeing from persecution in the Ven Dee region beginning in 1793, long after Richard was in America, but still kind of interesting. I have that page.) Also, I question Grandma's story of the name change, as I have information tracing the Hendee name back well in time and with the root of courtesy and such--and also with possible Scottish roots. But, then we don't yet know WHEN our ancestors arrived. Maybe they were courteous. I do not have her backup for the fleeing story. However, she did communicate with Lee Hendee, and he had access to Caverly's History of Pittsford (VT.), so this may have been her source. If you have not had contact with the Historical Society of Pittsford (VT) (PO Box 423 05763), I recommend it and can go into more detail, depending on your lineage. To quote one passage from Caverly, "The first of the HENDEE family in this country was named Richard. He descended from a family of French Protestants who, on account of their religion, were expelled from Normandy, and afterward settled in England." This was published in 1872. I would love to know Mr. Caverly's source and am interested in a copy of the letter from Jance Sencer from Abner regarding this. I do know Lee's line and that his material that he was never able to get into a finalized form is in the Lansing Library of Michigan--a long-range goal to go there. Also, in regard to Pittsford, if your line goes through Caleb, Sr., I recommend ordering [the book] In the Shadow of Cox Mountain. Caleb and Caroline are in the book, which is written by a descendant of Beulah Cox, the main character. We learn that Beulah midwived Daniel, Lydia, and Solomon (1)Hendee, with payment in pumpkins and seed potatoes. We also learn of Ft. Vengeance being built on the property of Caleb when our family fled for the safety (?) of nearby Rutland (later returning). There, they stayed with the family of Elisha Rich, and Caleb, Jr. later married dau. Lydia [Rich]. If you do order the book and let me know, I can send you my write-up with the pages of our family and other info. I also transcribed Caleb, Jr.'s manuscript for easier reading and sent a copy to the [Pittsford Historical] Society - am glad to send copies to anyone. In this [transcription], I tie together Cox Mountain information. I am also hoping to receive any materials that anyone else is willing to share. I have a fair amount that would be of interest to Hendees. " [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"For those of you who would like to know more about Pittsford, Vermont - the birthplace of many Hendee ancestors, the Pittsford Historical Society has published (2009) a nice book of pictures depicting the history of Pittsford (126 pages). It was put together by Peggy Armitage for the Pittsford Historical Society. The book can be ordered from Arcadia Publishing via the following link. It appears that it is currently on sale at 20% off its original $21.99 price (2013). - <http://www.arcadiapublishing.com/9780738562919/Around-Pittsford>" [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"There is a James C. Hendee mentioned on the Library of Michigan page. He evidently had something to do with oceanography. I am not James C. Hendee. I am James Gordon Hendee. The John C. Hendee is the man I made reference to in one of my previous e-mails. He forwarded the e-mail to his relatives and mentioned he is very busy at this time, but was glad someone was researching Hendee history. John was a professor at the University of Idaho, and by the entries at the Library of Michigan, it appears he has co-written several texts on Forestry and the Wilderness. That was his focus as a professor as well...forestry." "Hendee Enterprises, Inc. is a family owned company located in Houston, TX and has exhibited a true devotion to the employees and customers. Some of Hendee's employees have spent their entire careers working for the Hendee family. Supporters of many of the worthwhile projects around the Houston area and active supporters of our political leaders, the Hendee's are highly respected by their peers. Alfred (Al) Hendee is the patriarch of the family, and founder of Hendee Enterprises, Inc. Mr. Hendee studied Mechanical Engineering at the University of Wisconsin and Cornell University and has extensive experience in the manufacturing of hydraulic assemblies. He is currently the CEO and manager of the Industrial Division that manufactures filters and seals used mainly in the rail and trucking industries. Mr. Hendee displays the qualities it takes to be innovative, and from him the phrase "THE INNOVATIVE SOLUTIONS COMPANY" is taken. Charles (Chuck) Hendee leads the Enduro® division including Garden Centers, Shade Structures, Awnings, Tension Structures and retail line of products. His education is from the University of Houston, School of Business and he applies that learned knowledge to the company he now leads. Taking from his father, "Chuck" has learned the value of good employees, and shows a great deal of respect to those that work for him. The industry has recognized his leadership throughout the years with awards such as Entrepreneur of the Year finalist in 1992 and Houston Top 100 Companies in 1993 among others." [<http://www.hendee.com/>] "There is a company in Texas called "Hendee Enterprises" and I spoke with a senior Hendee there [President, Chuck Hendee - chuckh@hendee.com]. It was from this person in Texas that told me about Richard Hendee arriving in Plymouth Rock, Mass. in the year 1623 aboard a vessel by the name of "The Anne." "Hello there, I just happened to stumble upon your postings on the genealogy.com forum and had to drop a note. As you can see, I too am a Hendee and am very interested in, if not talented at, discovering my Hendee roots. My grandfather is Ceilan Abner Hendee who died in Milwaukee, I believe in 1965 and I know that he had a brother Cass. Beyond that, it gets very fuzzy. The bizarre thing is that Ceilan married a Maude Kirby and I have the Kirby line back into the early 1700's, including the mayor of Milwaukee during the Civil War. This is a project that I have always told myself I am going to dig into and for various reasons, it has always stalled. My interest was once again peaked as I found something mentioning an Abner Kirby in New Haven, Conn. and then I stumbled across the forum where I found you. My uncle Kirby Hendee has done a share of genealogy and I remember him always saying that the Hendee's can be traced to Miles Standish. By the time I had gotten to school to tell the kids, he was all but my direct descendant. I live in Baraboo Wisconsin and am an attorney. My dad's family is from Milwaukee. Do you have any good suggestions to work backwards from my grandfather back? Thanks for any suggestions and I look forward to hearing from you." Summary: A collection of papers related to the Hendee family of Hebron and Hartford, Connecticut. Primarily the papers of Lucius J. Hendee, the earliest pieces relate to Revolutionary War pensions. There are also many documents concerning bounty lands available through the Pension Office. Lucius Hendee worked for a period of time with his uncle, Abner Hendee, an Aetna Insurance agent. This introduction to the insurance industry would serve him well. In 1861 Lucius Hendee was elected Secretary of Aetna. Five years later he became the President. As the papers indicate, Lucius Hendee held several positions over the years. He worked as a merchant, selling items such as woolen socks; served as a Notary Public and later as a Justice of the Peace. He was active in politics as well. The papers are arranged in chronological order, with a portion unprocessed. Hendee also held a military position and was involved, in the 1840s, with processing military pensions .Related Subjects: Aetna Insurance Company | Aetna Insurance Company -- Officers | Merchants -- Connecticut -- Hebron | Military pensions | United States -- History -- Revolution, 1775-1783 | Hendee, Abner, b. 1779 | Hendee, Lucius J. 1818-1888" [Connecticut Historical Society and Museum - <http://chs.kohalibrary.com/cgi-bin/koha/opac-detail.pl?biblionumber=31882>]

His daughter was Mrs. W. E. Schofield. He was the son of Andrew and Lorraine, and he married Miss Mary A. Hendee. I have a clipping about the death of Mrs. Mary Canfield, dated about 1936. A picture I have has Fairchild Canfield, Mary Hendee Canfield, Nora Canfield Everest, and Albert Everest. Most of what I have is a diary, about traveling from NY to Panama (I think, handwriting is difficult to read). The boat they took is called the Isthmus (?). It is dated 1896. Cecil Lavelle Sims married Gwendolyn Lucille, daughter of Edmund William Scofield. I am related to Cecil Sims, he is my great grandfather. Well, hope this helps. It is quite confusing to me." [Kimberly] "Kimberly - I just saw your posting on the RootsWeb board - if you have info on my ancestors as you said, I'd love to have it! The Fairchild, Justus, Andrew, Mary, Lettie etc. Canfields of Marshalltown, IA - please get in touch with me. Thanks . . . My great-grandmother was Mary Adaline Hendee, born Trivoli (Peoria) IL in 1848, who later went to Marshall Co. Iowa with her family and married my ancestor, Fairchild Canfield in 1865 when he returned from the Civil War. Mary Adaline's parents were shown in the Census of 1850 for Trivoli, IL/Peoria as Solomon Hendee/Handy, b. NY, and wife Adaline A. (who appears to have been a Leavitt). I know that the Deacon Caleb Hendee family in VT has two Solomons in it, but I can't connect that family with mine - tho I am almost sure that it's the right one." "In Memory of Colonel Seth Warner, Esq.,
Who Departed This Life December 26th,
A.D. 1784. In the Forty-Second Year of His Age

Triumphant leader at our armies' head,
 Whose martial glory struck a panic dread,
 Thy warlike deeds engraven on this stone,
 Tell future ages what a hero's done,
 Full sixteen battles he did fight,
 for to procure his country's right.
 Oh! this brave hero, he did fall,
 By death, who ever conquers all.
 When this you see, remember me."

[Memoir of Col. Seth Warner by Daniel Chipman, L.W. Clark, Middlebury. 1848 (This book was republished in 1858 under the title The Life of Col. Seth Warner, with an Account of the Controversy between New York and Vermont, from 1763 to 1775, by Daniel Chipman.)

Parents: Dr. Benjamin Warner, M.D. (b. 6 May 1709 Woodbury, Litchfield County, Connecticut, New England m. 16 Dec 1736 Roxbury (or Rexburg), Litchfield, Connecticut d. 15 Nov 1785 Roxbury (or Rexburg), Litchfield, Connecticut Occupation: medical doctor) and Silence Hurd (b. Jan 1715/16 Woodbury, Litchfield County, Connecticut, New England d. 15 Nov 1785 Woodbury, Litchfield County, Connecticut)

"He was the fourth of 10 children to Benjamin Warner, M.D. and his wife, Silence Hurd. Little is known about Seth Warner outside of his military service and opposition to New York State's claims over the New Hampshire Grant lands. It appears that Warner did not keep journals, write a book, or make any significant public speeches during his lifetime. There are no known surviving sketches or portraits, and any personal letters or records he kept were most likely destroyed when his family homestead burned down in 1859; Seth Warner's life story must be pieced together from state and town archives, military records, and surviving correspondence. Perhaps the most extended narrative about Warner is contained in Daniel Chipman's 1848 book, Memoir of Col. Seth Warner.³ Daniel Chipman's father, John, served in Warner's Regiment throughout the American War for Independence and it is likely the younger Chipman's descriptions of Colonel Warner are the most timely and correct. Despite being considered a lesser-known figure in the War, Warner played significant roles in several pivotal events in the American Revolution and early Vermont history. He crossed paths with many notable figures, including Benedict Arnold, Ethan Allen, Horatio Gates, Philip Schuyler, John Stark, George Washington, John Burgoyne, & Simon Frasier.

Reported to be more than six feet tall, which is generally a head taller than the average man's height of the time, erect and well proportioned with nut brown hair and blue eyes, Warner became known for his skill in hunting and botany, his energy, sound judgment, and manly bearing. In 1763, he moved with his extended family to Bennington, Vermont, then in the New Hampshire Grants. The senior Warner had purchased ten shares of land in Sandgate Township from Ephraim Cowen and twenty-year-old Seth received two of these shares. In 1765, Benjamin bought additional property for the family homestead: "Tract or Percal of Land in Bennington in the Province of Newhampshire Namely the southwest Quarter of the original Right of Land No thirty seven sposed To Be seventy Four acres Be the same More or Less75 acres" for twenty pounds.

About that time, Seth married Esther Hurd and began his family. He fathered three children -- Asahel (Israel), Abigail, and Seth Jr. As time would reveal, he was not home for much of his offspring's childhoods and he died when the oldest was only 16.

It appears shortly after marrying, Warner had made a name for himself as surveyor. Bennington town records show Seth was chosen as a highway surveyor in 1766. An undated town meeting lists Warner as chosen again to survey the town's highways. In 1767 he was appointed one of 5 Haywords for the township. Finally on March 28, 1770 Warner, Stephen Fay, and Samuel Stafford were appointed to lay out 64 equal land plots in Bennington. Clearly by this time, Seth had become a prominent member of the community.

Between 1763 and 1775, New York and inhabitants of the Grants fought over jurisdiction, property rights, and taxes. Warner was one of several outspoken leaders, including Ethan and Ira Allen, Remember Baker, and Robert Cochran. Warner and Ethan Allen were popularly elected as leaders of a local group of men formed to resist New York authority over the Grant Lands. Known locally as the "Green Mountain Boys," their exploits became famous, or infamous, depending on which side of the issue one sided. In New York, Governor Tyron offered a £20 reward for Warner, Allen, and their cousin Remember Baker in 1771. It grew to £50 in 1774 and doubled to £100 in 1775. He was a hero in the Grants and an outlaw in New York. Although he lived outside the settlement of Bennington only a mile from the New York line and made many trips to Albany and the surrounding areas, the Yorkers never succeeded in capturing him.

It is unclear if Warner had any prior military experience. The Center of Military History indicates Warner served with Major Roger's Rangers during the Seven Years War, but no evidence substantiates this claim; he does not appear in published lists of Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, or enlisted men. Nonetheless, throughout his military career, Seth rose to meet many difficult challenges and situations demonstrating excellent military understanding. Period military manuals describe withdrawing a smaller force and remaining intact in the face of a stronger one is one of the most dangerous and demanding situations for a military commander. Warner executed this no less than three times during his career. He was involved in the planning of several instrumental engagements and by several period accounts, ably led his men in the field.

Lacking formal training or not, Warner was second in command of the Green Mountain Boys at the capture of Fort Ticonderoga on May 10, 1775 (excluding Benedict Arnold who, while having legitimate orders from the Massachusetts Committees, was largely ridiculed by the Boys when they could not ignore him). He commanded the rear guard of the force and was not involved in the initial assault. However, two days later, he and a small detachment took the important but dilapidated post of Crown Point further up Lake Champlain effectively closing off the lake from the north. Many of the 113 captured artillery pieces from the two fortifications were eventually moved to Dorchester Heights near Boston as part of Henry Knox's "noble train of artillery" during the winter of 1775-76. The taking of Ticonderoga was a landmark event in both Warner's life and U.S. History; the Green Mountain Boys and their leaders quickly became famous the width and breadth of the colonies.

In 1775, the growing unrest in eastern Massachusetts eclipsed the conflict over the Grants. The Continental Congress began ordering regiments be raised and fitted for duty in reaction to British activities in Boston, Lexington, and Concord. Based on Warner's, Allen's, and the Boys' successes at Ticonderoga and Crown Point, the Continental Congress the recommended to the Colony of New York on June 27th, 1775 that it raise "...those styled the Green Mountain Boys" as a regiment of infantry, which New York agreed to in principle on July 4, 1775. The Assembly of the New Hampshire Grants voted Seth Warner to rank of Lt. Colonel in the Regiment in a 41 to 5 vote, effectively shut out Ethan Allen and made Seth the de-facto commander of the Regiment. The vote came as a shock to not only Allen, but also the Continental Congress who had already allotted monies in Allen's name. It has been mentioned by historians that Warner was elected in lieu of Allen because of Allen's well-known impatience and fiery disposition. Warner, by contrast, was repeatedly cited for his quiet, unassuming, and direct style, which would repeatedly bear itself out over his military career. The New York legislature protested several times against his commission because of Warner's past confrontations with New York officials, however, Congress refused to revoke it and New York eventually concurred with the New Hampshire Grant Assembly. Warner was officially recognized as the Commander of the Regiment.

Several sources incorrectly indicate that Seth Warner was involved at the Battle on Breed's Hill (popularly known as Bunker Hill). Warner and Ethan Allen departed Crown Point, NY on June 10th 1775, carrying a letter from the officers garrisoning that place seeking payment for their efforts. The Vermont pair arrived in Philadelphia on or about June 20th to present their case to the Continental Congress. On the 23rd of June, Congress received their petition and shortly thereafter, voted the recommendation to raise the regiment of infantry. Carrying a letter from John Hancock containing the resolves, Warner and Allen returned to New York arriving July 1, 1775. Warner would not have been available to fight in Boston on June 17th. Connecticut military rolls of the time list a Seth Warner from Saybrook, CT, which is most likely the source of confusion.

During a visit to the New York Legislature during the summer of 1775 on Regiment business, it appears Warner was initiated, passed, and raised as a first degree Mason. He is listed as the ninety-sixth signer on the By-Laws of the old Union Lodge No. 1 (now Mount Vernon Lodge No. 3), the oldest in the New York outside of New York City. This appears to be one of the many times during the war that Warner's popularity in the Grants called him away from his Regiment for political and recruiting duties.

Later that year, Warner and his regiment were assigned to Brigadier General Richard Montgomery's wing in the invasion to capture Montreal, Canada. They participated in the siege of St. John's, Quebec, and defeated Sir Guy Carleton, who attempted its relief at the Battle of Longeuil on October 30, 1775. Warner and his regiment were discharged in November 1775. On January 6, 1776, Warner's Regiment was recalled to active duty and sent to support Benedict Arnold's siege of Quebec. The siege was disastrous and eventually the army was forced to retreat. During the retreat from Quebec in May 1776, Warner commanded the rear guard for the Northern Army and successfully evacuated hundreds of sick & wounded men to Ile aux Noix, Crown Point, and Ticonderoga.

On July 5th, 1776, the Continental Congress re-authorized Warner's Regiment as 1 of 5 Extra-Continental Regiments (including the 1st and 2nd Canadian Regiments, the German Battalion, and the Rifle Regiment). Because the Regiment was not specifically attached to a state (the New Hampshire Grants had not yet become Vermont), or one of multiple regiments, the Regiment was able to retain the name of its Commanding Officer. Commissioned as a full Colonel, the Regiment was officially designated Warner's Extra-Continental Regiment. Again, the New York legislature protested against his commission several times, however, Congress refused to revoke it.

On the night of July 5th, 1777, the Northern Army evacuated Ticonderoga under pressure by British General John Burgoyne. For the third time in his career, Warner was part of the rear guard. He was given command at the hamlet of Hubbardton, VT and the assignment of holding off Burgoyne's forces until the main body of the American Northern Army could escape and regroup in the southwestern corner of the Grants. The advance elements of Burgoyne's forces under Simon Frasier engaged the American rear guard comprised of Warner's Regiment, the 11th Massachusetts and 2nd New Hampshire Regiments early on the morning on July 7, 1777. Arguably, his most significant mistake of the day was to send 200 of his Regiment to escort two families from their homes to safer locations away from the impending ravages of war. The order to march the rear-guard was delayed until the detachment returned and gave the approaching British forward elements a chance to overrun the depleted American force. Under pressure from Frasier's grenadiers and by General Reidesel's re-enforcements, Warner executed an orderly withdrawal of his remaining forces under heavy fire. Although many historians describe the battle as a loss because the British forces held the field at the end of the day, Warner accomplished his assignment of delaying Burgoyne while protecting the withdrawing army delivered substantial losses to the elite British Advance Guard. Evidence strongly suggests that Warner's leadership was excellent and had the Brunswick reinforcements not arrived; his forces would have held the field victoriously.

Following the engagement at Hubbardton, Warner and his remaining Green Mountain Boys had little time to lick their wounds. General Schuyler placed Herrick's (Militia) Regiment of Rangers, as well as a regiment of militia from Berkshire County Massachusetts under Warner's command to gather and protect forage and cattle in the Grant lands. Schuyler correctly surmised Burgoyne would make significant efforts to re-supply his army from the surrounding towns and farms in his long march Albany, NY. Warner probably made several trips to his homestead near Bennington in mid-July through mid-August to visit his family.

By August 18th, General John Stark consulted Warner in a council of war to plan moves against an approaching Hessian/Brunswick force near Bennington. The two had served together during the Montreal campaign and they are described as having similar temperaments. Perhaps more importantly, Warner was intimately familiar with the area. Warner again lived up to his reputation as a strong battlefield commander and the first phase of the battle was a huge success. The remainder of his Regiment arrived from Manchester in time to repel German re-enforcements, which likely would have turned the battle against the American forces.

Three sons of the Warner family fought at the engagement: in addition to Seth who commanded an entire wing, John was the Captain of Herrick's Rangers 4th Company and was responsible for securing the German redoubt dominating a steep hill. Daniel served in Captain Robinson's Company of militia and tragically, is believed to have been killed during the action as one of the 20 American casualties.

Following the battle, Warner and the Regiment moved northwest to harass and disable Burgoyne's supply line. The morning of September 18, 1777, a force of 1,400 led by Col. Browne and Warner, (under General Benjamin Lincoln's overall command) attacked Mount Independence, Fort Ticonderoga, and the portage connecting Lakes George and Champlain. A series of engagements continued through September 21st when the Americans were finally forced to retreat under pressure by Brunswicker re-enforcements, but not before Warner's forces destroyed wagons and bateaux necessary to maintain the British supply line from Canada.

Although it is unclear and unlikely that Warner's Regiment fought in the battles at Freeman's Farm and Bemis Heights (popularly known as the first and second battles of Saratoga, NY), Warner is specifically mentioned as one of the Brigadiers in General Gates' letters, well as a letter from Colonel Spect's (second in command of the Brunswick troops during the Burgoyne Campaign) journal substantiating his presence at the surrender of Burgoyne's Expeditionary Force.

In March of 1778, the Vermont legislature named him Brigadier General of the state militia in addition to his duties as Commander of his Continental Regiment. Almost two hundred years later in 1975, the Connecticut Legislature posthumously named Warner a General in the Connecticut Militia.

Ongoing demands to fill the rolls of his Regiment and failing health limited his presence with his men. Warner was officially listed as ill from November 1777 through February 1779. He did make visits however, with his garrisons stationed from Albany to Fort George. In the autumn of 1780, Warner and a small detachment were ambushed near the infamous Bloody Pond of the Seven Years War. It is reported he was wounded in the arm while Regimental Adjutant, Benjamin Hopkins was killed. Warner rode on to Glens Falls, NY suffering from exhaustion and loss of blood. Warner remained with the army until 1781 when his Regiment was officially disbanded as part of the restructuring of the Continental Army. In poor health and financial debt, he returned with his family to a 51-acre plot in Roxbury, Connecticut.

Never much of a businessman, Warner did not participate in the land speculation, which made many of the early Vermont leaders wealthy. The proprietors of several towns voted him land as a reward for his services, but most of those properties went to pay taxes; he never benefited from it. Like so many of the war's military leaders, neglect of his affairs and financial demands during his military career so depleted his resources that in 1786, his wife applied to Congress for dispensation, though it was hardly in a position to grant anything. A year later, she petitioned the Vermont General Assembly for land in payment of her late husband's service. Although the Assembly made a decision in four days, it took four years for a charter of just under 2,000 acres in Essex County (VT) to be granted. The land, now known as Warner's Grant, was largely rocky and mountainous making it worthless. Hester does not appear to have ever occupied it and it remains unoccupied today.

Long bed-ridden from what has been suspected as arthritis and tuberculosis, Seth Warner died in his home on December 26, 1784, age 41. Esther was left to raise their children Israel, age 16, Abigail, age 10, and Seth Jr., age 7. It is reported that an honor guard of 30 men watched over the Colonel during his final days. He did not live to see his beloved Vermont achieve statehood.

There is a published report in an 1864 edition of Harper's Magazine that George Washington visited the widow Warner's Roxbury home in 1789 and paid the balance of the property mortgage. While Washington certainly knew Warner through their correspondence and Warner had visited Washington's Headquarters, the anecdote is a romantic ending to the tragic loss of Col. Warner at an early age and "salvation" of his surviving family members; it is not likely to be true.

Warner was originally buried in the Old Burring Ground before being removed to Roxbury's Center Green in Oct. 1858, where a monument marks his grave. The original headstone reads:

In Memory of Colonel Seth Warner, Esq.,
Who Departed This Life December 26th,
A.D. 1784. In the Forty-Second Year of His Age

Triumphant leader at our armies' head,
Whose martial glory struck a panic dread,
Thy warlike deeds engraven on this stone,
Tell future ages what a hero's done,
Full sixteen battles he did fight,
for to procure his country's right.
Oh! this brave hero, he did fall,
By death, who ever conquers all.
When this you see, remember me.

Recently, the town of Roxbury has named part of its recreation trails after Warner in remembrance of its native son and his achievements.

Although no statue or marker at the state capitol in Montpelier commemorates Warner's contributions to Vermont's history, a statue of Warner guards the Bennington Battle Monument. Erected in 1910, an idealized Warner is depicted in the uniform of a Continental regiment and the monument is dedicated to "an able statesman and soldier." There is another statue dedicated to Col Warner in the center of Manchester, VT. In 1933, the Vermont Legislature named Vermont Route 30 between Middlebury and Manchester the Seth Warner Memorial Highway. A small hiking shelter just off the Appalachian Trail near Bennington and Pownal, Vermont bears his name as does a US Army 128 foot tug boat." [Seth Warner. James E. Peterson. "American Revolutionary soldier, born in Roxbury, Connecticut. He came to Bennington in 1765, a skilled botanist (despite only a common-school education) and ardent huntsman. The lifestyle suited him, and these pursuits won out over farming. He was elected Captain of the local regiment of the Green Mountain Boys, formed to resist New York authority over Vermont. Though he lived outside the settlement of Bennington only a mile from the New York line, the Yorkers never succeeded in capturing him despite numerous indictments and generous rewards offered. His bravery and military capacity were highly respected in the Continental army. During the 1775 invasion of Canada, the 300 men under Warner's command repulsed Carlton's force of 800 when they tried to join McLean to break the siege of Montreal. In July, 1777, as the Constitutional meeting was being held in Windsor, Warner was ordered to abandon Ticonderoga and commanded the rear guard which fought a splendid, well-planned battle at Hubbardton, and which nearly won the battle had British reinforcements not arrived. Warner aided John Stark in planning the Battle of Bennington and participated gallantly. Later, at Lake George Landing, he captured the vessels in which General Burgoyne would have escaped. Never much of a businessman, he did not participate in the land speculation which made many of the early Vermont leaders wealthy. The proprietors of several towns voted him land as a reward for his services, but most of that property went to pay taxes; he never benefitted from it. Neglect of his affairs during his military career so depleted his resources that, as he neared death, his wife was forced to apply to Congress for charity, though it was hardly in a position at the time to grant anything. Some four years after Seth's death (no explanation for the delay), the Legislature gave Hester just under 2,000 acres in the northeast corner of the state, now known as Warners Grant. It is not believed she ever occupied it, and today it remains unoccupied. He returned to Roxbury in 1784, and died on December 26. Long bed-ridden, he was gripped by fits of insanity before he died." "Napoleon, dominating Europe after the tremendous battle of Austerlitz in 1805, issued decrees declaring the continent closed to British good, and ordered all vessels seized that touched at a British port. England, still master of the seas when Admiral Nelson shattered the combined fleets of France and Spain off Cape Trafalgar in October of the same year, retaliated by seizing all merchant vessels which did not touch at British ports; and in consequence American ocean trade, caught between these two orders, was so heavily reduced that in 1808-1809, President Madison tried by desperate diplomacy to bribe England and France to bid against each other for our trade. It happened at this time that British seamen deserted to the higher paid and better treated American merchantmen; and England, contemptuous of American naval weakness, exercised the 'right of search' on American vessels to recover her sorely needed seaman. In May 1811, our frigate President, chasing a British cruiser on which a Massachusetts citizen was impressed, was fired upon by a British sloop of war. American indignation was great. After Governor Harrison of the Northwest Territory had reported British ammunition in the hands of Indians, and Henry Clay's brilliant oratory had stirred great popular excitement, President Madison wrote a fiery message against British outrages, and on June 18, 1812, Congress declared war. The United States was woefully unprepared. The regular army numbered less than seven thousand men, many of them raw recruits. Our fifteen ships had to match England's one thousand. Much went amiss. The commander at Detroit was court martialed and sentenced to death for timid abandonment of his post, and the generals at the other end of Lake Erie fought duels over mutual charges of cowardice instead of advancing against the enemy. Clay had boasted that the conquest of Canada could be accomplished by a small body of militia, but events proved that except for the victory of Perry's little Lake Erie fleet and Macdonough's brilliant maneuvers on Lake Champlain, we could hardly have been saved from a disastrous British invasion from Canada. Cheered by Perry's famous dispatch, 'We have met the enemy and they are ours,' Harrison recaptured Detroit, but in August, 1814, a small British force raided Washington and burned the city. Fortunately for us, however, England was principally engaged in fighting France, so that the United States had had time to build a few necessary ships. Though our Navy was still small, the exploits of such frigates as Old Ironsides proved the genius of American seamanship, and by a series of surprising triumphs kept the country in a fever of rejoicing. The war was disastrous to American exports, but fortunately our Navy in two years had captured some 2000 British merchantmen, and England, worn by trouble on all sides, signed peace with us at Ghent on Christmas Eve, 1814. Such in brief are the facts relating to the War of 1812. Vermont's position as a state bordering both on Lake Champlain and Canada laid her open to especial danger, and made her part in the campaigns particularly important. When British impressment of American seamen had first stirred the nation in 1807, the Vermont Legislature adopted, by a vote of 169 to 1, a resolution which they forwarded to President Jefferson in 1807, in which they declared: 'And we do further for ourselves and our constituents declare that, fearless of the dangers to [which] we may be exposed as a frontier state, we shall be ever ready to obey the call of our common country, whenever it shall be necessary either for the purposes of redress or vengeance.' [Vt. Assembly Journal 1807 p. 230.] Jefferson, though not needing the help of Vermonters at the time, replied that their sentiments were 'worthy of their known patriotism.' Again in 1809, after further outrages, the Legislature sent a similar message to President Madison, who received it with equal gratitude. Consequently when Madison issued his proclamation of war, Governor Jonas Galusha and the legislature sustained the government and passed laws immediately to prohibit intercourse with Canada. But it must be understood, that, though Vermonters could be stirred to patriotic fury by British indignities on the high seas, they were not all so eager to see their livelihood endangered by laws forbidding commerce with Canada. In consequence Galusha and the Democratic legislature were opposed in the 1813 elections by the Federalists who succeeded by a hotly contested vote of 112 to 111 in declaring Martin Chittenden as governor - a man who opposed the war. Yet there was no doubt as to the loyalty of the state as a whole. At the outbreak of the war, after Congress had authorized the President to detach and organize 100,000 men for federal service, and the Secretary of War had apportioned 3000 to Vermont, the state promptly responded to the requisition, and Adjutant General David Fay, by command of Governor Galusha, ordered out four regiments of ten companies each, which were in service at Plattsburgh by September, 1812. Within the state [of Vermont] the people were not prepared for war. The northern towns lived in constant fear of Indian incursions from Canada, and many citizens abandoned their houses and farms. Though the fear seems to have been unfounded, a small detachment of troops was stationed at North Troy, and the selectmen of several towns furnished and supported guards for the frontier villages of Troy, Derby and Canaan. On November 6, 1812, the legislature authorized the raising of a volunteer corps of sixty-eight companies (two brigades) for the service of the Federal Government, and by 1814 the entire male population of Vermont, aged from sixteen to sixty, volunteered for service on the occasion of the invasion of Plattsburg, though only those who lived nearby reached Plattsburg in time to engage in the battle. But there were scattering detachments that saw service elsewhere outside the state, principally in the campaign of 1814 on the Niagara frontier; and such men as were in that campaign served in the brigade under the immediate command of General Winfield Scott in the battles of Chippewa Plain and Lundy's Lane, and under Major General Brown in the terrific night battle of Fort Erie, August 15, 1814. For the most part, the Vermonters who served in the Regular Army were in the 11th, 26th, 30th and 31st Infantry. The 11th was organized in 1812, and served for the duration of the war, nearly three years. The other three were organized in the spring of 1813, to serve for one year, though a remnant of the 30th and 31st was in the Battle of Plattsburg in September, 1814. The plan of 1812 campaign was to garrison coast fortifications with local militia together with some Regulars while the main forces invaded Canada from Detroit and Niagara. The Plattsburg army was designed to protect the Vermont and New York frontiers, and therefore, nearly one-half its strength was recruited from Vermont. In November, 1813, a portion of the militia of the third brigade and third division of Vermont militia, under Lieutenant Colonel Luther Dixon, crossed the Lake into New York and put themselves under Hampton's command. But Governor Chittenden, who was opposed to the war in the first place, and who believed that the militia should be employed only within the state 'to suppress insurrections and repel invasions' ordered them to return. But the entire militia was thoroughly disgusted with the Governor's proclamation, and Captain Sanford Gadscomb drew up a reply, signed by all the officers. Nevertheless the militia returned before their service had expired, and no further notice was taken of the transaction. Without more notable incident the northern campaign of 1813 ended. Through the early months of 1814 there were frequent British marauding expeditions upon the northern frontier, but never did the encounters break into extensive hostilities. On the Lake, however, the war assumed a serious complexion. On May 14th, the British fleet opened fire on the battery at the mouth of Otter Creek, where Commander Macdonough, descending the river with his sloop of war and several galleys, forced the enemy to retreat without losing a man. A few days later Macdonough entered the Lake with his fleet and anchored at Cumberland Bay. At the same time Vermonters were enlisting in the Plattsburg army, attached to the 30th and 31st U.S. Regulars, and on the 11th of September the double battle, on land and water, took place. The ridiculously small and ill-trained land forces astonished the nation and the world by defeating a superior British force; and Commander, now Captain, Macdonough in a naval battle which still ranks as one of the major sea encounters in American history, effectively put an end to the British expectations of success across the American frontier, and thus hastened the treaty of peace which was signed on December 24th of the same year. The Hendee French Connection: "In my searches, I've come across a book with a title that fits with one of the Hendee Family stories and the time period. "Journal de Paul de Vendée, capitaine Huguenot 1611-1623, ... "

Vendée, Paul de, 1577-1627. I've tried using "Google Translate," from French to English-- didn't help me. I've tried, without success, to find someone who could read the French and help me understand if the book has relevance to the Hendee Family. A long shot, but I think worth some effort. If one of you has the interest and resources to look into this, I'd be much appreciative. If so, and to avoid duplication of effort, please let us know you are moving forward on this. This book is available via e-book. I have an e-copy. Please let me know if you would like me to email you a copy (15MB)." [Derek Stafford - stafford_derek@att.net]

 "This is fascinating! Thanks for sending it Dave. I have saved it in my Hendy folder and shall keep an eye out for all the people mentioned. Perhaps one day we will be able to join all the dots. I'm interested to hear your description of the Isle of Wight. It most definitely is an island today and the water in between is not a river but a tidal, salt-water sea. I went across to the Isle of Wight earlier this year on the ferry so can attest to that fact. I suppose it may depend on your definitions of islands and rivers. Your theory that the escaping Huguenots may have first landed on the Isle of Wight is interesting. Today the major ports from France are Dover and Folkestone, and even coming from the mouth of the Seine these are the closest major ports. Portsmouth was a traditional naval port. They could easily have been blown off course though and ended up on the Isle of Wight. My dad, Tom Hendy, was born in Saltash which is in St Germans and just across the Tamar Bridge from Devon. He went to school in Plymouth and his parents retired close to there. We spent many a childhood summer in Devon. Have you done any DNA tests? My dad has only done the auDNA so far but I'm going to give him the yDNA test for Christmas." [Susie MacLeod - gensusie@gmail.com]

“Bradwell Hall stands near the church, and formerly had a park. Not being mentioned in Domesday-book or the Red-book of the exchequer, it is conjectured to have included, or constituted, what are mentioned as encroachments on the king's demesne lands in Kelvedon. In the reign of King John, a family named Daggeworth held this manor, and, in the following reign, Osbert Daggeworth had free warren in Bradwell and in Dagworth in Pebmarsh, and a license for himself and heirs to hunt in the forest of Essex. In 1383 this estate was granted to Sir John Sutton, who is said to have holden it of the king in capite, as of the honour of Peverel. Ten years afterwards, it was in the possession of Sir John Hende, or Hinde, a rich alderman of London, of which city he was sheriff in 1381, and lord mayor in 1391 and 1404. He was a great benefactor to Coggeshall Abbey; in gratitude for which, they engaged to celebrate his obit with the solemnity of a founder. His eldest son, John Hende, Esq., was sheriff of Essex in 1443 and 1447, and died in 1461, leaving his mother, and a second John Hende, Esq., his brother, who was sheriff of the county in 1456, and died in 1464; and Joan, daughter of the elder brother, became the heiress general to both, and brought a vast estate in marriage to Walter Writtle, Esq., of a very ancient family, descended fi'om Ralph Fitz-Ralph, Esq., who had a grant of the manor of Writtle from Margaret, countess of Galloway, and from thence took his surname. From defect of heirship, these possessions afterwards became the property of John Basset, Esq., of Great Chishul, in right of his wife, daughter of William Andi'ews, Esq., and Amicia, sister of Sir John Hinde. Sir John Smyth, of Cressing Temple, also laid claim to this great inheritance, as the descendant of Alice, daughter of John Hende, alderman of London; but the estates were confirmed to the first claimant. . . In 1377, John Sewale, Esq., of Coggeshall, held here, under the abbot of Westminster, one carucate of land: and the greater part of the parish seems to have been held, under the same abbot, by the Hende family, of whom Sir John Hende died in 1418, possessed of the manor of Picots and other lands here. John Hende, Esq., the eldest son, died here in 1461, leaving an only daughter, wife of Walter Writtle, Esq., who, in her right, inherited this and other great estates. His son John dying under age, they devolved to his kinsman, John Basset, and were in possession of his son Gregory at the time of his death, in 1528.” [HISTORY OF ESSEX by Thomas Wright, Esq. of Trinity College Cambridge; Paul Hende - phendee@att.net]

“I believe you are correct in the evolution of the spelling of the Hende name. I even noticed in your report there was one "de Hende". This makes the connection to France. My long sight projection of the Hende family is that their beginnings may have ben in the Netherlands with movement into France/Belgium and then, before the Huguenot persecution in France, they moved into England. I believe at this point they had substantial funds and became prominent in England. This has been my prediction of what we will find as we continue to research. Thank You For Your Help.” [Paul E. "Mrs. Carl E. Mueller, N. Hackett avenue [Milwaukee, Wisconsin], traces her ancestry through the paternal line to a certain Richard Hendee, born in Normandy, France, toward the close of the Sixteenth century. He was of a family of French Protestants, that group called Huguenots who suffered so severely in the famous massacre of St. Bartholemew [massacre of Huguenots beginning on St. Bartholemew the Apostle's Day in Paris, France in 1572]. Richard, apparently, was born some years after this bloody event [about 13 years], but during the age of religious oppression that followed. His family finally fled from France to England, whence in 1639 [?], [His son?] Richard sailed to America as a ship's carpenter, settling at last in Connecticut." "In Shumaker / Felgendreger / Handy / Maxwell Ancestry Family Tree, it shows Richard Hendee (1611-1670) as son of Richard Oglesby Handy (1585[?]-) and Mary Charlotte Walker (1567-). The source for Richard Oglesby Handy is shown as UK, Extracted Probate Records, 1269-1975 which shows burial of same in 1604 in Derham, Gloucestershire, England, before the birth of Richard 1 [1611-1670] . . . Several years ago, I contracted with BritishAncestors.com to research possible birth records for Richard 1, but came up empty." [John Hendee - HendeeFamily@cox.net]

Comment: If the above quote "Richard, apparently, was born some years after this bloody event, but during the age of religious oppression that followed. His family finally fled from France to England, whence in 1639[?], Richard sailed to America as a ship's carpenter, settling at last in Connecticut." Since both the father (b. 1585) and his son (b. 1611) were named "Richard," it may have been "Richard" the son (b. 1611) who was actually the first of this Hendee line to come to New England. In addition, it may have been the son of this son who came with his father to New England around 1637-39 at age 7-9 years accompanied by the John Elderkin family. This third Richard Hendee might then have been the one to have acquired land in Connecticut in 1660 and marry Hannah Elderkin in 1661. While better supporting evidence is still needed here, three generations of the same names could only contribute to the confusion." [David A. Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"I believe you are correct about "The French Connection." I had my DNA done with findmypast.com. It came back indicating mostly Northern France, Belgium, Sweden and Norway. I believe the family probably did live in the Northern France area for the longest time as that was the most dense area on my DNA map. The terrible era of the Huguenots probably was the catalyst the family to begin their migratory journey Westward. This journey took a long time. The family, for the most part, were exceptional pioneers. Many were actually heroes." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"Cynthia [Henry], I was just looking today through some searches at a possible [Hendee] migration from France. Among other name deviations, I used the Ven Den Hende and Van Den Hende. However, I could not find much in these spellings pre 1850. I have found several Hendy names in England. These were around Cornwall between 1560 & 1610. Interestingly there is a village named Hendy in County Cornwall. Great To Hear From You Again," [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"From Mrs. F.C. [Frank Clark] Hendee [Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee] 2640 So. 13th St., Lincoln, Nebraska - Dear Cousin, The [Hendee family lived originally in Normandy, France, the name being Ven Dee (or perhaps La VenDee) pronounced "Vong Day." The prefix "Ven" being the same as "Van" in Holland and "Von" in German each denoting descent from royalty, the titles going to the eldest son of each family in direct line. When the Catholic persecutions drove the Huguenots or Protestants from France, the Ven Dees took up their abode in Denmark and England. It was during their sojourn in the latter land [England] that "V" was changed to "Haitch" ["H"]. "Deacon Caleb Hendee was one of the early settlers of Pittsford [Vermont]. He moved there from Connecticut before the Revolution. His son, Caleb, kept a journal for many years in which he recorded all the information he had about his family. I have a copy. Caleb also recorded a letter about 1839 from Abner Hendee, a cousin still in Connecticut, which told about the family fleeing Normandy at the time of "the religious wars" in France, and the early arrival of Richard Hendee, Sr. (b.1611) in Boston. "Mary Charlott Walker b. 1567 Gave birth to Richard Hendee b. 1611 Killingsworth, Middlesex, Conn.[?]" [Source: UK, Extracted Probate Records, 1269 – 1975] "The birthplace of Richard in 1611 is questionable. While Killingworth is where he is supposed to have died, [it is unlikely that it was his birthplace however] it wasn't even really settled in 1611 - some 9 years before the Pilgrims even landed. Also, whether on the ship Hopewell or not, it appears more and more that the Hendees arrived in the New World some time between 1634 and 1637. This would place the 1611 birth of Richard II in England as shown by a good number of online records including the entry from the Compendium of American Genealogy I sent out." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com] "The first Europeans arrived in the region in 1663, when it was known as Homonoscitt. On May 9, 1667, the region was named Kenilworth after the English town of the same name. The spelling of the name was distorted over the years, and the town came was incorporated as Kilinworth in October of 1703." [History of Killingworth, Connecticut]

"Thank you for your response. I concur more with your Hypothesis of yet another Richard Hendee. By the way, I recently came across a document that has Richard Hendy b. 1585. However, he was listed in Barbados on the ship "Coast Frigate" with Captain Varlow. I am at my mothers now over in Bradenton, Fl. When I get home, if you'd like, I will send you the document scan with sourcing documentation. . . . I failed to mention in the previous e-mail that I began to research the ship "Coast Frigate". It was a ship from England that delivered supplies to various British stations in the new world. It was owned by the East India Company and contracted by the British Government. It mainly supplied Saltpeter to powder makers in New England to make gunpowder. Is it possible that Richard b.1585 and his son Richard b. 1611 sailed aboard this ship. Could there yet have been another Richard after the 1611 Richard. I have always been concerned about the 30 year difference in age between Richard and Hanna." [Paul Hendee - phendee@att.net]

"I'm not sure I can make total sense of that reference from Cornell library. At the same time I doubt that the Richard who married Hannah Elderkin was born in 1611. That would have made him 50 years old when he married Hannah and and 59 when he died. Since his death is referred to as untimely, it is much more likely that he was born later, perhaps 1631." "Richard (2) [Ensign Richard Hendee], son of Richard (1) [Richard Hendee, Sr.] , was born about 1665 . He went to live in the family of his grandfather, John Elderkin (b. 1616) , and became an inhabitant of Norwich [Connecticut]. His sister Hannah married, January 14, 1685 , Samuel Belding, of Wethersfield. In 1691 he [Ensign Richard Hendee] and others from Norwich settled at "Joshua 's purchase," Windham, Connecticut, and he had a house built there, on what was called the Hither Place, on the north side of Old Windham street. [Ensign Richard] Hendee bought his land of Captain James Fitch, and was then unmarried. [Ensign Richard Hendee married Sarah Smith about 2 years later in 1693.] "Joshua's tract" was named for the son of Uncas, the Indian sachem, and the land was granted to Norwich men. Hendee was one of those granted the mill privilege of Beaver Brook, Windham. He was on the list of admitted inhabitants, May 30, 1693. A new pound was ordered built at the southeast corner of his lot in 1698. Children: Joshua, married (first) Elizabeth Wheelock, born July 18, 1709, at Preston, Connecticut; (second) September 30, 1726, Mercy Standish, descendent of Captain Myles Standish, of the "Mayflower"; Joshua settled in Coventry, Connecticut; Jonathan, owned the covenant in 1725, at Windham; settled in Coventry; married, February 12, 1740, Martha Millenton, five children; Asa, mentioned below." "Richard Hendee was one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Connecticut, in 1660. A tract of land was granted to him, Josiah Reed and Richard Welles, both of Leffing's Neck. He had an early allotment near the town plot, and shared in the first division of land, but it is not known that he ever lived in Norwich. In 1660-61 he worked on vessels at New London, Connecticut, and Newport, Rhode Island, and was evidently a ship carpenter by trade. Four or five years later [1664-1666] he was proprietor of a mill built by John Elderkin on the Menunkateuck river at Killingworth. This mill at Killingworth and fifty acres of land on Westward Hill Norwich were among his assets in the inventory

"documents in hand say that Richard 1 arrived [in America] in 1660 and was buried in Conn. [Connecticut] as well as the next 2 generations. Jonathan was the first to move to Vermont [in] 1775." [Letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1996)]

"The first of the Hendee family in this country was named Richard. He descended from a family of French Protestants who, on account of their religion, were expelled from Normandy and afterwards settled in England. Richard came to Boston in the first settlement of the country [New England], married and settled in that vicinity. He had two sons, [Ensign] Richard and Caleb. The latter died without children; the former married and had a son Jonathan; his wife soon after died. He left the child with its mother's relatives, moved to Connecticut, there married a Conant [Elizabeth] and settled in or near Windham. Jonathan on coming to manhood married and had several children - David, Barzillai[?], Asa[?] and Hannah. His wife died and he afterwards married Martha Millington by whom he had Jonathan, Richard, Caleb, Rachel[2] and Martha. He died at the place now called Ellington about the year 1775. He was poor and illiterate, but was said to have been an honest man and to have possessed more than an ordinary share of physical power, as did also his sons by his first wife [Rachel Knight]. Of his sons by his second wife [Martha Millington], Jonathan died when young at Havana, Cuba; Richard we shall have occasion to refer to hereafter; Caleb, the third son, was born in Coventry, Conn., in the month of August, 1745." "Currently I am at a block to discover how Zebulon fits into the Vermont, Connecticut Hendee line. I believe he came from Vermont but don't have proof yet. Are you able to tie that unusual name into your research? His wife's name was Barbary[sp] Fullerton. I see from someone's online family tree that there was a Zebulon Hendee b 1718/9 in Windham, Connecticut. Do you show that name? I would be very interested in receiving a copy of your WORD document, and would like for you to keep in touch with me regarding our research. I have 2 large Hendee old photo albums from the 1800's, but unfortunately most of the photos are unlabeled. Many of them are from photographers in Blissfield, Michigan; Dundee, Michigan; and Rochester, New York. Would copies of these photos be of any interest to you even though they do not have identifying names? They may actually be friends of whoever made the album, or inlaws. I have no way of knowing, but these are the locations of many Hendees I know. . . David, thank you so much for forwarding this document to me. There is so much to read through, and I am so anxious to tackle it with my highlighter. I just wish I could find my exact link into the Connecticut line back in the late 1700's. Considering naming patterns, you might suspect that the Zebulon Hendee who fathered our line would connect to the Zebulon you have noted. Someday I will be able to confirm that connection, I hope." Kristin ("Kris") Lee Hendee b. 1947 m. ___ Exline "Currently I am at a block to discover how Zebulon fits into the Vermont, Connecticut Hendee line. I believe he came from Vermont but don't have proof yet. Are you able to tie that unusual name into your research? His wife's name was Barbary Fullerton. I see from someone's online family tree that there was a Zebulon Hendee b1718/9 in Windham, CT. Do you show that name? I would be very interested in receiving a copy of your WORD document, and would like for you to keep in touch with me regarding our research. I have 2 large Hendee old photo albums from the 1800's, but unfortunately most of the photos are unlabeled. Many of them are from photographers in Blissfield, Michigan; Dundee, Michigan; and Rochester, NY. Would copies of these photos be of any interest to you even though they do not have identifying names? They may actually be friends of whoever made the album, or inlaws. I have no way of knowing, but these are the locations of many Hendees I know. . . David, thank you so much for forwarding this document to me. There is so much to read through, and I am so anxious to tackle it with my highlighter. I just wish I could find my exact link into the Connecticut line back in the late 1700's. Considering naming patterns, you might suspect that the Zebulon Hendee who fathered our line would connect to the Zebulon you have noted. Someday I will be able to confirm that connection, I hope." "I was born June 7, 1948 at 11:30 A.M. in Rochester N.Y.. My mother told me that we would ride the train, with my sister Joanne from Rochester to where her mother lived near Springfield, Mass. As I grew older, four years old, I really enjoyed these trips. Our family always lived around water. Our home was in Webster, N.Y. which was very close to Lake Ontario. I began to swim at three years old and sailing at 10 years old. By the time I was 15 I had circumnavigated Lake Ontario with the Sea Scouts four times. I became a Quartermaster Scout at 16 (equivalent to an Eagle Scout). I joined the U.S. Navy while a Senior at R.L. Thomas High School in 1967. I served in Viet Nam. Upon return from the service I worked at Eastman Kodak for five years as a technician in the Research Department. On September 4, 1971 I married the girl across the street, Joanne Jarvis. We are still married (as we always will be) with son, Paul Jacob and Daughter, Meredith who has our two grandsons, Dante Justice and Shawn Thomas. After Kodak I went back to College and received my Bachelor of Arts in Mass Media/Journalism. I have worked in the Print/Graphic Arts Industry since 1980 as a Sales person and then a computer specialist. I have been listed in Who's Who in Marketing in 1984 and 1985. I retired in 2013 and now reside in Port Saint Lucie, FL. I enjoy woodworking, Model Railways and Genealogy." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

- My mother, Virginia Phelps Hendee, Now 96 and living in Bradenton, FL is originally from Florence, Mass.
- She was the originator on a lot of what I have recorded Genealogically
- Her Grandmother, Carrie, was the woman she looked up to growing up.
- My moms' only genealogical request is that I find more information on the Carrie & Conrad side of the family.

"I am a retired graphic computer specialist now living in Port Saint Lucie, FL. I am a board member and I.T. person for the Treasure Coast Genealogical Society of South Florida. I volunteer my services. We are affiliated with the Saint Lucie Public Library. At home I use Find My Past. When I am at the Library I use the Free access to search records on Ancestry. It sounds as if you have acquired a lot of data. I would love to be invited to see your work. The link I left in my original e-mail has a tree I have been working on through my home genealogical software, Heredis. There were, and still are, many Hendee family's throughout New England. Most prevalent in Vermont and Connecticut. I collect a lot of old books and manuscripts." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"Hello Dave: Ruth Ellis gave me your contact info. Apparently you are the person who may hold information on the Hendee Family. If you would be willing to share I would be greatly appreciative. Below is a link to what I have completed so far. There is a lot of documentation, sources and children I have yet to add. Ensign Richard Hendee for example had about 26 children with four wives. Many Thanks, Paul E. Hendee - 'Learn From Yesterday, Live For Today, Hope For Tomorrow - Albert Einstein' - Webster, New York Hendee Family site - http://sites.rootsmagic.com/The_Webster_Hendee_Family/" [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"I'm glad you were able to navigate the Webster Hendee Family website. I use an application called Roots Magic to produce it. I also use Mocavo, FindMy Past and Family Search to seek new info. I live in Central Florida now. So, I belong to the Treasure Coast Genealogical Society. They have free access to Ancestry.com and their database. One large problem I have is remembering where I am in time and how the person I may be researching relates to others on the tree. I think of this as "The Close Focus" and "The Whole Tree" focus. This being the case, I really take my time researching individuals. I like to think that what I have built this far is like the spine. This means I have gone from me down through the Father side without children in many cases, but, usually with Spouse(s). Later I will add in the children, etc. . . I believe you are correct about "The French Connection". I had my DNA done with findmypast.com. It came back indicating mostly Northern France, Belgium, Sweden and Norway. I believe the family probably did live in the Northern France area for the longest time as that was the most dense area on my DNA map. The terrible era of the Huguenots probably was the catalyst the family to begin their migratory journey Westward. This journey took a long time. The family, for the most part, were exceptional pioneers. Many were actually heroes - Like George Hendee of Springfield, Mass. I found in my research a real American Patriot, Hannah Hunter Hendee, who has a commemorative medal and was mentioned in a speech by Abraham Lincoln. Yes, I bought one of the medals and downloaded the text of the speech. I would be happy to share with you and your wife how you can attain a medal yourself, (if they are still available) and the text copy of the speech . . . I use the cloud application DropBox to share with interested parties. There are many photos and documents you may feel free to download. I need to tidy that folder up. But, I will send you an invitation to join the group." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"Dave: I am very happy to have made your acquaintance. The information you supplied on the subject of Helen Hunter Hendee is great. It really allows an objective review of the incident. I will now study further. Truly I have had the same quandary. I would like to firm up Hannah in our tree. Though I come close, I have no firm documentation. You have provided me with a large amount of info for me to move forward on the issue. The same issue is with George Hendee (Indian Motorcycle) from Springfield, Mass. I think as I do my family genealogy, I keep things like Hanna and George as a note to look for. I feel I will find the true connection sooner or later. Next week I'll have my Family "Drop Box" organized. I'll send you a link with permissions to upload and download." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

Jonathan Hendee (Hendy) m(2). Martha Millington 12 Feb 1740 Coventry, Tolland County, Connecticut "As I continue to search for this family I feel that perhaps the Hendee family was here long before the original Charles Hendee was supposed to have arrived. For one thing, I recently found a family line beginning with Jonathan Hendy and Martha Millington. Their son, Caleb Hendee who was born August 30, 1745 in Coventry CT [Connecticut] married Caroline Ellsworth. They had a son, Samuel b. April 23, 1791 in Pittsford, VT [Vermont] who married Abigail Paine. Samuel's son was Edward Hendee b. 8 Mar 1817, Pittsford, VT who married Mary Anne Cook. Edward's son was Charles Hendee. Besides the name Charles being a coincidence, you will note above that George Hendee carries the name Ellsworth for his middle name. It has always been Hendee family tradition to carry family surnames for middle names. Thanks to two individuals who have sent me their Hendee information I have the following to add. I have put in parenthesis the alternate dates suggested by other people." Martha MILLINGTON-6115; born: ; marr: 12 Feb 1740, Coventry, Tolland, Connecticut, United States; died: 1789, Pittsford, Rutland, Vermont, United States

"Martha, his [Jonathan Hendee] widow, soon after the death of her husband, came to live with my father [Caleb Hendee, Sr.] in this town [Pittsford, Vermont] and continued with him until she died, which was about the time I was married [Jan 1789]. She lived to be eighty-four or eighty-five years of age. She was very pious and kept the Sabbath very strictly. Her maiden name was Martha Millington, of her relation I know but little. She informed me, however that her ancestors came to America from England at an early period, that some of their relatives in England, as she was informed, were wealthy and that considerable estate was left by some of them for the Millingtons from here, but for some reason which I now do not recollect, it was never obtained. She had a brother who lived and died in Shaftsbury in this state who had a son by the name of John, who was at one time a Baptist priest. One by the name of Solomon who I believe now lives in Shaftsbury. Of his posterity I know nothing more. My grandmother had also a sister who married a man by the name of Collins and lived I believe in Manchester in this state; at least one of his sons did by the name of Nathaniel who became wealthy and died in Manchester some years since. He had a brother Samuel who lived in Dorset in this state and for several years represented the town in the legislature, but is now dead. There was a third brother whose name I believe is Asa, who now lives in the town of Iva in this county [Rutland County, Vermont]. This is all I know of my grandmother Hendee's relatives. I suppose there were others of whom I have no knowledge or present recollection." [grandson, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr. manuscripts (1827-1854), pg. 2]

"The first of the Hendee family in this country was named Richard. He descended from a family of French Protestants who, on account of their religion, were expelled from Normandy and afterwards settled in England. Richard came to Boston in the first settlement of the country [New England], married and settled in that vicinity. He had two sons, [Ensign] Richard and Caleb. The latter died without children; the former married and had a son Jonathan; his wife soon after died. He left the child with its mother's relatives, moved to Connecticut, there married a Conant [Elizabeth] and settled in or near Windham. Jonathan on coming to manhood married and had several children - David, Barzillai, Asa and Hannah. His wife died and he afterwards married Martha Millington by whom he had Jonathan, Richard, Caleb, Rachel and Martha. He died at the place now called Ellington about the year 1775. He was poor and illiterate, but was said to have been an honest man and to have possessed more than an ordinary share of physical power, as did also his sons by his first wife. Of his sons by his second wife, Jonathan died when young at Havana, Cuba; Richard we shall have occasion to refer to hereafter; Caleb, the third son, was born in Coventry, Conn., in the month of August, 1745." "BURYING GROUNDS: There are four burying grounds in the town [Pittsford, Vermont]. The first was laid out in 1785, though it is evident that the proprietors intended that ground for burial purposes long before it was regularly laid out, as it was thus used almost from the first instance of mortality in the township. The inclosure contains two acres, and is located on the west side of the road southwest of the Baptist meeting house. It is not known whose remains were first interred there, but the oldest head stone we can find bears this inscription: 'In memory of Hannah Drury, wife of Ebenezer Drury, who died Dec. 12, 1777, in the 35th year of her age.' There was a burying ground, at a very early day, on the west side of the Creek, on land formerly owned by James Hopkins. It was situated on the east side of the road, some six or eight rods north of the three fragments of a large boulder, which are conspicuously seen from the road. This land was given by Mr. Hopkins to the people of the town for burial purposes, or, at least, it was so understood at the time it was began to be used by them for such purposes. At what time it was given, or when the first interment was made in it, is not known, though there is an allusion to it upon the records as early as 1785. A tradition makes this the oldest burying ground in the town, though we have reason to doubt its truthfulness. There were interred here the remains of members of the Waters, Sheldon, Lake, Mead and Stevens families, and, possibly, the remains of individuals of other families. The last interment there was that of a child of Daniel Stevens, about the year 1803. When the farm, of which this ground was a part, passed out of Mr. Hopkins' hands, no reservation was made of it. Consequently, Mr. Hopkins' successors have claimed it as a part of their property, and used it accordingly. It is now claimed by G. and L. Hendee, as a part of the Buck farm, which they purchased a few years since. The head-stones have all been removed, the mounds leveled, and not a vestige of the graves is now to be seen. The third burying ground was laid out in 1793. On the 4th of March in that year, the town 'voted to lay out a burying place northeast of the meeting house plot, on the town plot. 'Chose Benjamin Cooley, Thomas Hammond, Noah Hopkins, William Cox and Samuel Copley a committee to lay out a burying place.' This committee laid out the ground in accordance with their instructions, and at the annual meeting in March, 1794, the town instructed the selectmen to fence the burying ground. Small appropriations have occasionally been made for repairing the fences, but no great amount has ever been expended in improvements upon the place. The first interment in this yard was in 1793, very soon after it was laid out, but it is not certainly known whose the remains were. The first head-stone put up here bears the following inscription: 'In memory of Sally Hammond, daughter of Capt. Thomas Hammond and Mrs. Hannah, his wife, who died September 22d, 1793, in the 9th year of her age.' The next oldest head-stone bears this inscription: 'In memory of William Cox, Jr., son of Mr. William Cox and Mrs. Beulah Cox, who died Nov. 29, 1793, aged 13 years, 6 months and 26 days. Death must be paid when God doth call, As I have paid it so must all; And when you this memorial see, Prepare for death and follow me.' On the 2d day of March, 1857, an association composed of a large number of the citizens of the town was formed, and took the name of the Cemetery Association . . . This association, by its trustees, purchased the Hill lot, consisting of six acres, a little distance east of the village, for a cemetery. In the following autumn the association applied to the General Assembly for an act of incorporation, which was granted on the 24th day of November." "Today I spent a couple of hours hunting for Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr's. manuscript in six fat Hendee folders. I found a typewritten copy of his memoir made by a woman named Dee LaBatt, obviously a Hendee descendent. I will be hosting the Museum all day Tues. the 30th. Hope to be uninterrupted long enough to find the references to Judge Abner Hendee's correspondence, though I don't remember any deeds or original letters from him. But I'll let you both know what I do find. We also have Caleb Jr's. daily journal from 1813 to 1817. I hand-copied it before I gave it to our museum, according to a note I found by our curator, Anne Pelkey. A copy is in our Museum; another copy is in the Vermont Historical Society collections in Barre, Vermont. I had the original in the Hendee papers that were left to me by Mrs. G. Frank Hendee (Mary Frances Edgcombe). After Frank died in 1933 Mary F. Hendee lived with my grandmother as a companion until shortly before she died Feb. 25, 1941 at the Columbus Smith Home "for indigent Christian Women of good character" in Salisbury, VT. She and Frank had no children, so she left her possessions to my grandmother. My mother, my sister and I gave some of Mrs. Hendee's things to Mrs. Sarah "Sallie" (Hooker) Hendee, widow of Warren G. Hendee. They included the General's surveying instrument (its tripod had disappeared long ago). The instrument may be in the possession of Sallie's granddaughter, Donna Hendee, who lives in Rutland Town, VT. There is a postcard of G. Frank Hendee on pg. 85 in "Pittsford Now and Then," a photo book published 1980 by Pittsford Historical Society. Frank is in a horse-drawn carriage with the General's surveying instrument. 4/28/2013 - Today I got into the Museum files and found the original of Abner Hendee's June 15, 1834 letter to Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr., given to the Museum by Sallie (Hooker) Hendee or her children. I photocopied it for you, but didn't find the 1738 deed from Richard to son Asa Hendee that Derek [Stafford] refers to. However, in the three hours I was there I only got through half of one folder. Charles Jefferson Hendee b. 31 Mar 1826 Vermont, USA d. 1886 bur. Pittsford, Vermont Cemetery Residence: Burlington, Chittenden County, Vermont (1850); Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont (1870) [Appleton & Allied Family Tree (GEDCOM) Denise Higgins - Mamad1413@aol.com; Ren'ee Miller Jansen - reneeij@comcast.net] "Charles Jefferson, born March 31st A.D. 1826." [grandfather, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., manuscripts (1827-1854), pg. 13]

"Dear David, Delighted to hear from you. Both Curator Anne Pelkey and I were unaware that the Hendee paintings were properly cataloged, cross-referenced, wrapped, and stored upstairs. Anne found them this morning: Charles Jefferson Hendee (General Caleb Hendee Jr.'s. son) and Solomon (son of Deacon Caleb Hendee) and his wife Lois (Paine) Hendee. I lived in New Hampshire from 1971 to late 1995, and Jean Davies was curator in 1997, so neither Anne nor I knew that Solomon and Lois Hendee's portraits had been given to the Society. Before I moved away my sister and I gave Charles J. Hendee's portrait to the Society, only we thought it was a portrait of Lafayette Hendee. Our grandmother had bought it, probably in the early 1900s, from who knows who? We took her word for the identity, and we gave it to PHS [Pittsford (Vermont) Historical Society] before I moved away. (The accession card says it came from me.) Someone had the good sense to look on the back of the painting and found Charles J. Hendee's name. We can't imagine who might have told the researcher that the paintings couldn't be viewed in 1997, but I have a digital camera with a good portrait setting, and will get shots of all three to e-mail you ASAP." Their children were Josiah, Henry, John, Joseph, William, Hannah, Fanny, Esther and Caroline. Josiah married and settled in Whiting, Vt. Henry, born May 2, 1791, married Mary Jones, of Claremont, N. H. On the 17th of November, 1819, in company with his brothers, Josiah of Whiting, and John, he purchased of William Barnes, of Rutland, the Merriam store and the place now occupied by John Leonard. The firm took the name of "J. Simonds & Co.," and after trading a short time, Henry and John bought Josiah's interest in their Pittsford property and continued business under the firm-name of "Simonds & Co." In 1826, they bought of Whipple Spooner the place now owned by the heirs of Henry Simonds and occupied by his widow. They lived in an old house which, at that time, stood near where the horse-barn now stands, and had a distillery a few rods southwest of the house. In 1834, John sold his share of the property to his brother, Henry, who continued the mercantile business. About the year 1840, he built the house now on the premises, and sold the old house which was removed to the lot now owned by John Fleming, and was soon after burnt. She bore all her sufferings with great fortitude and patience. She had her senses perfectly well through the whole time of her distress. "The story[?] that has been passed down through the generations is that the original progenitor, Charles Hendee, first arrived here from France[?] bringing along his young son, Samuel[?]. Nothing is known of young Samuel's mother. But on August 30, 1836 Charles Hendee married Adeline Davis in Suffolk, Roxbury, Massachusetts. Family legend says that there was some land to be inherited in France[?] as Charles's son, Samuel Charles Hendee (or Charles Samuel) was born at Hendee Hall in France[?]. There was a coat of arms that was lost during WWI (see below). Family legend also has it that Charles's second wife brought a son to their marriage and she quickly changed his name to Charles Davis Hendee[?] in case there were lands to be inherited. I'm not sure if this is true, partly because they were married in 1836 and they had a child born in 1837 who was named Charles Davis Hendee . . . As I've been digging lately through the internet I am finding that the original stories about the Hendees are not entirely accurate. I believe that the stories may have originally been fairly truthful in that the Hendees were from France and very possibly of noble birth. But I think the story goes back many generations before our Charles. The Hendees fled from France at the time of the Huguenot persecution. I have just recently come in contact with a few people on the internet who have shared vast amounts of information with me and provided proof that we are definitely descended from these original Hendee ancestors." "Family legend has it that Samuel Charles Hendee was born on May 10, about 1833 at Hendee Hall in France[?] to Charles Hendee. This simply is not true. His father's name was Charles Jefferson Hendee and his mother is still unknown. It is probably true that an ancestor long ago was born in Hendee Hall, but it was not our Samuel. Samuel was most likely born in Connecticut or Boston, Massachusetts where his father had settled. Charles remarried to Adeline Davis a native of Roxbury, Massachusetts and they lived and raised their children there." "Dear David [Petrie], Delighted to hear from you. Both Curator Anne Pelkey and I were unaware that the Hendee paintings were properly cataloged, cross-referenced, wrapped, and stored upstairs. Anne found them this morning: Charles Jefferson Hendee (General Caleb Hendee Jr's. son) and Solomon (son of Deacon Caleb Hendee) and his wife Lois (Paine) Hendee. I lived in New Hampshire from 1971 to late 1995, and Jean Davies was curator in 1997, so neither Anne nor I knew that Solomon and Lois Hendee's portraits had been given to the Society. Before I moved away my sister and I gave Charles J. Hendee's portrait to the Society, only we thought it was a portrait of Lafayette Hendee. Our grandmother had bought it, probably in the early 1900s, from who knows who? We took her word for the identity, and we gave it to PHS [Pittsford (Vermont) Historical Society] before I moved away. (The accession card says it came from me.) Someone had the good sense to look on the back of the painting and found Charles J. Hendee's name. We can't imagine who might have told the researcher that the paintings couldn't be viewed in 1997, but I have a digital camera with a good portrait setting, and will get shots of all three to e-mail you ASAP." Samuel Charles Hendee b. 1833 Connecticut[?], USA m. Mary Elizabeth ("Eliza") Mathews d. 1868 (age 34 yrs) Ohio (or Massachusetts) Cause of Death: "... his death was the result of a fall from scaffolding while painting a house." Occupation: carpenter [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>] "Charles Jefferson Hendee married Adeline Davis in Boston. Adeline was born in Roxbury, Suffolk, MA. Charles [Jefferson Hendee] was widowed after his first wife produced my ancestor, Samuel Charles Hendee." [Wanda Menix - Plaistow, New Hampshire - splinter@mediaone.net] "Family legend has it that Samuel Charles Hendee was born on May 10, about 1833[?] at Hendee Hall in France[?] to Charles Hendee. This simply is not true. His father's name was Charles Jefferson Hendee and his mother is still unknown. It is probably true that an ancestor long ago was born in Hendee Hall, but it was not our Samuel [Charles Hendee]. Samuel was most likely born in Connecticut or Boston, Massachusetts where his father had settled. Charles remarried to Adeline Davis a native of Roxbury, Massachusetts and they lived and raised their children there." Mary Elizabeth ("Eliza"): b. 9 May 1829 Ohio, USA d. aft 1881 Ottawa, Illinois bur. aft 1881, Ottawa, Illinois [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>] "Our Samuel married Mary Eliza Mathews who was born May 9, 1829 in Ohio. I believe Mary came from a substantial family back east. They [Mary and Samuel] had a large family, the youngest being only two years old when her father [Samuel] died. Mary Eliza Mathews Hendee had been taught to sew, embroider and play the melodeon but not really to work, so that her husband and her daughters did most of the work and waited on her hand and foot (she was a close cousin to the J. P. Morgan family). When her husband died, she was hard put to care for a family of 11 children. She immediately contacted her cousin, a doctor named Lawlor Carlton and he arranged for them to travel by covered wagon to his land in Marshalltown, Iowa. Emma remembered receiving boxes of clothing at Christmas and gifts. One gift she received was a red glass ring which was too large for her finger and she dropped it through a crack in the floor. At some point, the family moved on to Tama, IA [Iowa]. It was here that her [Emma's] brothers played the banjo and sang, hunted and fished. They had a tame crow that stole everything out of her mother's sewing basket; her thimble or anything bright such as buttons, etc. They lived on the side of Tama so that when they were going to Sunday School at the Baptist Church they would meet the Indians from the reservation. One in particular "Indian John" frightened them so that Emma and Mary would hide in a large culvert until he went by. . . Mary Eliza Mathews [Hendee] died after Emma was married, so after 1881. She was buried at Ottawa, IL [Illinois]" [Wanda Menix - Plaistow, New Hampshire - splinter@mediaone.net] "Cora Sand stated that her mother thought that Samuel may have been a Mason as she remembered aprons, plumes and black horses pulling the hearse at his funeral." "She [Mary Eliza Mathews] immediately contacted her cousin, a doctor named Lawlor Carlton and he arranged for them to travel by covered wagon to his land in Marshalltown, Iowa. Emma [Emily Morgan Hendee b. 11 Oct 1863] remembered receiving boxes of clothing at Christmas and gifts. One gift she received was a red glass ring which was too large for her finger and she dropped it through a crack in the floor. At some point, the family moved on to Tama, IA. It was here that her brothers played the banjo and sang, hunted and fished. They had a tame crow that stole everything out of her mother's sewing basket; her thimble or anything bright such as buttons, etc. They lived on the side of Tama so that when they were going to Sunday School at the Baptist Church they would meet the Indians from the reservation. One in particular "Indian John" frightened them so that Emma and Mary would hide in a large culvert until he went by. In Ohio, they caught crawfish and clams in the creek in Ohio and cooked them. At night they hunted coon and possum with their hound dogs, Sage and Smoke. Emma's sister "Min" (Viola Gwenanne) married very young and lived in St. Louis. Emma went to live with her the summer she was eleven and said it was the hottest place in the world. Mary let her two daughters, Adeline and Mary Frances go to live with other people and Emma went to live part-time with a woman who lived in a sod shanty. The woman's husband was away most of the time working where they were putting through the railroad. In this sod shanty built in the side of the hill there was one room and one bed. These people only owned one cow and one morning the woman had been out milking and Emma wasn't up yet and when she came in she told Emma to put the quilt over her head and keep still and the lady took a shotgun and shot a blacksnake off of a rafter and it fell directly on the bed and Emma! She remembered that at night the water in the water bucket would freeze. For Easter there was never any thought about dressing up. They wore what they had. They tried to have chicken or eggs and flowers of some kind if they could, but they basically just went to church in the morning and after dinner to Sunday School and again to church in the evening. The same on Thanksgiving. Emma remembered that they used to wear petticoats made of two layers of materials of cotton in between and quilted. Thinner down to the hips and then two or maybe 3 layers down to their ankles. No one care about their size in those days. They also used to wear panties down below their knees. It would look funny to see a woman with panties that long now, wouldn't it? Emma remembered her first pair of underwear that her sister Adi made out of cotton flannel and shaped to fit her body. She wore her panties over it and her shoes came way up above her ankles. When she was 14 her dresses came to her shoe tops and when 18 her dress touched the floor. It looked terrible if a woman's dress was short enough to show any of her shoes. Emma spoke of a Mrs. Wheeler who used to spin and weave all of the material for her family's clothes. (I don't know if this was the woman that she went to live with.) Click here if you would like a brief history of Emma's memories of her life with the Wheelers.

"The story[?] that has been passed down through the generations is that the original progenitor, Charles Hendee, first arrived here from France[?] bringing along his young son, Samuel. Nothing is known of young Samuel's mother. But on August 30, 1836 Charles Hendee married Adeline Davis in Suffolk, Roxbury, Massachusetts. Family legend says that there was some land to be inherited in France[?] as Charles's son, Samuel Charles Hendee (or Charles Samuel) was born at Hendee Hall in France[?]. There was a coat of arms that was lost during WWI. . . As I've been digging lately through the internet I am finding that the original stories about the Hendees are not entirely accurate. I believe that the stories may have originally been fairly truthful in that the Hendees were from France and very possibly of noble birth. But I think the story goes back many generations before our Charles. The Hendees fled from France at the time of the Huguenot persecution. I have just recently come in contact with a few people on the internet who have shared vast amounts of information with me and provided proof that we are definitely descended from these original Hendee ancestors." It is said that Samuel died in 1868 in Massachusetts. He was 34 years old and his death was the result of a fall from scaffolding while painting a house. However, other evidence suggests that he died in Ohio. I believe it very well may have been Ohio as that as where the family migrated from after his death. He was a carpenter by trade. They had a large family, the youngest being only two years old when her father died. Mary Eliza Mathews Hendee had been taught to sew, embroider and play the melodeon but not really to work, so that her husband and her daughters did most of the work and waited on her hand and foot. As you will see below, Mary [Elizabeth [Mathews] Hendee] used family names as middle names for many of her children. When a record of Mary can be found, these will make excellent clues to her background. However, it should be noted that this practice was common in the Hendee family anyway. Samuel [Charles Hendee] and Mary had the following children and possibly more:

1. Samuel Warner Merton Hendee
2. John Edgar Benson Hendee (1849-)
3. Alme Elizabeth Hendee (1853-1911) married to Walter Southgate, May 13, 1875 in Douglas, Nebraska. She divorced Walter and married a Turner later on.

"My Grandmother was a Hendee. She is from Vermont. She was born in 1902. Her name is Laura May Hendee, married a Socia. Her fathers name was John Walter Hendee of Grand Isle, Vermont . . . I am looking for a Walter Hendee. I know he lived in Colchester Vermont. He was married to a Christie Socia. They had 2 children together, Laura and Leon Hendee. Leon was born in 1902, and Laura was born in 1904. I know Christie died and Walter remarried and went on to have about 6 more children . . . Just wanted to mention that we think Christie Socia may have come from Montana. Then married Walter Hendee and moved to Colchester Vermont . . . My Great Grandmothers name was Christie Socia, not sure where she was born. She married a man named Walter Hendee in Grande Isle Vermont in 1927[?] [not possible if children were born in 1902 and 1904]. If anyone has any information on Christie Socia, please email me . . . Mr. Hendee departed this life in Ohio, while the demise of his wife occurred in Ottawa, Illinois. Mrs. Glass, mother of the following named; Arthur E., of Prophetstown; Benjamin F., a graduate of the Kansas City, Medical College; Robert; Harry E.; Perry, deceased; Grace; Edna; and Cora P. The oldest son, Arthur E. Glass, was married three years ago to Miss Maria C.[Chloe] Martin, of Portland township and they have one little daughter, Myrna Irene. He is employed as a rural mail carrier from Prophetstown." [Wanda Menix - Plaistow, New Hampshire - spinter@mediaone.net]

"She [Mary Eliza Mathews] immediately contacted her cousin, a doctor named Lawlor Carlton and he arranged for them to travel by covered wagon to his land in Marshalltown, Iowa. Emma [Emily Morgan Hendee b. 11 Oct 1863] remembered receiving boxes of clothing at Christmas and gifts. One gift she received was a red glass ring which was too large for her finger and she dropped it through a crack in the floor. At some point, the family moved on to Tama, IA. It was here that her brothers played the banjo and sang, hunted and fished. They had a tame crow that stole everything out of her mother's sewing basket; her thimble or anything bright such as buttons, etc. They lived on the side of Tama so that when they were going to Sunday School at the Baptist Church they would meet the Indians from the reservation. One in particular "Indian John" frightened them so that Emma and Mary would hide in a large culvert until he went by. In Ohio, they caught crawfish and clams in the creek in Ohio and cooked them. At night they hunted coon and possum with their hound dogs, Sage and Smoke. Emma's sister "Min" (Viola Gwenanne) married very young and lived in St. Louis. Emma went to live with her the summer she was eleven and said it was the hottest place in the world. Mary let her two daughters, Adeline and Mary Frances go to live with other people and Emma went to live part-time with a woman who lived in a sod shanty. The woman's husband was away most of the time working where they were putting through the railroad. In this sod shanty built in the side of the hill there was one room and one bed. These people only owned one cow and one morning the woman had been out milking and Emma wasn't up yet and when she came in she told Emma to put the quilt over her head and keep still and the lady took a shotgun and shot a blacksnake off of a rafter and it fell directly on the bed and Emma! She remembered that at night the water in the water bucket would freeze. For Easter there was never any thought about dressing up. They wore what they had. They tried to have chicken or eggs and flowers of some kind if they could, but they basically just went to church in the morning and after dinner to Sunday School and again to church in the evening. The same on Thanksgiving. Emma remembered that they used to wear petticoats made of two layers of materials of cotton in between and quilted. Thinner down to the hips and then two or maybe 3 layers down to their ankles. No one cared about their size in those days. They also used to wear panties down below their knees. It would look funny to see a woman with panties that long now, wouldn't it? Emma remembered her first pair of underwear that her sister Adi made out of cotton flannel and shaped to fit her body. She wore her panties over it and her shoes came way up above her ankles. When she was 14 her dresses came to her shoe tops and when 18 her dress touched the floor. It looked terrible if a woman's dress was short enough to show any of her shoes. Emma spoke of a Mrs. Wheeler who used to spin and weave all of the material for her family's clothes. (I don't know if this was the woman that she went to live with.)" [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>]

"Emma's Stay With The Wheelers: Little Emily Morgan Hendee was sent out to live with old Mrs. Wheeler when she was a young girl of 10 or 11 years old. Her mother was widowed and could not handle 11 children. She was greatly impressed with the self-sufficiency of the Wheelers and shared these memories of her life with them. I imagine they lived in or near Tama, Iowa. Old Mrs. Wheeler used to spin and weave all of the material for her family's clothes. She had 7 boys, 1 two-year-old girl, herself and her husband and her loom was always clacking. She taught Emma how to weave and knit. She made Emma knit a pair of wool stocking but she could never wear the wool unless she wore underwear as it made the back of her knees sore. The Wheelers raised all their own sheep and sheared them, taking the wool to Augusta where it was carded into hanks about 15 to 18 inches long and about as thick as thick as your middle finger. She would then put one on the spindle then take what she called her wheel boy, it was like a clothes pin without any hole in it and she'd start her wheel a going and that started the rest of it. Then she would draft out the wool with great experience. She would then rewind the wheel and that wound it up on her spindle and then she already had it on and she'd keep on the one piece, would make about three windings then she'd take another piece and splice it on. She kept on until she got a spindle full. She wove lindsay woolsey for herself, it was blue and white and very warm. She made Emma a jacket of it for helping her out. She averaged three dresses a year for herself. The men wore blue jeans and she worked summer and winter on them. The men had one coat, vest and 2 pair of pants for good each year which they wore the year round. The old ones left over from other years were used for every day work clothes. She didn't put in her time on the house, she didn't have much in her house. It was plain and it didn't take her long to go through it. It was clean just the same. She had a place out in a shed where she wove blankets and they were warm. You didn't need much over you. Besides raising their own sheep, they also raised chickens, ducks, geese, pigs and cows. They made their own butter from the cow's cream. They butchered their own meat and had lard from the pigs. Their wheat they took to the mill and had ground for flour. They raised their own buckwheat for buckwheat pancakes and made their own maple syrup and sugar. They didn't have white sugar very often in those days. They had brown and everything they ate, she baked herself. In the fall, she made pumpkin and apple butters enough to last all winter. She dried peaches, blackberries, apples, raspberries and hack berries. Everything she could get ahold of she dried, she even dried cherries to use like we use raisins. The berries were hung from the roof on string or cord or laid on the roof to dry. They bought only salt and a little coffee. They drank lots of sassafras tea, which they went out and gathered themselves. They were Pennsylvania Dutch people." Myrna Irene Glass b. 11 Aug 1907 Illinois, USA m. "Myrna Irene Glass (my beloved grandmother) was born August 11, 1907 and died March 4, 1990 in Sterling, Whiteside Cty, IL. She was born prematurely and it was said that her father could put his wedding ring over her wrist. She was only about 11 pounds when she was a year old! I believe she had an allergy to milk as her grandmother, Emma Hendee Glass took her for awhile and spoon fed her cereal and then she began to pick up on her weight. She was very petite all her life. She had very good manual and finger dexterity and went to business school in Chicago when she was an adult where she could type really fast. This is quite an accomplishment with those old typewriters! She was also an excellent pianist and could knit anything without a pattern by simply looking at it. In fact, she did some type of knitting or crocheting all of her later years. She married my grandfather, Howland Oliver Ellis on September 11, 1926 in Rock Falls, Whiteside Cty, IL. Though they had seven children, they didn't get on well due to his late diagnosis of schizophrenia. They were divorced and Myrna married a really decent fellow named Warren Planthaber who was a wonderful grandfather. He was the widower of her sister-in-law Jennet Ellis Planthaber (Howland's sister). He turned out to be the love of her life and when he died in July of 1981, she was not sure how she would go on." "Family legend also has it that Charles [Jefferson Hendee's] second wife [Adeline Davis] brought a son to their marriage and she quickly changed his name to Charles Davis Hendee[?] in case there were lands [in France] to be inherited. I'm not sure if this is true, partly because they were married in 1836 and they had a child born in 1837 who was named Charles Davis Hendee . . . As I've been digging lately through the internet I am finding that the original stories about the Hendees are not entirely accurate. I believe that the stories may have originally been fairly truthful in that the Hendees were from France and very possibly of noble birth. But I think the story goes back many generations before our Charles. The Hendees fled from France at the time of the Huguenot persecution. I have just recently come in contact with a few people on the internet who have shared vast amounts of information with me and provided proof that we are definitely descended from these original Hendee ancestors." "My Charles Hendee named one of his (and Adeline Davis's) sons, George Ellsworth Hendee. It is a well known fact that the Hendees had a penchant for using surnames for middle names. It was a tradition. Through correspondence with another researcher who is a Hendee descendant I learned that she had a diary written by Caleb Hendee, jr. In the diary it says that his son, Charles Jefferson Hendee married ___ Davis in Boston. Adeline [Davis] was born in Roxbury, Suffolk County, MA [Massachusetts]. Charles was widowed after his first wife produced my ancestor, Samuel Charles Hendee. He married Adeline Davis in 1836. They had four children. . . Charles remarried to Adeline Davis a native of Roxbury, Massachusetts and they lived and raised their children there." Adeline: b. "Family legend has it that Samuel Charles Hendee was born on May 10, about 1833 at Hendee Hall in France[?] to Charles Hendee. This simply is not true. His father's name was Charles Jefferson Hendee and his mother is still unknown. It is probably true that an ancestor long ago was born in Hendee Hall, but it was not our Samuel. Samuel was most likely born in Connecticut or Boston, Massachusetts where his father had settled. Charles remarried to Adeline Davis a native of Roxbury, Massachusetts and they lived and raised their children there." Samuel Warner Hendee b. 10 May abt 1834 Connecticut or Boston, Massachusetts m. Mary Elizabeth ("Eliza") Matthews d.

According to Mary Fobian's Hendee Family Tree: Samuel W. Hendee (1824-1868) was the son of Charles J. Hendee (1805-) and his second wife, Adeline Davis (1807-). Charles J. was the son of General Caleb Hendee, Jr. (1768-1854) and his wife, Lydia Rich (1768-1835). Samuell W. Hendee (1824?-1868) married Mary [Elizabeth] Eliza Mathews (1829-aft 1881 Ottawa, Illinois) and they had a son, Samuel W. M. (Warner Merton?) Hendee (1854 – Ohio). This Samuel W. M. Hendee is not shown as having married and shows no descendants. [Mary Fobian Family Tree; Ancestry.com - <http://trees.ancestry.com/tree/49551749/family/familyview>; Mary Fobian - maryfobian@hotmail.com]

"While census records can be very misleading, in my opinion, it is unlikely that the following census entries are for the above Mary E[lizabeth] Hendee and family. The age for Mary E. Hendee is wrong in the census. Other sources set her birthdate at 9 May 1829 with some confidence. This would make her 51 years old in 1880 not 42 years old. Also, the George Hendee in the following census record doesn't show up as a son of the above Mary Elizabeth (Mathews) Hendee anywhere else. The same is true of Virginia/Virginia Hendee and Allace/Alice Hendee from the following census. Emily Morgan ("Emma") Hendee, daughter of Samuel and Mary Elizabeth (Mathews) Hendee wasn't married to Benjamin Metler Glass until November 24, 1881. At the time of her marriage, she was about 18 years old so a year earlier at about 17 years old and unmarried, you would expect her to appear with her family in the 1880 United States Census below but she does not. Finally, Samuel Hendee, husband of Mary Elizabeth (Mathews) Hendee, died in a fairly well documented accident in 1868. The youngest child shown in the census below is "Allace Hendee" born about 1870. Thus, if the census ages are correct, her father could not have died in 1868." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

["Old Baptist Burying Ground, Pittsford, Vermont"]

"Caleb Rich Hendee, my son, was born on Tuesday morning the 8th day of November A.D. 1808, about 20th day of the moon . . . On the 7th of April last, my son Caleb R. Hendee left home for Ohio, where he now is in the practice of the Law in company with one of Charles Rich's sons. He went by the way of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington . . . On the 21st of April 1836, my youngest son child (sic), Caleb Rich Hendee, was married to Mary Ann Granger, daughter of Mr. Simeon Granger of this town (Pittsford) and moved with his wife to Zanesville, Ohio, on the 6th of Sept. 1836 . . . Oct 21, 1840, C.R. Hendee on the 4th Feb. last had his house, out-house, and small barn burned with much of his furniture on insurance. Whole loss not less than $1200. C. Hendee . . . April 21st 1842. I have enjoyed pretty good health since Oct. 21st last, but my son C.R. Hendee was taken sick on the 12th of March last and died on the 26th of the same month that is 14 days. He died 10 minutes before ten o'clock A.M. quietly. The doctor called his disease Erysipelas. (My mother, Laura Louise Moore Hendee, was helping me proofread this retyping of Ulysses' script and explained that her father had this: it was a breaking out of the skin such as could be caused by being shaved by a barber. - Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com) He had some fever, but the second day of his sickness, his left foot and leg became inflamed and continued to be and much swollen and finally mortified, and when the mortification reached his body, as it did on 13th or 14th day, it soon caused his death. He was much emaciated. He had not been well for about one year past, and was last August taken insane and went to Boston with his brother G.F. [German Franklin Hendee] but returned worse than when he went from home, but in a few days, he became rational, but continued weak and with much pain in his legs and etc. till sometime last winter when he became considerably better as to the use of his limbs and etc. till he was taken down in his last sickness which he bore with as much patience as could be expected considering his complaint which was painful. He retained his reason most of the time till the last and died rational without a murmur. C. Hendee" [father, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., manuscripts (1827-1854), pp. 11, 18, 20, 21 & 24]

Shipping cast-iron stoves, butter, eggs, cheese and other farm products by train was a major step forward, followed by the advent of refrigerated cars. Among Chittenden's first settlers were Pittsford people. The lack of bottomland was made up for by the vast forests, which took years to reduce to lumber and charcoal. Sawmills, clapboard mills, gristmills, and blacksmith shops were soon clustered at the falls on Furnace Brook in Holden and along East Creek in South Chittenden, which was nicknamed Slab City in the 1900s . . . in the foothills of the Green Mountains, New Boston and Philadelphia were Chittenden hamlets populated by charcoal burners who produced tons of the product for smelting iron ore in the first Pittsford blast furnace on Furnace Flat, an area later named Grangerville [after the Grangers, the family that owed the furnace]. Mary Ann Granger ([was of] the furnace Grangers) . . . As pictured recently, the Granger house at Furnace Flat retains the original cast-iron window and door lintels, Simeon Granger and Sons produced cast-iron stoves in the 1840s and shipped them throughout the Northeast. They employed 50 or more men who lived close by in company-owned houses. The house, now a bed-and-breakfast, looks across Furnace Road to the remains of the blast furnace's stone stack that was over 50 feet tall when built. Israel Keith built the first furnace on this land in 1791 . . . About 25 feet of stones had been removed from the top of the Granger blast furnace stack for other uses when this picture was taken around 60 years ago. Iron ore was mixed with charcoal and a limestone flux to produce molten iron that flowed from the arch into beds of sand divided into 'pigs,' thereby explaining the term pig iron . . . This handsome cast-iron parlor stove is an example of hundreds of stoves molded in the Granger foundry. Highly skilled pattern makers designed many more models in the Granger era from 1826 to 1852. The stoves had one thing in common: their removable legs were all identical. Pancake griddles, door latches and hinges, and window weights were among other products of the foundry." "IN THE REBELLION - The record of this town [Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont] in support of the government during the period of the great Southern Rebellion is one of which its inhabitants may always be proud. Dr. CAVERLY wrote on this subject as follows: 'The great unanimity with which the people of the town supported every effort to raise troops, pay bounties and aid the families of the soldiers, was as gratifying as it was remarkable. It is believed that the town fully met every obligation imposed upon her; and the ladies, true to their noble instincts, did very much through their Soldiers' Aid Society, for the comfort of the soldiers. The people of the town contributed about two thousand dollars to the Sanitary and Christian Commissions.' "Today I spent a couple of hours hunting for Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr's. manuscript in six fat Hendee folders. I found a typewritten copy of his memoir made by a woman named Dee LaBatt, obviously a Hendee descendent. I will be hosting the Museum all day Tues. the 30th. Hope to be uninterrupted long enough to find the references to Judge Abner Hendee's correspondence, though I don't remember any deeds or original letters from him. But I'll let you both know what I do find. We also have Caleb Jr's. daily journal from 1813 to 1817. I hand-copied it before I gave it to our museum, according to a note I found by our curator, Anne Pelkey. A copy is in our Museum; another copy is in the Vermont Historical Society collections in Barre, Vermont. I had the original in the Hendee papers that were left to me by Mrs. G. Frank Hendee (Mary Frances Edgcombe). After Frank died in 1933 Mary F. Hendee lived with my grandmother as a companion until shortly before she died Feb. 25, 1941 at the Columbus Smith Home "for indigent Christian Women of good character" in Salisbury, Vermont. She and Frank had no children, so she left her possessions to my grandmother. My mother, my sister and I gave some of Mrs. Hendee's things to Mrs. Sarah "Sallie" (Hooker) Hendee, widow of Warren G. Hendee. They included the General's surveying instrument (its tripod had disappeared long ago). The instrument may be in the possession of Sallie's granddaughter, Donna Hendee, who lives in Rutland Town, Vermont. There is a postcard of G. Frank Hendee on pg. 85 in "Pittsford Now and Then," a photo book published 1980 by Pittsford Historical Society. Frank is in a horse-drawn carriage with the General's surveying instrument. 4/28/2013 - Today I got into the Museum files and found the original of Abner Hendee's June 15, 1834 letter to Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr., given to the Museum by Sallie (Hooker) Hendee or her children. I photocopied it for you, but didn't find the 1738 deed from Richard to son Asa Hendee that Derek [Stafford] refers to. However, in the three hours I was there I only got through half of one folder. I hope to make more headway this coming Tuesday." [Peggy Armitage - peggy.armitage@gmail.com, Pittsford, Vermont Historical Society and Museum]

"The Otter Creek House was replaced by the Otter Creek Inn, shown here about 1895 in its heyday. Families from 'away' spent whole summers here. The Browns and Armingtons from Providence, Rhode Island, escaped the heat while visiting Pittsford relatives and friends, as did the Walkers, Willards, and other New York City people with roots in Pittsford. An exception was Desmond Kelly – the red-haired New York actress arrived one summer accompanied by her very attentive agent, throwing Pittsford wives into anxious fits that their husbands would follow her back to the city. The inn burned in 1931." [Images of America Around Pittsford by Peggy Armitage for Pittsford Historical Society Inc.; Arcadia Publishing (2009); [picture] pg. 65]

Naomi Nancy Wheeler Hendee Obituary: "RUTLAND TOWN - Naomi Nancy Wheeler Hendee, 87, of Rutland Town, died Wed., April 27, 2011, at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center. She was born on July 22, 1923, in Chittenden, the daughter of Clinton and Elizabeth (Larma) Wheeler. The family moved to the Mill Village area of Rutland Town, where her father was a blacksmith/horse trainer. Mrs. Hendee graduated from Rutland Town schools and then Rutland High School. After graduation, she was employed by Brown's Cleaners as a bookkeeper. She married Calvin T. Hendee of Pittsford on Sept. 26, 1948, at Brandon Congregational Church. They settled in Mill Village, where Mr. Hendee had a garage and trucking business on the site of the old blacksmith shop. This became Hendee's Garage and Body Shop, which the two sons later joined, and is still operating today. Although Naomi was a stay-at-home mom, she worked suppers, craft fairs, receptions and almost anything put on by Grace Congregational UCC and Mill Village Chapel. She was a member and officer of the Cheney Hill PTA and homeroom mother at Rutland Town Schools for her two sons, from 1962-1977. Mrs. Hendee enjoyed Fortnightly, Senior Trips, Hexagon Club and her yard full of wildlife. There was always time to cut flannel for layettes and cloth for tote bags for the Material Aid Society. Her buddy, Harry Whitford, would get it all mailed for a mince pie! Naomi learned sports via the teams of granddaughters, Danielle and Tiffany, and grandson, Shawn. She loved to hear of their accomplishments, travels and awards. Her great-granddaughter, Michelle, gave her many special times and play dates. A best-known tradition began in 1950 when she made lunches for her husband, Ted, although he might add a friend or co-worker from time to time. Then they had two sons who would bring their friends. Whoever was around the garage at noon may have ended up at the lunch table, sharing news, jokes and nonsense. Sometimes she wanted to skin them for no notice, but really loved this tradition that continued for 61 years. Survivors include her son, Daniel and his wife Shelly; granddaughter, Danielle; daughter, Donna and her traveling buddies; grandson, Shawn and his wife Allison; great-granddaughter, Michelle; sister, Margaret; Tiffany and Jean Foley and extended families in the Pittsford area. She was predeceased by her parents; siblings, Earline, Virginia, Merle and Lawrence; a niece, Martha; a nephew, John; a son, Kevin; and her husband, Ted. Calling hours will be Sat., April 30, 2011, from 5-7 p.m. at the Tossing Funeral Home. The funeral service will be Mon., May 2, 2011, at 11 a.m. at the Grace Congregational UCC. Burial will follow in the Cheney Hill Cemetery, Pinnacle Ridge Road, Rutland Town. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations to the Rutland County Humane Society, 765 Stevens Rd., Pittsford, VT 05763. The Tossing Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements." "Today I spent a couple of hours hunting for Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr's. manuscript in six fat Hendee folders. I found a typewritten copy of his memoir made by a woman named Dee LaBatt, obviously a Hendee descendent. I will be hosting the Museum all day Tues. the 30th. Hope to be uninterrupted long enough to find the references to Judge Abner Hendee's correspondence, though I don't remember any deeds or original letters from him. But I'll let you both know what I do find. We also have Caleb Jr's. daily journal from 1813 to 1817. I hand-copied it before I gave it to our museum, according to a note I found by our curator, Anne Pelkey. A copy is in our Museum; another copy is in the Vermont Historical Society collections in Barre, Vermont. I had the original in the Hendee papers that were left to me by Mrs. G. Frank Hendee (Mary Frances Edgecumbe). After Frank died in 1933 Mary F. Hendee lived with my grandmother as a companion until shortly before she died Feb. 25, 1941 at the Columbus Smith Home "for indigent Christian Women of good character" in Salisbury, Vermont. She and Frank had no children, so she left her possessions to my grandmother. My mother, my sister and I gave some of Mrs. Hendee's things to Mrs. Sarah "Sallie" (Hooker) Hendee, widow of Warren G. Hendee. They included the General's surveying instrument (its tripod had disappeared long ago). The instrument may be in the possession of Sallie's granddaughter, Donna Hendee, who lives in Rutland Town, Vermont. There is a postcard of G. Frank Hendee on pg. 85 in "Pittsford Now and Then," a photo book published 1980 by Pittsford Historical Society. Frank is in a horse-drawn carriage with the General's surveying instrument. 4/28/2013 - Today I got into the Museum files and found the original of Abner Hendee's June 15, 1834 letter to Gen. Caleb Hendee Jr., given to the Museum by Sallie (Hooker) Hendee or her children. I photocopied it for you, but didn't find the 1738 deed from Richard to son Asa Hendee that Derek [Stafford] refers to. However, in the three hours I was there I only got through half of one folder. I hope to make more headway this coming Tuesday." [Peggy Armitage - peggy.armitage@gmail.com, Pittsford, Vermont Historical Society and Museum]

"Joanne and I were recently on vacation up in Pensacola Florida. While there we decided to go visit the Battleship Alabama in Mobile, Alabama. What an impressive ship. Anyways, while in "The Compartment of Records" they had a listing on the wall of all the men who served aboard the Alabama. Joanne immediately found a man named Wendell E. Hendee. So, naturally we had to find out more about him. Unfortunately he has passed. We found his name in Find A Grave. Here's the link: <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=64281629>. Notice where he is from. Attached is a couple of photos from the Alabama visit." [Paul Edwin Hendee - phendee@comcast.net] "Paul, Please thank your wife for her sharp eyes in spotting the Wendell E. Hendee information. I do have him in my document but without reference to his death or military service. Below is what I have in my document now in case you are interested. I have also saved the Find-A-Grave information and pictures. Note that there is a "Evergreen" cemetery in Pittsford, Vermont and also one in Rutland, Vermont which is confusing. Wendall E[ar?] Hendee appears to have switched his first and middle names as an adult. The records I have record him as Earl Wendall Hendee but going by the name "Wendall." Anyway you can trace him back to our original Richard Hendee around 1585-86 in the Hendee document I sent you if you want." [David A. Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"BOONE TOWNSHIP - Prior to 1834 Boone township [Cass County, Indiana] was an unbroken wilderness; savage tribes of Indians were its sole possessors Except as wild beasts might contest with them for supremacy . . . The first sawmill in the township was a primitive affair, erected by Geo. Conn and Geo. Hendee, about 1845, in section 1. It was a tread-mill, run by a yoke of oxen, but was a great convenience to the early settlers and furnished lumber for their buildings. It was later enlarged and run by steam and did quite a business for a number of years." "Walter McCloud married Mary L. Hendee in Cass county, on 26 Apr 1917, source is book 38, page 74. In the 1920 census for Cass county, Royal Center, Dist 19, page 6B, lines 80 to 82, the family is headed by Walter McCloud, 26, and included his wife Leona M. 26, and his daughter Beth N, 8/12. This census was recorded in Jan 1920. It is also very hard to read because of the handwriting and the ink has faded. In the 1930 census for Cass county, Royal Center, Dist 3, page 7B, lines 84 to 88, the family is headed by Walter L McCloud, 37, first married at 24, a cashier in a bank, born in Ind, both parents in Ohio, and included his wife M. Leona, 37, married at 24, born in Neb, father in Canada (English), and mother in Ind, his daughter Beth N, 10, Ind, his son Wayne H, 9, Ind, and his mother-in-law Loretta A. Hendee, 80, a widow, married at 18, born in Ind and both parents in Pa . . . I found a little more on Mary or Leona (seems she preferred Leona). Could not find a marriage for her parents so cannot tell what her mothers maiden name was. They were married about 1867 or 1868, probably in Cass county. In the 1870 census the family was in Cass county, Boone township, page 25, lines 13 to 15, post office was Royal Center, and was headed by George Hendee, 24, works on sawmill, born in Canada, and included Loretta A, 21, keeps house, Ind and Maggie A, 1, Ind. In the 1880 census the family was in Nebraska, Lancaster county, Nemaha township, Dist 244, page 27, and was headed by George W Hendee, 33, farmer, born in Canada, both parents in NY, and included his wife Loretta Ann, 30, keeping house, In, Pa, Pa, his daughter Maggie, 11, In, his son William, 9, In, his son Eddie, 8, Neb, and his son Solomon A, 2, Neb. "Methodist Church. -- The Methodist Episcopal Church of Brandon was organized in 1801 by Daniel POMEROY, with Elder HULBERT, pastor. The membership was very small; a class had been formed on the 14th of August, 1798, with Major Gideon HORTON as leader and circuit steward. The earliest meetings were held in Potato street, now the MCCONNELL neighborhood. Dwelling-houses, barns and school-houses were used for purposes of worship. Among the early members were Major Gideon HORTON and his wife Thirza. Dr. John HORTON, Gideon MOTT, Henry and Eli MCCOLLUM, Daniel HENDEE, Daniel POMEROY, Benajah DOUGLAS and Nathaniel B. ALDEN. The church prospered for several years, and before 1808 arrangements were made and materials collected to build a church near the site of the present edifice. A bitter feud, however, between Benajah DOUGLAS and Gideon HORTON, who were political rivals, created dissensions which caused the abandonment of this enterprise." "My father [Nathaniel Jefferson Parkhill], deceased, September 3, 1828, was buried in the old cemetery at Whitesboro, Oneida County, New York. Upon the death of my father his family were left in quite limited circumstances; the elder members of the family went out to seek employment; my mother, with the younger children, removed from Whitesboro to a little home in Verona, Oneida County, where my early childhood days were passed; how well do I remember the little red painted house; how vivid in my recollection are the scenes of my childhood; my earliest recollection is of the death of my father, then our removal and the incidents that followed: My sister, Carrie, constant companion of my youth, whose hand was ever held out to guide my early footsteps and shield me from harm; the old schoolhouse beside the brook, the mill yard where we used to sport, the hill where we used to coast in the winter, the Scanandoa Creek where we fished in summer, the butternut orchard and the beech tree grove where we chased the squirrel, the factory, the store and the old tavern, where the Indians used to assemble to play the fiddle and dance for firewater, all are indelibly stamped upon the tablets of my memory. In explanation of the change in manner of spelling the name Parkhill, I should say that after the decease of my father my elder brothers, for the sake of brevity, dropped the "h", spelling the name Parkill; later my brother Henry and myself dropped the "i" and inserted an "e", hence spelling the name Parkell. Major Alonzo Burrett Parkell was born at Whitesboro, Oneida County, New York, on the 1st of September, 1825. Father [Nathaniel Jefferson Parkhill] died when I was but three years old; I remained with my widowed mother [Anna (Thompson) Parkell] until I arrived at the age of eight years; the financial circumstances of my mother, my frailty and inability to render her any assistance, caused me to become much depressed, and for some days I was in a quandary to solve the difficulty; then, in a single day, I seemed to emerge from youth to manhood; my resolution was taken, and at the age of eight years I went out into the world to seek a livelihood among strangers. Thence I was variously employed until I became sixteen years old; during this period I drove horses on the tow path of the Erie Canal through the summer of 1834; having aquired sufficient money for the purchase of clothing for winter use, I returned to the home of my mother, where I remained through the winter attending school. In the spring of 1835 I went to Saratoga County to work in a grist mill, and remained there for a period of two years; I then, after making a visit to my mother, went to the home of my brother John, in Clockville, Madison Co., New York, where I attended school during the winter of 1836 and 1837. The following summer I was employed in a tavern in that place. I then went to reside with my brother Nathaniel in Brooklyn, Jackson Co., Michigan; there I remained about two years, employed in a hotel and attending school part of the time, after which I went to Dansville, Livingston County, New York, where I found employment in a grocery store until 1842. My education being necessarily limited, having aquired only the primary branches, I thought it advisable to gain a knowledge of mechanics; I, therefore, learned the occupation of tailoring April 18, 1848. At the age of twenty-two I married Rebecca Maria Morrison, daughter of the Rev, George Morrison, of Dansville, New York, her age was twenty, having been born October 14, 1827. Her mother's maiden name was Lucy Allen Hendee, a descendent of Col. Ethan Allen, of revolutionary fame. I resided in Dansville for a period of fifteen years. My mother [Anna (Thompson) Parkell] died in 1849, was buried in Clayville, Oneida Co., New York. During the gold excitement of 1850 I went to California, was in the mining district near Shasta City some three months, then returned to Sacramento where I had the cholera in 1851; after my recovery I went with my brother Henry to San Francisco and engaged in hotel business until 1852; I then returned to my home in New York. In 1853 I removed to Iowa and engaged in mercantile business in Buchanan County until 1859; then went to Grinnell, Iowa, and engaged in merchant tailoring until 1861. At this time, the slavery question having assumed such proportions that war became imminent, and when Fort Sumpter was fired upon by Insurgents my patriotism was so aroused that I resolved to enlist in the service of the United States. Thereupon I commenced recruiting, and in thirty days had a company, thereby fitting them for immediate service. I had my men appareled in uniform, then reported to the adjutant general of Iowa, received orders to proceed, with my company, to quarters at Camp Harlan, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, where we arrived on the 24th of October, 1861. I was commissioned captain, Company "E", Fourth Regiment Iowa Cavalry Volunteers, and mustered into the United States military service on the 23rd day of November, 1861; was promoted and commissioned to the rank of major, August 10th, 1862. I was in the military service of the United States three years, participated in the Arkansas campaign during 1862, my regiment, the Fourth Iowa Cavalry, was attached to the Fifteenth Army Corps during 1863 and 1864; participated in action at Fourteen-Mile Creek, Miss., May 12th, 1863, also in the capture of Jackson, Miss., May 14th, 1863; was in command of Gen'l W. T. Sherman's advance guards at Champion Hills, Miss., May 16th, 1863; was in command of regiment in action at Mechanicsburg, Miss., May 24th and 29th, 1863; participated in Vicksburg campaign, May 16th to July 5th, 1863; was in command of cavalry forces in action at Black River, Miss., June 22d, 1863; was in command of regiment in Grenada, Mississippi raid, August 10th to 25th, 1863; commanded regiment in action at Coldwater, Miss., August 21st, 1863; commanded regiment in Meridian campaign, February 3d to 14th, 1864; having been disabled from active field service, I tendered my resignation, and in October, 1864, returned to my home, in Iowa. I removed from Grinnell in 1865; was a resident of Independence, Missouri, from 1865 to 1867; engaged in business of merchant tailoring; while there I often saw members of Quantrell's Band of Desperadoes, they used to come into town fully armed, ride their horses into stores, take such goods as they wanted and ride away in defiance of authorities, terrifying people and sometimes shooting down citizens without the least provocation. I removed from Independence to Carthage, Jasper County, Missouri, in 1867, and engaged in the business of merchant tailoring and clothing for a period of fifteen years; retired from business in 1881 and made my second visit to the Pacific coast. I have been in thirty of the States and six Territories; have been in Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, and Central America. The only body that was in jeopardy was hanging out and they were able to get it and move it up further in the cemetery. We do however have several burials that are unknowns. We figure there is a body there because the area is sunken but we do not know for sure. We also have some that are listed in the records from the Historians office as being buried in our cemetery but we don't know where. I checked on the list that I have from the historians office and did not find a Hiram Woodard listed as being buried in our cemetery. Have you checked the other three cemeteries in Hartsville there are actually four cemeteries in all. Take care. "Hi, I know you would like to know, that as of July 2nd 2014 Harry was admitted to the Wellsville Manor, nursing home at 4192A Bolivar Rd., Wellsville NY 14895. It happened very quickly after his assessment interview which was on Saturday the 28th. I went in on Monday with Cill and we started the paperwork. They had an empty bed in a private room which had come available 2 days before and no waiting list. First come, first served and it was possible to admit him at once. Mark and John packed up his computer, desk, and chair. We also took assorted pictures his blanket, pillow and of course 6 changes of clothes. We were hustling right around. I have not been in to see him yet since I want him to get settled in for a bit before I go in and he asks me when he is going home and I have to tell him that it is his new home. Enough already, Love to you two, Millie [Mildred Anne (Black) Woodard]." [Jerry Woodard - wredwood1@juno.com; Gedcom File: Woodard_Flint_Update04_2014ok.ged]

"Alonzo is found in 1880 census of Hornellsville with wife Philena Potter and daughter Edith. Cited in the 1891 Hornellsville Directory as a Dentist at 234 Main St. Does not appear in 1893 Directory. He was a very bright man-dentist and inventor (it was said that the college deans went to him to solve difficult problems). As to the inventions, he had 33 patents (14 found in New York State Library) granted to him. He invented the first bicycle (Did not invent bicycle but a method for aligning wheel with spokes adjustment. Co-patents with George B. Woodard); the cup that is used today in the dentist's office (Patents suggest that the cup was for collecting fluids from the mouth to a vulcanized container. He had several patents on vulcanizing methods) and the first woven fence. He never made much out of them as others got them away from him." "Sophrona/Sophonra presents a problem in spelling and Dates. Sophrona was a fairly popular name for girls born from about 1811 to 1850. Pros for Sophrona are:

1. The only census with Alonzo was for 1910, where her name is spelled without the "i" and her age is 80 for a birthdate of 1830. Her parents were Born in Rhode Island and Connecticut respectively.
2. The 1850 and 1860 census agree with a birth date of 1830. The 1880 census for Albion, Wisconsin shows her as 48 for birth date as 1832.
3. The 1850 and 1860 census show that Sophrona was the daughter of Perry and Sarah Potter born in Rhode Island and Connecticut respectively.
4. Helen Hemphill's history of Hiram Woodard shows Philena and Sophrona as sisters.
5. No Sophronia Potter was found in the census search except as wife of William Potter. They are buried in East Valley, New York

Pros for Sophonra are:

1. Hiram's Civil War Widows pension spelled with the "i".
2. The stone with Hiram and Philena is for Sophronia with birth date of 4/14/1834.

My conclusion is that it should be Sophrona. She has been shaving her age as far back as 1870 and wound up b. 1834. See Alonzo's Obit and Wedding announcement."

Hiram Holliday d. 1874 Hartford, Connecticut ["Pedigree Resource File", database, LDS FamilySearch (<http://familysearch.org/pal:/MM9.2.1/9W8D-SW4>), entry for Laura Hendee.] Hiram: b. 1801 Poquenock, Hartford County, Connecticut, USA d. 1841 "probably Connecticut" Residence: "Of, Allegany, New York" Parents: Jonathan Holloday and Bethsheba Holcomb

"Caleb Hendee, Jr. born October 2, 1768 m. Ly+dia Rich. They had the following children: Charles Jefferson Hendee b. 1 Jul 1805 Pittsford, Rutland, VT Josephine Hendee* possibly married a McCorkle. She had a grandson named Hugh Keating McCorkle who inherited the family home in Causerage, NY. He moved everything to Portland (ME or MI?) Hugh was 19 during WWII. *Laura Hendee b. 1808, d. 1874 most likely in Hartford, CT. She m. Hiram Holliday, b. 1801 in Poquenock, Hartford, CT and d. 1841 probably in CT. His parents were Jonathan Holloday and Bethsheba Holcomb(e). Their children: Daniel Hendee Holliday b. 1838, d. 1902 m. 1859 to Antoinette Weldy. Lorton Holliday m. Elizabeth Weldy. Neither of these women have been proven to be a sister to Charles Hendee, however it has been handed down through family history. It is unclear which son produced a daughter, Marcelena Holliday who was b. Alleghany Cty, NY and m. William C. Windsor. But I'll bet it was Daniel and Antoinette since it is a French name. One of the sons definitely had a daughter, Laura Edith Holliday who was the Sister Edith Constance above. To my knowledge the Hendees never were and are not now Catholics. I assume that either the Holliday family was Catholic or Laura Edith Holloday's parents became Catholic. Homer Holliday could be either Hiram's brother and a great uncle or a brother to Daniel and Lorton. Obviously, more work needs to be done on this family. Information on Hiram Holloday was taken from two sources: LDS birth records of Hartford, CT and Tracye Mabelle Brewer's gedcom on genserv.com." "I have a letter from Laura Edith Holliday (Sister Edith Constance) Convent of the Transfiguration, Glendale, Ohio and these are her notes: 'Laura Edith's great-nephew was Frederic Holliday Mott and her grandmother was Laura Hendee. Hugh Keating McCorkle, Laura's sister Josephine's grandson inherited the family home and contents in Causerage (Cossoroga?), New York and moved them to home in Portland. Laura had an uncle Homer Holliday. Hugh was 19 years old and prisoner of war in German camp when his grandmother died. Lawyer handled estate and no knowledge of where family crest went. It was 9" x 12" greyish blue and had lions on it she remembered. [Both Frederic and Hugh may both be alive.]' [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>]

Daniel was born in Pittsford, Rutland County, VT [Vermont] 21 MAY 1776. Daniel was the son of Capt Caleb Hendee and Caroline Ellsworth. Daniel died 12 JUN 1859 South Dansville, Steuben County, NY [New York], at 83 years of age. At the age of twenty-one his father gave him a lot of land adjoining the town of Brandon, and afterwards bought a lot contiguous, within the limits of Brandon. He made a clearing and built a log house, on land which has since been set off the town of Brandon. This land included what was the farm recently owned by Daniel Goodnough. He had several children with his wife Lucy, but the most of them died young. Mrs. Hendee died in the prime of life and Mr. Hendee married, for his second wife, Sally Burditt and resided here till about (1815), when they sold there worldly possessions and came to South Dansville, where he at one time owned nearly the whole of the village of Rogersville.

"Early in September, 1814, the Governor General of Canada, with an army of fourteen thousand men, some of whom had had the advantage of military experience in the wars of Europe, invaded the northern frontier of the United States, by way of Lake Champlain. Intelligence of this invasion spread rapidly through Vermont, producing the most intense excitement, and arousing the patriotism of the people, who at once determined to drive back the foe and to defend their possessions. To contest the advance of the enemy upon Plattsburgh, Rutland County furnished two hundred and seventy-four men, of whom one hundred and six were from Pittsford. On Friday afternoon, the 9th of September, Col. received notice of the invasion, with the request that he would collect as many men as possible, and hasten to the assistance of his countrymen. The Colonel mounted his horse and proceeded to the residence of his neighbor General Hendee, with whom he had a short consultation, and they either went or sent messengers into all parts of the town to call the people to arms. That evening a large number assembled at Van Allen's hotel [Now E. B. Raid's house] where it was arranged that they should meet at the same place the inext morning, properly armed and equipped, organize, and march to the scene of conflict. On the 10th, at the hour appointed, more than one hundred men, with their muskets and two days' provisions, paraded on the Common in front of the hotel. They had expected Col. Hammond to lead them; but when they came to ballot for a commander, he declined to be a candidate; consequently Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., was unanimously elected, and his acceptance of the command was highly gratifying to the company. The following is a copy of the muster roll: Caleb Hendee, Jr. . . Daniel Hendee, Private . . . The forenoon was spent in organizing, and making the necessary preliminary arrangements, and immediately after dinner the company took up the line of march for Burlington. That night they reached Boardman's tavern in Leicester, where they found quarters for the night, some in the house and others in the stable or barn. Sunday morning they resumed the march, and on arriving at Vergennes, stopped, and those not supplied with good fire-arms drew them from the arsenal at that place. The company then set out for Charlotte which they reached that night. On their way thither they heard the booming of cannon which so intimidated one of their number, Lemuel Whitmore, that he deserted the following night. Monday morning they proceeded to Burlington where they drew rations, and from thence crossed the lake to Plattsburgh, but too late to take part in the contest which resulted so triumphantly to the American arms. The enemy having been repulsed made a hasty retreat, and the Vermont volunteers being no longer needed were discharged and returned to their homes. Captain [later General] Hendee received a complimentary letter from Gen. Macomb, thanking him and his man for their patriotic efforts to maintain the honor and dignity of their country. The town of Pittford was not slow to recognize the claims of the soldiers, and provision was made for their wants, as will be seen by the following extract from the records of a meeting held October 10, 1814. 'Voted that the Selectmen, together with the Commanding officers of the several companies, for the time being be a Committee to look into the subject, for procuring necessaries for the Standing Militia when called into actual service, and to appropriate such sum or sums as they may think necessary, not to exceed fifty dollars. Voted that the Town pay to Caleb Hendee, Jr., Sixteen Dollars and ninety-three cents for monies by him borrowed for the use of the Volunteer Company from Pittsford in their late Expedition to Plattsburgh. Voted to appropriate a sum, not to exceed twenty Dollars, to be laid out at the discretion of the Commanding Officers of the Respective Companies of Militia of this town, in treating their men when called out and drilled for Military Exercises. March 4th, 1817. Voted to Raise two Cents on the Dollar to be appropriated towards the expenses of the Plattsburgh Expedition, and one and one-half for other purposes on the Grand List of A. D. 1817, to be paid the one-half in money and the other half in Grain by the first day of January next. The volunteers from Pittsford, whether in the regular army or serving for a limited time with the militia, suffered but few casualties. It is believed that nearly all, after having served out their term of enlistment, returned to their homes.'" Mar 1815 Ireland "Living with her granddaughter Maggie Powell in Hartsville in 1900.") ". . . Zeroda Hendee. You state that she was married to Joseph Vickers son of Jane Vickers. By any chance have you come upon any more information about Joseph Vickers? This is a branch of the family I am researching. Joseph Vickers b 1839 in Nova Scotia was the son of Jacob Vickers and Jane Ashworth Vickers. The family left Nova Scotia in 1854 for Steuben County, New York. I have a record of Jacob selling his land there before they left. Jane's mother and stepfather had already moved to Steuben County. Joseph's father, Jacob Vickers had a brother who remained in Nova Scotia. The brother's name was Joseph Vickers. (This family used the same names over and over.) My husband is descended from this older Joseph Vickers. Supposedly they came to Nova Scotia from England. Both worked in the mines. I am trying to find out where in England they came from." Roberts, listed Charles Fremont as living at Purdy Creek and working as a farm laborer. The Steuben County Historian Census Listing shows Charles F. Hendee first in 1860. This date for his birth would fit with the dates of his siblings. Birth date may have been February 26, 1856. Uncle Fremont was married twice but had no children. I vaguely remember him from a visit to N.Y. when I was 8. I recall him as a very kindly, soft-spoken gentleman." Subsequently he entered the watch and clock business, in which interest he traveled through Canada. After returning to the green Mountain state he married Miss Sarah Barnum and they lived with her parents in the residence now occupied by his daughter in Ferrisburg. He then turned his attention to farming, operating three hundred acres of land, and in addition to his agricultural labors he also served as a director in the Bank of Vergennes, of which he was vice-president for a number of years, and was also connected with the Vermont Granite Company. He embraced the faith of the Methodist church, which he liberally supported, and was a staunch Republican in political principle. Straight forward in all his business dealings, loyal to his duties of citizenship, he commanded the respect and confidence of his fellow men, and by his death the community lost one of its valued citizens. He passed away May 10, 1889. On the 30th of May 1850, David Smith was united in marriage to Sarah Barnum, a native daughter of Ferrisburg. "Charles Albert Chapman was born in the village of Forestdale, Rutland county, Vermont, on the 22d of August, 1852, being a son of Albert Chapman, who was born in Weybridge, this state, on the 18th of April, 1823. The latter's father was Wightman Chapman, who was born in Norwich, Vermont, on the 15th of March, 1786. The original American progenitor of the family, William Chapman, emigrated hither from England in 1639, taking up his residence in the colony of Connecticut, whence his descendants have become disseminated throughout the most diverse sections of the Union. Erastus Chapman born August 25, 1760, at Norwich, Connecticut, married Polly Huntington at Norwich, Connecticut, Jun 1, 1785. She was born August 10, 1765, in Windham, Connecticut. Wightman Chapman was their son. Erastus was a son of Simon Chapman, his second wife, Alice Rouse. They were married April 5, 1758. Simon Chapman, born April 22, 1723, was a son of Joseph Chapman, born in 1667, and his wife, Mary Wentworth, to whom he was married June 10, 1708. Wightman Chapman was a blacksmith by trade and also owned and operated a fine farm in Weybridge, while he was associated with his brother in the operation of a forge and store in Lincoln. They also owned and operated a line of canal packets between Vergennes and Buffalo. He lived to the venerable age of eighty-two years and was a man of influence in the community, where he ever commanded unqualified confidence and esteem. He was incumbent of the office of high bailiff for a number of years, and also held other positions of public trust and responsibility. His son Albert was reared in Weybridge, receiving such educational advantages as were afforded in the local schools of the period. He devoted practically his entire life to stock-breeding, and gained recognition as one of the most extensive sheep-breeders in the state, giving his attention to the raising of the best types and to the improvement of the grades, thus contributing in a large degree to the advancement of the sheep industry in the state, while his judgment in regard to matters pertaining to this line of enterprise was recognized as authoritative. He was for many years secretary of the Vermont Sheep Breeders' Association, and his works are authority on the introduction and improvement of Merino sheep in the United States. He extended the scope of his enterprises into other sections of the country, shipping extensively. While a mere boy, he drove one thousand sheep to the state of Kentucky, where he disposed of them. Just before the Civil war he operated a farm in Maryland, but was compelled to leave on account of his political sentiments. He was a man of fine mentality, sterling integrity and distinguished ability as a business man, and through his well directed efforts he not only promoted individual prosperity but also did much to further the industrial progress of his native state. From its establishment until his death he was president of the National Association of Sheep Registers, and was also for many years secretary of the National Wool Growers' Association. He enjoyed a particularly wide acquaintanceship throughout New England and other sections of the Union, and was a man whose genial nature and upright life gained to him the respect and friendship of all with whom he came in contact. His death occurred in Middlebury on the 22nd of October, 1893, at which time he had attained the psalmist's span of three score years and ten. His political support was given to the Republican party, and though he never sought the honors or emoluments of public office, he was chosen to serve in various local positions of trust, including that of justice of the peace. Fraternally he was prominently identified with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, having been past grand of his lodge at the time of his demise. August 27, 1851, in St. Mark's church, Warren, Rhode Island, Albert Chapman was united in marriage to Miss Matilda Grace Mulchancy, who was born July 25, 1824, in the city of Boston, Massachusetts, and who died on the 2d of December, 1802, in her sixty-ninth year. Five children were born of this union, of whom three are living at the present time, namely: Charles A., the immediate subject of this sketch; John W., who is now a missionary in Alaska; and William M., who is engaged in business in Romeo, Michigan, where he is a deputy sheriff. Charles A. Chapman passed his boyhood days in the various cities where his father temporarily resided, receiving his early education in the public schools and in an excellent private school, after which he completed a thorough course of study in the academy at Middlebury. After leaving school Mr. Chapman became bookkeeper for a woolen mill in Middlebury, latter being identified with the paper manufactory at that place, and finally accepting a position in a hardware establishment at Port Henry, New York. From that place he went to Vergennes, where he was employed by the firm of W. R. Bixby & Son in the same business. Thence, after a period of years, he returned to Middlebury, where he was engaged in the same line until 1876, when he went as a traveling representative of the Medina Manufacturing Company of Medina, New York, in whose interests he traveled through the eastern states and as far west as Nebraska, visiting many of the states of the middle west, the south and the east. He proved an able and valued salesman, continuing the employ of this concern for a period of four years, at the expiration of which he resigned, for the purpose of returning to his native county and associating himself with his father in the sheep business, the stock being registered and the highest standard, as has already been intimated. In 1890 he located upon his present farm in Ferrisburg, the same comprising one hundred acres. Though he carries on general agricultural operations, Mr. Chapman gives his special attention to the breeding and raising of high-grade Merinee shoop. The finest types of registered sheep are to be found on his estate, and from his fine flocks shipments are not only made into the most diverse sections of the Union, but he also ships to Australia, Mexico, Africa and South America. In addition to the raising of registered Merinee sheep he also breeds and handles gentlemen's high-grade driving horses. He is known as one of the most progressive, liberal and public-spirited citizens of the county and as one of its thoroughly representative business men. In politics Mr. Chapman gives his allegiance to the Republican party, and he is at the present time (1890) auditor of the town, while he is also serving as moderator. His religious faith is that of the Protestant Episcopal church, and fraternally he had advanced to high degree in the time-honored order of Freemasonry, being a member of Dorchester Lodge, No. 1, Free and Accepted Masons; Middlebury Council No. 14, Royal and Select Masons; Mt. Calvary Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, at Middlebury; and Vermont Consistory, A. A. S. R., in Burlington, of which he is grand chancellor, and has attained the thirty-second degree. He has held various offices in the different bodies, serving as worshipful master of his lodge, as high priest of his chapter, and has also been an officer in the commandery. He is a devoted member of this great fraternity, whose noble teachings he fully appreciates." [Genealogical and Family History of the State of Vermont; by Hon. "Dear David, Delighted to hear from you. Both Curator Anne Pelkey and I were unaware that the Hendee paintings were properly cataloged, cross-referenced, wrapped, and stored upstairs. Anne found them this morning: Charles Jefferson Hendee (General Caleb Hendee Jr.'s. son) and Soloman (son of Deacon Caleb Hendee) and his wife Lois (Paine) Hendee. I lived in New Hampshire from 1971 to late 1995, and Jean Davies was curator in 1997, so neither Anne nor I knew that Soloman and Lois Hendee's portraits had been given to the Society. Before I moved away my sister and I gave Charles J. Hendee's portrait to the Society, only we thought it was a portrait of Lafayette Hendee. Our grandmother had bought it, probably in the early 1900s, from who knows who? We took her word for the identity, and we gave it to PHS [Pittsford (Vermont)

"My Dear Mrs. Kelsey, The letter you wrote to Frank Hendee of Pittsford (Vermont) some little time ago, he has sent me to reply to. I have much Hendee data in fact nearly all of the connecting lines, have been years collecting it with much other material of interest. My Grand-father was Solomon Hendee of Pittsford a son of Deacon Caleb and a brother of Rev. David Hendee, (Baptist preacher father of Dr. C. K. H.) (This is parentheses is handwritten in, I am sure by my grandmother, Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee, and refers to Clark Kendrick Hendee, my great grandfather. Cynthia Hendee Henry.) I have seven lines in the D.A.R. Deacon Caleb is one of them, you will find in your history of Pittsford the Rev[olutionary] service of Samuel Ellsworth. I have also used that line as well as many others of the Cousins here. I visited at your home in Jackson, Mich. when quite young, with my mother on our way to Minneapolis visited at John Hendees, I think then you lived on a farm out of the city. I remember of going out and digging sassafras root and having a very pleasant visit. I can tell you but little of the Harrington line. Rev. William [Harrington] came to Pittsford from Clarendon (Vermont). His wife was Amy Briggs, they had 17 children, Theophilus, James and William, three brothers settled in Clarendon in 1786 from Rhode Island. Which was the older I do not know, but Theophilus Harrington was born in 1768, he was a Judge in the Rutland (Vermont) Co. Court three years and was a Judge of the Supreme Court ten years, was the Judge in slave time who made the speech when a man who was trying to claim his escaped slave and applied for a warrant for the extradition of the negro, asked the Judge what more evidence he wanted made the reply, "a bill of sale, sir, from God Almighty". This speech was quoted every where in the world, on his monument erected by the State of Vermont is this, "he sleeps on the hill--nor a slave ever trod." Nor claimant brought bill from Almighty God." I am looking over the history of Clarendon (Vermont). I find William Harrington was a younger brother and a Baptist minister and Judge of the probate three years, 1811 to 1813. if you write to Clarendon for a letter to be delivered to some member of the Harrington family, you might be able to get the history of the family and their Rev. war record, it is not in the Rev records of Vermont as the war was over before they came there. I do not know that you care for more than one line, if not you will find the war record of Samuel Ellsworth who was Father of Caroline Hendee, in the history of Pittsford which is very good and is accepted in Washington. I would like to hear from you again and all (beginning of second page) about yourself and family. Have heard nothing about the Hendee family for years. Frank Hendee is a busy man and finds little time for looking up things that do not pertain to business. I told him a number of times ___ ___ to write you, then he came to see me and wanted if could ___ your letter, which I have done in my shaky manner. I see in my ___ delineator that Mrs. Paul E. Clausen of Ferndale, Calif. ___ first prize in the building contest, do you know her?" I am very cordially yours, Flora A. H. Griswold, Brandon, Rutland Co., Vermont. "In August 2015, John Hendee emailed several Hendee cousins regarding information he had acquired from the family history materials of Lee Wayland Hendee, stored on microfilm at the Library of Michigan in Lansing, Michigan. Lee was the long-time Secretary-Treasurer and Historian of the Hendee Reunion Organization, Genealogy & History Committee. Cousin Derek Stafford was instrumental in obtaining these microfilm materials, making them available to John, and John spent many hours working through these documents. One of the items was the second page of the "Dear Mrs. Kelsey" letter! This was an exciting find and completes the cycle of research on that document, a letter sent to Mary/Matie Alma Hendee from Flora Annette Griswold. Many thanks, John and Derek! Below are:

The first part of it was a little west of the present highway. From Edwin Wheaton's present residence to N. "Mary LaBatt had written me some time ago that she and her son, Walter, were putting up new a gravestone for David hendee---and Caroline Harrington Hendee. I just received a letter from Walter with a composite photo on one page. I cropped them each individually, enhanced the lighting, and here they are. This includes the old stone one of David hendee and the new one. it also includes an old marker (front and back) and the new one for David Harrington. I do not know who David Harrington was. I have William as Caroline's father, but no further back. When I wrote Walter to thank him, I asked who David Harrington was. The marker says put up by their descendants, so Walter and Mary must know something. If Walter writes back, I will let you know. These appear to be in Somerset, Michigan. Note that David's says he was the founder of First Baptist Church in Jackson, MI. I googled, and it still exists. Made a note to write and see if they have info of David--or know who founded their church---one would think." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"In June, my son came and got me to stay a few days, and while with him and his wife, he took me to Somerset Center graveyard where Rev. David Hendee is buried. The marker is broken and lying on the ground. I felt so bad that my son worked with me, and we ordered a new marker (a lovely memorial). It was put in place at the grave site in early November. I don't have a picture yet, but when I do, I hope to write again. Some of the material you had on Rev. David has been most helpful. He died at the home of his daughter in Hillsdale County." [Letter from Mary (McMullen) Labatt to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (2009)] "I received a letter from Mary LaBatt in December 2009. She is my third cousin, with our most recent common ancestor being David Hendee, hers and my great great grandfather. Mary lives in Kalamazoo, Michigan. She turned 94 last August. It is in the records of David Petrie. I asked Mary for more information." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"I can tell you but little of the Harrington line, Rev. William came to Pittsford from Clarendon. His wife was Amy Briggs, they had 17 children, Theophilus, James and William, three brothers settled in Clarendon in 1786 from Rhode Island. Which was older I do not know, but Theophilus Harrington was born in 1762. He was a judge in the Rutland Co. Court, three years and was Judge of the Supreme Court ten years, was the Judge in slave time, who made the speech when a man who was trying to claim his escaped slave and applied for a warrant for the extradition of the negro, asked the Judge what more evidence he wanted made the reply, 'a bill of sale, sir, from God Almighty.' This speech was quoted everywhere in the world, on his monument erected by the State of Vermont is this, 'He sleeps on the hill no slave ever trod, Nor Claimant brought bills from Almighty God.'" "Caleb [Hendee, Esq.] stayed on in Vermont and made a name for himself in the state, as soldier, officer, and scholar, Vermont records abound in stories about him. David was Baptist minister and later went out to Michigan, as the first Baptist minister in Jackson, probably the first in the state. The records say that, 'Caleb was a very learned man, having all the culture of an English gentleman in England.' He acquired a great deal of land in Vermont and rose from Ensign to Brigadier General. My father, Hassan, son of Dr. Kendrick, used to say that his father said his father David [Rev. David M. Hendee] had more education than [Rev. David's father] Caleb. I don't know if he did, but no doubt they were pretty much alike in opportunity. I think that really what Dr. C. [Dr. Clark Kendrick Hendee] said was that David's tastes were finer."

"David Hendee, emigrated to Niagara county, New York, in 1811. He was an ensign in the American army and engaged in the campaign along the frontier in the war of 1812. He became an ordained minister of the Baptist church, and came to Michigan as a missionary in 1828. He came to Jackson in 1838, and organized the first Baptist church in 1838. "I also regret all the questions I never thought to ask Grandma [Jennie Florence Seitz] Hendee. But she died when I was 17, was old all my life (78 when I was born), lived in California where we occasionally visited, and I was just not close to her. She was in no way like a grandmother to me, just provided a handy place from which to visit Disneyland, the beach, and Knott's Berry Farm. I also don't think I had any sense of nor real interest in family history at that time. But, what a treasure-trove of information-someone born the year after Lincoln was assassinated and the end of slavery, plus no doubt having stories of her own father's service as a fifer in the Civil War. Well, we shall piece together what we can from what we have which is fortunate, Thank you Grandma, for saving all these wonder materials." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"From Mrs. F.C. [Frank Clark] Hendee [Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee] 2640 So. 13th St., Lincoln, Nebraska - Dear Cousin, The [Hendee family lived originally in Normandy, France, the name being Ven Dee (or perhaps La VenDee) pronounced "Vong Day." The prefix "Ven" being the same as "Van" in Holland and "Von" in German each denoting descent from royalty, the titles going to the eldest son of each family in direct line. When the Catholic persecutions drove the Huguenots or Protestants from France, the Ven Dees took up their abode in Denmark and England. It was during their sojourn in the latter land [England] that "V" was changed to "Haitch" ["H"] and so Richard Hendee became a resident of the New World, which a century or more later became the U.S.A. Richard 1 had a son Richard 2 who was the father of Jonathan 3 who had a son know in manhood as "Deacon" Caleb Hendee 4. Among the Deacon's sons was one David 5 who became a Baptist Preacher. His family was born in Rutland Co. Vermont. Then they moved to the vicinity of Jackson Mich where Family Reunions have been held each Labor Day during the last four or six years. (Of David's sons there was no Samuel.) One of David's sons (Clark Kendrick Hendee 6) was the father of O.W. 7 [Olin Wood [Hendee]] of Omaha [Nebraska] and his twin sister Lu Bird who until this winter, made her home at La Clede III, at the homestead where Dr. Hendee (C.K. [Clark Kendrick]) and children made their home beginning in 1872. Miss Bird is now at the M.E. Home for Old Folks at Lawrenceville Ill. The twins will be 74 June 29 '39. O.W. has one daughter Maurea Hendee Sanborn who has 3 youngsters, the eldest a girl. Frank Clark Hendee 7, my husband, is the . . . Frank Chester Hendee 8, who is the son of Frank Clark and . . . There are many Hendees around Monmouth [sp?]. Geo. M. Hendee founder and Pres. of the Indian Motorcycle Co of Springfield Mass is a descendant of Caleb 4 above. His ancestry running back thus: Geo M 8 Wm 7 Abel 6 Celeb 5 Caleb 4 Jonathan 3 Richard Jr 2 Richard. I got the above information from Mr. Clarence A. Hendee of Stottsville, N.Y. R.F.D.-1. He saw O.W.'s name in the Sat Eve Post and wrote him direct. It was easy from his data and what we have to see that he is related. His grandfather Abel was 1st coz to Dr. Hendee (His father William a 2nd cousin to O.W. and F.C.) and 2nd coz. to O.W. and F.C. Dr. Clark K. Hendee, my father-in-law, had 4 [?] brothers, John, Wm, Royal, Herrington, and Caleb also one sister Caroline. Uncle Royal had a daughter Emma Hendee Cole still living at Jackson Mich. I think she is about 88. Uncle John has a son Sherman Hendee 82, address 17 West Sherman St. Eureka, California." [Letter from Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee to Mrs. Cora Sand of Prophetstown, Illinois - Feb 1930; transcribed by Cynthia Hendee Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] "My Grandma Hendee saved everything, which I have now processed, along with gathering information from a few other sources. I never talked to her about these issues. She was 78 when I was born and died when I was 16. However, I also somehow grew up with the story that our Hendee ancestors fled from France and arrived in England. Her version was that it was the Ven Dee region of France and that the name changed into Hendee in England. But, I find no documentation in her various papers for that. (The VenDee region is discussed in the 1989 issue of National Geographic--all on France. It does discuss fleeing from persecution in the Ven Dee region beginning in 1793, long after Richard was in America, but still kind of interesting. I have that page.) Also, I question Grandma's story of the name change, as I have information tracing the Hendee name back well in time and with the root of courtesy and such--and also with possible Scottish roots. But, then we don't yet know WHEN our ancestors arrived. Maybe they were courteous. I do not have her backup for the fleeing story. However, she did communicate with Lee Hendee, and he had access to Caverly's History of Pittsford (VT.), so this may have been her source [see following]." [Cynthia Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] "The first of the Hendee family in this country [New England] was named Richard. He descended from a family of French Protestants who, on account of their religion, were expelled from Normandy and afterwards settled in England. Richard came to Boston in the first settlement of the country, married and settled in that vicinity." Congratulations on your work; we could use some more volunteers like you. By the way, thanks for the postcards from Vendee. I gave them to my father. You remember that my name is Hendee. My father is convinced that my ancestors are from there and that a spelling mistake changed the V to an H." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"My Dear Mrs. Kelsey [Mary Alma Hendee Kelsey], The letter you wrote to Frank Hendee of Pittsford (Vermont) some little time ago, he has sent to me to reply to. I have much Hendee data in fact nearly all of the connecting lines, have been years collecting it with much other material of interest. My Grand-father was Solomon Hendee of Pittsford, a son of Deacon Caleb and a brother of Rev. David Hendee. (Jennie [Florence Seitz Hendee] wrote in the margin, 'Baptist preacher, father [of] Dr. C.K.H.,' referring to Clark Kendrick Hendee, her husband's father. References elsewhere state that Clark served as a surgeon in the Civil War and practiced medicine in Flora, Illinois (newspaper clipping in Wenger and 'David Hendee' - Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com) [Letter from Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee to Mary Alma Hendee Kelsey - transcribed by Cynthia Hendee Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] "The IGI - LDS Family History Search site shows the parents of Jennie Florence (Seitz) Hendee as, George W. SEITZ (b. abt 1844 Ohio, USA m. abt 1862 Ohio d. Los Angeles, California) and Mary Elizabeth LARIMER (b. 1844 Ohio, USA). It is difficult to see how Solomon Hendee (2) could be the grandfather of Jennie Florence (Seitz) Hendee unless the IGI is wrong or Jennie meant 'great grandfather', etc. instead of 'grandfather.'" LETTER FROM BUD FESTERLY TO CHET AND LAURA LOUISE – "This letter is from Harold Bernard (Bud) Festerly to my parents Frank Chester (Chet) and Laura Louise Hendee. Bud was married to Eleanor Maxine Hendee, my half-sister. They had five children, Duane, Connee ("Connie" below), Rosanne, Janice, and Marilyn, and then divorced. Eleanor died in 1969. Linda Hendee (Eagan) had been in the peace corps in the Dominican Republic for 2 years. In regard to the last sentence, Haynes ("Haines" below) was Eleanor's brother, Eve took her own life. Chet was Eleanor's father, as well as Linda's and mine."

"2003 Markley Dr., N.W., North Canton, Ohio 44720, 9/20/72 – Hi, Glad to have gotten your letter. (I'm taking his opportunity to practice my typing and as you can see I'm still not very good at it.) I'll bet you are glad to have Linda back in the states even though she is still very far away. It was nice that they could be home together for a week. As you can see by the address we are now back in North Canton. We moved Aug. 2. We really are not in N.C. but on the outskirts. About 2 mi. East of the Center of town in a new allotment. While our house is seven years old there are still many lots around us that have not been built on. We are on a corner (the N.E. corner). Across the street from us, aside of us, and to the back of us are all vacant lots. The place had been owned by an FBI man and perhaps the thieves have it marked to let alone – if so, we may be relatively safe. So far we have heard of no problems in the area. We were being stolen blind at the place in Youngstown and are happy to have finally gotten out of there even though we had a fine home. We really moved to get mother back here. She could not get out and make new friends up there and the neighbors did not neighbor. We find our neighbors here of much better caliber. The two older girls get the bus a little before seven AM for school and Marilyn about 8:15. The older two get home about 3:15 and Marilyn just after 4:00. On the first day of school, Jan who takes the same bus as Rosanne, got a ride home with a girl friend's mother and Rosanne did not know anyone on her bus. In fact, she was not sure which was her bus and so she walked home. I didn't realize that she could be that shy. Normally it would be about three miles but she made a wrong turn. When she got to a filling station she called Mom. She said that she thought she had made a wrong turn. So Mom asked her where she was and she didn't know. Mom had to tell her to ask at the station and then she could tell her how to get home which she did. It made about 2 extra miles. Needless to say her feet were a trifle sore. Marilyn does not go to the same school as J and R. I don't know if you knew it or not but I had bought a restaurant last Sept. Since I was out of work and wanting to get back to N.C. [North Canton, Ohio], I bought it in Canton figuring, if it turned out good, I could thumb my nose at Republic Steel if and when they called me back, and if not, there was always the chance of being called back. Well I was not called back, and the restaurant turned out badly. I knew when I bought it that there had been a water problem but was assured by the sellers that the city had added a new sewer and that it was O.K. Not so. Sewage backed into the basement every time that it rained making use of the toilets impossible and setting up a terrible stench, not to mention problems with the health dept. and other associated problems. Well I finally closed it down July 18th and now have to move anyway since it didn't look like I was going to get called back to Republic since they were still laying off. There was no point in looking for a job in Youngstown since we wanted to be in N.C. We have been busy getting settled, the kids in school etc. along with trying to settle the restaurant affair so I have not had time to look for a job. In the near future I should have things in some order when I will start looking and I have a couple paint jobs to do in the meantime. Hope that it does not get too cold too quickly for me to get them done. I have tendonitis in both shoulders and so far cortisone has failed to do any good. The Doc said I may have to get operated on. I hope not. It isn't bad in either shoulder but the worst is the right shoulder and I don't think that I could handle ladders very well. Then too I don't know how much that kind of work might aggravate it. Problems, problems, problems. Mother had been pretty good but the moving has kind of knocked her out and she has been having trouble with her right leg and staying in bed a good deal to stay off of it. She could use her wheel chair but says she doesn't want to knock up the woodwork. Marilyn seems to do quite well in school, Jan O.K. and Rosanne just sees to it that she gets through and that is all. When it comes to physical work Rosanne is a bear. Give her a job and she gets with it. She just goes ahead with no questions and doesn't want anyone to help her. Darn seldom she makes any mistakes and will try anything as for example in baking. These kids have really learned how to do anything related to house work. I don't mean to say that Rosanne can't work with the others. She can and does. For example last night Jan made the crusts for pies and Rosanne did the balance. She said that she has lost 10 lbs. since moving down here (she never will tell us how much she weighs). Connie got a temporary job in Canton when we lived in Youngstown and lives with a girl friend in Canton and is now not working. The moving was quite a chore and so the pool was not put up. So the kids did not get but very little swimming this year. We now live near a pool where I hope to get them a membership next year. We were very sorry to hear about Haines' daughter, Eve [suicide]. Why? Sincerely, Bud" [Letter from Harold Bernard ("Bud") Festerly to Frank Chester ("Chet") and Laura Louise Hendee (1972)]

Little did she know that would be the case when she wrote these words, although Haynes was our last hope. My father, Frank Chester (Chet) Hendee had 5 daughters and 1 son, Haynes. Jennie's only other son, Uncle Harold, had 1 daughter, Virginia. Therefore, Haynes needed to produce a son to maintain the Hendee name in our particular line. He did so, Evrard (Nino) Hendee, but tragically, little Nino drowned in the Colorado mountains at age 5 taking the last Hendee name of our branch with him." [Cynthia Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com; letter from Lee W. Hendee to Mr. F.C. [Frank Chester] Hendee - 21 Dec 1965] Alexandra ("Sascha"): b. 4 Aug 1927 Bremen, Germany Residence: 1623 Bellaire, Denver Colorado (1965) "I remember occasionally visiting Shascha while growing up in Denver."

"Haynes was the only son of my father, Frank Chester (Chet) Hendee, and of Chet's first wife, Renna May Haynes. Therefore, he was my half-brother. He was born July 18, 1918. Haynes was married four times; I never knew his middle two wives well, although one attended my wedding. I also didn't know Sasha very well, but I do remember visiting her home in Denver, I'm sure after Haynes and she were no longer married. The last marriage to Edi a few years before he died seemed to be happy one. Since Mother just happened to be visiting in Manteca at the time of that wedding, she, Mike, and I went. Marilyn Festerly (now Showalter), the youngest of Eleanor's children, came to my house, as May Margaret was here at the time. I think this was in 1984. When I greeted Marilyn at the door, I didn't know whether to say 'Nice to meet you,' or 'Nice to see you again,' as neither she nor I know if we had ever met before. Anyway, it was good to get to know her. Nancy and Bill also came out for the wedding, which was held in the home of one of Edi's sons in San Jose. (Eleanor, May Margaret, and Nancy are my half sisters, also children of Chet and Renna.) Haynes had two children, both by his first wife, Alexandra (Shasha) Evrard. Sasha was born August 4, 1927 in Bremen, Germany. She and Haynes were married in Washington, D.C. on February 4, 1950. I had always spelled Nino's name 'Everard,' but came across a scrap of paper (attached) spelling it as above, as per Sasha's maiden name. I don't know who wrote the nice printing (perhaps Sasha), but do recognize the bottom part as that of Grandma Hendee's (Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee), as she made her small 'e' in this manner. This appears to be written when she was quite old. I had not remembered (or known) that Nino (Evrard) was named after his mother's maiden name. Unfortunately, neither of Haynes' offspring is living. The oldest was Eve, who took her own life in February 1972 at the age of 21 in a culvert in Denver. I didn't really know Eve very well. She attended my wedding. The son, Evrard, known as Nino, drowned in a river in the mountains of Colorado at the age of 5. It is sad that one of the search party died of a heart attack during the search in Estes Park. One very sad part for me is that the Hendee name of our branch died with Nino, having come all the way down from Richard Hendee (and how long before?), who arrived in America in 1660. Daddy's parents had 5 living children, two of whom were sons to carry on the family name. However, Harold had only one child, a daughter, and Daddy (Chet) had one son out of 6 children. This was Haynes, who had his one son, Nino, the last male Hendee of our branch back to Richard and all the Hendees prior to Richard. I feel badly at the loss of this name for our branch. I remember that we found out about Nino's death in a letter from my maternal Grandma (Sallie Marie Holwell Moore) while were on a trip. Grandma would always write to us on trips, usually sending them to General Delivery at the main post office of the towns on our itinerary. I well remember going up to General Delivery and us all being excited when we had mail from Grandma, which might consist of what she had for breakfast and details of the Denver weather. Mother was reading this letter to us while we were waiting for a ferry in upper Washington. I do not remember Daddy's reaction to this loss of his grandson. Haynes was an accountant and lived in Denver for many years. He eventually moved to Redlands where he and Edi lived. He was an avid chess player and must have been a very good one. One time when he was visiting Mike and me, we went into San Francisco. For some strange reason, we went to a ballet at the Opera House, during which both men fell asleep. We also went to a chess club in San Francisco, as Haynes wanted to visit it. There were just a lot of people playing chess in this one big room. Haynes also loved words, as do I. For many years, he studied Esperanto, some sort of would-be international language. He once gave Mike and me a complicated word game, Anagrams, while visiting us. He was a very intelligent man. I was glad that Mike and I went to his funeral, as Edi seemed to appreciate it so much, and it was also a time to see other family members (Nancy and Bill, May Margaret, Duane, Rosanne, etc.) It was also the first time I had seen their home, which overlooked some hills. Edi is a good woman, and they seemed to love each other very much. Perhaps this relationship was the main happy time in his life. While at the funeral, Edi said that I could choose any book from Haynes' bookshelf to take home. I thought his good dictionary was a lovely choice, as it would remind me of his love of words, and I was in need of a better one. However, the subject never came up again, and I never got the dictionary." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

He wrote back, and I established that he is something like a 5th cousin, once removed (I have it, but not worth looking up right now). I think our common ancestor is Jonathan, son of Richard, Jr. Anyway, the defense apparently is going to try to accuse him of some bad actions in the Peterson case. "Mike and I were somewhat affected by the [Viet Nam] war in where we lived. By having a teaching contract, Mike was not subject to the draft. So, we taught in Rockford, Iowa for two years and then moved to Barstow. We did not care for Barstow (though it enabled us to see much of southern California and Las Vegas). Since we did not have another teaching position by the end of our first year in Barstow, we did have to sign those contracts or Mike would have been drafted. In February of our second year in Barstow, I vividly remember that we were enroute to Las Vegas to pick up Grandma (Moore) for her annual visit when it dawned on us that Mike was now of the age that he could be without a teaching contract and not be drafted. Therefore we did not sign our contracts that spring and picked up our positions in Manteca in August of that year." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"The following is retyped from a parchment-style typed document owned by Owin [Wood Hendee]. There is a handwritten note by Olin at the bottom. His daughter, 'Maureah Pearl,' actually spelled her name 'Maurea' and her nickname as 'Rhea,' I remember visiting her as a child. Her mother, Ida, was a teacher at the state [Nebraska] school for the deaf. I have an image of a large house and meeting Rhea, but that's it. When consulting with my mother, Laura Louise Hendee, about this visit, she informed me that the family lived in Omaha. I had been back to visit Daddy's (Frank Chester Hendee's) brother and sister-in-law, Harold and Ethel Hendee; in Lincoln [Nebraska], and then went through Omaha. Rhea had been divorced for many years. Her daughter (whom I remember as 'Jeannie') and son-in-law (George) [George Adam Lippert] bought what Mother verified to be a large house that needed fixing up. Rhea, Ida, Jeannie, and George all lived there. Mother said they 'fixed it up for 25 years.' They took us inside to see it, but it was not in shape for company, so we visited on the front porch (which I remember). Mother remembered that Rhea and Ida spoke sign language to each other, and she finally said the she couldn't understand sign language. Mother said they were tall, good-looking people. She remembered Daddy saying that they (Olin and Ida) were nice to him while he was a boy in Lincoln. Daddy and Rhea were the same age [both born 1896]. Mother never met Olin." FAMILY FOODS – "I had not thought too much about the issue of "Family Foods" over my years in genealogy, but when it continued to be emphasized in our [genealogy] class, I thought, hmmm ... I better haul out those old cookbooks in my antique room and have some talks with Mother. I had already been having fond memories of how my dear Grandpa, who was not the cook in the family, conducted his annual Thanksgiving tradition of turning the turkey carcass into scrapple. It was then cut into rectangles, fried, and served with maple syrup—a favorite of everyone, except Grandma. So, when I ran across a recipe for scrapple in a newspaper, I cut it out to incorporate it and that memory into this cookbook. Another food experience that I had already shared with Mother was a couple of generations before my time. I had been transcribing letters of 1925 from her mother and aunt in Colorado Springs to their parents back in Missouri, each of which generated phone calls to Mother, with questions. "Who was this?" "Do you remember this and such?" Of course, she didn't always have an answer, as she was just 9 years old then. Well, I came across the phrase "leaf lard." "What was that?" I thought and promptly picked up the phone. "Oh, yes! Leaf lard!" And, off she went. I learned that this was a hard chunk of pure white pig fat brought home by grocer-Grandpa and sliced off into thin leaves to use in cooking. So, I kept working on the letters...and calling. "Mother, sugar sack tablecloths?" "Oh yes!"—and off onto more stories. "If it hadn't been for Aunt Gertrude sewing for me, I would have been wearing them to school like my little friends." Of course, the frequency of the letters written enabled me to learn many details of the weather in Colorado Springs, but also what my family ate day by day, what else Grandpa brought home from the grocery store, about the old stewing hens cooking away on the stove, accompanied by the dumplings Mother loved. Thus, family food, through these letters, did become an integral part of all I was learning about life in the Moore family nearly 80 years ago. So, I had some perceptions and interest when I hauled the cookbooks up to Seattle over the last couple of years and sat with Mother. While she may have used these in her own early-married life, they were ones that originated with her mother and "Aunt Sam" when she was but a child—and "hard-used" they are, as she observed. And so, I hoped Mother would have memories of what was inside these "receipt books," as Grandma called them. Initially, it seemed she didn't quite get the point of where this was leading, and I wasn't sure myself. All I knew to ask was that we thumb through and see if she could conjure up any memories or stories of what we came across. In addition, they were filled with recipes cut from magazines, or more often, copied from goodness-knows-where in Grandma's so-familiar handwriting—and held together with her ever-present straight pins. Well, this certainly did take Mother down memory lane, far more than we anticipated. I heard over several different sessions exclamations, again, of "Oh, yes!" "Oh, my goodness!" "Let me tell you, that was an experience!"...and many big smiles and little chuckles of fondly going back to her early, early years. All this over what? Peach food, something from Uncle Raymond about green beans and juice in a can..."He sure goes a long way to tell all this. They were always doing something to green beans to make them better." "Grandma was a good cook." "Miller's Supermarket, I'd forgotten." "Oh, yes, these came out... Meals of the Week." Memories of people who had supplied their recipes came to the surface: Blarney Stones from the next door neighbor, Aunt Annie's float from Missouri, her best friend's mother's salmon and potato pie, the fudge recipe that Mother and her college roommate and life-long friend, Edith, later used, Transparent Pie that "the strange woman Mr. Pipes married" brought out from Missouri. Of course, favorite foods were remembered. "Oh, apple delight, one of my favorite desserts." "Snow pudding...that was a treasure." "Peanut brittle, what trouble that was to make." "Tuna casserole ... Grandma did not add peas." And, as with all phases of genealogy, we learn about life in those times, as when Mother recalled, "It used to be that when I was intrigued as there seemed to be very few Hendees about although checking the phonebook today in Denver, I find that there are 13 separate listings. I hope you don't mind my taking the opportunity to write, but I am myself a graduate of Colorado College, 1957, and my father, Robert W. Hendee, was on the Board of Trustees there for many years. I was further intrigued by the fact that you are a social worker with the Newborn Intensive Care Unit as I am a neurosurgeon who restricts my practice to the pediatric range and spend much time in the newborn intensive care here at Children's Hospital here in Denver. If it is not an imposition upon your privacy, I would be delighted to hear from you to let me know where your family originated and see if there are any ties in the background other than the name. Best wishes. Sincerely, Robert W. Hendee, Jr., M.D." [Letter from Robert W. Hendee, Jr., M.D. to Linda Jean Hendee (1981)]

"Poem from Vera Lucille Hendee Roth to Her Mother Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee – Although I didn't know Aunt Vera very well, I liked her. We would visit her when we would go to Lincoln [Nebraska] to stay with Uncle Harold [Harlow Hendee] and Aunt Ethel. I do remember sitting around the kitchen table at Aunt Vera's. Her house was piled high with old newspapers and magazines. Uncle William was not a very sociable fellow, and I don't remember having any feelings toward him one way or another – just some elderly man. Vera and William had one child who died in infancy and then no other children. You see a religious trend in her poem, reflecting the strong faith through the Jehovah's Witness church that Jennie, Verra, Mary, Harold, and Ena shared. My father never practiced that particular religion. I do not know what Vera was doing in Jackson, Mississippi." I see upon the calendar

Tis nearing April nine

So I must find my rhyming tools

And get them into line

It isn't every girl my age

Who has a mother dear

And so I thank the Lord for you

While wishing you were near.

But near or far, our love is true

And deep and wide and strong

Tho' we are separated now

It cannot be long

The happy day is drawing near

With no more separation

When all will next door neighbors be

In every tribe and nation

If you and I are faithful, dear

And we are called up higher

No human ties will be so close

What more could we desire?

To sit for aye at His right hand

While sharing in His reign

That's bringing blessings rich to all

And soon will end all pain

So let us guard each moment well

That we may spread the story

How this old earth will be made new

And filled with God's own glory

I now will end these birthday lines

With tender love & prayer

That God will gently guide you

And heep you in his care.

From your daughter

I am deeply interested in you, actually, and am proud of you. I appreciate your mental gifts, of course, and your gift of taking an interest in what is a sort of 'pioneering' in a foreign land. I have long been firmly convinced that all humans are humans, regardless of sometimes radical differences in their native tongues, and skin pigmentation. The likenesses between those of differing ethnic origin seem much greater than the differences if we look closely. In all probability your life in the Dominican Republic has sharpened your appreciation of the kinship of all humans. God has made of one blood all nations

Mary Lucinda ("Mary Lu") Hendee b. 1894 d. 1957 m. Clarence Huzzey Residence: 4227 Halldale, Los Angeles, California [Ren'ee Miller Jansen - reneeij@comcast.net] "Had no children" [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] Aunt Mary's Family Riddle – "When I was in Seattle this past Christmas, Mother told a story around the dinner table of her own family, commenting that it was 'a 100 year old story.' That really struck me as being a true treasure – an oral treasure, passed down by generations in the style of much of the folklore and family history of our world. So, while I have taken to providing these as written documentation, they are coming just prior to this as passed down by word of mouth! While at this time, I have no written documents from Aunt Mary, I did think of an oral treasure to pass on from her – a 'family riddle.' Aunt Mary was the sister of my father, Frank Chester (Chet) Hendee. She and her husband, Clarence Huzzey, lived with and took care of Grandma Hendee [Jennie Florence (Seitz) Hendee] in their home at 4227 Halldale in Los Angeles. I have always had Mary's full name as 'Mary Lu.' It was just in July 1999 that I came across a document in this packet stating her name as 'Mary Lucinda.' I believe it was in Grandma Hendee's writing; as Mary's mother, she ought to know! I shared this 'family riddle' at May Margaret's 75th birthday party at Lake Arrowhead in May 1997 when Shannon Reena Wilson did such a fine job of organizing a talent show. Duane Festerly teased me about reproducing it in triplicate. Well, here it is, Duane – a piece of oral family history now in writing! I remember Aunt Mary with fondness. She seemed a sweet lady, though I have few anecdotes or remembrances except being in the kitchen on Halldale when she told me this riddle, approximately 45 years ago. There may also be one other thing she indirectly passed on to me. For many years, I have had a lantana in the patch of ground leading into the backyard and by the garage. Mother suggested that I plant one there, having enjoyed the lantanas when visiting 'Mother Hendee,' as she called my grandmother. Perhaps it was Mary who was responsible for that Los Angeles lantana and so, through Mother, has also passed on a tangible and visual piece of family history. Now, here's the poem:

WHY ARE FIRE ENGINES RED?

Because two and two are four
 And four more makes eight
 And four makes twelve
 And twelve makes a ruler
 And Queen Elizabeth is a ruler
 And there is a ship named the Queen Elizabeth
 And the ship sails the ocean
 And there are fish in the ocean
 And fish have fins
 And the Fins are always fighting the Russians,
 And fire engines are always russin'.

So thank you, Aunt Mary, for your oral contribution to the Family History Pproject." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"State Employee Resigns – Harold Hendee Quits White Collar Job, Hoping to Become Wealthy Shoe Repairer: Harold Hendee, a young clerk in the office of the state treasurer has resigned his white collar job in the hope of becoming a rich shoe repairer. For some time he has been been taking advantage of the state's Saturday afternoons off and nights to learn the trade of a shoe repairer. He has practiced the art until he feels competent to do good mechanical work. To prove his ability he put half soles and heels on a pair of shoes in which State Treasurer Stebbins tramps the earth with his solid tread. He filed his resignation to take effect May 1. He will own and operate a shop on South Eleventh street, near the Everett school. Mr Hendee has been an employee of the state treasurer for a little more than three years. He received $135 a month when he started in, worked most of the time for $140 and was never able to get the eye of the legislature for more of a raise than the maximum of $150 a month. He decided that the state was far from extravagant with wages for employees and now resigns. State Treasurer Stebbins looked over many banks in the state and found that they nearly all pay more than $150 a month. Being unable to find an experienced clerk for that amount he went to a business college and asked for its best student. Bert Harper of Fairbury was furnished him and has been appointed to fill the vacancy. The clerk is known as cashier. He keeps a record of cash receipts and does typing and other work." "July 26, 1996 Dear Cynthia: Was I surprised. Much as I would like to see you I wish it could have been much earlier. Cynthia, I will be 93 in Sept 7. Several years ago I fell and broke my hip. Have had a bad time ever since. I am alone except for a girl in the basement apartment. It's been and is very hard for me. Virginia has been here some of the time but to be frank I don't feel good and much as I would love to see you it will have to wait for now. I was so glad to hear news of the family. Your mother? Maybe later I can write again. I often have thought of all of you so won't you please write again, and I will try. It's been hard ever since Harold is gone. I have a nice girl in the basement apartment for which I am thankful. Please write again and perhaps I will get to feeling better. Thank you for all the news. Jodie and Phil are visiting his mother. Have been married three years. Can't believe it. If you will wait for now, perhaps later will be better. That is if I get to feeling better. I miss Harold so much. Thank you for writing. Do it again. When I tracked down Virginia in the summer of 1996, that's where she still was, even the same address. At that time, neither Jodie nor John had children. If they never do (as Virginia indicated was a possibility), then the only line from my grandparents, Jennie and Frank Clark Hendee, will be through Daddy's children – well, some of them. Mike and I never had children, and Haynes' two died prior to having any. Strange, as I bet Jennie and Frank would have assumed they would be great grandparents many times over, having produced five children. Of those five, Mary, Ena, and Vera had none living. (Vera had one child who died in infancy). Harold had one daughter, my only cousin, Virginia, whose line may end with her two children. Daddy produced six by two wives and only one of those, Haynes, was a son by whom to pass on the Hendee name through this line. With the drowning death of Haynes' son, Nino at age 5, the name died with him. What a pity. Thankfully, Daddy's line continues through 4 of his children." LETTER FROM AUNT ENA TO CHET [Frank Chester] AND LAURA LOUISE [Hendee] – "Helper, Utah September 18, 1972 Dear Chet and Laura Louise: How nice to hear from you! I often think back to our happy visit and how very hospitable and kind you both were. Unless my memory fails me, I don't believe I ever wrote to tell you so. Anyway, I do appreciate everything you did for me. I'm glad you're situated in such a lovely home. Enjoyed it, too! Did you take a lot of pictures on last summer's trip? We all enjoyed your slides so much at Lincoln and your delightful narration, Laura Louise. About dates: the only information I have so far is that Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee was born April 9, 1866 and died April 23, 1962. Somewhere I have a newspaper clipping with a picture of Pop when he died. And I may have Mary's date. But, I just haven't been able to search for them. I've been bothered with cystitis for several weeks now. Once I thought the doctor's prescription had accomplished its purpose – but then the trouble began all over. Going to bed seems the only relief sometimes. I'm not over it yet. So then, I got way behind with everything. I will try to sift thru my 'archives' as soon as possible . . . Mother's [Jennie Florence (Seitz) Hendee] interest in genealogy was great, and her memory for such details fantastic. Thanks for news of Cynthia, Mike, and Linda! It's good they're all busy and enjoying their work. And Chet, we appreciate your remembering us with a card while you were traveling last summer. Floyd is a little too busy these days. He longs for a vacation but can't get away – yet. We do take our tiny trailer to the nearby mountains occasionally overnite. When will you join us? Hope you are both well. I will send you more dates when I'm able to look for them. Love, Ena and Floyd" [Letter from Ena Hendee to Frank Chester and Laura Loise Hendee (1972)]

"LETTER FROM AUNT ENA TO CYNTHIA – This is a letter to me from my aunt Ena, youngest sister of Frank Chester Hendee, my father. I remember Aunt Ena with positive feelings, though I didn't know her too well. She seemed to be a sweet woman . . . Mother shared two stories about us visiting Ena and Floyd in Portland. One is that they took us all to a rose garden up there, and I apparently was determined to smell every rose on the grounds. The other is that, despite Mother's strong admonition, Uncle Floyd and Daddy gave me some goat milk; I threw up all over the car, so she made herself scarce while they cleaned up the mess. I was working on family history and the long tree chart around 1972 when Ena wrote the letter below, but have put off further efforts these past 25 years. It is fun and exciting to be back into it! I'm sure glad I waited until the computer age before immersing myself in this; thinking back to my manual typewriter and primitive erasing methods is pretty scary! I enjoyed Ena's reference to the Price River and the town of that name as 'Price' became her last name when she married Floyd. He was 10 years younger than she, although I always thought he looked older. Uncle E.B. was Enoch Beery Seitz, brother to Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee, my grandmother. Roy Seitz was another brother to Jennie. I remember our family visiting him and his wife, Rosa, in Bozeman. They took us out to Gallatin Gateway, a lovely mountain area. We encountered a major hailstorm on our way to Bozeman – huge hailstones. Our family memory of that is that Linda announced that she had to go to the bathroom, so Daddy pulled into a gas station. Mother escorted her in with much drenching. Linda [Linda Jean Hendee] then stated that she didn't have to go after all!" [Cynthia Hendee Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"Helper, Utah Feb 15, 1973 Dear Cynthia: We are so very pleased to hear from you. Because of our being the world's worst correspondents we just don't keep in touch with everyone we'd really like to. I haven't come up with any others whom I think would be interested in the family tree. Floyd was born March 14, 1917. We were married February 20, 1944. Ha! 29 years ago and we're still on our honeymoon! . . Now perhaps we can bring you up to date somewhat on our activities. We like our present location the best of any place we have lived. Floyd came here to a pre-arranged job for a contractor-friend when we moved here February 28, 1969. Then his employer moved away and Floyd went thru the Utah red tape to become a contractor for himself. So he has been sole owner and proprietor of 'Utah Building Service,' 4 yrs. We bought a modest little house at a tremendous bargain in our first summer here. We have a low rocky 'mountain' within a mile of us on the north at the edge of our 2,000 pop. city. The Price river is across the street from us – running parallel to our home. When the tall trees at its edge are weighted down with snow as they were two days ago, they are a sight to behold. We are 6 miles for the city of Price. Floyd hadn't worked for a couple of months because of not feeling well. Then Feb. 10, he slipped on ice and injured his shoulder. Has to carry his arm in a sling, won't be able to work for some weeks. As for me I'm fine at present. So glad you and Mike are enjoying your work, and skiing too, enjoying the opportunity, that is. Enclosed - $2.00 for a copy of all the hard work you are doing. My, it must be a lot of work! Would love to visit you if we could. In the meantime, why not stop over with us – say on your way to Denver? Wouldn't that be nice! Love to both of you from both of us Ena" [Letter from Ena Hendee to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1973)]

Then I tried to have some copies made but they didn't turn out very well so I am inclosing the original. When you get through with it if you would send it back I could have some better copies makde. There isn't anything to know about Rex Hendee. He was born between Ethel and Kent but died in infancy. Kent and I never had any children for which I am very sorry. Your visit with Ethel meant a great deal to her. I guess you do not know I married again in 1964. We were good friends with the Saunders who lived next door. Aretas and I were married after his wife passed away and were very happy together having many of the same interests. He was a retired teacher and ornithologist. He died in 1970 after a fall and broken hip. I am glad you like California. I grew up in Oakland when it was a lovely suburb . . . A friend wants me to go to a warmer part of the country with her but I haven't yet made up my mind just what to do. I miss Ethel very much. We lived so close I went to see her every day and she was fond of Aretas. I hope you will have good luck with your family tree. I would love to have one when it is finished. I'm sorry I don't know of any distant relatives. With love, Margaret Saunders" [Letter from Margaret (Downs) (Hendee) Saunders to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1972)]

Ethel Genevieve Hendee b. 24 Nov 1881 d. 31 Jul 1972 LETTER FROM COUSIN ETHEL HENDEE TO VERA HENDEE ROTH - "I remember visiting Ethel in her home, probably in 1964, at which time she was 83 years old. She was nice. When I got married, she gave me an oval glass candy dish with silver floral designs on it; I think of her every time I use it. I wrote to Mother and asked what she remembered about the visit. She wrote back, 'I remember very little about our visit. It was in New Canaan, Conn, and it was a pleasant, medium-sized house. Her sister-in-law Margaret lived with her and really took care of her. Ethel was very frail - fairly short and very thin. She had white hair. We had lunch with them. Both women had on the old-fashioned 'housedress' like Grandma used to wear. They were straight, buttoned down part of the front and were of printed material. Following that we exchanged letters until she could no longer write, so then corresponded with Margaret until she died.' (I definitely remember housedresses when I was a little girl; it was a common, household word. Mother wore them, also, as women just didn't wear jeans or slacks as we do now. I remember Mother and Grandma Moor saying, 'I have to go shopping for a house dress.' Grandma would also buy them for herself, then wrap them up as a Christmas present from Grandpa to her. I don't remember them as totally straight, but more flaring out. I remember sitting in cousin Ethel's living room, an old-fashioned room and very pleasant. - Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com). There are some entries added to this letter by Vera, which I have put in parentheses and documented with 'VR.' As a result of information in here, I entered Minerva on the tree accompanying Mary C. Wood's letter to Olin Hendee. Vera's reference to 'my grandmother Hendee' is to Lucinda Wood Hendee. Ethel's reference to 'Aunt Jennie' is to Vera and Chet's mother and my grandmother, Jennie Florence Seitz Hendee." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"August 29, 1960 Dear Vera, (Inez referred to in this letter is the adopted daughter of a woman who was in her turn adopted by my Grandmother Hendee's sister, Minerva Wood Cooley of Friend, Nebr. - VR) Your 'tiny present' has never come. Perhaps for some reason you were unable to send it, but if you did send it I want you to know it did not find me. I don't remember whether I asked Inez to tell you or not. I am somewhat behind in letters to Inez. She has been wonderful about writing me for many years; even when she was so very busy on the farm she would write me and Kent and Margaret telling us what she was reading, what she was about to serve for dinner- and about the children and Frank, the kind of intimate family thing that meant no break with the past. (Kent [Kendrick McClear H.] Ethel's bro. married Margaret Downs of Lincoln - VR) (The 'H.' means 'Hendee.' - CH) The last few weeks I've had to curtail my letter writing because of my eyes. I'm sure they will come out all right and they feel reasonably usable but I've had to discontinue all other medication, some of it vital. And that sometimes makes me not so strong as might be and that is reflected in my eyes. I guess - I don't know - I left off there. Anyway the reason for all this I may have written Inez and this may be a repetition for you. My eyes were slipping back into undesirable ways and Dr. Judson could see no evidence of the glaucoma having advanced enough to cause it. So, he asked our family doctor to discontinue shots for blood pressure, heart stimulants, and most of all the medicine which is a great palliative for Parkinson's Disease. It does not retard the progress of the real trouble but makes everything easier, more stability, etc., etc. In addition to this he asked me to temporarily discontinue the medicine he prescribed to take the place of the digitalis I had been taking for some years. So, I'm on my own with a vengeance! The point is to find the trouble maker - when the eye symptoms come as they are now markedly doing. I begin to experiment to see which good old friend of mine is the criminal. He says probably one of the diuretics because, given the glaucoma, they could or one could be injurious. You see it may take a while to find out. The great easing of the eye symptoms has taken three weeks. So, it may be a while longer before I can do a lot of things I'd like to do such as checking on your 'tiny gift.' (I forget, for sure, just what the tiny gift was. Better send something. - VR) But , we have many pleasant things to do. Since my friends are what Jennie Vogt calls 'amazing' it is possible for me to have joys enough. They look after me wherever I am, no need to stay home to take care of myself. That is even a manner of speaking for even at home my sweet sister Margaret is unostensibly watchful. (Margaret is her bro. Kent's widow. - VR) Last week we went to a tea party at the Hal Borland's. They had Barbara's mother up from Waterburg to celebrate her 90th birthday. Like dear Aunt Jennie she is a remarkable person. It was a coming and going tea party; most of the people we knew and the new people were pleasant, young and old, - a true representation of her friends up here. The men were fine looking and dignified, the women pretty in summer togs, and the countless sandwiches made by Husband Hal, were scrumptious. If you haven't read his 'High, Wide, and Lonesome,' I wish you would. It is a biography of his boyhood on one of the last homesteads of the west, this one in southwestern Colorado not far from Sidney, Nebraska. Day before yesterday we were taken on the beautiful thirty mile drive to Litchfield, 'the parlour of Connecticut,' the home and beautiful church of Henry Ward Beecher are there as is the first law school building. Building sounds dignified, it is very small, was the office of the Master lawyer standing on his property on the side lawn. It has been one of the loveliest 'greens' in Connecticut and the largest number of fine old colonials. They are uninterrupted by things of lesser periods. They stand far back from the 'green'; their lawns are velvety bright green as are all the lawns in this long Litchfield County. Here in the lower Birkshires, the hill slopes are beautiful in deciduous trees and evergreens with pleasant birches to keep the view from being 'heavy.' We were entertained two weeks or so ago at Margaret Eddy's. It was a special occasion because along with her guests and ten visiting cousins at her Twin Lakes cottage camp was a very black young man from Uganda. He is here on a U.S. government grant for three years study at New York University in New York City when he will have completed study for his Doctorate. He graduated from a school (high school) for boys in his native Uganda after which he graduated from a university in India. He is preparing for government service in Uganda and he hopes the when he enters the service the land will still be a Protectorate of England, and remain so until the people are better prepared for self government. He was perhaps the most cultivated person there under thirty, modest and delightful. He was not the most traveled, that palm would go to Margaret and Alberton Eddy. There was no city where he had been that they did not know and more than casually. He may well be Premier of Uganda one of these days and if the U.N. still stands he will be an addition worthwhile. After dinner and its talk on travel, governments, ethics, Christian (which he is), Hinduism, Mohammedanism), etc., we were joined for dessert by three charming young women, two of Thailand, young and vivacious, and one from Germany, a little older and more sedate, a good looking brunette. After they came we played the English game of 'Skiddles' - lots of fun with top to spin and pegs to kick down all jumping around from gate to gate of little pens - all at the throw of the top. Game apparatus almost covered the dining table just before set for twelve - so passed the International Evening, so you see I'm not a recluse - just have to be guarded and guided and rest when I get home and neglect my cousins in Lincoln. Much love, Ethel" [Letter from Ethel Genevieve Hendee to Vera (Hendee) Roth (1960)]

LETTER FROM COUSIN ETHEL HENDEE TO CYNTHIA - "The following is a letter from cousin Ethel Genevieve Hendee, daughter of Homer Hassan Hendee . . . I'm not sure what she meant by 'the young man who came out to Denver.' Cousin Ethel did not visit in Denver, so it must have been from some reference about Mike in a letter to her. Mother stated that she and Daddy kept up correspondence with Cousin Ethel. 'Chester' was my father, Frank Chester (Chet) Hendee. Mike and I were somewhat affected by the [Viet Nam] war in where we lived. By having a teaching contract, Mike was not subject to the draft. So, we taught in Rockford, Iowa for two years and then moved to Barstow. We did not care for Barstow (though it enabled us to see much of southern California and Las Vegas). Since we did not have another teaching position by the end of our first year in Barstow, we did have to sign those contracts or Mike would have been drafted. In February of our second year in Barstow, I vividly remember that we were enroute to Las Vegas to pick up Grandma (Moore) for her annual visit when it dawned on us that Mike was now of the age that he could be without a teaching contract and not be drafted. Therefore we did not sign our contracts that spring and picked up our positions in Manteca in August of that year. 'Uncle Olin' was also 'Uncle Olin' to my father, as he and Ethel were first cousins. This letter was written to me upon her receiving an invitation to my wedding, which occurred on August 6, 1966. Cousin Ethel sent me a lovely glass candy dish, with a silver floral design, which I enjoy using to this day, always thinking of sweet Cousin Ethel and our nice visit in her home." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"Canaan Conn. July 20, 1966 Cynthia, my dear: You have no idea how pleased I am to have your invitation. It makes Denver much closer to Canaan. I only wish it made it close enough for me to see you become Cynthia Henry. It is rather pleasant to think you will still be 'Cynthia H.' I have been wondering if Michael Edward is the young man who came out to Denver. If he is I am already acquainted with him. Whether he is or not please tell him I say to him what our Uncle Olin said to my mother the day before her wedding - 'In the Hendee family there are no 'in-laws!' I should like to congratulate him on marrying a very intelligent young lady. This reminds me that my memory picture of you is seeing you walk over to the bookcases and eagerly comparing our books with yours. That natural act on your part always comes to me when I think of you and I like it. I wish I could come out and see the 'becoming' - Something in me instinctively responds to a Roman Catholic or Episcopalian wedding. Somehow, to me at least, they seem to favor the altar more than the veil. There are so many things I should like to know, most of all, where you are going to live and if the war (Viet Nam - Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com) will have to determine that. In any case I am sure you will both be happy and I am glad to have a new 'first cousin.' The Hendee brothers (Hosmer,

There is a handwritten note by Olin at the bottom. His daughter, 'Maureah Pearl,' actually spelled her name 'Maurea' and her nickname as 'Rhea,' I remember visiting her as a child. Her mother, Ida, was a teacher at the state [Nebraska] school for the deaf. I have an image of a large house and meeting Rhea, but that's it. When consulting with my mother, Laura Louise Hendee, about this visit, she informed me that the family lived in Omaha. We had been back to visit Daddy's (Frank Chester Hendee's) brother and sister-in-law, Harold and Ethel Hendee; in Lincoln [Nebraska], and then went through Omaha. Rhea had been divorced for many years. Her daughter (whom I remember as 'Jeannie') and son-in-law (George) bought what Mother verified to be a large house that needed fixing up. Rhea, Ida, Jeannie, and George all lived there. Mother said they 'fixed it up for 25 years.' They took us inside to see it, but it was not in shape for company, so we visited on the front porch (which I remember) . Mother remembered that Rhea and Ida spoke sign language to each other, and she finally said the she couldn't understand sign language. Mother said they were tall, good-looking people." "The Hendee family hailed from Vermont, having settled at Pittsford in an early day. The elder Hendee [Deacon Caleb Hendee] was a Revolutionary soldier, having served under General Stark in the battle at Bennington, and in the capture of Burgoyne's army at Saratoga. His son, David Hendee, emigrated to Niagara county, New York, in 1811. He was an ensign in the American army and engaged in the campaign along the frontier in the war of 1812. He became an ordained minister of the Baptist church, and came to Michigan as a missionary in 1828. He came to Jackson in 1838, and organized the first Baptist church in 1838. He and his wife both died in Hillsdale county. His wife died in 1861, and he died in June, 1869. One of his sons, Royal D. Hendee, settled on a farm in Blackman, and was for fifty years a resident of that township. Jonathan H. Hendee lived on a farm in Rives township. John D. Hendee was a farmer in Blackman. He served for three years in Company K. Eighth Michigan Infantry, during the Civil war. There is a large number of descendants still living in Michigan, all reputable people. Three of the daughters are wives of prominent Baptist ministers. The sons are scattered about the state, and most of them are prosperous business men." He was married, in Sandstone Township, to Miss Mary Bostwick, who was born near Penn Yan, N. Y., while the place of nativity of her husband [John Jackson Hendee] was in the Green Mountain State [Vermont]. The young couple settled in Safndstone Township, whence after a residence of several years they removed to Blackman Township, in which they resided until 1870, when Mr. Hendee, leaving his family behind, went to California. He remained on the coast four years, then returning for his family has since made his home in the Golden State, his present residence being in Eureka, Humboldt County. During his residence in Michigan he was engaged in farming, but in California was for some time occupied in teaching and is now living a retired life." "Mrs. Kelsey must have been Mary Alma Hendee – daughter of John J(ackson) - he a son of Rev. David – and indeed they lived in Jackson, Mi. Mary Alma was born 1856 and her father moved to Calif. ca. 1862 to teach school." [Mary (McMullen) LaBatt - marande86@aol.com]

"Her [Matie ("Mary") Alma Hendee Kelsey] father John J(ackson) Hendee was a Latin scholar and taught school, first in Michigan and then in Eureka, California, where the family moved when my mother was sixteen years old. She was born in 1856 so that would indicate their removal to Eureka was in 1872. John J. Hendee acquired a considerable acreage of land on the north peninsula which land-locks Humboldt Bay. The land was sandy and almost barren but there was deep water close to shore and he visualized a future harbor site. He cut his land up into building lots and founded the town of Fair Haven (Fairhaven) across Humboldt Bay from the city of Eureka. For a long time very little development occurred but in recent years, I am told, a sizable industrial shipping point has grown up there. My father inherited from my mother a group of those vacant lots, and I now understand that they are of some real value although my brothers and sisters and I had regarded them as of sentimental value only. My grandfather Hendee died before I was born but I was startled to read in your account that he had died in Michigan. I know my grandmother died in Eureka when I was an infant and I always understood gr.f. Hendee died there also. (Cousin John Hendee's research found that John Jackson did die in Eureka, not in Michigan.)

There was a letter written from a John J. Hendee of Blackman, Jackson County, Michigan to President Abraham Lincoln dated Dec. 3 - 1860. The text of the letter read, "If in the discharge of the duties of your administration you should wish to employ a person who is governed by the principles of this card & do not know where to find one you can send for John J. Hendee of Blackman Jackson Co. Michigan Dec. 3 - 1860" The reference to "the principles of this card" referred to a list of "GOD'S COMMAMDS" attached to the reverse side of the postcard. The list read, "GOD'S COMMAMDS: 1. Worship God; 2. Lie Not; 3. Use no intoxicating drinks as a beverage. Also, use no opium or any other substance which will intoxicate, stupefy or effect the mind in an unnatural manner; 4. Be honest, industrious, and do no wrong or unjust act; 5. Marry not your blood relation; 6. Keep your mind and body perfect; 7. Waste not your strength in any unnatural manner; Any Nation whose inhabitants keep these commands will be prosperous and happy - whilst the Nation whose inhabitants violate them will be more or less degraded according to the degree of violation." With respect to the number of patronage and job seekers who deluged him with job requests following his first election, Abraham Lincoln has been quoted as saying, "There are more piglets than teats on the sow!" It bears the usual improvements, and many of the personal traits of the owner can be learned by a glance over the estate, as having devoted almost his entire attention since his boyhood to agricultural pursuits. Mr. Hendee is well versed in the nature of soils, in means of improving their fertility, in wise rotation of crops, and other matters pertaining to his employment . . . The gentleman with whose name we introduce this sketch [Sherman Hazard Hendee] is the third of a family of seven children, and was born in Sandstone Township, this county [Jackson County], July 27, 1847. His boyhood and youth were passed in Sandstone and Blackman Townships, and in the latter, he has spent the greater part of his life. His school privileges were quite limited but he had the advantage of being the son of well informed parents, under whose training and example he gained much information. March 27, 1865, he enlisted in Company K, Sixteenth Michigan Infantry, and was in the service of his country until the close of the war, or during a period of about five months. Although he was not able to enter the army until the war had drawn near its close, his spirit had been with the boys in blue and when he became one of the martial band he did all that a youth of his years could to uphold the National unity and carry the flag victoriously forward. After his return from the fields of battle he took up the occupation in which he is now engaged and in which he has steadily pursued an onward course. In 1874 he went to California, remaining there until February, 1878, when he resumed his residence upon his farm, upon which he has since abode . . . Mr. Hendee is numbered in the ranks of the Republican party, is a firm believer in its principles and seldom fails to deposit his ballot on election day. He belongs to the Masonic fraternity and to the Patrons of Husbandry. A trustworthy citizen, an honorable man and a genial neighbor, he inspires respect and good will in the minds of those with whom he comes in contact." "Yes, I was spoiled and speak often about my mother's delicious gourmet quality homemade potato yeast recipe bread. In adult years, I can't even come close to her product. She baked 6 loaves at a time in our wood burning stove oven tending the burning logs until a golden amber glow. The perfect temperature for baking – how she ever did this is a miraculous mystery, for sure. Mother always had a hot cup of tea and a short nap in afternoons after her hard day's work and baking bread while it cooled. Gardner and I would trudge home on our dirt road carrying lunch box and books – open the door and smell the aroma of the warm bread greeting us. Unlike cousin Mary, who had no choice but be obedient to her 'Otto' disciplinary mother!, we would cut off the crusts of 2 loaves of bread, spread generously with home-churned butter and lots of brown sugar invading the supply. When Mother saw our antics, a good scolding ensued as bread doesn't keep well with crusts removed and sugar accounted for missing. This scenario was repeated over and over as Gardner and I just could not resist temptation in this case." "A cherished memory: When I was no more than 3 years old, I would stand on a chair beside my mom and ask to turn the big kneading hook in the dough. She would let me do as many turns as little arms could stand – probably 3 or 4 at the most. I felt so important and needed. Mother always patiently, cheerfully allowing me to be by her side and participate with praise in all her food preparation procedures. How grateful I was because when she became ill and after she died (I was age 13-14 years), I had to take over these responsibilities in our home. Sadly, she never compiled her recipes, which would be a heritage kitchen gem of her special culinary talent. I vividly remember her delight to be given the assignment to make Mary's sister, Dorothy's bridal wedding cake. Mom bought special tiered cake pans and carefully decorated it so beautifully. It was a joy to witness this in every detail. That was a lovely wedding held on the home farm front yard. A brand new experience for young eyes as an impressive event for a 10 ½ year old lassie. Much excitement was shared with cousins Mary and Barbara, playmate pals, The end of Lucille's 'Dough Girl' story." "It may be that this Gardner Otto may have been the one to actually donate the articles, the date of donation would make sense. Lee Hendee died in 1970. I know Lee Hendee died in 1970 because he was buried in the same graveyard as my grandfather Hal Hendee, my grandmother Lula Hendee, my Uncle Wayne Hendee, and my Uncle Fredrick Hendee. I have personally located Lee Hendee's gravesite and verified the time of his passing myself. The graveyard I am speaking of is the main graveyard in Portland, Michigan. The amount of material donated was the sum of ten paper boxes of typed and hand-written field notes. The librarian at the State of Michigan Library told me when I visited there, that the library converted all of the documents to microfilm shortly after they were donated. They also told me that they still possess the original documents, and they are archived at the library in a vault." [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com]

Also fascinating is the common background and the now-diverse situations. All are modern career women, college-educated. Four of the five were born and raised in Central Michigan, and possibly all were at the same Hendee Reunion at one time. At least, all knew Lee Hendee personally. And Cynthia's father knew of Lee Hendee and was involved with the Reunion Organization. I discover from the letters that we do not share the same religious affiliation, but I think there is similarity in convictions." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Gayla Stafford (1997)] James: b. d. Jun 1996 (age 94 ½ yrs) Washington, D.C. [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Laurel Shoupe – 1 Jul 1996]

"Lucille Molinelli is another cousin. If I have it straight, her parents died when she was fairly young, and she lived with Mary's [Mary (McMullen) LaBatt] folks for several years and stayed with 'Uncle Lee and Aunt Katherine' during the summers while growing up." [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry – (1996)]

"I had asked both [Rhoda Emmoline] Lauell and [Lillie] Lucille how they came to be called by a middle name." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry] "This a long, weird story! All my youth days on the farm, I was Lillie. If I see Lillie on an envelope address, I know it is someone contacting me from my childhood. When I entered 9th grade at Grand Ledge High School, all students were addressed Miss or Mr – thus I was Miss Otto. This made me feel grown up and had my special identity as my own person. Also, proud to be an Otto. My mother died of bone cancer in March of my freshman year. A devastating blow of grief and wondering what would ever become of me and my brother, Gardner, who was still a teenager at home. The following Fall, I went to live with Auntie Faith and Uncle George in East Lansing – Gardner, as well, when I entered High School in East Lansing – my sophomore year, I was addressed as "Lillie" by teachers. As the year progressed, I became very paranoid about my name. I had the answers to questions, but would freeze in silence when teachers would say, 'Yes, Lillie, do you have the answer?' I could not speak a word then. It became an issue emotionally as my grades reflected my problems I was an all A student before in Grammar and High School. My sister Marjorie, always called me Lucille or 'Bug' – never Lillie. I was named by my Aunt Lillie (mom's sister) who was Lillie Maude Hendee Goodman. My father died suddenly in my sophomore year which didn't help my dilemma at school. When I entered my junior year, I was still Lillie to teachers in East Lansing. Then I went to live with Marjorie in Plymouth, Mich. to enter Plymouth High School for my senior year. I discussed my name dilemma with Marjorie, and it was decided that I would be 'Lucille' when I enrolled. She never liked [the] name Lillie, anyway. Well, all 'heck' broke loose when Aunt Lillie found out that I had changed from Lillie to Lucille. I still have her blistering letters shaming me over and over as [how] I had betrayed her. She said how she cried and cried all the time, and I am only about 16 years old! She commented '[Do you] Suppose I wanted to be called Maud. How would you feel?' Now I am amused, but it was very serious at the time. I wondered how will I ever face her again – will she ignore me or blast me with her outrage?? Anyway, I graduated from Plymouth High School on the Honor Roll – once again I had found my identity with comfort with turmoil dispelled. The rest of Aunt Lillie's life, she made snide remarks letting me know that I was not forgiven – I chose never to discuss my inner feelings with her. Silence was best for my nervous system. Aunt Katherine enveloped my choice [and] gave me courage & support. I shall love her always for this and many of her strong, compassionate qualities. The only thing I tried to convince Aunt Lillie was that she and she alone gave me both names and that I loved her for caring enough to give Mon & Dad's 5th child a name. They had run out of steam as I was a mistake!! Mother never intended to have another baby at her age – I was a 'change of life' accident for her. I recall my 'little ears' hearing how some of the neighbor ladies used a coat hanger to abort pregnancy – a real horror story for me to even comprehend. Now, I understand and perhaps these tales are partly responsible for abortion clinics today. Many young girls died and going to a doctor to help was illegal for [the doctors] to touch such cases. I question the route taken by activists with pro and cons. This I cannot solve! It has been fun to relate my name story to you, a vivid memory, for sure. My daughter, Jamie was 'Jamie Lu' all her growing up years. Then one day she said to me, 'I don't want to be Jamie Lu any longer – just call me Jamie.' It was a moment when all my [own] name tale of woe happened [once more], and I completely understood her feelings which I respected." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1999)]

"Yes, Dear, we are eligible [for The Association of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia – organized 7 Dec 1865] and are members of this great association of ole timers who offer so much history and fascinating stories about D.C. I have lived here since 1943 – came in World War II era seeking a career as many young ladies did with men going off to War. There was need for females at that time. Have lived in this community of West End/Foggy Bottom since 1948 when married to Jimmy. We are the oldest living couple in our immediate area. Being 'chronologically gifted' does have some rewards! What a surprise and happiness to hear from a long lost cousin. You made my day. Jeanette told me that you, also, have Mary LaBatt's address. She is now our Historian and genealogy darling. Uncle Lee left all his records to my brother, Gardner [Otto] – husband of Jeanette. Or at least, Aunt Katherine [wife of Lee Hendee] was so frustrated wanting his lifetime of research, letters and main book left in good hands – it is pages, pages long. What a volume! Uncle Lee was so dedicated and wanted to publish his material, but Jimmy and I seemed to be his only support. No one wanted to contribute any money for this venture. We did give a small amount along with much encouragement to help more if it were to materialize. At one point, Uncle Lee loaned this book to a Hendee cousin and his wife living in [the] Virginia suburbs of D.C. His name will come to me. Lee was so-o upset fearing he would never get it back. Arrangements were made for me to meet the cousin to get the book back. At the time, I Xeroxed it and shall search my Den of Antiquity for it when time permits. Unfortunately, or maybe fortunately, Gardner packed all the correspondence and Big [Black] Book together and gave it all to the Michigan Historical society [Michigan State University] in Lansing. It is on microfilm, so we are told. However, we can not take any of this out of the library – have to use it there. Rules of the game! Hours would be needed to absorb it all. I am going to Xerox the material Auntie Faith Otto McMullen gave me (Mary's mother). Mary has far more material she can give to you. I did trace my immediate heritage and must get it into decent shape for the younger folks in our family. I have one great nephew (Zane Otto, Arnolds's son and Jeanette's oldest son) who is really into genealogy now. Nice, indeed. Mary's daughter, Barbara Lucille, is also actively helping her mom to computerize facts. Now, follow me – I think we are 2nd cousins." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Laurel (Hendee) Shoupe (1997)]

"Your Grandfather (Ira) and my Grandfather (Oscar) were brothers – sons of William Briggs Hendee and Rosetta Sophia Potter. He was born Dec. 7 1813 and died in 1898. Married in 1836. Their children were Oscar, Dexter, Edna, Judson, Ira, Ida, and Lena." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Laurel (Hendee) Shoupe (1997)] "My mother hung a photo of Grandpa [Oscar Potter Hendee] in one of our bedrooms. I would go in, lay on the bed and look at it, as it was so visible. His eyes were piercing and a heavy-bearded face with very sober, stern countenance. It scared the bee-jee-bees out of me. I would pull the covers up over my head, peep out at it and quickly cover my face again. I thought he was after me to carry me into the woods! What a game to play. Wonder what happened to the picture. Wish I had it." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1999)]

"My mother, Ethel Evelyn Hendee, was an older sister of Uncle Lee. So your father, Glen, was also first cousin to my mother as well as Uncle Lee. Then I am the next generation making me a second cousin to your father . . . Your Grandfather's father, William, was born in Rutland, Vermont. Mary and Dee (LaBatt) have taken trips to Vermont searching records for clues. The Hendees and Ottos intertwined with Marriages, and I believe my Dad and Mom were 4th cousins. I can remember our Hendee Reunions vividly with all your family always there – aunts, uncles and children. I recall seeing you as we chased around playing. Your dad was always considered more educated and a more affluent standing in life. Hal Hendee [Gayla (Hendee) Stafford's father] had so many children and quite poor as I recall. [Note: See the entries for Gayla May (Hendee) Stafford in this document for Gayla's view of her family, whether they considered themselves 'poor,' and her father's relations with the rest of the family. David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com] Aunt Katherine was very compassionate and loving toward them – they lived on a farm near Portland (Michigan). When I visited on summer vacations, Aunt K. always took me there and carried goodies for them and clothes. I think about our relative who had 'flaming' red hair – was she your Mom? She was quite loud

Mary Elizabeth McMullen b. 11 Aug 1915 m. Dee LaBatt Occupation: teacher Hobbies: quilting Residence: Ann Street, East Lansing, Michigan (1937); Big Rapids, Michigan (1997); Kalamazoo (2009) [Mary LaBatt - marande86@aol.com] "Mary LaBatt, a woman of 80 (1997), but in the same generation also as a descendant of David Hendee, or common ancestor . . . I sent her a copy of the "Dear Mrs. Kelsey" letter for her own files and in early spring 1997 received the following reply from Cousin Mary." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] "Mrs. Kelsey must have been Mary Alma Hendee – daughter of John J(ackson) - he a son of Rev. David – and indeed they lived in Jackson, Mi. Mary Alma was born 1856 and her father moved to Calif. ca. 1862 to teach school. Mary Alma married Samuel Kelsey in Calif. One of her daughters married a McMullen (no relation to my ancestor) and had a daughter and a son Paul McMullen who lived in Calif. Paul, born 11 Jan 1932, graduated Whitman College – 1953 – his address [in] 1953 was 949 Isaac Ave., Walla Walla, Washington. The writer of the letter – a granddaughter of Solomon Hendee, was Flora Griswold. She was born 1856 in Vermont. She is buried in Pittsford Cemetery. And I think her materials were the source of much (at least the beginning) of Lee Hendee's records. I have enclosed copies of 'stuff' from History of Rutland – which Mrs. Griswold quotes. And that is different than Caverly's work. The letter apparently was inquiry concerning DAR lineage. Date of letter? maybe around 1905 or 1910. DAR organized 1890." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Cynthia Hendee Henry (1997) - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com] Dee: b. abt 1916 d. abt 2006 Occupation: Nursery farm worker

"I was born and raised in South Oneida, graduated from Grand Ledge HS 1933. In 1935, our family moved to East Lansing, so 'us kids' could go to college." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Laurell Shoupe – 1 Jul 1996]

"As kids, there was lots of home made bread and home churned butter. One day, I was fixing myself a snack of bread and butter, and I wanted brown sugan on it. Mother said, 'No, if you are hungry, bread and butter will do!' Typical Auntie Faith? Lucille? Now, [at age 85] I can have brown sugar. [Dee's story – Mary's husband] . . . when in summertime his mother abandoned the cook stove and used [the] cooler oil stove – no baked breads, [they] had to eat store-bought bread." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Cynthia Hendee Henry (2000)]

"Mary retired from teaching in 1976, the last years in special ed[ucation] through the county school system. Her husband was a professor at Ferris State College, who retired in 1978. They now live out in the country where they feed birds, take care of cats, and garden. Mary has put up lots of jelly, jams,fruits, and vegetables. [Fall 2000: this past spring, Mary and her husband moved into a retirement home and seem happy with that.]" [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Laurell Shoupe – Nov 1995] "Gardner Otto inherited boxes and boxes of material which Gardner later gave to Mich. State Library. But not all – the Big Black Book of records Gardner gave to me after I retired 1976." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Cynthia Hendee Henry (1996)]

"Although Laurell, Gayla, Mary, Barbara and I range in age from 52 to 80-something (Mary), we are all of the exact same generation and are all descendants of David Hendee (our common ancestor) from various of his offspring (us through Clark Kendrick Hendee; Gayla and Laurell through Clark's brother William Briggs Hendee and branching off from 2 of his sons; Mary through Clark's sister Amy Caroline Hendee; and Barbara through Clark's brother, Caleb Rich Hendee [? – Caleb H. Hendee] Sharon and Lynn are of the same generation as the children of Eleanor, May Margaret, Nancy, and Linda." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"I find it fascinating that five Hendee cousins [Round Robin Cousins: Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe, Lucille (Otto) Molinelli and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford], aged fifty to eighty-two, have found each other and are sharing their common heritage concerns. Also fascinating is the common background and the now-diverse situations. All are modern career women, college-educated. Four of the five were born and raised in Central Michigan, and possibly all were at the same Hendee Reunion at one time. At least, all knew Lee Hendee personally. And Cynthia's father knew of Lee Hendee and was involved with the Reunion Organization. I discover from the letters that we do not share the same religious affiliation, but I think there is similarity in convictions." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Gayla Stafford (1997)]

"Well, that is so good to hear that you benefited from the Round Robin letters. It was a fun thing for a few years. It stopped with Mary LaBatt, the oldest member, as you know. Guess it just got too much for her. I enjoyed the whole thing while it went on!---both for Hendee information and just continuing to get to know these relatives, all of whom knew each other. Yes, reading different perspectives of the same event or same family members can be quite interesting!

As to updates on the RR [Round Robin] cousins: I did exchange Christmas letters with Lucille, Mary and Laurell for several years after the RR stopped.

With Laurell, it was pretty much the Xeroxed family newsletter with a little added on. That was fine, as I was just glad to keep up with her. She stopped maybe 3 years ago--would have to check my records, but that's pretty close. There's nothing major to report on her--just the usual family information last I knew. As to Mary, it was pretty much the same---just the usual Christmas letter and a line or two. She is living in a retirement home in Kalamazoo. Although she did stop the Christmas exchange with me some time after stopping the RR, she wrote that her husband died maybe 3 years ago. She then wrote a personal letter to me about a year ago to let me know Lucille had died. Mary is pretty old, as you can tell. I appreciated that Mary wrote, and I responded with thanks. In that letter, she shared she was debating what to do with some of her family information. She commented that Joanne Quatermas (the one you recently integrated into your family sending) was interested and was considering her. (Of course, I am interested, too, but Joanne had first dibs!) Mary's son had some interest, so I don't know what will happen. Mary seemed to be doing pretty well for her age and has much support from her kids in the area. Lucille kept up Christmas letters until the end. They were a lot of philosophical musings, along with updates of her daughter and Chris. She so loved her "wee abode" right next to where Jamie and Chris lived---when she visited them. She continued her days out in Washington, D. C. Anyway, yes, it was all an enjoyable and informative situation for some time." [Email from Cynthia (Hendee) Henry to David Petrie – Oct 2009]

"The two enclosures came from the Hendee collection by a round-about-way which proves the inefficiency of the collection project, and why it never got to print. My cousin Gardner Otto has told me of being in the upstairs bedroom where his Uncle Lee kept his "project," Boxes and notebooks all over the whole room. After Leed died and his wife needed to clear out her house, Gardner [Otto] agreed to take the boxes and boxes of the collection. But Gardner never had the time to do anything with the collection & finally got the State Library (Lansing, Michiagan to take things – but. Gardner still had some boxes. After Gardner's death his wife Jeanette gave some boxes to Gardner's older brother Joseph, and Joe never got to look through what he had & and a year or 2 ago, his son David took the 'stuff.' Then David decided he didn't want it, so we arranged for my son Walter to call David (they both live in East Detroit) and David dropped the things at Walter's church office the first part of Dec. and Walter brought 'said stuff' to me a week ago . . . Olin Wood Hendee . . . was a strong supporter of a Hendee Family History, and he contributed a great deal to Lee Hendee's work, and why you have so much from your grandmother." [Letter from Mary (McMullen) LaBatt to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1999)]

"In June, my son came and got me to stay a few days, and while with him and his wife, he took me to Somerset Center graveyard where Rev. David Hendee is buried. The marker is broken and lying on the ground. I felt so bad that my son worked with me, and we ordered a new marker (a lovely memorial). It was put in place at the grave site in early November. I don't have a picture yet, but when I do, I hope to write again. Some of the material you had on Rev. David has been most helpful. He died at the home of his daughter in Hillsdale County." [Letter from Mary (McMullen) Labatt to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (2009)] "I received a letter from Mary LaBatt in December 2009. She is my third cousin, with our most recent common ancestor being David Hendee, hers and my great great grandfather. Mary lives in Kalamazoo, Michigan. She turned 94 last August. She was one of the round robin cousins during the 1990s . . . I responded to Mary on 12/20/09. I also tried finding this cemetery online, but could find no mention of it in Somerset, Michigan. It is in the records of David Petrie. I asked Mary for more information." [Cynthia

Walter Bruce LaBatt b. 1940 [Mary (McMullen) LaBatt - marande86@aol.com] "Mary LaBatt had written me some time ago that she and her son, Walter, were putting up new a gravestone for David hendee--and Caroline Harrington Hendee. I just received a letter from Walter with a composite photo on one page. I cropped them each individually, enhanced the lighting, and here they are. This includes the old stone one of David hendee and the new one. it also includes an old marker (front and back) and the new one for David Harrington. I do not know who David Harrington was. I have William as Caroline's father, but no further back. When I wrote Walter to thank him, I asked who David Harrington was. The marker says put up by their descendants, so Walter and Mary must know something. If Walter writes back, I will let you know. These appear to be in Somerset, Michigan. Note that David's says he was the founder of First Baptist Church in Jackson, MI. I googled, and it still exists. Made a note to write and see if they have info of David--or know who founded their church--one would think." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"Also, John [Robert] Hendee is in California as well. I do not think the Staffords and John [Robert] Hendee have ever met, nor do they know about each other. John [Robert] Hendee's family used to live in Michigan as well, but they are a more distant relative than the Staffords are to me. I have met John only online. I had found his name attached to an Internet page and decided to give him an e-mail and to say "hi" from a Hendee. He might have some information for you that would be from a different perspective. But, I have found that in the family some folks find genealogy fascinating, and others could care less. I have e-mailed some folks and they never returned my e-mail. John does not check his e-mail all that regularly, but I think he might be interested in talking to you." [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com]

Thanks for the quick response and attached file. I hadn't seen this one before (I've only been at this a couple of years) so it'll be fun to see how it matches with what I've figured out so far. But, no, this isn't the document I was looking for. The one I'd like to get a hold of is on microfiche at the Family History Library in Salt Lake City. It's a monster document (1436 pgs) handwritten, I read somewhere, by Lee W. Hendee. Here is the "FHL listing: stnt. resp.: Lee W. Hendee; authors: Hendee, Lee W (Main Author); format: Manuscript/On Film; language: English; publications: Salt Lake City, Utah : Filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, 1973; physical: on 1 microfilm reel, 35 mm; Notes Microreproduction of typescript (1436 p.); Includes index. Richard Hendee, one of the first purchasers of land at Norwich, Connecticut in 1659, died August 4, 1670, Willingworth, Connecticut; Subjects Hendee; Film Notes Location Film; Hendee family genealogy; FHL US/CAN Film 927702" [John Hendee - jhendee@cox.net]

"In 1952, when I was about 9 years old, my sister Margaret was about 15. She was given an English class assignment to write about her ancestors. Seeking background information, she was led to Lee Hendee by my parents, Ralph Dale Hendee and Ruth Lane Hendee. Lee Hendee was her 1st cousin 2x removed and also the Secretary-Treasurer and Historian of the Hendee Reunion Organization. Lee responded with a very nice three-page letter outlining her genealogy on Hendee Reunion Organization letterhead, complete with a Hendee Coat of Arms. That was my introduction to genealogy. I thought it especially interesting that Lee mentioned that a John Hendee had been the Lord Mayor of London several centuries back. As is often the case, my interest in genealogy was put on the back burner for nearly 6 decades while I became focused more on my descendants than on my ancestors. My wife's father died suddenly in late 2009. He left behind a hodgepodge of genealogical information. Anita's promise to her father to organize and preserve it turned into a retirement project for me. When I was finished with that, I started on the Hendee side. Any serious Hendeeophile quickly discovers many references to Lee Hendee and his Hendee Family Genealogy. I stumbled upon Dave Petrie's posts on GenForum and contacted Dave. He sent me his fantastic 300+ page Word document on the Hendee family which he had compiled over several decades with contributions from a host of other Hendee family researchers. Lee's work was mentioned by several contributors. I asked Dave if he had the original Lee Hendee document and he sent me a 6-page genealogy apparently derived from Lee's document, but not the document itself. So the quest continued. Cousin Lee apparently had it typed up by 1965. I learned from Dave's information that Cousin Lee had solicited family members for funds to get his genealogy published but to no avail. Lee's 2nd cousin 1x removed, Gardner Otto, somehow obtained the Hendee Family Genealogy and, in 1971, donated it to the Michigan State Library in Lansing, Michigan. (I later noted that in 1971 and at the time of his death, Gardner Otto lived in Stockbridge, Michigan. As an interesting coincidence, my mother's parents --Raymond Earl Lane and Mary Green Wolford Lane--and sisters Barbara and Margaret also lived in and around Stockbridge. I wouldn't be surprised if Gardner Otto even shopped at their general store in Stockbridge. I wonder if he knew about their Hendee connection.)" [John Robert Hendee - jhendee@cox.net]

"I checked with the library and found that the pages had been microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Salt Lake City Utah in 1973, but that their copy of the film was for "Library Use Only." Upon checking with the Family History Library in Salt Lake City, I discovered that it (Film 927702) was available to the public. At last I could get a look at Cousin Lee's original document. I subsequently ordered a copy of the film to be sent to a local Family History Center. I mounted my digital camera to the microfilm reader using a neat little contraption purchased from GSC Associates (<http://gscassociates.com/dcm.html>). From that point on, it was just advance the film, click, advance the film, click. Repeat that for all 1590-some pages of Lee's document. Once I had all the digital images, a little housekeeping was in order. As with most microfilm, the image quality varied from slide to slide. It was apparent that several persons had been involved in the original filming as exposure, focus, and orientation varied dramatically. In the end, I had to doctor each digital image, mostly straightening and cropping to fit onto a letter size page. Some images were still hard to read. No attempt was made to delete duplicates, rearrange out of order pages, or otherwise alter the original images. Adobe Acrobat was then used to compile into a three-volume pdf document. Please note that an index of all Hendee names comprises the last 31 pages of Vol 3. I hope you'll find this document interesting, informative, and of value to your own research efforts. Lee Hendee did not have access to many of today's resources and I'm certain you'll find inconsistencies and mistakes in his Hendee Family Genealogy. When you do, please advise me of the error and your source via email at jhendee@cox.net. If enough corrections are made, I'll issue an updated version. Regards, John Robert Hendee, December, 2011" [John Robert Hendee - jhendee@cox.net]

"I finally got a hold of Lee Hendee's Hendee Family Genealogy from the Family History Center in Salt Lake City. This is the document that Gardner Otto donated to the Michigan State Library in 1971. The Genealogical Society of Salt Lake City microfilmed it in 1973. Long story short, I photographed the entire document and converted the photos into a single, huge (205MB) pdf file. Because of its size, emailing is out of the question, so I've posted it to my Windows Live SkyDrive. Because SkyDrive has a 50MB single-file size limit, I had to break it into three volumes. I've made it available to anyone wishing to view or download it. "Royalton [Vermont] does not now boast of so large a variety of flora as in earlier years. The deplorable stripping of the hills of their heavy growth of trees suitable for timber has resulted in the disappearance of several shy specimens of flowers that do not thrive in the open. In other cases the reckless gathering of rather rare flowers has ended in the extinction of that particular variety. The trailing arbutus at one time was very abundant in the vicinity of Royalton village, but has now nearly disappeared." Rhoda Emmoline Laurell ("Laurell") Hendee b. 7 Dec 1925 m. James ("Jimmy") Shoupe Residence: N. Wilkesborough, North Carolina "I find it fascinating that five Hendee cousins [Round Robin Cousins: Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe, Lucille (Otto) Molinelli and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford], aged fifty to eighty-two, have found each other and are sharing their common heritage concerns. Also fascinating is the common background and the now-diverse situations. All are modern career women, college-educated. Four of the five were born and raised in Central Michigan, and possibly all were at the same Hendee Reunion at one time. At least, all knew Lee Hendee personally. And Cynthia's father knew of Lee Hendee and was involved with the Reunion Organization. I discover from the letters that we do not share the same religious affiliation, but I think there is similarity in convictions." [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Gayla Stafford (1997)]

"Although Laurell, Gayla, Mary, Barbara and I range in age from 52 to 80-something (Mary), we are all of the exact same generation and are all descendants of David Hendee (our common ancestor) from various of his offspring (us through Clark Kendrick Hendee; Gayla and Laurell through Clark's brother William Briggs Hendee and branching off from 2 of his sons; Mary through Clark's sister Amy Caroline Hendee; and Barbara through Clark's brother, Caleb Rich Hendee [? - Caleb H. Hendee) Sharon and Lynn are of the same generation as the children of Eleanor, May Margaret, Nancy, and Linda." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"I had asked both [Rhoda Emmoline] Lauell and [Lillie] Lucille how they came to be called by a middle name." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry] "I guess since Laurell was my mom's surname, and there were no male descendants from her father in this generation to carry on the name, although she gave me her mom's given name (Rhoda Emmoline), she chose to call me Laurell. Much of the time I was 'Babe' to my mom and dad." [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry]

"I have two nephews somewhere . . . One's name is William Myrle and the other James Glen. My brother was killed at Iwo Jima, and his widow remarried and moved to Florida, I think, and then maybe another move or so, and we lost track. So, from Glen E. Hendee, Sr., my dad, we have no known male descendants." [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - (1995)] "I haven't been able to locate my brother Bud's boys." [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - (1998)]

"Talking about the hand prints, it made me think of another memory - of sitting beside my dad in church as 3 or 4 years old and he'd take a penny out of his pocket, put it under a piece of paper and using a lead pencil rub over it to bring [out] a relief picture. I even try that nowadays to make a stencil type of picture with cutouts of different objects.

"Laurell was the Child Development Director for the Wilkes County Social Services Department. She goes by Laurell, her mother's maiden name. Laurell is very involved with and talented in arts and crafts, such as tatting and quilting. She is physically active with Senior Olympics, specializing in swimming events at various times of the year." [Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"I was so glad to get your letter. I have been trying to work on the Hendee genealogy for several years. All my life, I 'knew' Cousin Lee had it and wasn't too concerned except now he is gone. Robert that you talked to is my first cousin and I believe Diane is his unmarried daughter. (Gayla [Gayla (Hendee) Stafford] responded [1999] that Robert was Gayla's older brother and Diane was his second daughter, born in 1952 or '53.) We hadn't been in contact in nearly forty years. My parents died in 1964 and 1969, and I have only been back to Mich. once since then. I have a list of the Hendees all over the U.S. (from the phone book, I guess). I'll send you a copy. I have marked the ones I identified as my first cousins or their children. Of course, that leaves all of us on the 'distaff side' out. I have two nephews somewhere, but I haven't tried any of these yet to see if they are. One's name is William Myrle and the other James Glen. My brother was killed at Iwo Jima, and his widow remarried and moved to Florida, I think, and then maybe another move or so, and we lost track. So, from Glen E. Hendee, Sr., my dad, we have no known male descendants. Lee was my dad's first cousin, and as you can see from the genealogy chart, Ira was my dad's father and would have been Lee's uncle. I hope I can trace the line back further. Robert's wife, Barbara, is planning to go to Lansing and try to find the family records for me. No, I haven't been in touch with Cecil. Back to Robert. His son James moved to N.C. about a year ago and when we got in touch with him. Robert and Barbara were going through on their way from Fla. to Mich., so we had a wonderful reunion the first week in April this year [1995]. Robert's sister is Gayla M. Stafford (address then Gilroy). In the National Society of the American Revolution, 'The Great Women of the American Revolution,' which, with her brother Ray, they discovered Hannah Hunter Hendee, also spelled Handy and her story. Last summer, Gayla and one of her sons took a trip to Royalton, Vermont and discovered other materials in the South Royalton Library. It has been quite exciting. There was even a children's book written about it and published in 1976 by Regional Center for Educational Training, Hanover, N.H. The author was Cynthia Butler and the title is Michael Hendee which was Hannah's son's name. They copied the book and sent me a copy. It was nicely illustrated by Allianora Rosse. Probably for about nine year [reading] level. Lee used to say that any 'Hendee' was a relative of ours; so, Gayla and I decided we claim Hannah as a cousin!" [Letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Lucille (Otto) Molinelli (1998)]

"Gayla and I decided we claim Hannah as a cousin! We're hoping to be able to find the relationship. I'm guessing you may be in my children's generation, but maybe you're in mine. I couldn't tell from the family line because I don't know where it fits in with ours." [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - (1995)] "About Hannah Hunter Hendee, my brother Raymond found her story in the archives of the 'Women of the American Revolution' of the DAR. My son and I went to Royalton in search of some roots. We found lots of info on her, but have no connections between her and the Hendees of Pittsford at the same time. Grace Anderson told me she would look for connections, but she died of cancer before she got back to the Vermont Archives." [Letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Lucille (Otto) Molinelli (1998)] "Has anyone ever been able to connect the famous Hannah Handy/Hendee to the family or is the decision of Gayla and Laurell to "claim Hannah as a cousin" the only current link to Hannah of the rescue from the Indians story? Do you know if Grace Anderson, author of In the Shadow of Cox Mountain, was ever able to go to the state archives in Montpelier to see if there was a direct connection between the Pittsford and Royalton Hendees and thus help prove the relationship to Hannah Hendee of the great [1780] rescue?" [Email from David Petrie to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (2009) based on letters from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe (1995) and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1997)] "No, not yet...this is one of my goals, though with not too much effort anymore, as I know nowhere else to turn. I have a posting on genforum and likely also on ancestry.com forum ---hendee line. (it has my old msn email, another reason I keep it active). I recently had an inquiry on it--someone had seen my posting. I got all excited (you can read these entries), but it was nothing--someone back in the 1600s or so... other than having these feelers out there and having made other inquiries in past years, I am at a dead end. I suppose I could put time in writing to Royalton and seeing if they have any further info, but....still on my list." [Email from Cynthia (Hendee) Henry to David Petrie - Oct 2009]

"Incredible news! Our common ancestor is David [M. Hendee, Rev.] . . . His son, William Briggs Hendee, is my great grandfather, and he is an older brother of Clark Kendrick (Hendee, my great grandfather - Cynthia (Hendee) Henry) [The material] even has David's lineage on both his father and mother's side to most of the great, great, great grandparents. Mary [LaBatt] has most of the dates, too. She wanted to know if anyone knew any more about Richard I, such as what country he migrated from. Your chart says he came from England, but was that his real homeland?" [Letter from Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry - (1996)]

"Dear Cynthia . . . I will try to sort out what I know is family myth and what is fact. First I must address the statement that my family lived in poverty. When I was three years old, with brothers of 7, 10, and 12, my father purchased from the bank in Portland the farm on Christian Bend Road, about 4 miles north of Portland. This land was land granted to an earlier Hendee, in the 1860's. It was left to a number of heirs at some point and the bank took over its management. My father bought it back, share by share, over the years of the depression and while raising 4 children. Not the actions of a lazy or non-caring man. Farming 240 acres required a lot of equipment and tools, and even the youngest of us realized that work and sacrifice had to be made to make a go of it. So, it may have been that we did not live in luxury or with the "goodies" enjoyed by city folks who may have had similar incomes and not the dependency on weather. It is true that they never left our farm without eggs, meat, and any produce that was in season. During the war (1942-45), I quite clearly remember cousins, uncles and aunts asking my father to sneak them rationed products. Like could they fill their car with gas from the 500 gallon tank, granted to my father to keep the farm running. I remember that on butchering days, my father would make a trip into town to deliver to Lee, Lillie and others fresh livers and other choice parts that they fancied. We would get phone calls that Uncle Leon or other relatives were coming to visit and could they get some meat or other rationed goods that we raised on the farm. This always seemed to cause my father distress because he would be afraid of being caught by government inspectors who came periodically to see that his allotments for raising food for the war effort were not being abused. However, I don't remember that anyone he cared about ever left empty handed . . . My father was in his third year in engineering school at the U of Michigan when he was drafted into the army in 1916. He never went back to school, but helped to build railroads across France when the war ended. He went to work for a construction firm in Grand Rapids. From there, he bought the farm in Woodland (later owned by Uncle Glen), and then to the farm near Portland. My mother had only an eighth grade education. I think she felt looked down upon by more educated relatives. All of us were taught to read and write before we started school and all encouraged to excel when we got to school. So, perhaps we were poor in goodies, but we were wealthy in good farm produce, acres to ramble over, ponies to ride, and we all learned that hard work will be rewarded." [Letter from Gayla Hendee Stafford to Cynthia Hendee Henry - 7 Aug 1999]

"Another fact that may help to dispel some of the mythology is that all of the children of Hal Hendee had music lessons (we had a good piano) from an early age. Several of us owned instruments by the age of 10 or 12. Also we were all offered help to get through 4 years of college if we chose to go to college. Only 2 of us took advantage of this help, but both of us went on to get graduate degrees." [Letter from Gayla Hendee Stafford to Cynthia Hendee Henry - 7 Aug 1999] "Gayla became estranged from her birth family sighting her father's and brothers' alcoholism and abusive family relationships as the causes. Sadly, these breaks in the family appear never to have been mended prior to the members' deaths." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Your dad [Hal W. Hendee] always met us with a big smile and hug." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Gayla (Hendee) Stafford] "others got hugs from my father, but I don't remember that I ever got any hugs from either of my parents. He [Hal W. Hendee] loved to laugh." [letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1999)]

"Franklin School Teacher Andrea Hetzke Awarded 2010 Hendee Rotary Scholarship by Park Ridge-Niles School District 64, May 25, 2010 – The Rotary Club of Park Ridge has named Andrea Hetzke the recipient of the 2010 *Raymond E. Franklin Principal Dan Walsh will accompany Ms. Hetzke to the Rotary Club meeting on Wednesday, May 26, where she will accept her award. Ms. Hetzke's proposal for an international study experience was selected, because it would be closely in keeping with Dr. Hendee's interest in supporting professional development for teachers as well as Rotary's international interest," according to Rotarian Anna Rybak, who chaired the review committee. The Rotary Club of Park Ridge presents the scholarship annually in memory of the late Dr. Hendee, who was Superintendent of School District 64 from 1970 until his retirement in 1990. The award honors his dedication to young people and education, his support of the teaching staff, and his lifelong commitment to serving others as a Park Ridge Rotarian for 32 years. James Gordon Hendee b. 1962 Residences: Dillsboro, North Carolina; Clinton, Michigan [1994-2004] "I am (as you see by my name) a Hendee, and I live in Michigan. I see you have already found out about my father's first cousin, Lee Hendee. His life's work as a Genealogist is on file at the State of Michigan Library for viewing only. You cannot check the documents out. I know a few things about what cousin Lee left at the library. He left all of his field notes as well as several microfilms that were made of his work. There is a microfilm available thru the LDS in Salt Lake City, you may already know about this. I reviewed some of the microfilms about two years ago, and cousin Lee traced the Hendee name back to Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts (if I remember right) and a trip aboard a ship by the name of 'The Ann' that landed in Plymouth Rock in 1623. Two years after the Mayflower. You may know some of these things already, and some of them need to be positively verified, but I enjoy telling the stories of my family's heritage. We are truly just about as American as Americans can get. There are also Hendee graves in the pilgrim graveyard in Plymouth Rock. Also, a (sort of) famous Hendee came out of Massachusetts in the early part of the 1900's. His name was George M. Hendee, and together with a partner, he founded the Indian Motorcycle Company. If you don't know motorcycles, Indian is like a Harley Davidson style motorcycle. From the stories I have heard told from some of our Hendee relatives in Texas and some folks at a motorcycle museum in North Carolina where I actually got photographed next to a Hendee motorcycle (was very cool...had 'Hendee Manufacturing' on the crank case...). The Indian Motorcycle Company supplied motorcycles to the troops in World War I. From what I understand, the Indian motorcycles were used in WWI like the Willies Jeeps were used in World War II. When Indian came back home from 'Over There', they found out that by concentrating so much of their sales to the government contract, that when they came home to do business after the war, many of their dealerships had been taken over by another American motorcycle company...Harley Davidson. According to our Hendee cousins in Texas, we have a Hendee relative that was once a Texas Ranger in the late 1800's. When it was time for him to retire, the State of Texas didn't have any kind of pension set up at the time, and they created a lifetime position for him until he died. His lifetime position was that of the hangman for the State of Texas!! Can you imagine how many famous outlaws were hanged by a Hendee?? The history goes on and on... I would imagine there has been a Hendee in every major war in the USA. My father, Robert Hendee, of Portland, MI, served in the Navy in WWII, his father, Hal Hendee served in WWI. My aunt (my father's sister) is now passed on, but she relayed a story to me about our Hendee roots in Vermont. There is a town by the name of Royalton, VT, and this town has a famous woman by the name of Hannah (Hunter) Handy [Hendee]. The story goes that the British and/or the Indians, or both, came into the town of Royalton, killed all of the men, and took the children to be in the British army [year 1780]. Hannah is famed for having swam the White River (which borders Royalton) and returned the villages children to their homes in Royalton. It is said she even held some of the small ones clinging to her back as she swam. This may or may not be connected to the Hendee name... My aunt found a book at the library in Royalton while she was there that told the story of Hannah Handy and her son Michael Handy. The story goes as I have written above. My aunt also found another book at the same library that told the identical story of a one Hannah Hendee and her son Michael Hendee. It was thought that the name got bastardized in the telling of the story, and 'Handy' was much easier to spell and remember than was 'Hendee', so the name 'Handy' was stuck to the story, and is all over that little village even to this day. Hannah Hunter Handy is one of the Daughters of the American Revolution... My aunt also drove through quite a bit of Vermont when she was there visiting, and she said she came upon a historical marker along one of the state highways that marked the former place of a fort that had built to fight the British in the Revolutionary War. The land the fort had been built on was donated by a man with the last name 'Hendee.'" [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com] "Jim who is my brother Robert's youngest son." "Hendee Brooks Photos 19th and early 20th Century - I have 2 photo albums containing dozens of 19th and early 20th century portrait photographs left me by my mother, Gayla Mae Hendee (1934-2000) that were not marked and I cannot identify. Its possible these are from the Hendee side of the family. My mother's father was Hal Hendee descendant of Hendees-- Ira, William Briggs, David, Caleb, Jonathon, Richard II and Richard I. Since these albums were left to my mother when her mother, Lulu M. (Brooks) Hendee (1900-1964) passed away, I believe they have photos from the Brooks side of the family. "Hi Dave. I love and appreciate your home (native?) state, Minnesota. My first visit was when my Palo Alto, CA American Legion Team traveled to Ely for a baseball tournament in 1980. My team didn't win but, among other fun, I witnessed a SPECTACULAR lightning storm (locals said it was the most lightning in memory). I'm researching a French & Indian War Powder Horn that looks like it has a connection with the Hendee Family. Attached is "The Story of the Powder Horn" an earlier version of which I shared with Cynthia. Cynthia, Page 2 (the probable original owner of the Horn) and Page 3 (the primary inscription on the Horn) are new-- take a look when you can - even if it turns out this is not a relic kept by our Hendee family - a very interesting piece of history. I've done some research but have not yet been able to find a Hendee family connection with the family of the original owner of the Horn, Simeon Rouse, or with the woman who donated the Horn, Ms. Dorothea Handy Phipps. Interesting that she spells it H-A-N-D-Y. "The Story of the Powder Horn" is a work in progress. The museum at which the Horn now resides has promised to take and send me better photos of the horn including of the inscription "Barzillai." Once I have better photos, I plan to send them to the experts at Historic Deerfield, Fort Ticoderoga Museum, Lake Champlain Maritime Museum and the Honourable Society of Horners who I've been in contact with about the Horn and who have asked for better photos. I'll send you both the best photo or two. I'm blessed to be able to plan a vacation this summer from Providence, RI through CT, a bit of MA, VT, upstate NY, and, finally, to Montreal, and have made inquiry of the Killingworth and Clinton Historical Societies to try to see if I can find any remnant (and any further history) of the Mill built by John Elderkin that Richard I managed during the last 5 years before his death. I've learned that the CT Historical Society has a Hendee File and have inquired about the cost to get it scanned. My original vision was that interested Hendees might pool resources and share this data once its digitalized. That is still a possibility but now: My impression is that lots of it is from the Lucius Hendee Family - he was president of Aetna from, if memory serves, about 1860 until his death in 1888. For Lucius: Richard I, Asa, Eliphilet Sr. - father of, among others, Abner (Lucius' Uncle Abner referenced in Lucius' obit.) and Eliphilet Jr. (Amelia Babcock), Lucius. My interest in the CT Hendee's wains a bit once Caleb leaves for Pittsford, VT. I would be interested if the file has anything about Richard I or II or Elderkin. I'm trying to work out if I want to and can look through the file when I'm in CT but the logistics look dicey. The other option might be to ask a researcher to take a look to see if there is anything about Richard I or II and/or early Elderkins in the file (for a bit more $ perhaps a scan for any reference to "Huguenot" or how about creating an index). Once I have a better idea of the options, I'll let you know." [Derek Stafford - stafford_derek@att.net]

"The Caleb Hendee Jr. manuscript refers to three letters to Caleb in 1834 from Judge Abner Hendee and one deed dated 1/17/1738 from, perhaps, Ensign Richard II to his son, Asa. Abner, as I recall, is the uncle of Lucius Justin who was president of the Aetna Fire Insurance Company from 1850 to 1888. The body of one of the letters is copied into the text of the manuscript, Cynthia [(Hendee) Henry] has a copy of the 6/15/1834 letter and this letter, her introduction and her transcription of this letter is attached. Do either of you have a copy of the third letter? The 1738 deed? If not, do you recall if the Pittsford Historical Society has the original MS? Someone else?"  Oscar Potter Hendee b. 23 Aug 1901 Lincoln Township, Isabella County, Michigan m. Clarice __ d. 1967 Sonoma, California Cause of Death: diabetes; massive heart attack while getting into the car Occupation: custodian, maintenance man [Ren'ee Miller Jansen - reneeij@comcast.net] "I attended Hendee reunions as a child. My father at that time was usually one of the elected officers. I remember playing with cousins in the playground and in the park in Grand Ledge, but never took much interest in the business meetings. At 18, I entered a 4 year, year-round nursing program at the U of M [University of Michigan] and don't believe that I ever went to another reunion. In the 60s, soon after moving to California, we got a letter asking us to contribute toward getting the family materials published. We were at that time the parents of 2 small boys and buying our first house in Palo Alto. At that time, we connected with Uncle Oscar, a younger brother of my father's, and Isadora Roberts and her husband (who gave our boys their first haircuts.) I think that she was a cousin of Lee's, but I'm not sure how. They moved to Sebastopol a few years later when he retired. Uncle Oscar at that time was working as a maintenance man at a large church. He retired in the 60s and moved to Monte Rio. He loved to eat and drink and was diabetic. He felt he could manage the disease by loading up on insulin before eating and drinking as much as he wanted. He went to get the car out of the garage one day so that Aunt Clarice's fur coat would not be damaged by the garage walls. He had a massive heart attack while getting into the car and died. He just did it his way." [Letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to the Round Robin Cousins: Lucille (Otto) Molinelli, Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry and Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe (1998)]

"Grandpa [Oscar Potter] Hendee's [Civil War] military record. He lost one arm in battle. Returned home to his young family and cleared all his land to raise crops and animals with a hook on left hand and one healthy arm/hand. What courage our ancestors had and many hardships. With struggle for survival, they never forgot to gather for celebrations and family sharing of what they had so generously. They laughed and told stories to amuse the little folks knowing how important heritage was and to be preserved with pride and hard work. Oscar and Rosa had 4 children: Ida [Faith], Lillie, Ethel – my mom, and Lee. Ida and Ethel married brothers, thus double cousins in these marriages. Ida married Emmet Otto, a veterinarian, and died from being bitten by a rabid dog – in Arizona where he practiced. Ethel married Keith Otto – Aunt [Ida] Faith's brother. We grew up living ¾ mile from each other – many a trip up and down that dirt road as we played and kept secrets – giggling all by ourselves. Also fascinating is the common background and the now-diverse situations. All are modern career women, college-educated. Four of the five were born and raised in Central Michigan, and possibly all were at the same Hendece Reunion at one time. At least, all knew Lee Hendece personally. And Cynthia’s father knew of Lee Hendece and was involved with the Reunion Organization. I discover from the letters that we do not share the same religious affiliation, but I think there is similarity in convictions.” [Letter from Mary LaBatt to Gayla Stafford (1997)] James: b. d. “Lucille Molinelli is another cousin. If I have it straight, her parents died when she was fairly young, and she lived with Mary’s [Mary (McMullen) LaBatt] folks for several years and stayed with ‘Uncle Lee and Aunt Katherine’ during the summers while growing up.” [Letter from Laurell (Hendece) Shoupe to Cynthia (Hendece) Henry – (1996)]

“Yes, Dear, we are eligible [for The Association of the Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia – organized 7 Dec 1865] and are members of this great association of ole timers who offer so much history and fascinating stories about D.C. I have lived here since 1943 – came in World War II era seeking a career as many young ladies did with men going off to War. There was need for females at that time. Have lived in this community of West End/Foggy Bottom since 1948 when married to Jimmy. We are the oldest living couple in our immediate area. Being ‘chronologically gifted’ does have some rewards! What a surprise and happiness to hear from a long lost cousin. You made my day. Jeanette told me that you, also, have Mary LaBatt’s address. She is now our Historian and genealogy darling. Uncle Lee left all his records to my brother, Gardner [Otto] – husband of Jeanette. Or at least, Aunt Katherine [wife of Lee Hendece] was so frustrated wanting his lifetime of research, letters and main book left in good hands – it is pages, pages long. What a volume! Uncle Lee was so dedicated and wanted to publish his material, but Jimmy and I seemed to be his only support. No one wanted to contribute any money for this venture. We did give a small amount along with much encouragement to help more if it were to materialize. At one point, Uncle Lee loaned this book to a Hendece cousin and his wife living in [the] Virginia suburbs of D.C. His name will come to me. Lee was so-o upset fearing he would never get it back. Arrangements were made for me to meet the cousin to get the book back. At the time, I Xeroxed it and shall search my Den of Antiquity for it when time permits. Unfortunately, or maybe fortunately, Gardner packed all the correspondence and Big [Black] Book together and gave it all to the Michigan Historical society [Michigan State University] in Lansing. It is on microfilm, so we are told. However, we can not take any of this out of the library – have to use it there. Rules of the game! Hours would be needed to absorb it all. I am going to Xerox the material Auntie Faith Otto McMullen gave me (Mary’s mother). Mary has far more material she can give to you. I did trace my immediate heritage and must get it into decent shape for the younger folks in our family. I have one great nephew (Zane Otto, Arnolds’s son and Jeanette’s oldest son) who is really into genealogy now. Nice, indeed. Mary’s daughter, Barbara Lucille, is also actively helping her mom to computerize facts. Now, follow me – I think we are 2nd cousins.” [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Laurel (Hendece) Shoupe (1997)]

“Your Grandfather (Ira) and my Grandfather (Oscar) were brothers – sons of William Briggs Hendece and Rosetta Sophia Potter. He was born Dec. 7 1813 and died in 1898. Married in 1836. Their children were Oscar, Dexter, Edna, Judson, Ira, Ida, and Lena.” [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Laurel (Hendece) Shoupe (1997)] “My mother hung a photo of Grandpa [Oscar Potter Hendece] in one of our bedrooms. “My mother hung a photo of Grandpa [Oscar Potter Hendece] in one of our bedrooms. I would go in, lay on the bed and look at it, as it was so visible. His eyes were piercing and a heavy-bearded face with very sober, stern countenance. It scared the bee-jee-bees out of me. I would pull the covers up over my head, peep out at it and quickly cover my face again. I thought he was after me to carry me into the woods! What a game to play. Wonder what happened to the picture. Wish I had it.” [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to “Round Robin Cousins:” Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendece) Henry, Laurell (Hendece) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendece) Stafford (1999)] “You asked (Aug.09) if anyone had picture of Oscar Hendece... I do...and we have the picture in office/den.....we can make copy if you didn’t already get one...also have his sword.....had his piece of leather that covered where arm was lost.....got rid of that yrs. ago....along with my dads dead dog rug!!!!” [Joanne Hendece Quatermas - joanneq@live.com]

“My mother, Ethel Evelyn Hendece, was an older sister of Uncle Lee. So your father, Glen, was also first cousin to my mother as well as Uncle Lee. Then I am the next generation making me a second cousin to your father . . . Your Grandfather’s father, William, was born in Rutland, Vermont. Mary and Dee (LaBatt) have taken trips to Vermont searching records for clues. The Hendecees and Ottos intertwined with Marriages, and I believe my Dad and Mom were 4th cousins. I can remember our Hendece Reunions vividly with all your family always there – aunts, uncles and children. I recall seeing you as we chased around playing. Your dad was always considered more educated and a more affluent standing in life. Hal Hendece [Gayla (Hendece) Stafford’s father] had so many children and quite poor as I recall. [Note: See the entries for Gayla May (Hendece) Stafford in this document for Gayla’s view of her family, whether they considered themselves ‘poor,’ and her father’s relations with the rest of the family. David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com] Aunt Katherine was very compassionate and loving toward them – they lived on a farm near Portland (Michigan). When I visited on summer vacations, Aunt K. always took me there and carried goodies for them and clothes. I think about our relative who had ‘flaming’ red hair – was she your Mom? She was quite loud spoken and stood out with her red, red hair. Please fill in for me. Of course, you remember your aunt Myrtle Kirker Hendece and Ed (husband). Daughter, Marguerite was such a gem. I can still hear Myrtle and Marguerite’s hearty laughter and upbeat personalities. Ed had a cute sense of humor and infectious laugh, as well. It was such fun being with them. My mom was very close to Myrtle – they lived on a farm near Holt, Mich. – Lansing area. My! How I wish I had known my mom and dad and choice relatives as an adult person. I was 13 years when Mother died and 14 ½ when Dad died suddenly of a heart attack. Spent time then with Auntie Faith and Uncle George and my sister Marjorie, became home base for me later on . . . Well, I have rambled on long enough for now – the hour is 1:30 a.m. and Beddie-bye beckons. As soon as possible, I will Xerox the pages that Auntie Faith gave me. I can not express adequately how glad I am that she did this for her young niece, Lillie Lucille, at that stage in her life. She loved drawing hands of all of us. Hope Mary has the book of outlines. Interesting how the physical traits were evident from generation to generation of our hands. You may remember that my mother adored painting in oils. I cherish the few pictures I have . . . I inherited the auburn hair and people still ask, ‘Do you dye your hair?’ Yes the Hendecees were fair skinned, red/auburn headed and get wrinkles far too soon. In the genes, for sure. Personal vanity is not my style – must be accepted as I am!” [Letter from Lucille (Otto)

Jamie Lu Molinelli b. “ My daughter, Jamie was ‘Jamie Lu’ all her growing up years. Then one day she said to me, ‘I don’t want to be Jamie Lu any longer – just call me Jamie.’ It was a moment when all my [own] name tale of woe happened [once more], and I completely understood her feelings which I respected.” [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to “Round Robin Cousins:” Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1999)] “Lucille kept up Christmas letters until the end. They were a lot of philosophical musings, along with updates of her daughter and Chris. She so loved her "wee abode" right next to where Jamie and Chris lived---when she visited them. She continued her days out in Washington, D. C. . . my impression/remembering that she [Jamie Lu] and [her partner] Chris did not marry. - would not swear to that.” [Email from Cynthia (Hendee) Henry to David Petrie – Oct 2009]

[James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com] Residence: 339 Pleasant St., Portland Michigan (1927) "Hendee Family History" compiled by Lee W. Hendee Portland, Michigan 1965 Donated to The Library of Michigan (Lansing, Michigan) by Gardner Otto Stockbridge, Michigan 1971 "Dear Dave. Words can't express what I feel, having made this contact. You have been in contact with Cynthia Henry [cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]. I am a distant cousin and a member of her Round Robin group, now somewhat defunct. Definitely I can tell you about Lee Hendee. His work is dominating my life, because I have in my possession parts of his work. After Lee died in 1970, there was no one who continued with his records. When his widow needed to clear out her house, A nephew took the collection and stored it in his basement until he made arrangements to take much of it to the State of Michigan Library. The nephew is my first cousin; my mother was a sister to his father, his father married Lee Hendee's sister. Complicated! In January 1977 my cousin, Gardner Otto, brought me the original typed copy of Lee's records; he had given a xeroxed copy to the State Library along with boxes of correspondence and other "stuff". There's more to this story. But not now. Lee Hendee was born 1883 and died 1970, Ionia Co., Michigan. He was the son of Oscar Potter Hendee, grandson of William Briggs Hendee, and gtgrandson of David Hendee, pioneer Baptist preacher in Jackson Co., Mi. David Hendee was born in Pittsford, Rutland Co., Vt. the son of Caleb Hendee and his wife Caroline Ellsworth. Lee Hendee organized the Hendee Reunion in 1921 and by 1927 was hoping to publish a book, but his work never got published. I have spent MANY hours with the records my cousin gave me and I haven't published!" [Mary LaBatt - marande86@aol.com] "Lee hendee from Portland, Michigan was the Hendee historian. There is a book in the Lansing state library that has been written by hand. . . My grandfather was Lee Hendee, Kathryn was my grandmother. Lee was a postman [and] the family historian. I visited them when I was a teen, still think of Portland [Michigan]. I remember the reunions, only went once. Do you have the family crest [that] I remember? My father, Robert, their only child married Margaret Moore and had three children, all born in California - Joanne, Jay and Richard." [Joanne (Hendee) Quatermas - joanneq@live.com]

Katherine: b. 1886 d. 1975 bur. with husband, Lee W. Hendee in "the main graveyard in Portland, Michigan" [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com] "Auntie Faith had a scrapbook of family tree relatives with their hands drawn. She would catch each one of us to sit down and answer her request for hand drawings. I vividly recall the day, on one of our visits to Michigan, when she had Mamie and me sit down at her dining room table for this posterity pleasure. It was fascinating to see the characteristics show up such likeness. We sat and had a lot of fun, laughing and discussing family physical traits – our walk, gestures, posture, etc. A most memorable day. Mary, do you happen to still have this scrapbook? Quite a treasure. Hands are messengers for the mind. Just view Gayla's [Gayla (Hendee) Stafford] breathtaking beauty expressed in her cards." [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1999)]

"Lee Hendee was a professional genealogist his entire life, and he left his complete works at the Library of Michigan in Lansing, MI [http://www.michigan.gov/hal/0,1607,7-160-17445_19270---,00.html] is the link to the library where his documents are stored on microfilm." [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com]

"Some of Lee Hendee's relatives are still around as well. Like I said, Lee was my dad's first cousin. Lee used to have Hendee family reunions every year. Some of the documents I viewed at the State Library in Lansing were his contacts that he kept in order to write invites about the Hendee family reunions. These are some of the documents and information that the microfilm in Salt Lake City would not have, but the State Library contains Lee's complete works, and his hearts desire was to see a book about Hendee history published in print. Lee had a son named James Hendee . . . About the 'Hendee Reunion Orginazation'. It was Lee Hendee behind that. I can recall attending some of these reunions when I was a small child, but I do not remember the activities. There is also more information about the Hendee Reunion Organization on the microfilms at the State of Michigan Library. I reviewed some of the documents that had been saved to microfilm, and some of them were rough draft letters he had written to someone about the reunion. He also had an official letterhead that he used when typing up a letter about the reunion. Also, there are some returned postage mailings included in the microfilms where Lee had mailed an invitation to a family member, but the letter had been returned. Lee kept the letters, and they are now part of the record on microfilm. There is other correspondance on these microfilms between Lee Hendee and various people he had tried to contact about the Hendee Reunion Organization as well as the book he was trying to get published. Lee had approached my father and several other members of the Portland, Michigan Hendees as he came close to completing his work. He was looking for funds to get the book published in print. I do not believe he ever accomplished that task. At the time no one in the family had any money to help Lee with his venture, and unfortunately the book remained unpublished, at least to my knowldege. Lee was my father Robert G. Hendee's first cousin, and I would take this as fairly reliable information. I believe the documents at the State of Michigan Library in Lansing, MI contain the complete lifetime work of Lee Hendee, professional genealogist." [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com]

"There was at one time a Hendee Reunion Organization, Genealogy and History Committee based out of Portland, Michigan. The Historian/Secretary, (Lee W. Hendee) wrote a letter in 1959 to Cora Sand, daughter of Benjamin Glass and Emily Hendee requesting information and asking her if she would like to purchase a book. It is unknown whether Cora replied and no other correspondence has been found." [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - http://rootie.org/hendee.php] "I noted that a recurring item on the [Lee W. Hendee] reunion documents is 'John 3:16' under the Hendee crest. Following is that passage: 'For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.' We see in the above COMMUNICATIONS that Lucille [Molinelli] remembered Lee as having found strong faith." [Cynthia Hendee Henry - cynthiahenry819@gmail.com]

"I need to update you about Joanne Hendee (Lee's only granddaughter) . . . When Robert and Margaret divorced, Joanne went with her mother. This was most stressful for Aunt Katherine and Uncle Lee. They were able to see her a couple times before they died when she was young. Margaret was Robert's high school sweetheart and married much too young. Robert went on to marry 2 more times. His third wife was happy when he was a popular well-heeled dentist in California. But when he became terminally ill, she left him. Then Margaret came back into his life to care for him until he died. Robert and his dad were never close - Uncle Lee had no patience with his teenage partying antics (too much a reminder of his [Lee's own] past! - [Lee being a] strict convert" [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to "Round Robin Cousins:" Mary (McMullen) LaBatt, Cynthia (Hendee) Henry, Laurell (Hendee) Shoupe and Gayla (Hendee) Stafford (1998)] "Lee W. [David Petrie -dapwyn@aol.com] "Aunt K. spent her days and nights trying to protect Robert from his dad. Very difficult time in their lives. Robert was never interested in family ties - gave impression as being a very self centered person. He and Joe [Otto] (my brother) got along great as [the] only family member he seemed to care about. He returned to attend Aunt K's funeral with a very few attending including Joe. They had lunch together after the funeral and both went separate ways that day. Robert took care of business and flew back home within a short time. Makes me sad. His childhood was quite dysfunctional to say the least. Robert raised minks as his hobby and sold them for fur. I do wish I could locate Joanne - would be a pleasure to have her return to our fold. She must be in her late 60s or early 70s now." “Dear Cynthia . . . I will try to sort out what I know is family myth and what is fact. First I must address the statement that my family lived in poverty. When I was three years old, with brothers of 7, 10, and 12, my father purchased from the bank in Portland the farm on Christian Bend Road, about 4 miles north of Portland. This land was land granted to an earlier Hendee, in the 1860’s. It was left to a number of heirs at some point and the bank took over its management. My father bought it back, share by share, over the years of the depression and while raising 4 children. Not the actions of a lazy or non-caring man. Farming 240 acres required a lot of equipment and tools, and even the youngest of us realized that work and sacrifice had to be made to make a go of it. So, it may have been that we did not live in luxury or with the “goodies” enjoyed by city folks who may have had similar incomes and not the dependency on weather. It is true that they never left our farm without eggs, meat, and any produce that was in season. During the war (1942-45), I quite clearly remember cousins, uncles and aunts asking my father to sneak them rationed products. Like could they fill their car with gas from the 500 gallon tank, granted to my father to keep the farm running. I remember that on butchering days, my father would make a trip into town to deliver to Lee, Lillie and others fresh livers and other choice parts that they fancied. We would get phone calls that Uncle Leon or other relatives were coming to visit and could they get some meat or other rationed goods that we raised on the farm. This always seemed to cause my father distress because he would be afraid of being caught by government inspectors who came periodically to see that his allotments for raising food for a the war effort were not being abused. However, I don’t remember that anyone he cared about ever left empty handed . . . My father was in his third year in engineering school at the U of Michigan when he was drafted into the army in 1916. He never went back to school, but helped to build railroads across France when the war ended. He went to work for a construction firm in Grand Rapids. From there, he bought the farm in Woodland (later owned by Uncle Glen), and then to the farm near Portland. My mother had only an eighth grade education. I think she felt looked down upon by more educated relatives. All of us were taught to read and write before we started school and all encouraged to excel when we got to school. So, perhaps we were poor in goodies, but we were wealthy in good farm produce, acres to ramble over, ponies to ride, and we all learned that hard work will be rewarded.” [Letter from Gayla Hendee Stafford to Cynthia Hendee Henry – 7 Aug 1999]

“Another fact that may help to dispel some of the mythology is that all of the children of Hal Hendee had music lessons (we had a good piano) from an early age. Several of us owned instruments by the age of 10 or 12. Also we were all offered help to get through 4 years of college if we chose to go to college. Only 2 of us took advantage of this help, but both of us went on to get graduate degrees.” [Letter from Gayla Hendee Stafford to Cynthia Hendee Henry – 7 Aug 1999] “Gayla became estranged from her birth family sighting her father’s and brothers’ alcoholism and abusive family relationships as the causes. Sadly, these breaks in the family appear never to have been mended prior to the members’ deaths.” [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

“Your dad [Hal W. Hendee] always met us with a big smile and hug.” [Letter from Lucille (Otto) Molinelli to Gayla (Hendee) Stafford] “others got hugs from my father, but I don’t remember that I ever got any hugs from either of my parents. He [Hal W. Hendee] loved to laugh.” [letter from Gayla (Hendee) Stafford to Cynthia (Hendee) Henry (1999)]

James Gordon Hendee b. 1962 Residences: Dillsboro, North Carolina; Clinton, Michigan [1994-2004] "I am (as you see by my name) a Hendee, and I live in Michigan. I see you have already found out about my father's first cousin, Lee Hendee. His life's work as a Genealogist is on file at the State of Michigan Library for viewing only. You cannot check the documents out. I know a few things about what cousin Lee left at the library. He left all of his field notes as well as several microfilms that were made of his work. There is a microfilm available thru the LDS in Salt Lake City, you may already know about this. I reviewed some of the microfilms about two years ago, and cousin Lee traced the Hendee name back to Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts (if I remember right) and a trip aboard a ship by the name of 'The Ann' that landed in Plymouth Rock in 1623. Two years after the Mayflower. You may know some of these things already, and some of them need to be positively verified, but I enjoy telling the stories of my family's heritage. We are truly just about as American as Americans can get. There are also Hendee graves in the pilgrim graveyard in Plymouth Rock. Also, a (sort of) famous Hendee came out of Massachusetts in the early part of the 1900's. His name was George M. Hendee, and together with a partner, he founded the Indian Motorcycle Company. If you don't know motorcycles, Indian is like a Harley Davidson style motorcycle. From the stories I have heard told from some of our Hendee relatives in Texas and some folks at a motorcycle museum in North Carolina where I actually got photographed next to a Hendee motorcycle (was very cool...had 'Hendee Manufacturing' on the crank case...). The Indian Motorcycle Company supplied motorcycles to the troops in World War I. From what I understand, the Indian motorcycles were used in WWI like the Willies Jeeps were used in World War II. When Indian came back home from 'Over There', they found out that by concentrating so much of their sales to the government contract, that when they came home to do business after the war, many of these dealerships had been taken over by another American motorcycle company...Harley Davidson. According to our Hendee cousins in Texas, we have a Hendee relative that was once a Texas Ranger in the late 1800's. When it was time for him to retire, the State of Texas didn't have any kind of pension set up at the time, and they created a lifetime position for him until he died. His lifetime position was that of the hangman for the State of Texas !! Can you imagine how many famous outlaws were hanged by a Hendee?? The history goes on and on... I would imagine there has been a Hendee in every major war in the USA. My father, Robert Hendee, of Portland, MI, served in the Navy in WWII, his father, Hal Hendee served in WWI. My aunt (my father's sister) is now passed on, but she relayed a story to me about our Hendee roots in Vermont. There is a town by the name of Royalton, VT, and this town has a famous woman by the name of Hannah (Hunter) Handy [Hendee]. The story goes that the British and/or the Indians, or both, came into the town of Royalton, killed all of the men, and took the children to be in the British army [year 1780]. Hannah is famed for having swam the White River (which borders Royalton) and returned the village children to their homes in Royalton. It is said she even held some of the small ones clinging to her back as she swam. This may or may not be connected to the Hendee name... My aunt found a book at the library in Royalton while she was there that told the story of Hannah Handy and her son Michael Handy. The story goes as I have written above. My aunt also found another book at the same library that told the identical story of a one Hannah Hendee and her son Michael Hendee. It was thought that the name got bastardized in the telling of the story, and 'Handy' was much easier to spell and remember than was 'Hendee', so the name 'Handy' was stuck to the story, and is all over that little village even to this day. Hannah Hunter Handy is one of the Daughters of the American Revolution... My aunt also drove through quite a bit of Vermont when she was there visiting, and she said she came upon a historical marker along one of the state highways that marked the former place of a fort that had built to fight the British in the Revolutionary War. The land the fort had been built on was donated by a man with the last name 'Hendee.'" [James Gordon Hendee - jghendee@aol.com] "Jim who is my brother Robert's youngest son." "Hendee Brooks Photos 19th and early 20th Century - I have 2 photo albums containing dozens of 19th and early 20th century portrait photographs left me by my mother, Gayla Mae Hendee (1934-2000) that were not marked and I cannot identify. Its possible these are from the Hendee side of the family. My mother's father was Hal Hendee descendant of Hendees-- Ira, William Briggs, David, Caleb, Jonathon, Richard II and Richard I. Since these albums were left to my mother when her mother, Lulu M. (Brooks) Hendee (1900-1964) passed away, I believe they have photos from the Brooks side of the family. "Hi Dave. I love and appreciate your home (native?) state, Minnesota. My first visit was when my Palo Alto, CA American Legion Team traveled to Ely for a baseball tournament in 1980. My team didn't win but, among other fun, I witnessed a SPECTACULAR lightning storm (locals said it was the most lightning in memory). I'm researching a French & Indian War Powder Horn that looks like it has a connection with the Hendee Family. Attached is "The Story of the Powder Horn" an earlier version of which I shared with Cynthia. Cynthia, Page 2 (the probable original owner of the Horn) and Page 3 (the primary inscription on the Horn) are new-- take a look when you can - even if it turns out this is not a relic kept by our Hendee family - a very interesting piece of history. I've done some research but have not yet been able to find a Hendee family connection with the family of the original owner of the Horn, Simeon Rouse, or with the woman who donated the Horn, Ms. Dorothea Handy Phipps. Interesting that she spells it H-A-N-D-Y. "The Story of the Powder Horn" is a work in progress. The museum at which the Horn now resides has promised to take and send me better photos of the horn including of the inscription "Barzillai." Once I have better photos, I plan to send them to the experts at Historic Deerfield, Fort Ticoderoga Museum, Lake Champlain Maritime Museum and the Honourable Society of Horners who I've been in contact with about the Horn and who have asked for better photos. I'll send you both the best photo or two. I'm blessed to be able to plan a vacation this summer from Providence, RI through CT, a bit of MA, VT, upstate NY, and, finally, to Montreal, and have made inquiry of the Killingworth and Clinton Historical Societies to try to see if I can find any remnant (and any further history) of the Mill built by John Elderkin that Richard I managed during the last 5 years before his death. I've learned that the CT Historical Society has a Hendee File and have inquired about the cost to get it scanned. My original vision was that interested Hendees might pool resources and share this data once its digitalized. That is still a possibility but now: My impression is that lots of it is from the Lucius Hendee Family - he was president of Aetna from, if memory serves, about 1860 until his death in 1888. For Lucius: Richard I, Asa, Eliphilet Sr. - father of, among others, Abner (Lucius' Uncle Abner referenced in Lucius' obit.) and Eliphilet Jr. (Amelia Babcock), Lucius. My interest in the CT Hendee's wains a bit once Caleb leaves for Pittsford, VT. I would be interested if the file has anything about Richard I or II or Elderkin. I'm trying to work out if I want to and can look through the file when I'm in CT but the logistics look dicey. The other option might be to ask a researcher to take a look to see if there is anything about Richard I or II and/or early Elderkins in the file (for a bit more $ perhaps a scan for any reference to "Huguenot" or how about creating an index). Once I have a better idea of the options, I'll let you know." [Derek Stafford - stafford_derek@att.net]

"Dear Cousins: In search of . . . the old Hendy Grist Mill 1665 - In preparation for my vacation to CT and VT this summer (2013), I've started some research to try to find the location of the grist mill that John Elderkin built in Killingworth about 1665 and Richard Hendy operated from about 1665 until his death in 1670. I'd like to see the whereabouts of the mill and, if I'm lucky, find some remnant of its existence. I've been very fortunate to find some good stuff including some additional clues about Richard Hendy. Attached is a pdf with two documents. The first is a parcel map entitled, "Main Street Clinton in 1665." In the latter 1800s, Killingworth was split in two. The South portion-- along the Long Island Sound-- which includes the original Killingworth town center (established 1663), was renamed Clinton. Clinton is celebrating its 350th year this year (2013). The parcel map is from "The History of Middlesex County" published in 1884, between pages 228 and 229. The map shows, upper left quadrant, the grist mill that John Elderkin constructed as well as the adjacent house lots of "R. Hendy" and "J. Elderken." The Hendy lot is peculiar. It is triangular. It is much smaller than any of the other home lots. It appears that the lot may extend to include the mill. The second page of the pdf is a modern map on which I've tried to approximate the location of the Hendy Grist Mill (a rod is 16 1/2 feet). I'm going to continue this research and have contacted the Clinton Historical Society to see if there is interest in helping research the old Hendy Grist Mill. "The History of Middlesex County" explains that Middlesex County is bordered by the Hammonasset River to the West and the Menunketusuck River to the East neither of which were readily fordable. Because the land was relatively inaccessible, it was "left out" of the plans of Saybrook and New Haven. The first colonial settlement in Middlesex County was Killingworth in 1663. The settlers were primarily from Hartford-Windsor (Edward Griswold). The settlers of Norwich, where Richard Hendy had a home lot in 1660, were primarily from Saybrook (Col. Mason and Rev. Fitch). Richard I was granted home lots in Killingworth and Norwich at about the same time. Father-in-law John Elderkin built the first grist mills for each of these towns and, so, this connection is clear. Whether there are other connections which might help establish the origins of Richard I remain to be researched. Two surnames are common to the founders of both Killingworth and Norwich: Griswold and Smith. The research continues and you are certainly welcome to take a look. "The History of Middlesex County" is available by e-book. Note that the book has both a chapter on Clinton and a chapter on Killingworth. Both chapters discuss colonial times with only a bit of overlap. Finally, in this book, take a look at the parcel map of the Town of Haddam (between pages 370 and 371) and the text at p. 385 describing that John Elderkin was deeded the house lot that had been reserved for the Blacksmith in exchange for constructing the town grist mill." "Jonathan H. Hendee, the owner and occupant of forty acres of land on section 5, Blackman Township, upon which he has erected a good home and made other excellent improvements, first came to this county [Jackson] in the fall of 1836, although he remained here but a short time. He was born in Sudbury, Rutland County, Vt., November 6, 1815, his parents being the Rev. David and Catherine (Harrington) Hendee, who were also natives of the Green Mountain State. After having lived in three different towns in Vermont, they removed to Niagra County, N.Y., in 1831, where the father [Rev. David M. Hendee] continued his ministerial labors until 1837. In the meantime our subject [Jonathan H. Hendee] had visited Michigan and returned to the parental home, whence he came with his father's family in the spring of 1837, settling near Jackson in what is now Blackman Township. The first Baptist Church of Jackson was organized by the Rev. Mr. Hendee, who not long after removed to Mason County, organizing Baptist churches in Mason, Leslie, Aurelius, Eaton Rapids and other places. He returned to this county [Jackson] about 1850, and during the last years of his life lived with his children, of whom he had a family of six sons and two daughters. He died in Somerset Township, Hillsdale County, and his wife [died] in Blackman Township, this county [Jackson]. The subject of this sketch [Jonathan H. Hendee] had learned the trade of a carpenter in the East, but on coming to Michigan, he followed it a short time ere connecting agricultural labors therewith. He bought a tract of land near Aurelius, Ingham County, upon which he lived until 1852, when he sold out, and returning to this county [Jackson], bought the old homestead, located on section 18, Blackman Township. Upon it he resided several years, then selling it, removed to [the city of] Jackson, which was his home six years. In the spring of 1875 he sold his city property, and coming again to Blackman Township, bought the farm on which he has since resided, devoting his attention to the pursuit of agriculture. The first marriage of Mr. Hendee took place June 26, 1839, his bride being Miss Charlotte Bond, who was born near Keene, N.H., to Calvin and Nancy (Wood) Bond, old settlers of Blackman Township, this county [Jackson], where they died. Mrs Charlotte Hendee bore her husband five children, namely: Martha C., wife of the Rev. Austin Parmeter; Julia, now the widow of Albert Allen; Tryphena, wife of Jesse Parmeter; Syreno H., a resident of Logansport, Ind.; and Kendrick, who died when two years old. The mother of this household band died in Jackson in 1872. She was a member in good standing of the Baptist Church, and is lovingly remembered by her household. In Jackson, March 13, 1873, Mr. Hendee contracted a second matrimonial alliance, being then united with Mrs. Elizabeth T. (Barret) Blanchard, daughter of James and Lucinda Barrett, both of whom died in the Empire State [New York]. She was the widow of Dr. J.A. Blanchard, whose death occurred in Rochester, N.Y., in 1870, and by whom she had one daughter, Ada E., now the wife of F.H. Beagle of Grand Rapids. Soon after her first marriage Mrs. Hendee studied medicine, and was graduated from the Medical College, at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1852, being one of the first female graduates in the United States. She practiced in several cities, including Pittsburg, Pa., and Louisville, Ky., and in company with her brother-in-law, Dr. S.P. Town, practiced in Jackson prior to her marriage to Mr. Hendee. Mr. Hendee held various important offices while living in Ingham County. He is a strong adherent of the principles of Republicanism. He has been the Vice President of the Jackson County Pioneer Society for several years, and is one the Vice Presidents at the present time. He and his wife are active members of the First Baptist Church of Jackson and both are highly regarded in the community in which the live." "According to Caverly's History of Pittsford (pp 341, 706) and Lee Hendee's Hendee Family Genealogy (p 67), Samuel Hendee (1791-1876), son of Caleb Hendee, Sr. (1745-1823) and Caroline Ellsworth (1748-1791), married Abigail Paine in 1810 and had 10 children: Emeline (1811), Olive (1814), Eliza (1815), Edward (1817), Lois (1818), John S (1822), Edwin (1824), Denny (1826), Mary (1828), and Joel C (1830). Samuel lived his entire life on his farm in Pittsford. According to Caleb Hendee, Jr.'s manuscript (Ulysses Hendee's transcription, p 25), Abigail died in the spring of 1845 and Samuel immediately remarried. Five years later, the 1850 Census shows a Samuel Hendee (born c 1792) and spouse Betsey (born c 1799) married and living in Pittsford, with the following children: Lois (c1819), John (c1823), Andrew (c1828), and Martha (c1830). It would appear that Betsey was Samuel's 2nd wife and that Lois and John were the children of Samuel and his first wife Abigail. But, then, who are Andrew and Martha? Maybe they were a son and daughter of Samuel and Abigail who were not recorded by Caverly and Lee Hendee. Their approximate birthdates could conceivably fit before daughter Mary and son Joel. Maybe they were a nephew and niece of Samuel, but I have not been able to find any children of Samuel's brothers with those names. Maybe the 1850 Census Samuel Hendee is NOT the son of Caleb and Caroline, but it seems highly unlikely that there were two Samuel Hendees born about the same time living in Pittsford." Emeline ("Emma") A. Hendee b. 1 Oct 1811 m. James Rensselaer Smith 2 Jan 1833 d. 1912 bur. Evergreen Cemetery, Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont Residence: St. Louis, Missouri (1823); Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont (1880 - 1910) "At some point, the family moved on to Tama, IA [Iowa]. It was here that her Emma's brothers played the banjo and sang, hunted and fished. They had a tame crow that stole everything out of her mother's sewing basket; her thimble or anything bright such as buttons, etc. They lived on the side of Tama so that when they were going to Sunday School at the Baptist Church they would meet the Indians from the reservation. One in particular "Indian John" frightened them so that Emma and Mary would hide in a large culvert until he went by. . . Emma went to live part-time with a woman who lived in a sod shanty . The woman's husband was away most of the time working where they were putting through the railroad. In this sod shanty built in the side of the hill there was one room and one bed. These people only owned one cow and one morning the woman had been out milking and Emma wasn't up yet and when she came in she told Emma to put the quilt over her head and keep still and the lady took a shotgun and shot a blacksnake off of a rafter and it fell directly on the bed and Emma! She remembered that at night the water in the water bucket would freeze." [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>]

"When her husband died, she [Mary Eliza (Mathews) Hendee] was hard put to care for a family of 11 children. "For Easter there was never any thought about dressing up. They wore what they had. They tried to have chicken or eggs and flowers of some kind if they could, but they basically just went to church in the morning and after dinner to Sunday School and again to church in the evening. The same on Thanksgiving. Emma remembered that they used to wear petticoats made of two layers of materials of cotton in between and quilted. Thinner down to the hips and then two or maybe 3 layers down to their ankles. No one cared about their size in those days. They also used to wear panties down below their knees. It would look funny to see a woman with panties that long now, wouldn't it? Emma remembered her first pair of underwear that her sister Adi made out of cotton flannel and shaped to fit her body. She wore her panties over it and her shoes came way up above her ankles. When she was 14 her dresses came to her shoe tops and when 18 her dress touched the floor. It looked terrible if a woman's dress was short enough to show any of her shoes. Emma spoke of a Mrs. Eliza who used to spin and weave all of the material for her family's clothes. (I don't know if this was the woman that she went to live with.)" [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>]

Hendee Portland, Michigan 1965 Donated to The Library of Michigan (Lansing, Michigan) by Gardner Otto Stockbridge, Michigan 1971] "THE CALEB HENDEE MANUSCRIPTS - These manuscripts were written by Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr. He commenced writing in the year 1827 and added to it from time to time, as long as he lived. The last date was 1854. They contain a sketch of his life and all he knew about his and his wife's living relatives and all he could learn about his ancestors. He copies several letters received from other branches of the family. I learned about these old manuscripts some twenty-four years ago but was not successful in locating them until two years ago. While in Vermont I was told that one of Caleb Hendee's granddaughters, Mrs. A.D. Tiffany, of Pittsford, Vermont, had them. I called there and when she learned that I was looking up the records, she told me that she had the old records and very kindly loaned them to me to take home and copy. I have made five typewritten copies, one for Mrs. Tiffany and one for each of my sisters, Mrs. A.Y. Freeman of Fredonia, N.Y. and Mrs. J.V. Fradenburg of Greensburg, Ind. Date January 31, 1913 at Stockton, N. Y. Ulysses G. Hendee" [From a copy of the original 1913 transcription of Gen. Celeb Hendee, Jr.'s manuscript by Ulysses Hendee] Addie May: b. Fredonia, New York

He was inquiring about Jenner genealogy The letterhead has Chrissey & Hendee Pharmarists and General Merchants Undertaking" [Evangeline Herr - <http://boards.rootsweb.com/surnames.hendee/62/mb.ashx>]

"U. Grant Hendee was my grandmother's brother. Their gr-grandmother, Mary Jenner Cook, born August 10, 1792, was the daughter of Stephen Jenner of Pittsford, Vermont, born March 24, 1749. I have more information about Stephen if you are interested. Uncle Grant was still running a country store in Stockton in 1930. Besides being merchant, pharmacist and undertaker, he was also the postmaster." [jbsencer - <http://boards.rootsweb.com/surnames.hendee/62.1/mb.ashx>]

"Do you have a copy of Caleb Hendee's journal, which he kept from 1820/30s to 1850/60s? Grant Hendee transcribed it from the original journal, which was owned by a woman in Pittsford about 1920. I hope it has been preserved in some safe place. Nobody seemed to know anything about it at the Historical Society when I inquired about it a few years ago. They do have a copy of the transcription. I am thinking you may have a copy of that. It has the only information I know of about early Hendees." [jbsencer - <http://boards.ancestry.com/surnames.hendee/62.1.1.1/mb.ashx>]

I know there were 13 children born of Charles and Minerva Hendee. I just started searching the Hendee line so I do not have much information. However, I did come across a posting and Lee V. Hendee had dedicated much of his life with researching the Hendee line. There is a book located at the LDS Church and from what his cousin said all of his research, notes, names, pictures everything he did is located at the Michigan State Library Archives. Research goes back to the 1600's. I am going to try and get a copy if possible from the Library." Descended from French Huguenots, Denny H. Hendee was born in either Rutland or Pittsford, Vermont, on February 26, 1826, the eighth of ten children of Samuel and Abigail Paine Hendee. Denny lived on the ancestral farm throughout his childhood. At nineteen he attended Brandon Seminary for a year, but in the summer of 1846 he abandoned his religious studies and traveled to New York City to learn daguerrotypy. After mastering the art, Hendee worked his way through New Jersey and Pennsylvania as far as Wilkes-Barre. In 1848 he was operating in northern New York when he learned of the discovery of gold in California. With his brother, Edwin B. Hendee, he embarked on a steamer in October 1849, landing in San Francisco on January 10, 1850.¹ In San Francisco, Denny Hendee went to work at "the only art gallery in the city, at $25 per week and board." It is likely that this was the gallery of Frederick Coombs. Within a few months, however, the Hendee brothers were ready to try their luck at the mines. Shortly after arriving at Sonora, they purchased a daguerreotype outfit from an "emigrant" and established a gallery inear the Comet House and nearly opposite the El Dorado Hotel. For the remainder of the year the Hendee Brothers combined a fairly successful mining venture with a picture-taking business. They charged sixteen dollars for daguerreotypes, and their output of views and images in Sonora and Tholumne county was reportedly quite bountiful. The Hendees seem to have had a keen artistic eye for newsworthy character studies, such as a "splendid picture of the motley group" that fomented a race riot in Sonora on August 4, 1850. In January 1851 the Hendees visited other towns in northern California, although it is not clear if they continued to work as a partnership after that date. On May 13 a Marysville newspaper reported that D. H. Hendee was "about to remove to the rooms over Dr. Watts' city drug store." It is uncertain which of the two Hendees brothers was a partner in Hendee and Edwards's Daguerrean Rooms at Mechanics' Hall, Auburn, California, by November 20, 1852. The more likely candidate may be E. B., since the firm of Hendee and Edwards seems to have been revived as the firm of Edwards and Hendee in Rough and Ready, California, from December 1863 through at least February 1864, by which time Denny Hendee was established as a photographer in Portland, Oregon. (It is uncertain if Edwards was Alfred Edwards or D. H. Edwards.) Around 1852, Denny Hendee established temporary galleries in Stockton and several mining camps. In May 1853 he returned to Marysville long enough to marry Miss E. S. Vineyard before moving on to Oregon with his bride. The couple sailed into Portland on June 10, and Hendee immediately rented gallery space recently vacated by Leland H. Wakefield in the Canton House. Hendee's inaugural advertisement stressed that he was a family man with every intention of settling in Portland. Hendee remained in business at the Canton House until about September 1853, then operated at Sawyer and Milwain's building (second floor), Third Street, Portland. The Hendees eventually had four children: Ortho B., Samuel B., Ella Fanny, who died in her childhood, and Edwin L. Notwithstanding his published vow to become a permanent, settled resident of Portland, Hendee, ever the restless itinerant, soon started making the rounds to outlying settlements. He He visited Oregon City, Champoeg, Salem, Hillsboro, Lafayette, Forest Grove, Albany, and Corvallis between late 1853 and 1855. However, he continued periodically to to operate a Portland gallery at various locations, including "the building in the rear of the Columbian Hotel" from November 1855 to March 1856. To learn new techniques of photography on paper and to visit old friends, Denny Hendee returned to California around late 1856. By April 1857 the Hendee brothers had reunited to open the E. B. and D. H. Hendee ambrotype gallery on Huntoon Street in Oroville. That summer, two engravings based on ambrotypes by E. B. and D. H. Hendee appeared in Hutchings' California Magazine: Fluming in a Canon in the July issue and River Miing in the September number. The Hendees continued to advertise jointly until at least early 1858, although advertisements under their separate names occasionally appeared in 1857. Denny Hendee returned to Oregon in 1859. Reverting to his itinerant ways, he operated temporary photographic galleries in St. Helens and Shoal Water Bay, Oregon, and Vancouver, Washington Territory, until permanently settling in Portland in 1861. The following year Hendee's first wife died in 1863, when his gallery was at 107 1/2 Front Street, a number of luminaries favored his studio with their business, including Governor Joseph Lane and the grizzled old mountain man Joe Meek. On March 10, 1864, Hendee married Mrs. Maria (Ricker) White, born in Bath New Hampshire around 1827. Although the couple were married for forty-three years, their union produced no offspring. Hendee's gallery locations in Portland included the corner of Front and Washington Streets in 1865, the Parrish Building on Washington Street in 1865-66 (this may have been identical to the Front and Washington location), and the corner of First and Morrison Streets in 1866-67. In 1868 his gallery was listed at 117 First Street, shifting to the southwest corner of First and Morrison in 1869 and the corner of First and Morrison in 1871-72. 99999

"Abigail [(Paine) Hendee] died in the spring of 1845 and Samuel immediately remarried. Five years later, the 1850 Census shows a Samuel Hendee (born c 1792) and spouse Betsey (born c 1799) married and living in Pittsford, with the following children: Lois (c1819), John (c1823), Andrew (c1828), and Martha (c1830). It would appear that Betsey was Samuel's 2nd wife and that Lois and John were the children of Samuel and his first wife Abigail. But, then, who are Andrew and Martha? Maybe they were a son and daughter of Samuel and Abigail who were not recorded by Caverly and Lee Hendee. Their approximate birthdates could conceivably fit before daughter Mary and son Joel. Maybe they were a nephew and niece of Samuel, but I have not been able to find any children of Samuel's brothers with those names. Maybe the 1850 Census Samuel Hendee is NOT the son of Caleb and Caroline, but it seems highly unlikely that there were two Samuel Hendees born about the same time living in Pittsford." [John Hendee - jhendee@cox.net - <http://genforum.genealogy.com/hendee/messages/171.html>]

"John, Here's another idea about the identity of your Martha and Andrew 'Hendee.' They could be children from Betsey Wainwright's first marriage to Tubal Cain Pray, knowing the general care and accuracy of the average census taker in 1850. It would not be too far a stretch to assume Martha and Andrew Pray were living with Samuel and Betsey (or Betsy?) Hendee at the time of the 1850 census since their father, Tubal Pray, had already died and neither of them had yet married. The census taker may have, incorrectly, assumed all the adult children were Hendees since they were all approximately the same age. Here are some things that would seem to support the above: Samuel 's wife, Betsy (Wainwright) (Pray) Hendee, was first married to a Tubal Cain Pray in 1821. Tubal died in 1834 in Salisbury, Vermont. I think these names, dates and places pretty conclusively tie this Elizabeth (Betsey) to our Samuel Hendee. Note that among Elizabeth and Tubal's four children (below) there was a Martha Pray and an Andrew Pray. The birthdates of these two match pretty closely with the Martha and Andrew you are trying to identify. I think the identification of Martha and Andrew as Hendees on the 1850 census was a mistake. I do not think Samuel Hendee ever adopted them and changed their last names to Hendee because, when Martha married Chester G. Thomas on 18 Dec 1860, she is listed as 'Martha Pray.' On the record of her death on 10 May 1886 she is listed as 'Martha Pray Thomas.' Similarly, Andrew is listed as 'Andrew H. Pray' on the record of his death on 02 Mar 1875. Andrew married (1) Betsy Briggs 30 OCT 1851 and (2) Clara J. Williams 11 APR 1861" [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com] "Excellent. Nice job of research. Makes perfect sense. Thanks. I can now scratch Andrew and Martha from the Hendee list." [John Hendee - jhendee@cox.net - <http://genforum.genealogy.com/hendee/messages/174.html>]

"Hi my name is Heather Norman. I am also descended from Harriet Hendee Blackmer Mead. My ancestor is her grandson George Blackmer. I have list of names from Hendee reunion in 1929 with Lem Hendees name on it. I thought maybe he was descended from one of Abners brothers due to his middle name Ellsworth. I found out his father was Celian Abner Hendee. But I can't find connection between Abner & Celian Abner. Any help would be great. Thanks." "Deacon Caleb Hendee [Sr.] was one of the early settlers of Pittsford. He moved there from Connecticut before the Revolution. His son, Caleb [Jr.], kept a journal for many years in which he recorded all the information he had about his family. I have a copy. If you would send me the names of your early ancestors I will see if I can find them. Caleb [Jr.] also recorded a letter about 1839 from Abner Hendee, a cousin [actually a half-brother] still in Connecticut, which told about the family fleeing Normandy at the time of "the religious wars" in France, and the early arrival of Richard Hendee in Boston. The other is, that during the late rebellion the quota of the town was more than filled." His parents were Carlton Hendee and Sylvia Preville. I have traced them back to a Horace Hendee born in the early 1800's who I believe married an indian woman named Rose[?]. His son was Isaac Hendee born in Hubbardton or Rutland Vermont about 1843. I was wondering if you had any other information concerning list line of Hendees that may help me in my search." She and her mother, Anna May Hendee Pierce McIntyre, referred to it as the 'Opera Coat.' It was worn by Anna May and her mother, Lenora (Nora) Cutts Hendee. All three women were born in Beloit, Wisconsin. My mother told me she intended to make a skirt or jacket out of it for me, but she couldn't bring herself to cut the fabric, nor could she disassociate the coat from her mother and grandmother whom she loved so much." [Judith Shanley Petrie - 23 Apr 2015] Judith Shanley Petrie donated Nora's "Opera Coat" to the Rock County Historical Society, Janesville, Wisconsin in May 2015. The Society intends to display it in the adjacent Tallman House museum with other period clothing and furniture. The most prized item in the Tallman House is the bed in which Abraham Lincoln slept when he stayed in the house [2 Oct 1859] while campaigning for President in Rock County during the election of 1860 (see the following)." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com] "Following his talk in Janesville, Lincoln was the overnight guest of William Tallman at his recently completed mansion on the outskirts of Janesville. Today the fully restored home, along with two other historic buildings on the same site, is operated by the Rock County Historical Society as the Lincoln-Tallman Restorations. The bed in which Lincoln slept has been preserved and is among the society's most prized artifacts." "Horace Jackson and Lenora Hendee and family lived very close to Horace Jackson's first cousin, Horace S. Hendee and his wife, Emma Mead and family in Beloit, Wisconsin at the time of the 1880 U.S. Federal Census. Horace Jackson and family were dwelling 135 and family 151 in the census while Horace S. and family were dwelling 132 and family 148 in the census. This census was probably taken when Horace Jackson and Nora were living in the house at 620 Hackett Street in Beloit, Wisconsin. Thus Horace S. Hendee and family were likely living a few doors away on Hackett, across the street on Hackett or just around the corner on Forest Avenue from Horace Jackson's Hackett Street address in 1880. We have pictures of Horace Jackson's house in about 1870 and also a few years ago when we visited Beloit. My wife's great grandmother, Lenora ("Nora") Cutts Hendee (b. 1856) was probably a little too old to have been a playmate of your Nettie and her siblings but she may well have served as a baby sitter for them at time." Occupations: Fireman and Fire Inspector, St. Paul Fire Department. "My favorite Shanley family besides mine while growing up was Uncle Chick's family. He treated me well and Aunt Mary was as kind a person as could be. Of course, it helped there was three good looking girls in the family not to mention Bob, who used to let us come over for an under-age whiskey now and then while Maureen fussed at him for doing so. I was arrested in 1957 for a petty crime. Prior to my interrogation by the St. Paul Police, Uncle Chick showed up and had the jailer let me out of the cell so he (Uncle Chick) could talk to me. They put me in a dark room, Uncle Chick sat me down and proceeded to scare the hell out of me. He then reached in his pocket and pulled out a piece of paper that had a picture of Abraham Lincoln on it with the words 'no one person has a good enough memory to be a successful liar.' By his visit that day, Uncle Chick instilled in me a fairness and honesty virtue that has endured these many years." [Richard "Dick" Patrick Shanley - nephew]

"I am Daniel Ross McIntyre, son of Joseph Henry McIntyre and Susan Barbara Hane of Rockford, IL. Grandson of William Hubert McIntyre and Priscilla Demontigny of Rockford, IL. Great grandson of Hubert B. McIntyre and Elizabeth Cain of Beloit, WI. I am seeking information on my great, great grandparents Luke McIntyre (~1830-1887) and Mary McBrayerty (~1834-1904) of Merrimac, WI. Luke died in 1887 and is buried in Baraboo, Columbia County, WI. We believe Luke might have been born in Cork Co., Ireland, and that Luke might be related to William and Elizabeth McIntyre of Sauk County, WI. William McIntyre died in 1876. Does anyone know about Luke McIntyre of Merrimac, WI.? Luke and Mary McIntyre had 9 children. Mary Ann McIntyre (1856-1942) married John F. Shannon. Margaret McIntyre (1859-1894) did not marry, John McIntyre (1861-1929) married Margaret Lehan. Hubert B. McIntyre (1864-1935) married Elizabeth Cain. Elizabeth McIntyre (1865-1894) married Thomas O'Neil. James William McIntyre (1868-1947) married Ellen Agnes Donohue. Louis William McIntyre (1869-1928) married Mary Therasas Dwyer. Francis C. McIntyre (1872-1930) married Anna Stephenson. Jennie ("Jane") Elizabeth McIntyre (1874-1943) married James Crahen. Again, I'm trying to learn more about Luke (~1830 - 1887) and Mary McBrayerty McIntyre (~1834 - 1904). We think they both were born in Ireland and were married in 1853 and emigrated to the U.S. shortly thereafter." [Daniel McIntyre – drmsac@yahoo.com]

"Hi Dave, My name is Nicole Paige and I live in Vermont. I saw a blog that you were commenting on a while ago about the Hendee family. My grandfather is a Hendee. His parents were Carlton Hendee and Sylvia Preville. I have traced them back to a Horace Hendee born in the early 1800's who I believe married an indian woman named Rose[?]. His son was Isaac Hendee born in Hubbardton or Rutland Vermont about 1843. I was wondering if you had any other information concerning list line of Hendees that may help me in my search." "I haven't been able to get any farther back than that yet, but have Nettie's parents." [Samual R. [Ruth Strouse, New Brighton, Minnesota (2009) - rootie@rootie.org - <http://rootie.org/hendee.php>]

"Isaac's [Isaac Aaron Hendee] father was Horace [Horace A. Hendee] born in 1824 and his [Isaac Aaron Hendee] mother was Rose, an Indian woman . . . I'm looking for ancestors of Horace Hendee, born in 1824 in Rutland County, probably Pittsford or Chittenden. He was married to Rose, an Indian woman." [Samuel Seward - srseward@yahoo.com] "Hendee of the Green Mountain Boys: I believe he [Horace A. Hendee] was married a second time to an Indian maiden." [June Hale Cook - jcook01085@yahoo.com] "MY GREAT GRANDMOTHER WAS ALMA HENDEE AND I WAS TOLD BY A RELATIVE THAT THERE IS INDIAN SOMEWHERE AND I'VE BEEN TRYING TO FIND WHERE IT CAME IN AT." [MARY FOBIAN - BLUESGRL@CHARTER.NET] ". . . Horace Hendee born in the early 1800's who I believe married an indian woman named Rose. His son was Isaac [Aaron] Hendee born in Hubbardton or Rutland Vermont about 1843." [Nicole Paige - jnpaige527@shoreham.net]

"The question of a second marriage of Horace A. Hendee to an Indian woman (Rose?) may not be settled, but it is difficult to see how Isaac Aaron Hendee was the child of these two. Isaac was born in about 1849 to Horace A. and Almira (Elmira[sp?]) Hendee according to the 1850 USA census for Hubbardton, Rutland County, Vermont. The census shows four minor children in the family (Horace J., Samuel W., Harriet L. & Isaac A.) with no more than 2 to 3 years between each birth (ages 8 to 1). The continuity of the births strongly indicates that Isaac had the same parents (Horace A. and Almira Hendee) as the other three children. Also listed with Horace A. Hendee in the 1850 census (see below) are Almira's mother, Abigail ("Nabby") ("Mason" – probably wrong and should have been "Jackson") Paine. Nabby was born 27 January 1777 in Somerset, Bristol County, Massachusetts. It does not sound like the daughter of Abigail and Captain [Aaron] Paine, who was born 1775, would have been an "Indian woman named Rose.

"The reference to 'Rose, an Indian woman' may have come from the book, Captain Hendee of the Green Mountain Boys, which was a fictional novel and not a biographical or historical work (see below)." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"Title: THE GREEN MOUNTAIN; Type of work: Novel; Author: Daniel Pierce Thompson (1795-1868); Type of 'plot: Historical romance; Time of plot: 1775-1 776; Locale: Vermont; First published: 1839; Principal characters: CAPTAIN CHARLES WABBINGTON, a Vermont patriot; LIEUTENANT SELDEN, later EDWARD HENDEE, his friend; ETHAN ALLEN, leader of the Green Mountain Boys; ALMA HENDEE, loved by Warrington; CAPTAIN HENDEE, her father; JESSY REED, daughter of a British officer; PETE JONES, a Green Mountain Boy; JACOB SHEBWOOD, a Tory; BILL DARROW, Sherwood's confederate; NESHOBEE, a loyal Indian . . . Captain Hendee . . . also recognizable as real persons - Mrs. Story, Munroe, Skene, Reed, McIntosh, Benedict Arnold, and Ethan Allen appear under their own names . . . 'After the battle of Bennington [Vermont] the company reassembled at Captain Hendee's for a double wedding, the marriage of Alma [Hendee] and Wanington and that of Edward Hendee and Jessy Reed, whose father had sent word of his consent. Pete Jones, carried away by the spirit of the occasion, proposed to Alma's maid, Ruth, and was coyly accepted. Ethan Allen decided that still one more marriage would be in order. Bluffly, he persuaded Zilpah to accept the faithful Neshobee. Then, having done all that man could do, he asked the parson to do his duty. Warrington and Edward Hendee returned to Vermont at the war's end, to lead long lives of service to their state, Pete Jones and his wife prospered on their farm, and Neshobee and Zilpah remained with Captain Hendee for many years.'" "Hi Dave, My name is Nicole Paige and I live in Vermont. I saw a blog that you were commenting on a while ago about the Hendee family. My grandfather is a Hendee. His parents were Carlton Hendee and Sylvia Preville. I have traced them back to a Horace Hendee born in the early 1800's who I believe married an indian woman named Rose[?]. His son was Isaac Hendee born in Hubbardton or Rutland Vermont about 1843. I was wondering if you had any other information concerning list line of Hendees that may help me in my search." [Nicole Paige - jnpaige527@shoreham.net]

"There are some holes birth dates, marriages, etc. But in speaking with my grandmother earlier, she believes that George M. Hendee, the Indian Motorcycle guy is related somehow. Can you shed some light on that for me. Thanks Again." [Nicole Paige - jnpaige527@shoreham.net]

"I haven't been able to find all the names you mention in your email but a quick look makes me think you and my wife are something like third cousins give or take a "removed" or two. Your Isaac Aaron Hendee (b. 1849 Hubbardton, Rutland County, Vermont) was the brother of my wife's great grandfather, Horace Jackson Hendee - see attached picture of Horace Jackson Hendee. My wife Judith (Shanley) Petrie's direct ancestors going back to the late 1500s in France follow. It would appear that you and she share all those Hendee ancestors shown from Horace A. Hendee, father of Isaac Aaron and Horace Jackson, on back." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com] PS: "You are not the first Hendee researcher who has mentioned the Indian lady, "Rose" to me. The reference to 'Rose, an Indian woman' may have come from the book, Captain Hendee of the Green Mountain Boys, which was a fictional novel and not a biographical or historical work. I have not been able to find her an any official records yet."

"The question of a second marriage of Horace A. Hendee to an Indian woman (Rose?) may not be settled, but it is difficult to see how Isaac Aaron Hendee was the child of these two. Isaac was born in about 1849 to Horace A. and Almira (Elmira[sp?]) Hendee according to the 1850 USA census for Hubbardton, Rutland County, Vermont. The census shows four minor children in the family (Horace J., Samuel W., Harriet L. & Isaac A.) with no more than 2 to 3 years between each birth (ages 8 to 1). The continuity of the births strongly indicates that Isaac had the same parents (Horace A. and Almira Hendee) as the other three children. Also listed with Horace A. Hendee in the 1850 census (see below) are Almira's mother, Abigail ("Nabby") ("Mason" – probably wrong and should have been "Jackson") Paine. Nabby was born 27 January 1777 in Somerset, Bristol County, Massachusetts. It does not sound like the daughter of Abigail and Captain [Aaron] Paine, who was born 1775, would have been an "Indian woman named Rose."

"The reference to 'Rose, an Indian woman' may have come from the book, Captain Hendee of the Green Mountain Boys, which was a fictional novel and not a biographical or historical work (see below)." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"Title: THE GREEN MOUNTAIN; Type of work: Novel; Author: Daniel Pierce Thompson (1795-1868); Type of plot: Historical romance; Time of plot: 1775-1776; Locale: Vermont; First published: 1839; Principal characters: CAPTAIN CHARLES WABBINGTON, a Vermont patriot; LIEUTENANT SELDEN, later EDWARD HENDEE, his friend; ETHAN ALLEN, leader of the Green Mountain Boys; ALMA HENDEE, loved by Warrington; CAPTAIN HENDEE, her father; JESSY REED, daughter of a British officer; PETE JONES, a Green Mountain Boy; JACOB SHEBWOOD, a Tory; BILL DARROW, Sherwood's confederate; NESHOBEE, a loyal Indian . . . Captain Hendee . . . also recognizable as real persons - Mrs. Story, Munroe, Skene, Reed, Mcintosh, Benedict Arnold, and Ethan Allen appear under their own names . . . 'After the battle of Bennington [Vermont] the company reassembled at Captain Hendee's for a double wedding, the marriage of Alma [Hendee] and Warrington and that of Edward Hendee and Jessy Reed, whose father had sent word of his consent. Pete Jones, carried away by the spirit of the occasion, proposed to Alma's maid, Ruth, and was coyly accepted. Ethan Allen decided that still one more marriage would be in order. Bluffly, he persuaded Zilpah to accept the faithful Neshobee. Then, having done all that man could do, he asked the parson to do his duty. Warrington and Edward Hendee returned to Vermont at the war's end, to lead long lives of service to their state, Pete Jones and his wife prospered on their farm, and Neshobee and Zilpah remained with Captain Hendee for many years.'" Obituary: "OLD NEWARK CITIZEN GONE Horace S. Hendee, Many Years With Iron Works, Dies Siezed With Quincy Which Later Developed Into Rheumatism of the Heart - Born In Town of Newark 62 Years Ago Horace S. Hendee, for more than thirty years an employee of the Beloit Iron Works and a stockholder in the concern, died at his home in the town of Newark ten miles west of the city at 9 o'clock last night after an illness of but one week, with rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Hendee was a native of the town of Newark, having been born there 62 years ago and had been a resident there and in Beloit all his life. Mr. Hendee had apparently been in good health until a week ago. He had worked about as usual, but the disease ran its course quickly and he passed away last evening. He had been living on the Morley farm about two years since giving up his work at the Iron works. The deceased was a veteran of the civil war, having enlisted in the Second Wisconsin cavalry. He is survived by the widow, who was formerly Miss Emma Mead and to whom he had been married 41 years and by four sons and two daughters. The children in the order of the ages are: Mrs. E. F. Barr, Garfield avenue, this city, Horace W. Hendee, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Mrs. Thomas Stickler, Roscoe; Charles Hendee, 1015 F street, city, and William and Herbert, living on the home farm. The funeral services will be held in the Newark town hall, Saturday, but the hour has not been definitely decided upon. It is likely that a large number of the Beloit Iron Works force including the officials will attend. The Interment will be in the Newark cemetery." [Beloit Daily News, Beloit, WI dated December 23, 1908]

"Horace S. Hendee is my great great grandfather. I've been to Newark, and to Pittsford, Vermont, where his father, Winchester Hendee, and quite a few other Hendees were born. I'm especially interested in how you were able to locate the birthplace of Richard Hendee, Sr. in England, and his parents' origins. I have the Pittsford history book that says they came from Normandy, but I never found any confirmation of that story. Winchester was the son of Abner Hendee and Polly Atwood. Abner was the son of Caleb Hendee, Sr., and his second wife, Mary Squire. Caleb Sr. was one of the early citizens of Pittsford." [Randy Hendee - randalhendee@me.com]

"Hello Sandra, Think I can help with your Wisconsin Hendee questions. I have Hendee family information going back to the original Hendee in America but more recently you and my wife share ancestors Abner Hendee, Esquire b. 8 Aug 1792 - m. Mary ("Polly") Atwood. These two had children: Horace A. Hendee b. 1814 Rutland County, Vermont; Winchester E. Hendee b. 8 Sep 1816 Rutland County, Vermont m. Sarepta Clark; Harriet A. Hendee b. 1823 Rutland County, Vermont m(1). Ira R. Blackmer m(2). Andrew Philip Mead; Squire Franklin ("Frank") Hendee b. 2 Jul 1829 Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont m. Elizabeth ("Lil") Shrake; Rosannah Hendee b. abt 1812 Rutland County, Vermont; Angeline Hendee b. Rutland, Rutland County, Vermont m. Henry Morgan. From the above, Horace A. Hendee had Horace Jackson Hendee, my wife's great grandfather who moved from Vermont to Michigan and then to Wisconsin, dying in Beloit on 4 Mar 1909. Horace A. Hendee's brother, Winchester E. Hendee, and Sarepta Clark had Horace S. Hendee, Jr. b. Feb 1846 (or Mar 1845) Newark Township, Rock County, Wisconsin, USA m. Emma E. Mead. These two then had Nettie May Hendee b. 2 Nov 1867 Newark, Wisconsin m. Edgar F. ("Ed") Barr. There are other Nettie Hendees but, based on the other names you mention, I thought this might be the one to whom you are related . . . The Abner Hendee mentioned in my last post was the only son of Deacon Caleb Hendee and his second wife, Mary (Reeves) Squires." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"My Nettie [Hendee] was married to Edgar Barr. Her son Samuel was my great grandfather. This post actually caught my eye with the mention of the surname Hull. Hull - was my mother's maiden name. Samuel's daughter, my grandmother Irene married a Grant Robert Hull." [Sandra Castille – imarenwench@yahoo.com]

Also, if you follow up on the Pittsford, Vermont Hendees, you'll notice that Caleb, Sr. is referred to as Deacon Caleb Hendee. He was one of the founders of a Baptist church in Pittsford. He also has an interesting connection to the Revolutionary War, because a fort was built on his property during the war to defend against the British and their Indian allies. His son Caleb became a General in the Vermont Militia, and is often referred to as General Caleb Hendee. The History of Pittsford volume contains some interesting anecdotes about these and other Hendees. Please let me know if you're interested in further information. Randal ("Randy") J. Hendee b. Residence: Wheaton, Illinois; Champaign, Illinois (2013) "Yes, I used to live in Wheaton, but that was a few email addresses ago. My Grandpa Hendee was Charles James Hendee, son of Charles Edwin Hendee, whose father was Horace S. I don't have much more information on Abner Hendee." [Randal Hendee - randalhendee@me.com]

"Mr. Petrie, sorry I didn't answer your email right away. I'm definitely interested in sharing information. I was in Florida over Christmas. Otherwise we might have been able to meet up. I'm in Champaign [Illinois] now (2013), but do travel to the Chicago area pretty often. I believe there were three or more Horace Hendees living in Beloit and Newark. It would be interested to find out the exact Hendee connections. My interest in family history has been picking up lately, so hopefully I won't forget to get back to you in the future. Please let me know the easiest way to share information. I'll be attending at least one Friends of Beckman Mill event this year. Maybe we can get together at one of those. Thanks for staying in touch." [Randal Hendee - randalhendee@me.com]

"I will say that I've never heard Winchester Hendee referred to as "Abner Winchester Hendee." I think that's probably an error. Also, Mary Squires might have been known as Mary Squire. If I'm remembering it right, there's an interesting comment in Caleb Hendee, Jr's memoir suggesting that the family wasn't too pleased with Caleb, Sr's taking a second wife. That wife gave birth to Abner, so if the union hadn't taken place, I (and a whole lot of other people) wouldn't exist. Are you familiar with the History of Pittsford, Vermont? The book contains a Hendee genealogy and other information about the Hendees. When I was in Pittsford, I couldn't locate the grave of Abner Hendee. Do you know where he's buried? I have no knowledge of Abner's middle name. A researcher of the Atwood family once told me that Polly Atwood (aka Mary) and Abner Hendee were divorced, but I haven't been able to verify that. She put together a remarkable Atwood family tree, though, which might be of interest. Here's a link to the Beckman Mill website: <http://www.beckmanmill.org/> The mill is interesting to me because Squire Franklin Hendee, Winchester's brother, bought land across the road, and at one time the mill served as post office for residents in the immediate area. I'm interested to know if your wife's ancestor lived in Newark before moving to Beloit. Winchester and Franklin were farmers in Newark. I'll try to follow up with more information when I access my records. By the way, my Grandpa Hendee corresponded with Lee Hendee a few times. I'm willing to bet that his research is not 100% accurate, so errors might have crept into the Hendee record over the years, but I would be very interested in having a copy of the document you mentioned." "When the first alarm of the coming war was sounded, and President Lincoln called for 75,000 men to defend the cause of the Union, Rock county responded first with the "Beloit City Guards," and thereafter, until the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia, made by Lee to Grant, on the ' ' old stage road to Richmond," on the afternoon of April 9, 1865, Rock county was ever ready to manifest her patriotism and love of country. The draft was enforced three times during the war, November 12, 1863; September 19, 1864, and February 19, 1865, and filled with recruits; yet the county furnished 2,817 soldiers and upward of a half-million dollars to beat back the foe. Of this number, 1,493, by actual count, were enlisted prior to November 11, 1861 . . . The Fortieth Regiment: In April, 1864, the governors of five states, including Wisconsin, persuaded the United States government to accept 80,000 volunteers for a service of 100 days (on the terms of regular soldiers' pay and no bounties), to hold cities and camps then occupied by veteran troops, thus releasing the veterans for service at the front. There would be no battles and wounds, but just army camp life — the romance of war. Wisconsin sent two short regiments and one battalion, some 2,300 in all, and of these 231 went from Rock county in the Fortieth Regiment . . . Of Company I, the first sergeant was Eben S. Chase; third corporal, John Anderson; fourth corporal, Alonzo Kelley, all of Beloit; fifth corporal, Frank Barrere, of Janesville. Privates, Albert F. Lewis, of Lima; James Boyd, of Harmony, George H. West, of Janesville; Thomas P. McManamin, of La Prairie, and Samuel Baker, Edmond Capron, Jacob Faber, Charles A. Hendee, Alonzo Kelley (promoted corporal) and Benjamin A. Jeffers, all of Beloit. Company K had two Rock county privates, Solomon W. Foster, who died at Memphis, July 11, 1864, and Daniel A. Patterson, both of Evansville . . . The Fortieth Regiment numbered 778, of whom thirteen died in service . . . Many of the "boys" who went out from home to battle for the Union, with only the benediction of a mother's tears and prayers, came back to that mother's arms shrined in glory. Many returned, having left a limb either in the swamps of the Chickahominy or on the banks of Eapidan or at Fredericksburg, Gettysburg or in the wilderness. Many still bear the marks of that strife which raged at Stone river, luka, Chickamauga, or on the heights of Lookout mountain, whence they thundered down the defiance of the skies; of that stern strife of battle, which marked the contests before Atlanta, Savannah, and in the Carolinas. But there were many who came not back. They fell by the wayside or, from the prison and battlefield, crossed over and mingled with the ranks of that Grand Army beyond the river. Their memory, too, is held in sacred keeping. Some rest beside their ancestors in the village churchyard, where the violets on their mounds speak remembrance of the devotion of those who sleep below; their memory is immortal; some sleep in unknown graves in the land of cotton and cane; trees which shade the sepulchers of their foemen shade their tombs also; the same birds carol their matins to both; the same flowers sweeten the air above them, and the same daisies, as the breezes toss them into rippling eddies, caress the graves of both. Neither is forgotten. Both are remembered as they slumber there, in peaceful, glorified rest.

"On fame's eternal camping ground their shadowy tents are spread,
 And glory guards with solemn round the bivouac of the dead."

"Hi Heather, Just wondering if you could send me the list of names you have from the old Hendee reunions. I would like to try to match the names to the photos I have of the same old reunions. I'd be glad to share the results with you. I imagine there are a lot of names. If you do not want to take the time to type them into an email, maybe you could scan them and send them as an email picture attachment or just copy them and mail the copy to the address below. Your time and effort would be much appreciated." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Hi All [Hendee email contacts], Thanks to Heather Norman, I have gotten the mailing list for one of Lee W. Hendee's Michigan reunions from the 1920's. I have attached the following.

- List of previous feedback from you all about possible identifications of those in the attached pictures
- 3 photos of the 1929 Hendee reunion mailing list
- 3 photos of 1920's (possibly 1929) Hendee reunion attendees with numbers for identification.

Have fun and let me know if you think there is a chance that you can match someone from the mailing list to the reunion attendee photos and/or to your old family photos. Also, any corrections to or thoughts about the list from previous feedback are most welcome." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

I actually had your family attached to the wrong branch of Hendees rather than the Beloit branch where I see now you belong. William Washington Hendee's father was Horace S. Hendee (b. Feb 1846 [or Mar 1845] Newark Township, Rock County, Wisconsin) who appears to have married his cousin, Emma E. Mead (b. abt 1846) and thus confused things for us researchers. Emma Mead's mother, Harriet Hendee (b. 1823 Rutland, Rutland County, Vermont), married Andrew Philip Mead abt 1850. He was her second husband. Harriet Hendee was the sister of Winchester E. Hendee (b. 8 Sep 1816 Rutland, Rutland County, Vermont) and Emma's husband Horace S. Hendee was the son of Winchester so they were first cousins. The father of Harriet and Winchester Hendee was Abner Hendee (b. 8 Aug 1792 Pittsford Township, Rutland County, Vermont, USA m. Polly Atwood 14 Nov 1813 Brandon, Rutland County, Vermont). Harriet and Winchester had another brother, Horace A. Hendee (b. 1814 Rutland or Pittsford Township (?), Rutland County, Vermont, USA m. Elmira Paine) This Horace A. Hendee was my wife, Judy's great great grandfather and was, of course the father of her great grandfather, Horace Jackson Hendee (b. 4 Mar 1842 Pittsford Township, (?), Rutland County, Vermont, USA m. Lenora ("Nora") L. Cutts 5 Nov 1874 Beloit, Wisconsin by Edward D. Savage, Doctor of Baptist Church Beloit, Wisconsin (witnesses: Eli Barkley & A. S. "I am looking for the descendents of Andrew Philip Mead and Harriet Hendee Blackmer. Andrew was born 1816 in New York and died 1900 in Caledonia, WI. His parents were Philip & Elizabeth Mead. Harriet was born 1823 in Vermont & died in 1895 in Caledonia, WI. They lived in Newark Twp, Rock Co., WI before moving to Caledonia. They had four sons: Isaac, Andrew, Earnest & James . . . Thank you for the addresses. Do you have complete birth/death dates for Harriet? I only have the years: born 1823 in Rutland, Vermont and died 1895 in Caledonia, Wisconsin. For Andrew I have birth 4 June 1816 in Fulton, NY and death 21 Oct 1900 in Caledonia, Wis. They were buried in Trempealeau Cemetery in Wis." [Heather Norman - redwolfgir11@exite.com]

This was purchased for graves one thousand fifteen and one thousand sixteen in block eighteen. Not certain at this point if this is where she is buried, and if so, who the second grave was for. They were actual memories and some history of her . . . After the funeral, your dad said to me, 'When I die, will you write my eulogy?' He might have been joking, I am not sure, but I wanted to honor his wishes in case he was serious. Youngest sister of my mother, Phyllis (Sooky) Hendee [wife of William Ronald Hendee] [Pamela Hendee - phendee@comcast.net]

Eulogy for William Ronald Hendee (Apr 2005) – read by Pastor Kellerman from First Bethlehem Church, Chicago, Illinois; Written by Lily Stout (known as "Cork") his [William's] sister-in-law "There is an old saying that states, "There Is Strength In Numbers!" These words certainly ring true when you look upon the Hendee family that is gathered here today. They have suffered much pain recently over the loss of their loved ones within the last few years. First, their Mom Phyllis and then their brother, Nick. Their brother Donnie preceded them in death 26 years ago next month. And now, sadly enough, their Dad and grandfather. Known to the world as William R. Hendee, to his family and friends, Bill, Uncle Bill and affectionately called, "Willy Boy" by his brother-in-law Al, who has often said that Bill was like the older big brother that he never had. All the cousins, aunts, uncles and friends gathered here today have witnessed and shared their pain and loss with them. William Ronald Hendee has been enjoying this world of ours for the last 76 years . . . his life has been full and one might even say adventurous. His struggles growing up in the depression era were shared by millions of his fellow Americans and oh so many stories could be told by one and all of the lard sandwiches one ate and the long lines that formed waiting with ration stamps in hand for food and gasoline. In his youth, his home life was met with some difficulty and at times love might have seemed in the far distance for him. Like most men of his era, he would suffer in silence and not share his emotional pain nor all his dreams and fantasy's, not even with his most cherished loved ones. In spite of all this, his optimism clung to him with the hope of finding a richer Life with love and meaning. After he proudly served and fought for his country in Korea, he came home to Chicago and met and fell in love with his wife, Phyllis, some of us affectionately called her 'Sooky,' her nickname. Many years Bill and Phyllis spent together, laughing, arguing, loving, and most importantly, having wonderful beautiful babies together. These years of their shared parenting were lean in the pocket but rich in love and many nights after the babies were bathed and put to bed and the house was quiet, Bill and Phyllis would play a game of canasta and listen to the radio and sing along with all the popular artists of that time. These were good times, lovely times, times of sweet smelling babies and dreams to be dreamed and plans to be made a Lifetime ahead of them. The years fly by so quickly and the children grow up and they bring into your Life, more sweet smelling babies, and they in turn bring home more sweet smelling babies. Ah! Life goes on, Life is Good! How many of us remember Bill whistling? Bill could whistle as clear and beautiful as any bird singing in nature. His whistling of his favorite tunes sounded like the words themselves and one couldn't help but sing along to the melody of his choice. Years ago, Bill took up the habit of smoking a pipe, the mixture of his Old Spice cologne and the scent of his tobacco was sweet and lasting and lingered for some time after he had left a room. His artistic streak reflected in his taste of finer things in Life, be it in his choice of clothes or home furnishings. His belief was in moderation, "Everything in moderation" he would often say to others, especially while dining. Bill's love of teasing people, young and old was known to all that knew him. Some of us returned the barbs and some of us winced at the teasing words but his way of communicating at times was . . . in the way of a tease. His blue eyes would crinkle up and his mouth would form a smile while teasing any on of us. He seemed most relaxed when he teased, usually sitting while he threw those zingers at you because when stressed or angry, his ritual would be to pace back and forth or sometime in circling motions with his one hand in his pants pocket, jingling his change with his head tilted downwards. His sons mimic the same actions under similar situations. It's a bit comical to witness all of them together performing this Hendee Man Dance, it's a wonder they never bump in to each other. One man walking this direction, the other man, that direction, round and round they go, hand in pocket jingling their change. Life is good. Bill worked in factories, drove trucks, and tended bars in his time. In his younger years, he and his wife Phyllis owned and operated a small restaurant, this was when the kids were young and few. Later on in Life, they owned a neighborhood deli together, all of the kids were grown and on their own but they still pitched in and lent a hand to their mom and dad in running the business. Bill and Phyllis were both great cooks and passed this talent down to all of their kids. Bill often swam thru troubled waters and basked in the warmth and depth of love given to him by his immediate family. In any time of need, his children would always be within arm's reach and give to him what they could to ease his load in Life. And at the end of his Life, Michael Jay and Terry, Pamela Lynn, William Thomas and Claudia, Cheryl Kim and Ralph, David Adam and Mary, Janet Lee, and Heidi Phyllis and Brian were all once again at his side to lessen his suffering and worries and make the remaining part of his Life as comfortable as humanly possible. They each in their own individuality contribute to their Dad's legacy he has left behind. He has been a fortunate man to be loved by so many and to be surrounded by so many who care. So long Mr. Blue Eyes, until we meet again." [Pamela Hendee - phendee@comcast.net]

"I received my Great Grandfathers death certificate today, and his parents are given as Horace Hendee and Emma Mend, although I think Mend, might really be Mead. Horace is from Beloit, so that's the Hendee branch I come from." [Pam Hendee - phendee@comcast.net] "Hi Pam, as it turns out, you are a fairly close relative of my wife. You both share the same Hendee ancestors through and including Abner Hendee b. 8 Aug 1792 Pittsford Township, Rutland County, Vermont, USA and his wife Polly Atwood. Emma E. Mead would appear to have been a niece of my wife's gg grandfather, Horace Hendee (b. 1814). Emma's mother, Harriet Hendee's second marriage was to Andrew Philip Mead about 1850. Emma was born about the same time. Her two older sisters, Mary and Sara were probably from Andrew Mead's first marriage. Harriet Hendee was the sister of my wife's gg grandfather, Horace Hendee (b. 1814). Since you share a Hendee ggg grandfather (Abner), this would make you fourth cousins. Did I ever send you the picture of Horace Jackson Hendee? His obituary calls him an "Early Settler" of Beloit. He would have been Emma's first cousin. My wife's family still tells the story passed down to them about how the family moved from Beloit to St. Paul, Minnesota with all their family belongings strapped to their Model "T" Ford. There are Hendee's buried in Oakwood Cemetery in Beloit if you ever get up that way." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"Hi Long Lost Cousin-in-law Dave! I started all this to prove one way or the other family stories that 1. We were related to the famous George Hendee and 2. We are related to Myles Standish. Maybe everyone hopes to find famous people to be related to. All this information still has me rather confused. Hard to keep everything straight. Please help out my brain here. William Washington Hendee's father was Horace, his father was Abner. Since there is more than one Horace, and more than one Abner, would Abner's father be Winchester? If so, who then is Winchester's father? Here's a tidbit that only few Hendee's know about, and I'll share with you. The artist Robert Blottiaux is really the aka for Donald Robert Hendee, my father's half brother. They both share William Charles Hendee as their father. After my father's death, I contacted his cousin Wesley Hendee Jr. who lives in Florida. We talked on the phone for awhile. I saw his daughter's name in your book, Joyce Yake. I mailed him some things to pass on to her, but have heard nothing yet. Thanks for helping me piece things together! [Pamela Hendee - phendee@comcast.net]

[Joyce Yake – yakej@insightbb.com] "I just received documents Saturday, 12/31/05, from my sister on some family members you may be interested in. I have a family photo of my grandfather Wesley Bert Hendee (1909-1971) and his brother William C Hendee (b. 1908). Along in the photo are their parents; William Washington Hendee (1878-1945) and wife Bertha (Millishcher) Hendee (1883-1971) (this would be my great grandparents) . . . I also have a certificate dated January 28, 1925 for Wesley Bert Hendee from The Palmer Method of Business Writing. I certifies that he attained a degree of excellence in the Palmer Method of Muscular Movement Business Writing for proficiency in Rapid Legible Business Writing, Chicago. This document is too large and fragile to scan, as some others I have also . . . I have a copy of a stamped and sealed document showing my grandfather (Wesley B. Hendee) as being ordained as a minister of the gospel and a representative of the church of The Church of Faith in God in Atlantic City, NJ (he preached in a Polish Pentacostal church in the evening services to the English speaking of the congregation, however, he did not speak Polish) - this is dated February 10, 1942 . . . Other items my sister handed to me include: William B. Hendee birth certificate (very faded and most likely not able to scan a copy of) . . . According to an account reported by Wesley Henry Hendee, son of Wesley Bert Hendee, at the time of Wesley Bert Hendee's funeral, his [Wesley Bert's] mother Bertha was approached to attend the funeral. Unfortunately she was too ill to leave the nursing home, and sat and cried over it with Wesley Henry Hendee's wife Janeise Rose (Burgess) Hendee. Bertha died shortly after on 5 August 1971." "I have precious pictures (that have been misplaced since I moved 2 years ago) of my great grandmother, Laura Mae Hendee, to whom we lovingly referred to as "Little grandma" as she stood about 4'10. She taught me how to fight, make a fist, and take on any bullies that got in my way when I was just 4 years old. She chased my cousin Mark (son of George Hendee) around the kitchen table when she was 95 years old, slipped and fell breaking her nose with the frying pan she was going to "whoop" Mark with! Oh such a special little lady! She always said her birthday was Sept. 3, 1876. She had 13 children (no tv) but six didn't survive. Not sure if they were stillborn? So she and George had Elsie, Florence, Clarence, George, Arnold, LaVerne and Don. I will be sending you pictures of Clarence, Arnold and LaVerne. Clarence and Pearl . . ." Obituary - "Born November 30, 1929 in Beloit, Wisconsin and died September 5, 2012 in Tucson, AZ from a recently diagnosed brain tumor. He is preceded in death by his father Clarence Hendee, mother Pearl and brother Wayne. His beloved wife, Elaine Hendee, died in 1992. He is survived by his sister Nonie Olson (Rockford, IL), his only child, Jo Ellen Rivera (Clemente); granddaughters, Jamie Hoggan (Matthew); Leigh Ann Rivera (Lisa); great granddaughter, Jaylee Hoggan all of Tucson, niece Jeri Udell (Beloit/Tucson); niece Suzie Anderson (Rockford, IL); nephew Jeff Olson (Rockford, IL); niece Dianne Adams (Washington); nephew John Hendee (Phoenix, AZ) and cousin Tom Hendee (Fond du Lac) with many more cousins, nieces and nephews and of course, his best buddy "Chico" his dog. Bob was a proud Veteran of the US Navy serving from 1947-1955 upon the USS John R. Pierce during the Korean War. He loved sharing stories of his time traveling the world. Upon returning from the Navy in 1955, he went to work at Hendee Oil Company. He then married the love of his life, Elaine Smith. They then welcomed their only child, Jo Ellen. In 1963, Bob and his father Clarence Hendee, opened "The Carom Room", an upscale billiard room in downtown Beloit, boasting famous player Willie Muskonie for the grand opening. He encouraged women to play, had ladies leagues and taught his daughter to play in many exhibitions, even opposing Minnesota Fats! "The Carom Room" is still in business today! He sold out in 1966 and then relocated to Rochester, MN, where he and his family started raising appaloosa horses. By 1974, Bob and Elaine decided they had had enough of the snowy winters and packed up and moved to Tucson, AZ. He retired from K-Mart Corporation in 1991. After Elaine's death in 1992, Bob moved to Tucson Estates (golfing retirement community) where he kept very busy golfing. Never being one to sit, Bob opened up a golf club making/repair shop. He was readily recognizable driving his "57" Chevy golf cart around with "Chico" by his side. He was a wonderful son, husband, father, grandfather, uncle and a great friend. He will be dearly missed by all who knew him. A celebration of his life, will be held Friday, November 30, 2012 at The Tucson Estates Multi Purpose room at 4:30 p.m. A reception to immediately follow. Arrangements by Abbey Funeral Home, 3435 North 1st Avenue, Tucson, AZ 85719" [Beloit Daily News Obituaries - http://www.beloitdailynews.com/announcements/robert-g-bob-hendee/article_ff9102ea-35f4-11e2-b7a9-0019bb2963f4.html; Jo Rivera - notyouravejo@aol.com]

"Hello Jo, I have been researching my wife's Hendee family for about 35 years now. I recently came across the obituary you submitted to the Beloit Daily News for your father, Robert G. Hendee. My wife's Hendee family was from Beloit, Wisconsin. Her great grandmother, Polly (Atwood) Hendee is buried in Newark Cemetery, which is west of Beloit and was where your grandfather, Clarence Ellis Hendee, was born in 1900. You and your father are direct descendants of Polly and her husband Abner Hendee like my wife. I have a WORD document that traces our Hendee families back to 1585 in France. Just wanted to let you know that I would be happy to share our Hendee information with you and your family. It might be something nice to pass along to your father's children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. Let me know if you are interested in the Hendee information. I also have quite a few old Hendee family pictures that I have scanned and can email to you. There is no charge for this. I wouldn't feel right charging for information that has been shared with me by other Hendee family researchers around the country. If you would like to contribute information or pictures after seeing my document, that would be truly appreciated." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Hi Dave, yes I would be truly grateful for any information. What I have found, is that any one with a Hendee name is probably related. Very interesting. Thank you for thinking of me." [Jo Ellen Hendee-Rivera - notyouravejo@aol.com]

"Hi Dave, thank you so much for all of this information. I will send you several pictures of my family. I have precious pictures (that have been misplaced since I moved 2 years ago) of my great grandmother, Laura Mae Hendee, to whom we lovingly referred to as "Little grandma" as she stood about 4'10. She taught me how to fight, make a fist, and take on any bullies that got in my way when I was just 4 years old. She chased my cousin Mark (son of George Hendee) around the kitchen table when she was 95 years old, slipped and fell breaking her nose with the frying pan she was going to "whoop" Mark with! Oh such a special little lady! She always said her birthday was Sept.3 1876. She had 13 children (no tv) but six didn't survive. Not sure if they were stillborn? So she and George had Elsie, Florence, Clarence, George, Arnold, LaVerne and Don. I will be sending you pictures of Clarence, Arnold and LaVerne. Clarence and Pearl, my grandma [Pearl Elizabeth] and grandpa [Clarence Ellis], had, Wayne, Nonie and my dad, Robert. I have good pictures of them. So interesting about the motorcycles. All of the Hendee men were very mechanical and leaned towards the engineering aspects although none of whom any technical training. Wayne's daughter Dianne Adams, was researching our family tree probably about 20 years ago. I know she is on facebook. I will try to get in touch with her and see what she may have to contribute to all of this. This is fascinating and I thank you so much." [Jo Ellen Hendee-Rivera - notyouravejo@aol.com]

"Richard Hendee lived to the age of between forty and fifty years. He married his wife Hannah Pearson (or Parsons) at Windsor, now Ellington County. After living there some years, he moved to Shaftsbury in this state. Living there some time, he moved to this town where he lived until his death, which took place about thirty-five or thirty-six years ago. He was killed in an instant at the raising of a barn for Capt. Mitton Potter in this town. He left a worthy and disconsolate widow and a family of children viz. Richard, Ephraim, Jesse, David, John, Hannah, Anna and Phebe. He was not a man of much property. He had lost a small estate, being his all, by the depreciation of Continental money. He was nearly six feet high, pretty well proportioned, not fleshy, weighed about 180 pounds, and I have heard my father say he had seen him take a barrel filled with cider and put it on the rack of a cart. He was of an obliging disposition, but of somewhat hasty tempered, yet esteemed by his neighbors. His widow, some years after his death, married to David June, of Brandon, with whom she lived till his death, which happened some years since. She now lives with her children in the western part of New York state. Richard Hendee, the son of the above named Richard, married Phebe Rich, daughter of Captain Nathaniel Rich, who was a brother of Elder Elisha Rich, by whom he had a number of children. After living some years in this town he moved to Ticonderoga, in the state of New York, but now lives in the western part of that state or in the province of Canada. Ephraim, his brother, married Lovisa Churchill, daughter of Joseph Churchill Esq. of Hubbardton. After living in Sudberry, in this county, he moved to the town of Avon in the state of New York, Ontario county, where he now resides. Jesse Hendee married Tirza Rich, daughter of the Rev. Caleb Rich, brother of Elder Elisha Rich, and now lives in New Haven in the County of Addison, Vermont. David Hendee, his brother, was a soldier in the late war, was wounded in the battle of Williamsburgh, in which Gen. Covington was killed. He was afterwards in all the battles and lived on the Niagara Station with Gen. Brown, and is now in the western part of New York. John, his brother, I believe, lived near his brother Ephraim. Hannah Hendee married Samuel Buell, then of this town but died many years since with the consumption, without children. Her sister Anna married [Esau] Rich, son of Captain Nathaniel Rich, and now lives somewhere near her brother in the state of New York. This much to my uncle Richards family." [nephew, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., manuscripts (1827-1854), pp. 2-3]

"Among the number who located here [Pittsford, Vermont] in 1785, were Richard Hendee, John Hitchcock and son John, Israel Lake, Thomas Hammond, Daniel Stevens, James Stevens, and Samuel Waters, Jr. Richard Hendee was a son of Jonathan, and brother of Deacon Caleb, both of whom have been mentioned. He married Hannah Parsons, of Windsor, Conn., where he resided some years, and then moved to Shaftsbury, Vt., from which town he came to Pittsford in 1785, and located on a lot of land upon which a little improvement had been made by a man named Wright. When he came here his property consisted of a few hundred dollars in Continental money which had so depreciated that it was of little value, and to assist him to begin the world anew financially, his brother [Deacon] Caleb gave him this lot of land. In raising a barn for Capt.. Milton Potter in 1797, Mr. Hendee fell from the frame and was instantly killed. He was about six feet high, well proportioned, though not fleshy, and weighed one hundred and eighty pounds. He left a widow and eight children, the former of whom afterwards married David June of Brandon, where she resided till his death, and then went to the western part of the State of New York to live with her children. The eldest son, Richard, married Phebe, daughter of Capt. Nathaniel Rich of Shoreham, resided some years on the homestead, and then moved to Ticonderoga." "Of the ancestry of Israel Lake no information has been obtained. That he became a resident of this town in 1785, the records conclusively show, though we are unable to learn from whence he came. He purchased of Caleb Hendee fifty-five acres of land - a part of the right of Alexander Scott - for which he paid L6, L. M., and the deed was dated "June 8th, in the 9th year of American Independence 1785." This appears to have been located west of Richard Hendee's lot; and about the same time Mr. Lake pitched fifty acres more of the same right bordering on the west bank of Otter Creek. This probably included the land upon which Pittsford Quarry Co.'s depot now stands. He built a house about one hundred rods in a northwesterly direction from the residence of Richard Hendee, and perhaps occupied it alone for a time, as the record states that " Israel Lake and Hannah June were married to each other the tenth day of May, 1787." The first part of it was a little west of the present highway. From Edwin Wheaton's present residence to N. Hand's, it was about identical with the present road; but at the latter point it ran west of it, and some rods west of the residence of Richard Hendee, now N. Willis', and continued on past where David Hall once resided, now Alexander Parmelee's, to the present residence of Roswell Woodcock. Thence it turned north of the present road, and passed the site of the old house once occupied by Samuel Montague; and a little south of the present residence of Seth Hewitt, it occupied about the same ground as the present Brandon road . . . Elijah Adams married Ruth, daughter of Elder E. Rich, and resided some years on the farm which has been mentioned as first improved by Abraham Owen, Sen., (O. Smith place,) then occupied for a few years the farm which had been improved by Richard Hendee, (Willis place,) but finally moved to Buffalo, N. Y. . . Nathaniel Willis, son of Thomas, was born in this town, January 22, 1812, and married, Nov. 15, 1853, Abigail M. Carr, who was born in Chester, Nov. 24, 1819. In 1857, Mr. Willis bought of Daniel Goodnough the Richard Hendee farm, on the west side of the Creek, and on this he now resides. He has greatly improved the farm, and in 1871, he built a large and convenient house in conformity to the modern style of architecture . . . Obituary: "Wednesday occurred the death of Mr. Uz Hendee, uncle of County Clerk A. L. Hendee, at his home in Avon Township one mile south of Grayslake. The deceased having resided in that vicinity since he came to Illinois in 1840. Mr. Hendee was born in Hume, New York, 78 years ago, and made his home in that state until the earlier settlers of the locality had made manifest the possibilities of Northern Illinois, when he joined the ___ of immigration, for a short time after his arrival living upon land previously secured by a brother who preceded him. He later purchased the land where he lived until his demise. Starting in impecunious circumstances he had by thrift, energy and perseverance accumulated quite a property hence his long life was a busy one and fortunately for his ultimate success been extremely free from sickness. It is said he never had a serious illness until stricken by paralysis Saturday evening after a day spent at Grayslake, the stroke resulting in his death, Wednesday. Mr. Hendee was widely known in the county and in the funeral, Friday, was largely attended by neighbors, relatives and friends of the bereaved family. The deceased leaves a wife and two sons- George and Eugene." [rjuli2 - <http://boards.rootsweb.com/localities.northam.usa.states.illinois.counties.lake/520.566/mb.ashx>]

Included are surnames HENDEE; RICH; KINGSBURY and perhaps BRYANT. Harley was born on Mar. 14, 1810 in Hume, Allegheny Co., NY, the son of Richard and Phoebe (Rich) Hendee, and may have had a brother or cousin, David Hendee. At age 26, Harley migrated to Avon, Lake Co., IL and in Jan 1842 married Lucina Kingsbury, b. Dec 25, 1819 in Utica, NY, the daughter of Jesse and Sarah Kingsbury. Worden C. Hendee b. 20 July 1867 Ingham County, Michigan ". . . so it appears that Worden Hendee was born in Ingham County, Michigan, and we had the date 20 July 1867. To extend lineage: - William was son of Joseph Lovell Hendee, son of Ephraim, son of Richard (brother of Deacon Caleb), sons of Jonathan, son of Richard 2nd. Therefore, Jonathan is our common ancestor to Cecil and Clare [Hendee]." [Letter from Mary LaBlatt to Cynthia Henry (1999)]

"Having spent most of a morning on researching Cecil Hendee – I offer the following treatise: from summer 1979 to MSU [Michigan State University] magazine I submit article and picture of Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Hendee. Dr. Cecil Hendee was a DVM – Dr. Veterinary Medicine, but the recreational land probably was a tree farm. There is no reference here to Dr. Hendee ever being in [the Washington] D.C. area, but if he was with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he may well have been in D.C. But re: Hendee Reunion – from letterheads and correspondence – Dr. Cecil is named President of Hendee Reunion Organization for many years. Lee W. Hendee was Secretary-Treasurer Historian for probably all the years of the Organization. Clare Worden Hendee was a brother of Cecil – just 2 years older, and Clare graduated from Michigan State in Forestry. Clare born 1908 and Cecil born 1910. Cecil and Clare are sons of Worden C. Hendee who was son of William Hendee born 1847 in Wyoming County, N.Y. – and came to Ingham County, Mich.(Lansing) and was married in Feb. 1864 to Lucy Swartout (sp?), native born; so it appears that Worden Hendee was born in Ingham County, Michigan, and we had the date 20 July 1867. To extend lineage: - William was son of Joseph Lovell Hendee, son of Ephraim, son of Richard (brother of Deacon Caleb), sons of Jonathan, son of Richard 2nd. Therefore, Jonathan is our common ancestor to Cecil and Clare [Hendee]. Amazing, but true, that cousins so distant on the family tree, came together in physical (and social) relationship many years later far from ancestral homes. We can only speculate on the lines of communication. Anyway, as Lucille, and probably Laurell, remember Cecil was active in Hendee Reunions. However, Cecil and wife were not the abusers of the Hendee Records, far from it. I guess at this point, I feel like a lawyer, with exhibits to support my case. It is understood, that since the time I came in possession of Hendee Records that my burning passion was to determine why the Hendee Genealogy was never published. I still don't have a definitive answer, but in my search (mainly in Hendee Collection in archives of Library of State of Michigan), I have discovered bits and pieces of pertinent material that point to one Myron Hendee as the person who had the records (Big Black Book). There is correspondence between Lee and Cecil concerning Myron's actions and what should they do. At one point, Cecil went to Washington to get the book, but was duped. That is when Lee got Lucille into the situation (see Lucille's letter below – Cynthia Henry) I had correspondence with her in late 1970s on this, and I think she said she finally met Myron at Post Office where he worked in D.C. and retrieved the Big [Black] Book. So, she is our heroine. Now as to who is Myron Hendee? I do not know. I do not find a Myron Hendee in the index to BBB [the Big Black Book], and I have done considerable scanning to find his name. For a time, I thought maybe he was Myron Mortenson, a first cousin of Cecil. Then, I looked at the letterhead of Hendee Reunion Organization (enclosed) and names Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hendee are there. So back to the drawing board! Worden Hendee had 3 sisters whose children (would be cousins of Cecil) came to reunions – they were the cousins from Pinckney, Owasso, Howell and were the Mortensons, Chubbs, and Hicks . . . this went on until after Reunion 1964, maybe 1965 before Lucille finally got the book – maybe she got it back to Lee [Hendee] in Portland – summer of 1965, and they still tried to get someone to type up material for a printer – that didn't work out; Lee is at the time 82 years old and the cost of publishing had gone up and he was wearing out. There was no one who stepped in and took his place, no one! So, the project finally died when he [Lee W. Hendee] died in Feb. 1970. But that is not the end of the Hendee Family Historical work. Indeed, the material in the BBB [Big Black Book] was never 'print ready,' although it is good genealogical material, there are errors and confused records – all of which can be edited out – but, one needs to be a college professor with secretaries to do it – or a good computer workspace – whatever – Amen." [Letter from Mary LaBlatt to Cynthia Henry (1999)]

Our subject [Frederick W. Decker] studied in the graded schools of Castle, N. Y., and at the age of sixteen began clerking in a general store there. Two years later he went to Silver Creek, N.Y., and was in a drug and grocery store two years as a clerk, after which he was for nine years in the employ of F. J. Dougall, of Windsor, Ont [Ontario, Canada]. In 1888 he came to Clio and opened up the business in which he is now engaged, which is constantly increasing in reputation and extent. He was married October 3, 1888, to Helen H., daughter of A. P. and Catherine Hendee, of Leroy, N. Y. . . The political views of our subject [Frederick W. DAR [Daughters of the American Revolution] would not accept because there were no cites. I found out Parson was a descendent of Nathan McQuivey and belonged to the Sons of the Revolution. I wrote to him, letter returned. Then I found under the New England Ancestry Org that Parson had died and donated all his genealogy to NE Ancestry. After more searching, I found on another NEA [New England Ancestry] site, Parson was in communication with an Eldridge (the one who is cited in the McQuivey article) who had the records of General Caleb Hendee of Pittsford, VT. I contacted the Pittsford Historical, and yes, they have the original records, but very faded. C[aleb] Hendee wrote both the Hendee and McQuivey line sometime after the War of 1812, covering the period up until about 1825 or so. These records have been added to and are now called the Hendee Family History, available through LDS. DAR accepted these records for me joining under Nathan McQuivey (McWethy . . . I did get Nathan McQuivey approved as a DAR [Daughters of the American Revolution] patriot. He is the FIRST McQuivey approved." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net]

"I now return to my father's oldest sister Rachel. She married a man by the name of Nathan McWethy (or McQuivy) by whom she had a number of children, the names of some of them I remember viz. Jonathan, Solomon, Joshua, Nathan, Nathaniel and also a daughter and perhaps more. Jonathan, her son, I understand went into the state of New York and married a Dutch woman by whom he had several children. He has been dead many years. While a young man, he lived with my father one season while I was a boy since when I have never seen him. His brother Solomon learned the trade of gunsmith, has a family, and has for more than twenty years worked at the same in the United States Army in Springfield, Mass, where I suppose he now resides. He was here with a daughter of his a year or two ago. Joshua, his brother, I never have seen since I was a small boy, and know not what has become of him. Nathan, his brother, lived in this town some years about 34 or 35 years. Since after which he went to the Genesee country in the State of New York, married a Dutch girl, had a numerous family as I was told. I have not heard from him in some years. Nathaniel, the youngest son of my aunt Rachel, lived some years in this town and part of the time with me. He married for his first wife, Sally Hall, daughter of John Hall, and moved with her to Williston in this state. She did not live many years. He afterwards married again and still resides at Williston. I consider him to be a very industrious honest man. I believe he had but one sister and she married a man by the name of Downe in Williston. My aunt Rachel is said to have been a woman of great strength of bodily powers, but she died in the prime of life in Connecticut. Her husband afterwards married Roxana Ellsworth, a cousin of my mother's. She has also been dead many years and my uncle Mc Witty moved to Williston, where he married his third wife. He died a few years since, being aged from 84 to 87 years." [nephew, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr. manuscripts (1827-1854), pg. 3]

"Rachel Hendee, sister to Deacon Caleb Hendee, was married 8 July, 1764 to Nathan McQuivey (MacWethy). I have their marriage record in Dutchess [County], New York. Rachel was born in Coventry, Connecticut. I have her birth record. They had four sons including Nathaniel McQuivey who was born about 1775 in East Windsor, CT. He died 25 June, 1843 in Ripton, VT. I have his death record but no proof of birth. Nathaniel married Sally or Sara Hall in Pittsford, VT. Sally died and is buried in Williston, VT. I have her death record. He then married Silence Littlefield 28 Feb 1809 in Williston. I have no proof of their marriage. She was the daughter of Daniel Littlefield of Chesterfield, Ma. Silence was a twin, with a brother named Caleb. I have Silence's birth record. Silence's brother, Daniel, moved to Essex, Vermont sometime around 1800. Her two other sisters married and settled in Jericho, Vermont, just a short distance from Essex and Williston. I believe Silence moved to Vermont with one of them . . . Rachel Hendee married Nathan McQuivey. Rachel died in MA, then he remarried an Ellsworth (I think Eleanor, but there is some debate whether it was her or her sister). Nathan and Eleanor moved to Williston, VT. Eleanor died then he married a third time, an Anne. I found Anne's death certificate, and supposedly Nathan is buried next to her in Williston. Their [Rachel and Nathan McQuivey] son, Nathaniel married Sally (or Sara) Hall in Pittsford, VT. They moved to Williston, VT. Sally died and he married Silence Littlefield. Nathaniel and Silence, sometime after Nathaniel's parents death, moved to Ripton, VT." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net]

"I proofed Nathaniel McQuivey for DAR based on the Caleb Hendee memoirs. They are in the Pittsford Historical Society. Caleb Hendee was a cousin of Nathaniel's [Nathaniel McQuivey] wife, Rachel Hendee. Interestingly, one of our other DAR members has Jonathan Hendee[?] as a patriot." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net]

"Some of the McQuivey family dropped the "Mc" and went by "Quivey." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com] "In fact, of the six boys that Nathan McQuivey and Rachel Hendee had two dropped the Mc and went as Quivey, two went as MacQuivey (MacWethey), and two are McQuivey. From the information I have, instead of being called Jr or Nathaniel II, they just changed the spelling of the last name to clear up confusion with the same name generation before. So much for the thinking of the Scots. Nathan's grandfather came to America as a slave to England. He was captured, along with about 2000 other Scots in the Battle of Dunbar by Cornwall, marched across Scotland to and English prison. About 1/2 or more of the Scottish prisoners died along the way and another 25% or more died in prison. A few years ago they were excavating under the prison and found the bones. Anyway, the few remaining prisoners were taking up space so the 100 or so left are either put on ships to the Caribbean, sent to France to fight in their war, or sold in England as

Mrs. Zephaniah McJUNKIN d. 1 Jul 1879 (age 62 yrs), Alden, Freeborn Coounty, Minnesota bur. Alden, Freeborn County, Minnesota [Research Notes: Searched 1850 Census indexes for Zephaniah in following states: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin. Did not find. (3/2002) In 1840, Zephaniah was living at Slippery Rock, Butler, Pennsylvania. In 1850, I did not find him in the census of Slippery Rock Township. However, I did find his two daughters, Nancy Jane, 6 years, living with William (63y) and Susan (60y) McNees and Margaret, 2 years, living nearby with Eli (26y) and Mariah (26y) McNees. Could the McNees be the family of the first wife of Zephaniah? Also living in Slippery Rock was Josiah (37y) and Imelda McJunkin, and Elizabeth McJunkin (41y). Possible relatives for Zephaniah? It is obvious that Alvira is not the first wife of Zephaniah. It is unclear how many wives he had, at least two. Alvira is probably the mother of the last 5 children of Zephaniah, and maybe the last 7 children. More research is needed. "A William McNees (b. 1786) who married Susannah Fowler with a son Eli (b. 1819) who married Maria(h) Steen. William and Susannah had daughters Rachel and Hetty Jane for whom I have no information except that Hetty Jane died June 22, 1855. Perhaps one of the two was a wife of your Zephaniah." "Nathaniel, the youngest son of my aunt Rachel, lived some years in this town and part of the time with me. He married for his first wife, Sally Hall, daughter of John Hall, and moved with her to Williston in this state. She did not live many years. He afterwards married again and still resides at Williston. I consider him to be a very industrious honest man. I believe he had but one sister and she married a man by the name of Downe in Williston." [first cousin, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., manuscripts (1827-1854), pg. 3]

I have his death record but no proof of birth. Nathaniel married Sally or Sara Hall in Pittsford, VT. Sally died and is buried in Williston, VT. I have her death record." "I'm having a heck of a time proving Elizabeth [Ketchum] Gilmore, wife of Adam [Gilmore or Gillmore]. Their son, Epenetus [Gilmore], married both Sally and Laura McQuivey. Seems like both her [Elizabeth Ketchum] birth and baptism records were burnt, her death was not recorded, and she is probably buried in a family plot at Williston, Vermont. Looks like she died after the 1830 census, more than likely, late 1830-to 1831. Epenetus and Sally were married either 1830 or 31 and moved to Ripton, VT. Adam, the husband, moved to Ripton in 1832. The only info that I have on her death is his pension application in July 1832 saying, "since he resided alone he now lives in Ripton, VT." Vermont did not have to register deaths until 1920 and, from the town clerk, unless you were a friend of someone or someone important, you were not buried in the town cemetery. So much for Elizabeth Gilmore . . . I saw another error that is in [the LDS Family History Search site] genealogy of Elizabeth Gilmore. Listed as her parents are Elihu and Sara Ketchum [should be Epenetus Ketchum and Elizabeth Smith]. I have it from three different sources, including the Seeley genealogy, that Elihu and Sara had one daughter, Sara born 1783 in Whiting, VT., died 1825 in Whiting. Elihu is a cousin of Elizabeth's father, Epenetus Ketchum. I can see how someone tacked on Elihu as being the father since both Adam and Elihu both lived in Addison Co, VT. Elihu was a minister in Whiting. Adam bought land in 1789 in Bristol, while still living in Williamstown, MA. Most records say he and Elizabeth were married in 1790, but I think it was 1789. The land purchase was 8 months before the birth of his son, John in June 1790 in Bristol. Think he got married either in Williamstown or Clarksburg, MA...and Elihu Ketchum was living in Whiting at that time." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net] "Nancy, there does appear to be at least one pretty well documented entry for Elizabeth from 'Connie Karle, 3230 Joy Street, Selma, CA 93662 USA' that shows birth and death dates and locations as well as her marriage to Adam "Gillmore." The entry also includes information on both the parents of Adam and of Elizabeth." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Unless there is documented proof where the source came from, DAR will not accept LDS. I called some one in CA who was listed on the FS (LDS Family History Search site - http://www.familysearch.org/eng/search/frameset_search.asp) site. She was descended from the Levi Gilmore line (Adam's son.) She got the info from another source on the web and submitted it to LDS. Some info on familysearch is correct, others are not. Adam's pension papers read Gillmore, someplace the double L was dropped. I'll write Connie [Karle] and see what she has . . . The Elizabeth Ketchum buried at Clarksburg is the daughter of Epenetus Ketchum, Jr. [this Elizabeth Ketchum's brother] and wife Sara. She [the daughter of Epenetus Ketchum, Jr. and wife Sara] was a single school teacher from NY, born in 1818. I n 1831, Epenetus Jr and second wife, Amy, transferred land to [his daughter] Elizabeth. She couldn't be Epenetus Sr's daughter, Elizabeth, because he died in 1829. Even DAR in DC has the wrong Elizabeth in their records. I have the Clarksburg Historical Society write me a letter to go into Epenetus Ketchum, Sr file at DAR to explain there were TWO Elizabeth Ketchums. Actually, there were more . . . Epenetus Ketchum Sr's wife is also Elizabeth [Smith]. There were also a couple in Vermont and New York. Makes genealogy interesting when they all name their females the same name . . . Like Levi and Kelsey in the Gilmore family. The Ketchum family professionally traced the lineage and the 1765 birth date of Elizabeth [(Ketchum) Gilmore] is what the genealogist thought, also, but there is no will, baptism, or birth records so it's just family history." "My g-g-grandmother is Laura McQuivey, born 15 Nov 1812, Williston, VT, is the daughter of Silence and Nathaniel McQuivey. She married Epenetus Gilmore and both are buried at Freeborn, MN. The Gilmore is my mother's line. Laura's brother, Nathan, along with Silence are also buried in Freeborn. Nathan's grave has a tombstone, Silence is unmarked. Nathan shares a burial plot with my mom's older sister, Florence Gilmore. His sisters Julia and Jane are buried in Mower County, town of Austin, just a few miles from Freeborn. Epenetus' first wife was Laura's sister, Sally. Sally died and is buried in Ripton, Vermont. Sally and Epenetus had a son George, who stayed in Ripton. After George was an adult, Laura, her brothers and sisters, mother Silence, and their spouses all moved to Minnesota. It's interesting that you are from Wisconsin. Nathan, Laura's brother, lived in Montrose, Dane County, WI (1855 Census). Sister, Jane, married an Edwin Bassett, around 1855, also in Montrose, WI. I don't have any information to whether Epenetus and Laura lived in Wisconsin. In the 1860 census, they were still living in Ripton, Vermont. Do you have cited or sources on the marriage of Silence Littlefield to Nathaniel McQuivey? Also, is there any cited or sources on the birth of Nathaniel McQuivey and Laura McQuivey? If you have.....please, because Essex, Williston, and Pittsford town clerks don't have ANY records. In the emails with Peggy, the Caleb Hendee Memoirs have faded into unreadable, and a Cynthia Hendee transcribed but the information I have on both Nathan's and Nathaniel's wives doesn't agree with the following sources; Lee V Hendee Collection and two McQuivey articles in American Genealogist, one by Ada Chase and the other by Gerald J. Parson. I obtained the Lee V Hendee Collection from the Later Day Saints and copied the McQuivey/Hendee genealogy. There is also Hendee genealogy through New England Ancestor for a $50. search fee. Both are the memoirs of Deacon Hendee, written by General Caleb Hendee. The article, Nathan McQuivey of East Windsor, Conn, and West Springfield, MA, is written by Gerald J Parson, noted genealogist. He is somehow related through the Hendee's to the McQuivey line. Gerald Parson joined the Sons of the Revolution through the same ancestor, Nathan McQuivey. I was hoping to receive information from him, but he died in a couple years ago. On Friday, I did send everything I found into Daughters of American Revolution to be proofed, knowing that there are some gaps. I'm not sure they will approve. Both Nathan McQuivey and Daniel Littlefield are Revolutionary War patriots if I can find even a proof of marriage of Silence to Nathaniel. I've search the LDS Williston microfiche, but with no luck. Vermont was just a few years old when they got married and from the clerks responding, not very good records were kept in the early years, yet I do have Sally death record...but that was the first wife, not the second." "Nathaniel and Silence's daughter, Sally [McQuivey], married Epenetus Gilmore of Ripton [Addison County, Vermont]. Sally died and Epenetus married Sally's sister, Laura [McQuivey]. They [Epenetus and Laura Gilmore] had about six children. Around 1860, Epenetus and Laura moved to Freeborn, MN. Laura died in 1875, Epenetus in 1882. Both are buried at Freeborn [Minnesota]. Their son, Orville S. Gilmore was born in Ripton, VT. He married Jenny Leonard. Orville ran a grocery store in Freeborn, first called the Gilmore and Purdee Store, later called the Gilmore Store. After Orville retired, the store was operated by Ben Gilmore, Orville's nephew.

"I'm having a heck of a time proving Elizabeth [Ketchum] Gilmore, wife of Adam [Gilmore or Gillmore]. Their son, Epenetus [Gilmore], married both Sally and Laura McQuivey. Seems like both her [Elizabeth Ketchum] birth and baptism records were burnt, her death was not recorded, and she is probably buried in a family plot at Williston, Vermont. Looks like she died after the 1830 census, more than likely, late 1830- to 1831. Epenetus and Sally were married either 1830 or 31 and moved to Ripton, VT. Adam, the husband, moved to Ripton in 1832. The only info that I have on her death is his pension application in July 1832 saying, "since he resided alone he now lives in Ripton, VT." Vermont did not have to register deaths until 1920 and, from the town clerk, unless you were a friend of someone or someone important, you were not buried in the town cemetery. So much for Elizabeth Gilmore." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net] "Nancy, there does appear to be at least one pretty well documented entry for Elizabeth from 'Connie Karle, 3230 Joy Street, Selma, CA 93662 USA' that shows birth and death dates and locations as well as her marriage to Adam 'Gillmore.' The entry also includes information on both the parents of Adam and of Elizabeth." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Unless there is documented proof where the source came from, DAR will not accept LDS. I called some one in CA who was listed on the FS (LDS Family History Search site - http://www.familysearch.org/eng/search/frameset_search.asp) site. She was descended from the Levi Gilmore line (Adam's son.) She got the info from another source on the web and submitted it to LDS. Some info on familysearch is correct, others are not. Adam's pension papers read Gillmore, someplace the double L was dropped. I'll write Connie [Karle] and see what she has . . . The Elizabeth Ketchum buried at Clarksburg is the daughter of Epenetus Ketchum, Jr and wife Sara. She was a single school teacher from NY, born in 1818. In 1831, Epenetus Jr and second wife, Amy, transferred land to Elizabeth. She couldn't be Epenetus Sr's daughter, Elizabeth, because he died in 1829. Even DAR in DC has the wrong Elizabeth in their records. I have the Clarksburg Historical Society write me a letter to go into Epenetus Ketchum, Sr file at DAR to explain there were TWO Elizabeth Ketchums. Actually, there were more . . . Epenetus Ketchum Sr wife is also Elizabeth. There were also a couple in Vermont and New York. Makes genealogy interesting when they all name their females the same name . . . Like Levi and Kelsey in the Gilmore family. The Ketchum family professionally traced the lineage and the 1765 birth date of Elizabeth is what the genealogist thought, also, but there is no will, baptism, or birth records so it's just family history." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net] "Thank you for clearing this all up. When I find conflicting information on the LDS site, it often comes down to which I think has more complete information overall - if both match other information I already have. One of the reasons I am glad to share my research with others is that I profit from their input such as yours here." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

Obituary: "Julia Ann Ball was born in Ferrisburgh, Vermont, May 9, 1845 and died at Freeborn, Minnesota January 20, 1924; age 78 years, 8 months and 11 days. When she was seven years old her parents moved to Wisconsin and lived near Waupun. Her mother died when she was eleven years old, after which she never had a real home. She never attended school after she was fourteen years old. When she was eighteen years old she came to Freeborn to visit her sister, Mrs. David Scoville. Here she met Mr. Charles Scoville and they were united in marriage on March 15, 1864. After their marriage Mr. Scoville was in the army for a year during which time Mrs. Scoville returned to Wisconsin to care for her grandfather who died later. At the close of the war they returned to Minnesota and settled on a farm two miles west of Hartland. Here they resided until 1883 when they moved to Freeborn where their home has been since that time. Eight children were born to this union; Mrs. P. H. Fisk of Freeborn, Mrs. Page Guthrie of Lewiston, Idaho, Mrs. John X. Luther of Albert Lea, Mr. C. H. Scoville of San Benito, Texas and Mrs. Ansel Gilmore of Freeborn. Mr. Scoville died in 1912 and the youngest son, Donald, in 1910. Two sons also died in infancy. Mrs. Scoville was one of the 'old settlers' of Freeborn County. When she first came to Freeborn she rode from Owatonna in a wagon drawn by oxen. When they were married there was no minister nearer than Albert Lea and the wedding ceremony was performed by Mr. Fred Southwick, then a justice of the peace. She joined the Congregational church of Freeborn in 1874, the first year of its organization. She was of a generous disposition and was always doing something for and thinking of others. The last few years of her life were spent in feebleness and suffering. She is survived by fifteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren. The funeral was held at the Congregational church Wednesday, Jan. 23rd, Rev. F. L. Callender preaching the sermon.") Nathan's grave has a tombstone, Silence is unmarked. Nathan shares a burial plot with my mom's older sister, Florence Gilmore . . . Some of the things on the McQuivey website are wrong. My mother's sister was named Florence, but she died at age five or six. I think she had Downs, but no one fesses up that what she really had. My uncle said my grandmother didn't have enough to eat when she was pregnant. Anyway, on the McQuivey website, Silence Littlefield was born in Bridgewater, MA. This is in error. There were nine in the family and the last two or three children were born in Chesterfield, MA. I tried to use the McQuivey website in submitting to DAR, but again, no proof, so that site was rejected." [Nancy Legerski - nlegerski@bis.midco.net]

"My lineage is this: Rachel Hendee married Nathan McQuivey. Rachel died in MA, then he remarried an Ellsworth (I think Eleanor, but there is some debate whether it was her or her sister). Nathan and Eleanor moved to Williston, VT. Eleanor died then he married a third time, an Anne. I found Anne's death certificate, and supposedly Nathan is buried next to her in Williston. Their [Rachel and Nathan McQuivey] son, Nathaniel married Sally (or Sara) Hall in Pittsford, VT. They moved to Williston, VT. Sally died and he married Silence Littlefield. Nathaniel and Silence, sometime after Nathaniel's parents death, moved to Ripton, VT. Nathaniel and Silence's daughter, Sally, married Epenetus Gilmore of Ripton. Sally died and Epenetus married Sally's sister, Laura. They had about six children. Around 1860, Epenetus and Laura moved to Freeborn, MN. Laura died in 1875, Epenetus in 1882. Both are buried at Freeborn. Their son, Orville S Gilmore was born in Ripton, VT. He married Jenny Leonard. Orville ran a grocery store in Freeborn, first called the Gilmore and Purdee Store, later called the Gilmore Store. After Orville retired, the store was operated by Ben Gilmore, Orville's nephew. Orville's son, my grandfather, is Otis Gilmore. He married Gertrude Miller, Sept 1, 1909 at Freeborn. Otis ran a butcher shop in Freeborn. My mother is Abbie Gilmore, born 16 Feb, 1918. "My father's youngest sister, Martha, married Isaac Matson who was half brother to my mother. Her children were Isaac, Joshua, James, Martha, Nancy, Polly and Sally. Isaac is, if living, about ten months younger than myself. His father [Captain Isaac, Sr.] moved into the town in the early settlement. He was taken prisoner by the Indians in the Revolutionary War, was carried to Canada, and made to run the gauntlets and liked to have died with his wounds. He was a Captain some years but finally returned to his family in this town, where he lived until his death which happened many years since. He was a large man with black eyes and somewhat loquacious. His wife, my aunt, was a weakly woman and died some years before her husband, of consumption. Cousin Isaac Matson married and lived in this town some years, had several children, then moved to the North part of Pennsylvania, near Sugar Creek, and I understand has since moved into the State of New York, in or near the Holland Purchase. His brother James Matson married a sister of Deacon [Ithrel] Barnes of this town; he and his brother Isaac owned the farm where Col. Hammond now lives. They sold to Hammond and moved together to Pennsylvania. Joshua Matson died when a child while his father was in captivity. Martha Matson was the next younger than Isaac; she married Levi Preston, son of Deacon Preston, and now lives in Pennsylvania near Sugar Creek. Nancy Matson married a man by the name of Crandy in Sudsbury this state, but soon after died of consumption, without children. Polly Matson married Abither Boyce in this town, who soon moved to Upper Canada, near the town of Bartard, or in the same where she now lives. She has several children. Her husband is more a rogue than a fool, and we hear that he has lately been taken in the State of New York and consigned to the state prison for some of his misdeeds. Sally Matson married a Mr. Whiting this state, by whom she had seven children or eight children, one or two I believe were married. Her husband died some years since." [nephew, Gen. Caleb Hendee, Jr., manuscripts (1827-1854), pg. 3-4]

"Isaac Matson was the son of Isaac Matson who married Amy Holiday and resided some time in or near Windsor, Conn. Two children were the result of this marriage, viz.: Isaac and Amy. Isaac married Martha [Hendee], daughter of Jonathan Hendee, in 1767, and seven children were the result of this marriage, viz.: Isaac, Joshua, James, Martha, Nancy, Polly and Sally. This family came to Pittsford, in 1774, and resided for a short time on the west side of the Creek; afterwards Mr. Matson bought of Samuel Ellsworth what is now the north part of the farm owned by Isaac C. Wheaton, then known as the Ward place. ([General Caleb] Hendee's MS [manuscript])." "It does not appear that any considerable body of the enemy invaded Vermont during the summer [of 1780]; but the frontier towns were exposed to sudden irruptions of small parties of Indians and Tories and rumors of their depredations kept the people in a continual state of alarm. In July one of these marauding parties visited Pittsford, took Isaac Matson prisoner and carried him to Canada, where he was compelled to run the gantlet, receiving wounds which nearly proved fatal. . . Isaac Matson, after being held a prisoner in Canada over two years was released, and returned to his family in Pittsford. During his captivity one of his sons, Joshua, had died, and the family were in mourning, not only for him, but also for the father who they supposed was likewise dead. Early in October the enemy, about one thousand strong, under the command of Maj. Carlton, came up the lake, took Fort Ann, with its garrison of about fifty men, and then proceeded to Fort George* which was also compelled to surrender. On their way to Fort George they had laid waste the country; and they now kept up indications of making further advances. This invasion created great alarm, and the militia of Vermont were called out and ordered to rendezvous at Castleton, under the command of Ethan Allen. Capt. Cooley of Pittsford received this order on the 11th, and the next day he was at Castleton with his men." "Richard Hendee was one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Connecticut, in 1660. A tract of land was granted to him, Josiah Reed and Richard Welles, both of Leffing's Neck. He had an early allotment near the town plot, and shared in the first division of land, but it is not known that he ever lived in Norwich. In 1660-61 he worked on vessels at New London, Connecticut, and Newport, Rhode Island, and was evidently a ship carpenter by trade. Four or five years later [1664-1666] he was proprietor of a mill built by John Elderkin, on the Menunkatesuck river, at Killingworth. This mill at Killingworth, and fifty acres of land on Westward Hill, Norwich, were among his assets in the inventory of his [Richard Hendee] estate. In [1670] the townsmen of Norwich directed that the children of Richard Hendee should have a share in the division of common lands as equal proprietors. He married Hannah, daughter of John Elderkin, who was guardian of their three children: Jonathan, Richard and Hannah Hendee. [Ensign] Richard Hendee, born Bet. 1665 - 1667 in Windham, CT; died 06 Feb 1742/43 in Windham, CT. He was the son of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin. He married Elizabeth Conant 17 Oct 1695 in Windham, CT. Elizabeth Conant, born Bef. 29 Jul 1677 in Beverly, MA; died 23 Sep 1762 in Norwich, New London, CT. She was the daughter of Exercise Conant, Lieut and Sarah Andrews. Hannah Hendee b. 14 Jan 1665 New London, New London County, Connecticut, New England m. Samuel Belding 14 Jan 1685 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut by Capt. Sam Talcott d. 20 Jan 1742 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut Jonathan Hendee b. 1663 Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut, New England d. 1688 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut. It would have seem unlikely that the Richard Hendee born about 1611 would have married in 1661 at the age of 50 years, have three children in the next 5-6 years and then die in 1670. It would seem more likely that it was the Richard Hendee who worked in New London and Killingworth (the birthplaces of two of the children) and who had them after his marriage in 1661 to Hannah Elderkin, after which he died about 1670 3-4 years after their last child. This would seem to point more to the Richard Hendee born about 1631 as the father of Ensign Richard Hendee. Richard Hendee, born 1630 in Killingworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut; died in Killingworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut. He married Hannah Elderkin 1664[1661?] in Killingsworth, Middlesex County, CT. Hannah Elderkin, born 17 May 1634 in Dedham, Norfolk, Massachusetts; She was the daughter of John Elderkin and Abigail Perh Kingsland. Children of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin are: i. Hannah Hendee, born 14 Jul 1665; married Samuel Belden 14 Jan 1684/85; born 03 Jan 1664/65 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT; died 27 Dec 1738 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT.; ii. "I do have a book called Saints and Strangers and it lists all the people who came over on the first ships. My other ancestors the Conants also came on the Anne which was the boat right after the Mayflower. I will try to dig that out and see what I can find on the Hendees." [Sharon Mach - machfam@cyberlynx.ak.net] "I did not find anything on Handy or Hendee or any other name variation in the Saints and Strangers book. The ships listed in this book came over [to America] from 1620 to 1630. There is a ship The "TALBOT" that came in 1629 "arriving Salem, July 29th, with company of servants for Plymouth, being 35 persons. None of this group can be identified. (Perhaps they were on this ship??) The Hendees are also not listed in the History of Duxbury, Mass where alot of the Plymouth people went. I do have a book of Vital Records for Connecticut and will see if I can find anything in there." [Sharon Mach - machfam@cyberlynx.ak.net]

"From selling socks to insurance: Lucius J. Hendee - One of the aspects of my job that I truly enjoy is the unpredictable nature of the materials I work with. The other day I was skimming through the Hendee Family correspondence (Ms 69688). Though in a relatively new box, the folders were old, and I knew it had been some time since the collection was processed. Whoever started processing had also not finished. As I skimmed through the unprocessed portion, I learned bits and pieces about Lucius J. Hendee's life and career. A resident of Hebron, Connecticut, he worked with Abner Hendee [uncle of Lucius J. Hendee] until Abner's death." [Letter from E. Ripley, Aetna Insurance Co., 1861, Hendee Family papers, Ms 69688. Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, CT]

The letter was written to Caleb Hendee, Esq Pittsford, Vermont . . . Abner was born 1779, married but had no children – he died 8 July 1852. [Lee W. Hendee letter of 17 Feb 1927; Mary (McMullen) Labatt - marande86@aol.com] BODY OF LETTER: "Hebron June 15th 1834, Dear Sir, Since the receipt of yours 26th May [1834] I have been to the late residence of my father [Eliphalet Hendee] which is now occupied by my brother and sister, a house now 50 years of age. They both say that they have often heard my father say, that Jonathan Hendee the oldest of his uncles & was left with his mother's friends after he came of age came to Connecticut & lived with his father in Windham and afterwards came with my grandfather Asa to Coventry & lived with him some years—when having a family he left him. My brother says he left school about 30 years since at Ellington & the old people there used to tell him the names of the family of Hendees who resided there many years since & some of the names he thinks corresponded with those in your letter & I have no doubts they were some of your ancestors. I think you are mistaken in supposing that our ancestors came to Plymouth at the first landing of the pilgrims. Here (?) I have seen a book containing the history of the first ships and passengers who landed there & names of them all (the Book is now in the neighbourhood) but there are none of our names among them. My father always told me they first came to Boston about the first settlement of that town. I found a small bag of papers at home left by my grandmother who died at my fathers 40 years since. Among the papers I find a record of the birth of all her children even to the day & time of the day they were born. I also found the original deeds of the land he bought. I also found a deed given by Richard Hendee at Windham about 100 years since & I also found a deed given by Richard Hendee at Windham about 100 years since & have inclosed it to you as a relic of the family which please accept from me. In the year 1831 I had a Letter from Cyrus Hendee dated at South Chili New York giving an act (account?) of my uncle Asa Hendees family, among other things he says his oldest brother Asa lived in the state of Vermont in the town of Lownd (Lowndad?). Perhaps you know him. He must be about 54 years of age. Among other things this Cyrus informed me that he had changed his name to Handy because he had in that country found many who belonged to our [family] who had done the same among others he said his father's cousin Barzilla had done the same. I reproved him for breaking down the ancient landmark of spelling the name as that would loose all trace of name & family. My sister [Mary Hendee] told me that one of my Grand father's brothers she had understood settled in Randolph or Royalton & that his descendants now lived there of this perhaps you know more than I do. Repeating my position I have always been a Jeffersonian Republican from my earliest days & have in many things supported Jackson's administration. But I am decidedly in favor of a National Bank [which President Andrew Jackson was doing his best at the time to abolish] & against the removal of the deposits as I think it [is] destroying the confidence of the community in our moneyed institution & will insure the recharter of the presinct Bank without that care which ought to be exercised in making a Charter for such an institution. I am not a Mason, but I do dispise this _____tive antimasonry more than any party that ever yet inflicted this Country & regret that Gov. Palmer who was a native of this town & a man with whom I am well acquainted put himself to the head of such if he could have become Governor of this state by that means. I shall be pleased to correspond with you whenever your convenience will permit & when you again write your son at Louisville be pleased to make my respects to him. Yours truly, Abner Hendee." "From selling socks to insurance: Lucius J. Hendee - One of the aspects of my job that I truly enjoy is the unpredictable nature of the materials I work with. The other day I was skimming through the Hendee Family correspondence (Ms 69688). Though in a relatively new box, the folders were old, and I knew it had been some time since the collection was processed. Whoever started processing had also not finished. As I skimmed through the unprocessed portion, I learned bits and pieces about Lucius J. Hendee's life and career. A resident of Hebron, Connecticut, he worked with Abner Hendee [uncle of Lucius J. Hendee] until Abner's death; was interested in politics; and for some time worked as a merchant, selling items such as wool socks. The 1850 census confirmed that [Lucius J.] Hendee was a merchant in Hebron. According to the 1870 Federal Census, though, he lived in Hartford and was the President of Aetna Fire Insurance Company. Hendee was not a name I recognized, and from what I had seen, there was little indication that this man would have gone from selling socks to leading an insurance company. However, he did (from the 1870 Federa Census!). A Google search led me to an August 1888 New York Times article about Hendee's failing health. I then searched the Hartford Courant and found his obituary, printed on September 5, 1888. The scattered information I had about Hendee's life became more coherent. Lucius J. Hendee was born in Andover, Connecticut in 1818. He worked with his uncle, Abner Hendee, an insurance agent for Aetna. According to the Courant, Lucius Hendee's "faithfulness and success in the discharge of his duties in this agency attracted the attention of the officers of the company, and in 1861, when the secretaryship of the Aetna became vacant, he was elected to fill that responsible position." Five years later he became Aetna's president (both papers also mention that Hendee served in the Connecticut Senate and as Treasurer under Governor William A. Buckingham). I never cease to be amazed how a few minutes of research can alter the value I place on a single sheet of paper."

"DOCUMENTS - The Hendee Family file (MS 69688): The Hendee Family file (MS 69688) is in the collections of the Connecticut Historical Society (CHS). My impression is that this file is all or mainly from the Lucius Justin Hendee family (Lucius Justin was President of the Aetna Fire Insurance Co. from 1850-1888). I'm mainly interested if the file contains information about the Connecticut Hendees in the colonial era prior to Deacon Caleb's exodus to Vermont. There are roughly 606 individual documents in the Hendee Family Papers (Ms 69688), many of which are double-sided or contain multiple pages. As far as hiring someone to scan the material, we would be the only repository to do so, since the collection is in our possession. Providing scans of the material would at least be $600, and at least 2 months to complete." [Derek Stafford - stafford_derek@att.net]

"In response to my TRANSCRIPTIONS – Deeds; I have obtained copies of several deeds regarding property in Killingworth, CT. Copies are attached: 1. Original town grant to Richard Hendy of nine parcels (I have most of this deed but am awaiting the top most part that I believe/hope specifies that the land is being granted to "Richard Hendy"); 2. Original town grant to John Elderkin of five parcels including for Mill; 3. A 1706 deed, regarding "all those lands formerly sold by John Elderkin and Hannah Hendy Relict [widow] to Richard Hendy deceased" referencing a 1672 Deed to Thomas Stevens. I have started transcribing these handwritten deeds into a WORD document. It is tedious work. I'm hoping that each of you could lend a hand to help with this. I'd start by completing an initial draft in WORD, then send the project on to

"Abner, eldest child of Lucius Justin and Adeline Eliza (Whitmore) Hendee, was born in Hebron, Connecticut, December 15, 1853. He obtained his early education in the public schools there and in Hartford. He then entered the grain office of Smith, Northam & Robinson, of Hartford, where he learned the first lessons of business experience, not only in the office of the firm, but on the road as traveling salesman, where he came in contact with business men of wide knowledge and acute discernment. To a large extent his marked success in his wisely chosen field of endeavor is attributable to the experience thus early obtained in his business career. It was while thus employed that he met Mr. David B. Crittenden, with whom he was closely associated as a partner in business for more than a decade. Mr. Hendee came to New Haven, and July 1, 1879, the firm of D. B. Crittenden & Company was formed for the conduct of an extensive grain business, and which was dissolved by the death of Mr. Crittenden, May 1, 1890. Since that time Mr. Hendee has continued in the business under his own name. While associated with Mr. Crittenden, Mr. Hendee devoted his attention almost exclusively to the distribution of their goods in carload lots. In 1895, in order to meet the demands of his constantly expanding business, he opened up a large wholesale establishment in New York City, with offices at 16 Broad street, where he conducts an extensive business, employing many salesmen who cover the fields of New Jersey, part of New York, Connecticut, and the east. In New-Haven Mr. Hendee ranks among the leading business men of the city. He is a director of the Yale National Bank of New Haven, a member of the Union League Club, the Young Men's Republican Club, and Trinity Church, all of New Haven. In politics he is a Republican. In matters of public concern he takes a deep interest, and contributes freely, not only of his time, but financially, to the upbuilding of the city and its business interests, and is ever ready to aid the unfortunate poor. Mr. Hendee married (first) Louise H. King, who died in New Haven, Connecticut. One child was born to them, Mary Vail, who married Chauncey- Rice, of Yale College. Mr. Hendee married (second) Nellie Elizabeth Green, and they have one son, Lucius Justin Hendee. Mr. Hendee's residence on Whitney avenue.  Cyrus Hendee (Handy) b. 1 MAY 1785 Bolton, Tolland County, Connecticut, USA Residence: South Chili, New York (1831) [LDS Family History Search - http://www.familysearch.org/ENG/Search/frameset_search.asp] "My father always told me they first came to Boston about the first settlement of that town. I found a small bag of papers at home left by my grandmother who died at my fathers 40 years since. Among the papers I find a record of the birth of all her children even to the day & time of the day they were born. I also found the original deeds of the land he bought. I also found a deed given by Richard Hendee at Windham about 100 years since & I also found a deed given by Richard Hendee at Windham about 100 years since & I also found a deed given by Richard Hendee at Windham about 100 years since & have inclosed it to you as a relic of the family which please accept from me. In the year 1831 I had a Letter from Cyrus Hendee dated at South Chili New York giving an act (account?) of my uncle Asa Hendees family, among other things he says his oldest brother Asa lived in the state of Vermont in the town of Lowndal (Lownd?). Perhaps you know him. He must be about 54 years of age. Among other things this Cyrus informed me that he had changed his name to Handy because he had in that country found many who belonged to our [family] who had done the same among others he said his father's cousin Barzilla had done the same. I reproved him for breaking down the ancient landmark of spelling the name as that would loose all trace of name & family. My sister [Mary Hendee] told me that one of my Grand father's brothers she had understood settled in Randolph or Royalton & that his descendants now lived there of this perhaps you know more than I do." Nettie R. Carey b. abt 1867/68 in Colrain, Franklin County, Massachusetts, USA m. John Heenan CAREY 13 May 1885 Halifax, Windham County, Vermont d. 8 Jul 1915 "I have finally resolved the following mysteries concerning the family of John Heenan CAREY and Nettie CAREY:

- 1)• the name of Nettie CAREY's husband is John Heenan CAREY
- 2)• the names of John Heenan CAREY's parents are Zina CAREY and Cynthia Almira PLUMB
- 3)• When Nettie's children provided different maiden names for their mother Nettie and grandmother Lydia they were incorrect. I think they were confused by their own family history.

(You will find this information under Nettie's birth, marriage and John Heenan's birth)

Given all of the above, I conclude that:

1. Nettie CAREY married her own uncle
2. Nettie CAREY and John Henan CAREY were married less than three months before the birth of Alice, their first child.
3. Nettie CAREY nearly a child when she got pregnant. She got pregnant with Alice on 28 Oct 1884 (using the standard 40 weeks). If Nettie was born Jan 1868 as claimed by Carol, then she was age 16 and 9 months at the time.

Here is the story as best I can figure: John Heenan CAREY got his brother Daniel's daughter Nettie pregnant when she was only 16 (and old enough give consent by Vermont law today). He then waited until she was 6½ months pregnant before he married her. He fathered as many as 11 children with her. Nettie died early, in 1917, cause unknown (cannot rule out childbirth). John Henan was left with five children under 18 (the youngest being 7) and several adult children. John Henan went onto live a long life dying in 1953 at the age of 93. I do not know if he remarried. If not, he was a widower for 36 years. That would be a first in my 4000 person database. What I would like to know is did Nettie give her consent or was she raped? I think that is a real possibility given her young age, children are most likely to be abused by family members, and John's delay in marrying Nettie. Also, it is even more likely that Nettie was sexually abused as a child because it seems unlikely that Nettie got pregnant when she lost her virginity. Statistically, it seems more likely that John Heenan and Nettie had had a sexual relationship before she got pregnant. If they had such a relationship for more than nine months, then John would have committed statutory rape if that law existed in 1884. That Nettie CAREY married her uncle is supported by a 1983 letter that family member Marion Hodgdon wrote to Beatrice Lange (259) in which she says: "John Heenan CAREY born 4/15/1860 married Nettie CAREY, she were his niece, she was Dan CAREY's daughter." Stoughton (760) says they were married 22 Apr 1868." [The Stoughton Family of Gill, Massachusetts, Author: Ralph M. Stoughton, Publication: By author, 1954, Carey Section, Page 6; Guilford Marriage Register, Author: Guilford Town Clerk, Publication: 1868; Marriage record for Nettie carey and J.H. Carey - 13 May 1885, Author: Halifax Town Clerk (available through State of Vermont, Public Records Division) Publication: 4 Aug 2000, Quality: 2]

"Nettie's daughter's children often incorrectly recorded Nettie's maiden name on various documents. It was CARPENTER according to her daughter Gertrude's Social Security application (38). It was BURROUGHS according to her daughter Gertrude's marriage license (256). It was BORRIS according to her husband John CAREY's obit (317) - no doubt writing from info provided by one of the children. The following supports my claim that Nettie's maiden name was CAREY: 1)• Her name is Nettie CAREY according to her marriage record (350). 2)• My explanation for why Nettie's children do not say her name was Nettie CAREY, I again contend that they simply do not know their family history. This is why Instead of saying their mother was born Nettie CAREY, they confuse her with their grandmother Lydia CARPENTER, their 2nd great grandmother Olive BURROWS (from which they created Burroughs" and "Borris." Their brother Frank CAREY named his father's mother as Lydia PLUMB, confusing her with his maternal grandmother Lydia Carpenter."

"Although Stoughton's History of Gill claims Nettie C. CAREY married Josiah H. Carey (born 1849) in Vernon (unconfirmed), the following evidence proves that she married John Heenan CAREY in Halifax:

- 1) The bride's marriage record (350) and the groom's marriage record (769) show Nettie CAREY married "J.H. CAREY" on 13 May 1885 in Halifax, Windham, VT. These records are on file at the Halifax Town Clerk. They are NOT on file in Vernon. Stoughton provides no evidence to support his claim.
- 2) Birth records for children Florence (770), John (771), and Bertha (772) refer to the father as John H. CAREY.
- 3) Marriage records for J. H. CAREY and death records for John Heenan CAREY prove he was born in 1860 (759, 815, 259). Josiah H. CAREY was born in 1849 (760)."

He died April 10th, 1738. His will, written Jan'y 12, 1736-7, proved April, 1738, mentions his wife Sarah; son Edward, heirs of son Thomas; grandson Benjamin Bond, son of daughter Mary; daughter Hannah, wife of James Leland; daughter Sarah, wife of Isaac Kendall; daughter Elizabeth, wife of Timothy Leland; daughter Tabitha Dewing's heirs; daughter Abigail; daughter Thankful; daughter Bathsbeba, wife of Josiah Hendee. Edward was executor. No mention is made of a widow in the administration papers. His wife seems to have died a few days after the will was executed. Dr. Bond says she survived her husband; perhaps his reason for this statement is because she is named in the will. His second wife was a dau. of Capt. Edward Wright of Sudbury, and with others released her rights in her father's estate to her brother Samuel. ["June 15, 1708 Rec. of Deeds Midd. "Josiah HENDEE was born on 6 Mar 1702 in Windham, Windham, CT. He died on 18 Jan 1766 at the age 63 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He was buried in Jan 1766 in Old Ashford Cemetery, Ashford, Windham, CT. Josiah was born in Windham, CT and then moved to Ashford, CT where he married Bathsbeba Larned, or Learned. All seven of their children were born in Ashford. Josiah may have remarried after Bathsbeba died in 1759. There is a record of a marriage between Josiah Hendee and Kesiah Mason on Mar. 5, 1760 in the Ashford vital records of the Barbour collection. There are no births listed for Josiah and Kesiah as parents in Ashford. According to an Averell genealogy book, only Caleb, Sarah and Elizabeth survived Josiah. Or at least they were the only ones mentioned in his will. Sarah was married to Stephen Averell and Elizabeth was married to David Martin. The transcription of he and his wife's tombstones from the Old Ashford Cemetery reads as follows: "Hendee, Bathsbeba, wife of Josiah, died Oct. 25, 1759, age 51 Hendee, Josiah, died Jan. 18, 1766, age 64" Josiah HENDEE and Bathsbeba LEARNED were married on 9 Jan 1729 in Ashford, Windham, CT. "Caleb HENDEE (Josiah-1) was born on 29 Nov 1730 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He died on 13 May 1814 at the age of 83 in Connecticut. He was buried in May 1814 in South Cemetery, Ashford, Windham, CT. Caleb served in the military in Capt Dana's Company in Connecticut.13 "Hendee, Caleb, Sergeant in Capt James Dana's Company in Gen. Waterbury's State Brigade. Hired by Ashford. Joined May 21. Promoted to Ensign. Aug. 19. Hendee, Caleb, Jr. Ensign in Provisional Regiment. Residence Ashford." Caleb Hendee was born and was married in Ashford, CT according to the Barbour vital records for Ashford. He and his wife, Hannah Holmes, had eight children in Ashford. The 1790 census records shows Caleb Hende's household in Ashford with two males over 16 and two females. All of their children were over 20 by 1790 – I have not done the research to determine how many survived until 1790. In 1800, the census for Ashford shows the Caleb Hendy household with 1 male over 45, 1 female between 10 and 16, and 1 female over 45. This could support the fact that he remarried, or it could be that other relatives were living with him. Caleb Hendy, Jr. is also listed on this census right above his father on the page. John Hendy, another son, is listed just below his father. The obituary for Caleb Hendee in a Windham County, CT newspaper says that he died in May, 1814, at the age of 85. The tombstone inscription for the Caleb Hendee who died on May 13, 1814 says: "Hendee, Sgt. Caleb, died March 13, 1814, age 85, Revolutionary War, Capt. Dana's Co., flag" His wife's tombstone, from the same South Cemetery records in Ashford, CT, says: "Hendee, Hannah, relict of Capt. Caleb, died Dec. 21, 1819, age 88" Caleb HENDEE and Hannah HOLMES were married on 1 Jan 1752 in Ashford, Windham, CT. Hannah HOLMES was born about 1731. She died on 21 Dec 1819 at the age of 88 in Ashford, Windham, CT. She was buried in Dec 1819 in South Cemetery, Ashford, Windham, CT." "Josiah HENDEE (Caleb-2, Josiah-1) was born on 25 Jan 1753 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He died after 1810 at the age of 57[?]. There is an 1810 census record in Hampton, CT for a Josiah Hendee listing one male over 45, one male between 10 and 16, and three females over 45. There is a good possibility that this is the same Josiah Hendee who moved to New Hampshire, although it is certainly not proven. Josiah Hendee, born and married twice in Ashford, CT, moved to New Hampshire with at least some of his family. His son, Stephen Hendee, moved from Keen, NH to West Bloomfield, NY in 1811 according to his tombstone. In 1800, Josiah's household was listed in the census for Surry Twp, Cheshire Co, New Hampshire. At that time there were 2 males under 10, 1 between 10 and 16, one between 16 and 25 and one over 45. This could correspond to Josiah's four youngest sons and himself: Amasa (3), Daniel (8), Stephen (14), William (16), Josiah (47). There was also 1 female between 16 and 25 and one between 25 and 45. The latter would have been his [second] wife, Hepzibah, age 43."

"I have a copy of the SMITH Cemetery, Pleasant Twp.,Sec. 14, Fulton Co., Illinois complete list of stones. I was there 3 years ago to see my grandfather's grave (Thomas Jesse RAUCH 1874-1914) and my ggrandfather and ggrandmother's graves (Lewis (Ludwig) RAUCH b. 9 Jun 1833 Marburg, Germany and Tilitha Eliza SMITH RAUCH 14 Feb 1841-1 May 1915). I believe that all the graves there are related and have made the connection to over 100 of the 150 graves. It is south west of Lewistown. I went to Lewistown to see the hotel that was owned and run by my grandfathers two half brothers and found that it burned about 5-7 years ago. I came out of Ipava (where I still have relatives) 3 miles east on Rt 136, south on Branson School Rd. one mile and then .1 mile to right and graveyard on the right. In the list of graves is: Josiah HENDEE b.4 Nov 1822 d. 15 May 1899 h/o [husband of] Mary. I saw the grave there in the SMITH Cemetery built by my gggrandfather, Arthur SMITH. My family is from that town and in my collection is a wonderful old photograph I would love to return to the descendents. The photo I have is of Sarah Rosella Hendee. I attached the photo of Sarah and you can see she is older. She died in the mental hospital in 1959. Debra and I suspect it was likely dementia. The grandson wrote in a note that he only met her once, they picked her up from the mental hospital and took her for a ride in their car on their way on a vacation to California. Please feel free to share the digital scan with whomever think will appreciate it. If the g-grandson doesn't get back to me within a few days, I'll write again and get your address to send you the original." [Delaine Shirley-Noyer - delainen@sbcglobal.net]

On the second visit, she'd been in Bartonville for a number of years and the yard was overgrown. The house was locked, and I climbed on the porch and went in the 2d floor window to unlock the door. There was an outhouse (a 2-holer), a big hand-pump for water in the back, and a hand pump for water in the kitchen. The ice box was a real ice box. It was like a jewel of an antique store inside. Grandma Jacobus was a neat person and I wish I'd known her better. I attach a brief overview and a photo of Grandma Jacobus. The photo says she was born in 1954. I question that. "The Fitzgerald connection comes through the marriages of Myrt's mother, Mahala Minerva "Haley" Stufflebeam Freeman. Haley, my Great, Great Grandmother, was born October 10, 1860, in St. David, Fulton County, Illinois, and died on June 19, 1903 in Buckheart Twp, Fulton, Illinois. Haley's gravestone is at <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=67019582>. Haley's parents were John and Sarah Ellers Stufflebeam. As for the strange last name, according to one source, "it appears to be an Americanized form of German Stoppelbein or its variant Stupfelbein, probably a nickname for a person with a stump leg, from Middle High German stufel() 'stubble', 'stump', + bein 'leg', 'bone'". . . Haley's original married name was Fitzgerald. Her first husband was Charles Henry Fitzgerald, (1857-1929). Haley was married in 1879 to Charles H. Fitzgerald in Fulton County, Ill. Evidently, Charles H. Fitzgerald took off with another woman, leaving young Haley and her young two children, Charles H. Fitzgerald and Emma G. to live with the Stufflebeams. Abandoned with two young children, Haley subsequently married Calvin Freeman. Charles H. Fitzgerald became Charles H. Fitzgerald Freeman as a result of Haley's marriage to Calvin Freeman. As of the 1900 Census, Haley was the head of the household, living with her were her daughter Myrt, Myrt's husband Charles H. Freeman, and Charles Ivan (my grandfather). The 1880 Census lists Haley as having been widowed. http://search.ancestry.com/cgi-bin/ss.e.dll?did=17&pidlist=6742-21086857_6742-21086857_6061-64287931_6742-46666999_6742-46666999_7884-105513641_7884-105513641&o_iid=39552&o_lid=39552&o_sch=Web+Proper+ty&gss=angs&pcat=ROOT_CATEGORY&h=21086857&db=1880usfedcen&indiv=1Evidently this is incorrect." [John Freeman - jfreemanusc@gmail.com]

"A cousin who has studied the family tree, Joan Freeman McFadden, Tink's daughter, has told me: 'Charles Fitzgerald was considered a really bad guy by my grandfather. [Who was Charles H. Fitzgerald Freeman, Myrt's husband.] He never wanted to talk about him, but my Dad (your Uncle Tink) [see photo above] called him a skunk for abandoning his family and running away with another woman. So, when Haley Stufflebeam Fitzgerald met Mr. Freeman, Grandpa and Aunt Delia took the Freeman name. There was no family getting killed, etc.' [Joan Freeman McFadden - jmm613@cox.net] In any event, Haley had two children. Charles Henry Fitzgerald Freeman, my Great, Great Grandfather, see above, and Cordelia Fitzgerald Freeman McArthur, (1879-1967) (whom I knew as "Aunt Delie." Charles Henry Fitzgerald Freeman married Myrt, and they produced Charles Ivan (my Grandfather), Uncle Tink and Uncle John. None of the foregoing was really clear to me until the last few days, mainly thanks to Joan Freeman McFadden." [John Freeman - jfreemanusc@gmail.com]

"Here is a photo [see Hendee Family Photos] of Alta Myrtle "Myrt" Ford Freeman (my Great Grandmother Freeman) with her son, Henry "Tink" Morrell Freeman (My Uncle - Actually Great Uncle) "Tink", submitted by Joan Freeman McFadden (A cousin; her father, Tink, was the brother of my grandfather, Charles Ivan Fitzgerald Freeman). Myrt's mother was Deborah "Debbie" Wilcoxon Ford. Myrt's gravestone is at <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=71520493> Myrt married a man named Charles Henry Fitzgerald Freeman, who was my paternal Great Grandfather. His gravestone is at <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=71519865> Myrt's husband Charles Henry Fitzgerald Freeman, was born on July 1, 1877, and died August 11, 1956. "Their [Alta Myrtle and Charles Henry Fitzgerald] children were: Charles Ivan Freeman (1900 - 1979) (my grandfather) whose gravestone is at <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=71686020>, Henry Morrell Freeman (1909 - 1988) (Uncle Tink) (gravestone at <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=gr&GRid=71720191>), and John Ford Freeman (1915 - 1977) (my Uncle John) . . . "My family is from Illinois. My mother was Carlene [she later spelled it Karlene] Scott Freeman. She married Corwin Stuart Freeman in 1944. Her mother was Theresa Godsil; her father was Carl Scott. Both hailed from Galesburg. They lived on Birch St. in Canton IL. You can learn about the Scotts easily because of John Wilson Scott who fought in the Battle of Kings Mountain. There is a ton of stuff about him on the web, since he was a Patriot. It would help me point you to the correct pages in the document as well as contribute to it for others if you could send me what you know about your Josiah Hendee and his descendants down to and including yourself. Things like birth, marriage, death and burial places and dates, spouses names with the same information, children, occupations, etc. I also love to include interesting or humorous family stories that have been passed down in my document. (One of my relatives once walked 17 miles in the snow in western Minnesota to trade a beaver pelt for a stamp so he could mail a letter.) You may not know much, but I would be interested in anything you have. I will add it to my document and then send you an updated copy." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"Dear Dave, It's been several months since I wrote you about the old photo of Jacobus. Day before Yesterday, I stopped by my a new-found relative in Fresno, California to return some photo originals my mom had in her collection and the wife of my cousin had done quite a bit of family research and low and behold, there it was, I am descended from the Jacobus family!--which explains the photo I have. I have not even had time to wrap my head around this new discovery, but I knew you had said you have quite a bit of information about these folks from Illinois. So I thought I would start with you first (why reinvent the wheel, lol!) So here's what I know--(I don't know how this connects with the gal in the photo)

I was there 3 years ago to see my grandfather's grave (Thomas Jesse RAUCH 1874-1914) and my ggrandfather and ggrandmother's graves (Ludwig (Ludwig) RAUCH b. 9 Jun 1833 Marburg, Germany and Tilitha Eliza SMITH RAUCH 14 Feb 1841-1 May 1915). I believe that all the graves there are related and have made the connection to over 100 of the 150 graves. It is south west of Lewistown. I went to Lewistown to see the hotel that was owned and run by my grandfathers two half brothers and found that it burned about 5-7 years ago. I came out of Ipava (where I still have relatives) 3 miles east on Rt 136, south on Branson School Rd. one mile and then .1 mile to right and graveyard on the right. In the list of graves is: Josiah HENDEE b.4 Nov 1822 d. 15 May 1899 h/o [husband of] Mary. I saw the grave there in the SMITH Cemetery built by my ggrandfather, Arthur SMITH. Frank: b. 17 Feb 1856 Fulton County, Illinois, USA Occupation: farmer; stock-raising Public Service: County Board of Supervisors Parents: Henry Clary (b. 1824 Kentucky, USA) and Sarah E. Davis (b. 1830 Kentucky, USA)

"Franklin Clary. Fulton County is justly proud of her native born citizens, who are honorably bearing their share in sustaining her interests and extending her wealth. Among these is the subject of this biographical review, who is chiefly engaged in stock-raising in Deerfield Township, and is one of its most progressive and enlightened farmers. The parents of our subject were among the pioneers of Fulton County, coming here in 1848. His father, Henry Clary, was born in Kentucky in 1824. His mother, Sarah E. (Davis) Clary, was born in that State in 1830. After coming here they located in Lewistown Township, where they lived about ten years. They then removed to Woodland Township, where the father died in 1868, thus depriving his community of a good citizen. The mother is still living there. Mr. Clary was born in this county, February 17, 1856. He has four brothers and five sisters living. He was reared and educated in this county, obtaining his schooling in the district schools. He remained an inmate of the parental home till the age of twenty-three years, when he married Ida M. Hendee; their marriage taking place February 1, 1880. Mrs. Clary was born in Texas, March 19, 1858. She is the daughter of Josiah and Mary (Watkins) Hendee, natives respectively of Connecticut and Kentucky. Our subject and his wife began their wedded life on land rented from William Craig. Mr. Clary farmed that place for two years, and at the end of that time bought eighty acres of land on section 10, Deerfield Township, where he has resided ever since. He has greatly improved his farm and added to its value, by tiling, building fences, barns, etc., and has here a fine looking place. His principal business is stock-raising, he having his farm well stocked and is doing a profitable business in that line. As a young man of clear, well-balanced mind, with a good insight into business matters, and much capability, our subject is considered to be well adapted to public life, and last year was elected by his fellow citizens to a position on the County Board of Supervisors by a very large majority. He is an ardent Democrat in his political views and uses his influence to advance party interests. He is not a member of any church but is a liberal contributor to religious organizations, as his wife is a devoted member of the Christian Church. They have one of the coziest of homes and to them has come a little daughter, Mabel, born April 24, 1890. "Alva HENDEE (Josiah-3, Caleb-2, Josiah-1) was born on 9 May 1781 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He was buried in Feb 1851 in Palmyra Village Cemetery, Palmyra, Ontario, NY. He died on 26 Feb 1851 at the age of 69 in Palmyra, Ontario, NY. From the book, Palmyra and Vicinity: "As we journey on and across Cuyler Street, we come to the Alva Hendee store. Mr. Hendee was one of Palmyra's earliest merchants. He married Mary, daughter of David Wilcox, born June 29, 1791, being the first white child born in this town." The following inscriptions are listed on a Wayne County Cemetery database for the Palmyra Village Cemetery in Palmyra, NY: "Hendee, Alva, Feb. 26, 1851, 69y; Hendee, Mary, wife, Feb. 15, 1842, 50y 7m 17d; Hendee, Chas. W., son of Alva, May 5, 1868, 38y" Alva HENDEE and Mary WILCOX were married on 20 Dec 1815 in Palmyra, Ontario, NY. Mary WILCOX was born on 29 Jun 1791 in Palmyra, Ontario, NY. She died on 15 Feb 1842 at the age of 50 in Palmyra, Ontario, NY. She was buried in Feb 1842 in Palmyra Village Cemetery, Palmyra, Ontario, NY. Mary Wilcox was the daughter of David Wilcox, an early settler of Palmyra, NY. She was said to be the first female child born in the settlement . . . Daniel and his brother Alva both lived in Palmyra and Arcadia, towns just east of Rochester. Arcadia was called Lockville in the 1820's. It is now part of the town of Newark in Wayne County, NY. . . Daniel's older half-brother, Alva, would have been 39 in 1830, and his wife would have been 29. They had been married in 1815 in Palmyra, where he was a merchant, but it is possible that they moved in with Daniel Hendee after Marianna died, to help raise his two children. The male between 10 and 14 could have been their son. Alva doesn't seem to be listed in the 1830 census for Palmyra which supports this theory." "Stephen HENDEE (Josiah-3, Caleb-2, Josiah-1) was born on 9 Jan 1786 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He died on 26 Apr 1869 at the age of 83 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. He was buried in Apr 1869 in Pioneer Cemetery, West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Stephen moved from Ashford, CT to Surry County, NH ith his family sometime before 1800. His obituary says he moved from Keene, NH to West Bloomfield, NY in 1811. However, the 1810 census for Groton, MA lists Alva Hendee, who was Stephen's older brother, and Stephen Hendee each in their own household with no other family. The ages correspond with the correct age for each of them. So they must have lived a short time in Massachusetts before setting out for NY. Alva eventually settled in Palmyra, NY along with his younger half-brother, Daniel. Stephen Hendee was 25 years old when he moved to West Bloomfield, in 1811. In 1831, his brother, Daniel, died having been preceded in death by his wife, Marianna Fairbanks Hendee. They were survived by two children, Marianna and Charles Hendee. For a short time the children were cared for by their maternal grandmother, Sarah Fairbanks. Then they went to live with their bachelor Uncle Stephen in West Bloomfield when their grandfather died according to the story passed down from Marianna Hendee to her daughter. In 1835, Stephen married Lydia Herrick. Whether he had bought the house known as "Hendee House" before this time is unknown, but most likely he had. There is a deed recorded in 1822 between Matthew Marvin and Stephen Hendee on an Ontario County Deed Index. The original owner of the house was named Marvin. From a letter to Margaret (Fuller) McClelland from Florence Freidell dated 3 Mar 1952: "Hendee House was not built by the Hendee family. A Mr. Marvin built it, starting in the early 1790's and later on the front wing was added. I believe he sold it to the Hendee family according to my abstract. One branch of Hendees came early in 1790 from Lyme, Connecticut, according to the history of Ontario County which I read." Marianna and Charles were reared by Stephen and Lydia as their own daughter and son, and greatly beloved, probably especially so since they lost all four of their own daughters before they reached maturity. Stephen HENDEE and Lydia HERRICK were married on 20 Sep 1835 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Lydia HERRICK was born on 14 Dec 1802 in Vermont. She died on 2 Feb 1889 at the age of 86 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. She was buried in Feb 1889 in Pioneer Cemetery, West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Her obituary said: "A correspondent pays this tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Lydia Herrick Hendee of West Bloomfield: Died in West Bloomfield, February 2d, 1889, Mrs. Lydia Herrick Hendee, aged 86 years. Mrs. Hendee was a daughter of Zadock Herrick, who removed to Bloomfield from Vermont, about the year of 1816, and was the last surviving member of his numerous family. For some years in the earlier part of her life, she was occupied in teaching school. In the year of 1835, she married Stephen Hendee, who came from New Hampshire to Bloomfield in 1811, and was one of the earliest merchants of the town, and continued in the trade until 1841. He died in 1869. By the marriage there were four children, all of whom died in infancy or in youth. In the vigorous period of her more mature life, Mrs. Hendee was peculiarly active in sympathetic care of the sick, and in relieving and comforting the sorrowing. In 1821 she united with the Congregational church in West Bloomfield, under the successful ministry of the Rev. Dr. Ebenezer Fitch, the first president of Williams College, who came into this pastorate in 1816. For some years last passed, she suffered the privation of partial loss of sight, which she endured with cheerful resignation. She was firm and decided in her Christian faith and opinions of Christian duty and conduct, and freely and conscientiously contributed to church support and causes of Christian benevolence." I know that Stephen Hendee, son of Josiah and Tamma, was the half-brother of Daniel, from family records. I wondered why Charles Hendee, son of Daniel and Marianna, went to Illinois after his parents died. It would make sense that he was helped by Amasa." [Sue Costa - suecosta@verizon.net]

"Col. Daniel HENDEE (Josiah-3, Caleb-2, Josiah-1) was born on 6 Mar 1792 in Ashford, Windham, CT. He died on 29 Nov 1831 at the age of 39 in Arcadia, Wayne, NY. Daniel Hendee moved with his family from Ashford, CT to Surry Twp in New Hampshire before 1800. Sometime between 1810 and 1820, he moved to western New York. He was apparently married in Pultneyville, NY, although there is no written document passed down through the family to prove this. His wife's family had moved to Palmyra, NY in about 1800 where her father was a minister at the Congregational Church, and then they moved to "Fairbanks Point" near Pultneyville in about 1807. Daniel and his brother Alva both lived in Palmyra and Arcadia, towns just east of Rochester. Arcadia was called Lockville in the 1820's. It is now part of the town of Newark in Wayne County, NY. According to family oral history, Daniel was working on the Erie Canal when it was built in New York state between 1817 and 1825. The canal was finished on Oct. 26, 1825 at Lockville and Miller's Basin (now combined to form Newark). There was a celebration that day called the "wedding of the waters" when the Erie Canal was first opened. The 1820 census for Palmyra, NY shows Daniel Hendee's household with one male under 10, 1 male between 26 and 45, and one female between 16 and 25. The young boy may have been a son that did not survive. Daniel was age 28, and his wife, Marianna, was age 22. A Dec 1, 1826 newspaper, the Wayne Sentinel, has an advertisement for Franklin House in the village of Palmyra with Daniel Hendee as the proprietor. It was a restaurant, bar and boarding house. He was listed as a Tavern Keeper in another issue of the same newspaper, and a Constable for Palmyra in another issue. The Dec 1st issue also includes a listing by Daniel Hendee for a 100 acre farm 53 miles west of Rochester in Niagra County, NY. In 1829 Daniel Hendee ran for Sheriff of Palmyra and wrote a letter to the paper asking for people to vote for him. He apparently got enough votes to become Deputy Sheriff because later issues listed him as such. The Oct 30, 1829 issue has an article telling of the sale of property seized by the sheriff. The auction was to be held at "the house now occupied by D. Hendee, innkeeper, in the village of Lockville, town of Arcadia, on Monday the twenty-eighth of December next..." The article was posted by C. Foster, Sh'ff and D. Hendee, Dep. Sh'ff. So we can conclude that between 1826 and 1829 the Hendees were running an inn in Palmyra and then another one in Lockville. The census record for 1830 backs this up. The 1830 census records for Arcadia Twp, NY, shows Daniel Hendee's household with 1 male under 5, 1 male between 10 and 14, 1 male between 20 and 29, and 2 males between 30 and 39. Daniel was 38 and his son, Charles was 4. The other three must have been another family living in his household. There were two women in the household - 1 between 5 and 9 and 1 between 20 and 29. The younger girl was Daniel's daughter, Marianna Hendee. In an 1832 issue of the Wayne Sentinel, an announcement was posted regarding Daniel Hendee's estate. It said, "...notice is hereby given, that all persons having claims against Daniel Hendee, late of the town of Arcadia in said county [Wayne], deceased, are hereby required in exhibit the same to Theodore Partridge, one of the administrators, of the personal estate of the said deceased ... dated July 31st 1832 ALVA HENDEE, THEODORE PARTRIDGE, Administrators. Col. Daniel HENDEE and Marianna FAIRBANKS were married on 23 Sep 1816 in Pultneyville, Wayne, NY. Marianna FAIRBANKS, daughter of Eleazer FAIRBANKS and Sarah BIGELOW, was born on 12 Apr 1798 in Wilmington, Windham, VT. She died on 9 Sep 1829 at the age of 31 in Arcadia, Wayne, NY. Marianna Fairbanks moved with her family to Palmyra, NY in about 1800. Her father was a minister who helped open "mission" churches in upstate New York. Her older brother, Milton Fairbanks, settled in Palmyra as well. The family doesn't have much history about Marianna Fairbanks. However, we do have a painting of her, wearing her wedding dress. She died as a very young woman, leaving two small children to be raised by her husband, who unfortunately, died soon after she did." [Sue Costa; P O Box 2750; Gilroy, CA 95020 - suecosta@verizon.net]

"Melancholy and fatal accident: Col. Daniel Hendee of Lockville* [*Newark], in this county, and formerly of this village [Palmyra. New York], was drowned in the [Erie] canal or lock, at that place, on the night of the 29th ult. The circumstances were as follows: A boat had got entangled in the lock, at a late hour of the night, and Col. Hendee who had the charge of the lock, was assisting to extricate the boat. He was suddenly missed, but no particular alarm was felt for his fate, until some minutes had elapsed, when a fruitless search was made for him both in the lock and through the neighborhood. The search was renewed early in the morning, when his lifeless body was found in the canal a short distance below the lock. The supposition is that he must have fallen into the lock while engaged as above stated, and drowned instantly - his body going out of the lock with the boat. Col. Hendee has left a number of orphan children, and a large circle of friends and connexions to deplore his loss. His funeral was attended on Friday last." Mary Lillian E. ("Lillian") Hendee b. 1859 Iowa, USA Residence: "of Albany, New York;" 32 St. John's Place, Buffalo, New York "Dear Cousin Luan: Mabel [sister, Mabel Hendee] has forwarded to me your two letters of recent date inquiring if she had any early records of the Hendee family. As she had not, she passed the inquiry on to me. When I was living in Albany, N.Y. between 1904 and 1911, I became quite interested in genealogy, as I found in the State Library the Fairbanks and Herricks genealogies; those were the maiden names of my grandmothers. Their ancestry can be traced back to the old country. I tried to find out something about the Hendee family, but could not find that any genealogy of the family had ever been compiled. I did, however, find something in an old history of Pittsford, Vermont, which I copied. I enclose two copies of this record, one for you and one for the cousin to whom you refer. I was unable to bridge the chasm between Samuel Hendee and his descendents. We were indeed glad to hear from you after all these years. I agree with you that, since the Hendee family is not very large, we ought to keep in touch with each other. I suppose Mabel has written you, and told you that the little four-year-old boy who was so ill when you were here on a visit is now grown up, and father of a family; that is, he has a wife and child. Mabel has three lovely grandchildren. P.S. Our grandfather Hendee was named Daniel and he was born in Hampton, Conn. March 6, 1792. I don't know anything about his father. I suppose you remember that our father died in August, 1906. He would have been 80 years of age had he lived till Sept. 1st. May, 18, 1927. M.L.H." "Marianna HENDEE (Daniel-4, Josiah-3, Caleb-2, Josiah-1) was born on 5 Aug 1821 in Palmyra, Ontario, NY. She lived in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY in 1900. She died on 1 Feb 1908 at the age of 86 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Marianna's parents both died by the time she was 10 years old. For a short time she and her brother were cared for by their maternal grandmother, Sarah Fairbanks. Then they went to live with their bachelor Uncle Stephen in West Bloomfield when their grandfather died. In 1835, Stephen married Lydia Herrick. Whether he had bought the house known as "Hendee House" before this time is unknown. However, Marianna and Charles were reared as their own daughter and son, and greatly beloved, probably especially so since Stephen and Lydia lost all four of their own daughters before they reached maturity. After Marianna Hendee married Matthew J. Peck, they lived for a few years on a small farm south of West Bloomfield. When their daughter, Mary Almira Peck, was about four years old, Stephen wanted them to return to the Hendee Homestead, and although he preceded his wife in death, the home was left to his niece Marianna. His wife Lydia also lived there until her death in 1889. Marianna HENDEE and Matthew Jasper PECK were married on 17 Dec 1856 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Matthew Jasper PECK, son of Matthew PECK and Lois HALL, was born on 19 Jul 1822 in Lyme, New London, CT. He lived in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY in 1900. He died on 3 Mar 1904 at the age of 81 in West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. Matthew was buried in Mar 1904 in Rural Cemetery, West Bloomfield, Ontario, NY. He had his estate probated on 15 Apr 1904 in Ontario County, NY. From Geneva Daily Times 15 April 1904: "Surrogate Ditmars has admitted ... will of Matthew J. Peck, late of West Bloomfield, estate of $3100, Marianna H. Peck, executor;..." Matthew J Peck's parents died before he married. He went to live with his cousin, Jasper Clark Peck, in West Bloomfield, NY. Phoebe Dorr Peck, was also living in the same household in 1850. Jasper's mother was Matthew's maternal aunt, Caroline Hall, so they were related on both the Peck and Hall sides of the family."

"Mr. Stephen Hendee, died at West Bloomfield on April 26th, at the ripe age of eighty three years and three months." [Ontario [New York] Repository & Messenger 5 May 1869 - <http://ontario.nygenweb.net/HentoHezobituararies.htm>]

"West Bloomfield, N. Y. - A correspondent pays this tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Lydia Herrick Hendee of West Bloomfield: Died in West Bloomfield, February 2d, 1889, Mrs. Lydia Herrick Hendee, aged 86 years. Mrs. Hendee was a daughter of Zadock Herrick, who removed to Bloomfield from Vermont, about the year of 1816, and was the last surviving member of his numerous family. For some years in the earlier part of her life, she was occupied in teaching school. In the year of 1835, she married Stephen Hendee, who came from New Hampshire to Bloomfield in 1811, and was one of the earliest merchants of the town, and continued in the trade until 1841. He died in 1869. By the marriage there were four children, all of whom died in infancy or in youth. In the vigorous period of her more mature life, Mrs. Hendee was peculiarly active in sympathetic care of the sick, and in relieving and comforting the sorrowing. In 1821 she united with the Congregational church in West Bloomfield, under the successful ministry of the Rev. Dr. Ebenezer Fitch, the first president of Williams College, who came into this pastorate in 1816. For some years last passed, she suffered the privation of partial loss of sight, which she endured with cheerful resignation. She was firm and decided in her Christian faith and opinions of Christian duty and conduct, and freely and conscientiously contributed to church support and causes of Christian benevolence." "I took this photo at my parents' house the other day. It's a painting of Marianna Hendee, daughter of Daniel Hendee and Marianna Fairbanks. I thought you would like it for your files. Stella Hendee b. m. __ Kirkman [Stella Kirkman - stellakirkman@comcast.net] "Was checking back to see if you had received my reply re: David Hendee b.1820 Conn. d. approx 1885 Illinois He is believed to be my GGGrandfather and cannot seem to connect anymore dots past him. I feel I've come pretty close, just unsure by researching Census etc., back to late 1700's. I feel he may be a descendant of either Amasa, Abel or Caleb Hendee, possibly Richard Hendee. From reading your posts and info, yes, it does appear he was somehow related to Josiah Hendee, cousins maybe? I'm hoping when you have time convenient for you, you will be able to share your info as I would be happy to share any Hendee info myself. Thx for any help you can offer, look forward to hearing from you . . . I cannot thank you enough! for sharing your pic of Josiah Hendee and when I opened the file I almost fell out of my chair! It was a mirror image of my father Howard James Hendee [Jr.], eerie, but so cool! Then equally as exciting is the possibility of a relation to George M. Hendee. (not to mention the discovery thru Census of a Huge Hendee family [in Southeastern Wisconsin] and one I grew up only 3 hrs south of in Illinois, never knowing they existed until now!) . . . Also, my Mother, who lives in Illinois. has boxes of pics that my Grandmother left with her (I live in Vancouver, Washington State) She is going to send them to me and then I should have more Hendee pic's from the earlier generations to share" [Stella (Hendee) Kirkman - stellakirkman@comcast.net]

"Direct descendant of Hendee's from Conn to Illinois. Most info is gathered from US Census pages and personal knowledge. Great Grandfather/Mother, Daniel Amasa/Mary Hendee 1820-1890's approx. Daniel born in Conn, Mary in Ohio. Children John, George, Isaac, Virginia and Alice, all believed to had been born in Fulton County, Illinois, or surrounding counties. GGrandfather/mother, George Lerch and Cora Boring Lerch of Mason county,Illinois Children: Wilson, Alvoda, Donald, Louis, George, Helen and Harold B. Lerch, all believed to have been born in either Piatt or Mason counties Illinois. Native [American] History is Cherokee on Hendee side, unsure of origin, possible on the Boring/Lerch side. My public online tree @ Ancestry is Isaac Hendee (username=Cherokeemojo) if you or your wife would like to view the info I've compiled dating back to David Hendee b.1820 Conn- d. approx 1880, Fulton County, Isabel, Illinois.Still adding info, trying to connect back to either Abel or Abner and Amasa Hendee/Conneticut line." Keeper of The Faith: Added by cherokeemojo on 20 Apr 2007: "As a young girl, I too heard the same story from my father that our Ancestor's came over before the initial colonization, and that he was French Royalty and a Huegonot. My brother Billy, (William David Hendee) & I used to laugh at this thinking he said Argonaut as in the 1960's Movie, Jason and the Argonauts) picturing a one eyed cyclops or something, for those of you in the know. I also recall my father speaking of an Uncle who was a genealogist, and had written some sort of book on the family history. I now know that to be Lee W. Hendee . This is probably where my father got his info and of course family history passed down. Mom used to scoff at him, not really believing him. However, I, 40 yrs later, have found 'a bit of credence to his yarns he spun'. I used to say as a child that I was going to find out just exactly who this Hendee family is....I found more than I ever could have imagined about this 'First Family' of a new nation, given in kind to some by The Naturals, let's never forget!" From The Heart: It was a sunny fall day, Sept 29, 2007. The date my Grandmother Alvoda passed and one day after my fathers birthday that I received a call from my younger brother Jeffrey who was living in Denver Colorado at the time. I did not know that this was going to be a true 'call to arms' so to speak before answering and hearing my baby brothers usual buoyant, happy go lucky personality and voice. For this time, his voice was downcast and he was calling me from a Denver area hospital. I had spoke with him earlier in the week, he was feeling quite ill, thought it to be a "possible kidney infection, Doc sez I may be 'lactose intolerant'. He continued to tell me he became so ill that he had to take a city bus to emergency room at 2 a.m. They were running tests, found a mass on his liver and results would not be in for a few days . . . To be continued, putting together a story of life with Jeffrey (Will be adding photos as well.)" [Stella (Hendee) Kirkman - stellakirkman@comcast.net; Ancestry.com id - cherokeemojo]

"I have a copy of the SMITH Cemetery, Pleasant Twp., Sec. 14, Fulton Co., Illinois complete list of stones. I was there 3 years ago to see my grandfather's grave (Thomas Jesse RAUCH 1874-1914) and my gggrandfather and gggrandmother's graves (Lewis {Ludwig} RAUCH b. 9 Jun 1833 Marburg, Germany and Tilitha Eliza SMITH RAUCH 14 Feb 1841-1 May 1915). I believe that all the graves there are related and have made the connection to over 100 of the 150 graves. It is south west of Lewistown. I went to Lewistown to see the hotel that was owned and run by my grandfathers two half brothers and found that it burned about 5-7 years ago. I came out of Ipava (where I still have relatives) 3 miles east on Rt 136, south on Branson School Rd. one mile and then .1 mile to right and graveyard on the right. In the list of graves is: Josiah HENDEE b.4 Nov 1822 d. 15 May 1899 h/o [husband of] Mary. I saw the grave there in the SMITH Cemetery built by my gggrandfather, Arthur SMITH. Now the problem, connection of Josiah HENDEE to my line in the graveyard.

"The mercantile establishment of S. A. & J. W. Hendee was commenced in April, 1860, on the east side of the railroad, by Wilson & Co., S. A. Hendee being the latter. In 1861, the firm became S. A. & C. A. Hendee, but the following year it became Hendee & Wilson, and so remained until 1865, when the name was changed to Hendee & Clarke. In the fall of 1867, this firm was dissolved, and S. A. Hendee operated it singly until 1872, when by the admission of J. L. Griffiths and D. F. Chidester, the firm name and style was changed to Hendee, Griffiths & Co. In 1874, Griffiths and Chidester retired, S. A. Hendee & Co., continuing. In 1880, D. F. Chidester became a member of the firm, which was continued as S. A. Hendee & Co. In 1882, Mr. Chidester retired from the firm, Mr. Hendee continuing the same under the firm name of S. A. Hendee, until in January, 1885, when J. W. Hendee entered the firm, which was then changed to S. A. & J. W. Hendee. They carry a stock of about $10,000, and are doing a fine business. S. A. Hendee was born in Windham County, Connecticut, March 9, 1830, and was a son of Amasa Hendee, who was a native of Vermont. When Stephen was nine years of age, his parents removed to Fulton county, Illinois, where he was reared. In 1852, he went to California, and, after a stay of some two years, went to Central America, and remained four months, then returning to Fulton county, Illinois. In 1854, he engaged in merchandising at Marietta, Illinois, which he continued for two years. He then engaged in trade at Bardolph, in McDonough county, remaining until 1860, in which year he removed to Bushnell, and became a member of the firm of Wilson & Company, as above stated. In addition to merchandising, Mr. Hendee is interested in the grain business with D. F. Chidester, they having elevators in Bushnell, Colchester, Bardolph, Swan Creek, Youngstown, Roseville, Table Grove, Adair and Epperson. On the second of November, 1858, Stephen A. Hendee and Sarah N. Groenendyke, a native of New Jersey, were united in marriage, and their union had been blessed with six children--Luan B., Adrienne G., Nathan B., Leo N., Edgar and Fannie. Mr. Hendee has given his entire attention to his business interests. He is a member of the Masonic order, and also of the Knights of Honor . . . Among the grain dealers of McDonough county, probably the heaviest are S. A. Hendee & Co. In 1861, Stephen A. Hendee embarked in this line of business, and continued it until 1865. In 1869, he again engaged in it, and in 1880, when the present firm was formed by the admission of D. F. Chidester, the elevator at this place was built by them. This edifice, which is strongly and compactly built, is 42x66 feet upon the ground, and has a capacity of 27,000 bushels. Besides this building, they own elevators and do grain business at Colchester, Bardolph, Swan Creek, Youngstown, Roseville, Orion, Table Grove, Adair and Epperson. They do an immense business, using a capital of over $40,000 in their operations . . . The leading hotel in the town, if not in this portion of the state, is the Hendee house. This edifice was erected in the summer of 1871, by S. A. Hendee, after whom it is named . . . Harmony lodge, No. 867, Knights of Honor, was duly organized on the 4th of September, 1878, with the following charter members: . . . S. A. Note: Both Achsah Hendee (b. 13 Feb 1787, d. 2 Feb 1852 Westminster, Vermont) [spouse – Amos Hitchcock] and Caleb Hendee [III] (b. Connecticut d. 1833) [spouse – Ruth Prentis] were married to their respective spouses in Westminster, Vermont by Minister Timothy Field [Achsa – 23 Nov 1808 and Caleb - 28 Jan 1817]. Neither Achsah nor Caleb have found a definite place in this Hendee document but it would seem their marriages nine years apart in the same place by the same person would indicate a close relationship – possibly brother and sister. Their parents are a problem since nowhere are their parents explicitly identified. The one clue which may bear fruit is that Westminster, Vermont was the place of death for both parents of Judith (Goodell) Hendee. Judith was the wife of Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756 or 24 Sep 1755 Ashford, Windham County, Connecticut). This document proves only one child born to Caleb and Judith: Abel Cornelius Hendee b. 1789. Abel’s birth date fits exactly with those of Achsah b. 1786 and Caleb’s marriage in 1817. Not iron-clad but better than anything else found so far. If this proves to be true, Horatio S. Hendee and all his descendants would also find a home in this document under the above Caleb [III] and Ruth (Prentis) Hendee. Achsah and Caleb Hendee and their descendants have tentatively been included below under this Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756) on the basis of this logic.” [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

“You got my curiosity up so I did some research and here is what I can add to what you already suggested. Not only did Caleb Hendee, Jr. marry Judith Goodell who had ties with her parents to Westminster [Vermont], but you may also know that his sister Mehitable [Hendee] married Amos Goodale who was reported as born in Westminster [Vermont]. As you said, Caleb [III] (b. Connecticut d. 1833) and Achsah (b. 13 Feb 1787 d. 2 Feb 1852 in Westminster) were both married in Westminster [Vermont]. But did you know that Rockset Hendee was born 5 Mar 1795 in Westminster [Vermont]. She married George Parker who was born 24 Feb 1796 in Chester, Windsor, VT. Caleb [III], Achsah (b. 1787), Rockset (b. 1795) and Abel (b. 1789) were all born close in time and could be siblings.” [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

“I believe it likely that Achsah, Abel, Rockset/Rocksey [“Roxey” for Roxanna?] and Caleb [Hendee] were siblings. In that regard, is there any documentation that confirms where Abel was born or is the birthplace assumed based on where he lived and where his father was born? In other words, all could have been born in Westminster or the later children could have been born there. If Josiah was the father, he would have had to remarry after his wife Tamma died in 1789, which is entirely possible. However the fact that Achsah comes from a biblical individual who was the daughter of Caleb and that her likely sibling was Caleb, who may have been named after his father, I would tend towards Caleb. It is true that we have no connection to Westminster for Caleb except through his wife and brother-in-law and that we know that a Josiah Hendee lived there. Perhaps both Caleb and Josiah went there after Josiah’s wife died. The records do not indicate that any of Josiah’s known sons went here. They all were found in Ontario County, New York (an area that later became Wayne County). I have been able to identify some of their descendants. If Josiah did go there, it appears that he returned to Connecticut and died there or at least was buried there per Connecticut, Deaths and Burials, 1772-1934; birth: 1751; death: 4 April 1826; burial: , , Connecticut. That is consistent with the fact that he no longer operated the hotel after the turn of the century.” [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

“Dear Sir: I advise you from the papers in the Revolutionary War pension claim S13349. It appears that Caleb Hendee, while residing in Ashford, Windham County, Connecticut, enlisted in December 1776, in General Washington’s Life Guard, was attached to Captain George Lewis’ company and served in Colonels Bayler’s and Elisha Sheldon’s Regiments of Continental Dragoons. He was in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth and served three years. In the spring of 1781, he enlisted in Captain James Dana’s Company in Major Shipman’s Connecticut Regiment, and on August 19, 1781, was appointed Ensign and served until the spring of 1782, when he was discharged at Stamford. He was allowed pension on an application executed April 7, 1818, while a resident of Ashford, Connecticut, aged sixty-one years. He died November 17, 1839. In 1820 his wife was fifty-nine years old and a son, nineteen years old, their names are not stated and there no other data as to his family. The above noted is the only soldier of that name found on the Revolutionary War records of this bureau. Very Truly Yours, EARL D. CHURCH, Commissioner.” [Letter from Earl D. “A Brief History of the Commander-in-Chief’s Guards by Donald N. Moran - Dedicated to George Washington and the men of the Commander-in-Chief’s Guard who protected him: Washington realized that the entire complexion of the War was about to change [March 1776]. No longer would he be commanding an army maintaining a static siege line, but a mobile army, marching to meet the next British threat. With movement came additional dangers - there were a number of Tories spread over the countryside that were determined to assist the British and of course there was the British Army itself. Therefore, a surprise raid on his headquarters was a serious possibility. To counter that possibility Washington decided to form a personal guard. On March 11th [1776] Washington issued the following orders: ‘Head-Quarters, Cambridge March 11, 1776 - The General is desirous of selecting a particular number of men as a guard for himself and baggage. The Colonel or Commanding Officer of each of the established regiments, the artillery and riflemen

Cynthia: b. 17 Aug 1794 Mansfield Twp [township], Tolland County, Connecticut, USA d. 10 Aug 1848 (age 54 yrs) Mansfield, Tolland County, Connecticut Parents: Luther Topliff and Charlotte Eaton

Note: Both Achsah Hendee (b. 13 Feb 1787, d. 2 Feb 1852 Westminister, Vermont) [spouse – Amos Hitchcock] and Caleb Hendee [III] (b. Connecticut d. 1833) [spouse – Ruth Prentis] were married to their respective spouses in Westminister, Vermont by Minister Timothy Field [Achsah – 23 Nov 1808 and Caleb - 28 Jan 1817]. Neither Achsah nor Caleb have found a definite place in this Hendee document but it would seem their marriages nine years apart in the same place by the same person would indicate a close relationship – possibly brother and sister. Their parents are a problem since nowhere are their parents explicitly identified. The one clue which may bear fruit is that Westminister, Vermont was the place of death for both parents of Judith (Goodell) Hendee. Judith was the wife of Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756 or 24 Sep 1755 Ashford, Windham County, Connecticut). This document proves only one child born to Caleb and Judith: Abel Cornelius Hendee b. 1789. Abel's birth date fits exactly with those of Achsah b. 1786 and Caleb's marriage in 1817. Not iron-clad but better than anything else found so far. If this proves to be true, Horatio S. Hendee and all his descendants would also find a home in this document under the above Caleb [III] and Ruth (Prentis) Hendee. Achsah and Caleb Hendee and their descendants have tentatively been included below under this Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756) on the basis of this logic." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"You got my curiosity up so I did some research and here is what I can add to what you already suggested. Not only did Caleb Hendee, Jr. marry Judith Goodell who had ties with her parents to Westminister [Vermont], but you may also know that his sister Mehitable [Hendee] married Amos Goodale who was reported as born in Westminister [Vermont]. As you said, Caleb [III] (b. Connecticut d. 1833) and Achsah (b. 13 Feb 1787 d. 2 Feb 1852 in Westminister) were both married in Westminister [Vermont]. But did you know that Rockset Hendee was born 5 Mar 1795 in Westminister [Vermont]. She married George Parker who was born 24 Feb 1796 in Chester, Windsor, VT. Caleb [III], Achsah (b. 1787), Rockset (b. 1795) and Abel (b. 1789) were all born close in time and could be siblings." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"I believe it likely that Achsah, Abel, Rockset/Rocksey and Caleb were siblings. In that regard, is there any documentation that confirms where Abel was born or is the birthplace assumed based on where he lived and where his father was born? In other words, all could have been born in Westminister or the later children could have been born there. If Josiah was the father, he would have had to remarry after his wife Tamma died in 1789, which is entirely possible. However the fact that Achsah comes from a biblical individual who was the daughter of Caleb and that her likely sibling was Caleb, who may have been named after his father, I would tend towards Caleb. It is true that we have no connection to Westminister for Caleb except through his wife and brother-in-law and that we know that a Josiah Hendee lived there. Perhaps both Caleb and Josiah went there after Josiah's wife died. The records do not indicate that any of Josiah's known sons went here. They all were found in Ontario County, New York (an area that later became Wayne County). I have been able to identify some of their descendants. If Josiah did go there, it appears that he returned to Connecticut and died there or at least was buried there per Connecticut, Deaths and Burials, 1772-1934; birth: 1751; death: 4 April 1826; burial: , , Connecticut. That is consistent with the fact that he no longer operated the hotel after the turn of the century." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"My Aunt Edith [Leona (Hale) Hendee] had shared very little about Uncle George (Hendee) relatives with me, but after her death I found some instructions she wrote out to go to a Mansfield, Connecticut cemetery where his grandparents Abel and Cynthia Hendee are buried.. The first time I was unsuccessful in locating the cemetery, but recently I talked with an elderly lady in Mansfield who knew exactly where the cemetery is located, even though she had never heard of the name Hendee. Well, last Wednesday Laura Dillman (Friends of the Farm at Hilltop president) and I went to Mansfield. Much to our surprise on the last leg of our search, this gracious lady was waiting beside the road and flagged us down to give us the last directions and make sure we found it. I had told this lady, Isabelle, that I had an old stereoptic photo of the blacksmith shop that was George Hendee's grandfather's. On the back of the picture, in his handwriting, it says "taken from cemetery". Isabelle immediately asked if I had the picture with me, and when she saw it, said, oh my, it is still there. (It is still there, but they had added on a couple of sections over the years.) Photo was taken in 1921. We found the cemetery. It is very small, probably not more than 20 or so gravestones, all blackened with age, some tipped over, and most of them unreadable from age. A stone fence surrounds the cemetery and one has to climb over a high stone ledge to get into the cemetery. Hardly a blade of grass, but hard packed dirt and moss. We finally found the resting place of Abel and Cynthia that was in remarkable condition and quite readable. The top of each stone has a decorative carving and a friend of mine is going down with me to do a rubbing that I will send to you along with my photos when I get them. David, I was so excited I got all goose bumps when I encountered the stones. The stones have very little information. Abel Hendee, died August 5, 1843, age 54, and Cynthia Hendee, died August 10, 1848, age 54. While there we met two neighbors who confirmed what my directions had read, that the cemetery was on the old Andrew Ide property. These ladies knew it was Ide property, but had never known the first name of Andrew. I have the names of their children and their birth dates that I will send along to you at a later date when I finish compiling all the Hendee genealogy that I have, some of which you have contributed to me. I've been so excited about all this, I just had to let you know. Seeing this has an impact that just reading statistics does not give one. Hope you agree. Smiles from June....." "From an old hand written copy of Hendee records I find the following: Abel Hendee married Cynthia Topliff on April 04, 1813. Abel died August 05, 1843 in Mansfield, Conn, Abel, son of Caleb and Judith Goodell Hendee. Caleb born Aug. 24, 1756 in Ashford, Conn., son of Caleb and Hannah Holmes Hendee. Caleb {m Hannah Holmes} born Nov. 09, 1730 In Ashford, Conn. is the son of Josiah Hendee, born March 06, 1701 Ashford, Conn. Married to Bethsheba Learned. Josiah is the son of Richard Second. So that is the way that George Hendee, Indian Motorcycle man, fits into the descendants list of Hendees. Richard, 2nd, had five sons that have recorded descendants: Jonathan, Josiah, Joshua, Barzallia, and Asa. Jonathan has the largest number. Barzallia the fewest. I would like to hear from Ronald Hendee of Grand Rapids." [Mary LaBatt, Kalamazoo, MI - marande86@aol.com]

"I have JUST begun doing research on the Hendee name and am excited to find this site. My father Wesley Hendee was an only child, and has very little history on our name. He does know we are of the George Hendee lineage (the Indian motorcycle). And he learned we came over on or with the Mayflower. I am not certain where he got these facts from. . . . The George Hendee I talked about lived well into the 1900's according to "The Complete Illustrated Encyclopedia of American Motorcycles" by Tod Rafferty. There is a large section in this book about my ancestor, George Hendee, on the Indian Motorcycle. Pretty intreresting reading for anyone who may be interested." [Joyce Yake - yakej@netzero.net]

"Wow! It would be great if we could put the George Mallory Hendee [relationship] thing to rest. It is one thing my Mom and I always meant to work a little harder on. So many things came up to cloud the route. My Mom is from Northampton, Mass - just down the road from Springfield. We' been to the [Indian motorcycle] factory and the [Hilltop] farm. During his time, George was very protective of his barn and who could see the inside of it. Thanks for the photos." [Paul Edwin HENDEE - phendee@comcast.net]

"The 10th of May, 1882, at a meeting called specially for the purpose, a committee, consisting of Henry E. Ducker, Charles K. Ferry, and A. L. Fennessy, was appointed to make all arrangements for the grand tournament which was held in this city 20th Sept., 1882, and which has since become so famous. These three gentlemen appointed various sub-committees, and under their sole management the exhibition was successfully carried through. There were present at this tournament over 12,000 persons, and the expenses in the aggregate amounted to $3,128.43. The records broken were the one, two, and five-mile amateur. Geo. M. Hendee, who now holds the one and two mile League championship medals, and who is proving himself to be a very fast rider, made 2.55 in the one mile race at this meet, although Frank Moore, who was hard pushed by Hendee, made the mile in 2.54½ Hendee has always been a very active member of this club, and, although his racing career has been very brief, at the same time it has been very successful, and Springfield is glad to own him. The club has never been noted particularly for its great number of racing men, and, aside from Hendee, has no particularly fine riders. On the 20th Oct., 1882, when Hendee brought the one-mile championship to Springfield (having won it from Frye), he was met at the depot by the Springfield club, and escorted to the Haynes Hotel, where an elegant supper had been prepared, and here it was that his first victory was celebrated." [SPRINGFIELD BICYCLE CLUB, A. L. Fennessy, The Wheelman, August 1883, Vol. II, Number 5, p.337]

"The Indian motorcycle story actually begins with bicycles. At the turn of the century, racing bicycles on wooden tracks known as velodromes was a popular sport. Crudely motorized bicycles set the pace for the racers. One such pacer built by Oscar Hedstrom, caught the eye of Springfield bicycle manufacturer George Hendee. Hendee recognized its potential for wider application. In 1901, the two teamed up to create a motorized version of Hendee's Indian bicycle-- the Indian Motorcycle. The Hendee Manufacturing Company expanded rapidly to dominate world production of motorcycles by 1913, when it manufactured over 30,000 motorcycles." [Indian Mororcycle Memories - <http://wgby.org/localprograms/indian/pages/inthebeginning.html>]

"In 1901 George M. Hendee, a high wheel champ and C. Oscar Hedstrom, also a racer, pooled money and inventive genius to open the Hendee Manufacturing Company (changed to Indian Motorcycle Manufacturing in 1913) in Springfield, Massachusetts. Production ceased in 1953. The Indian Motorcycle Manufacturing Company was founded as the Hendee Manufacturing Company by George M. Hendee and C. Oscar Hedstrom in Springfield, Massachusetts in 1901. Hendee and Hedstrom were both motorcycle racers, Hendee having been the 'high wheel' champion. The company went on to manufacture other products such as aircraft engines, bicycles, boat motors and air conditioners. Manufacture of all products was halted in 1953." [Bikertrash.com - <http://www.bikertrash.com/past/indianhof.shtml>] The most popular models were the Scout, made prior to WWII, and the Chief, which had its heyday from 1946-53 (although 1949 production was extremely limited). The company went back into manufacturing in 1999 with a newer version of the Scout, and also produced Chief and Spirit models. These bikes were based on off-the-shelf engine parts that were based on the venerable Harley Davidson design, but nearing the completion of an all-new engine design, the company succumbed to bankruptcy again in late 2003 after a major deal fell through. At the turn of the century a young self-taught engineer and builder of racing bicycles named Oscar Hedstrom designed and built a "pacer" bike, an engine-powered two-wheeler used to train bicycle racers. Powered by a copy of the DeDion-Buton engine, with an excellent carburetor of Hedstrom's own design, the little machine was so practical and reliable that it attracted the attention of a Springfield entrepreneur, George Hendee. They built a manufacturing plant, tooled up, and the first Indians (modest little single-cylinder machines) rolled out the door in 1902. Hedstrom's engineering skill and Hendee's business acumen continued to enlarge their company. A V-Twin was introduced in 1903, updated with two- and three-speed gearboxes, both further refined with swingarm rear suspensions. The first motorcycle with electric start and a fully modern electrical system, the Hendee Special, astounded the industry in 1913. Prior to World War One, Indian was the largest motorcycle manufacturer in the world, producing over 20,000 bikes per year. Unlike Harley-Davidson, Indian strongly supported racing during this period as a way to improve their product and to present it to the buying public. The Indian factory machines dominated all forms of racing in the US, and in 1912, Indians won first, second and third at the Isle of Man TT. Hedstrom bowed out of the company in 1913, with Hendee leaving a few years later, and the period between the wars was a time of chaos for Indian. Business misfortune and the lousy management of the financiers that took over the company nearly ruined it." [Motorcycle Online: So That's an Indian! - <http://www.motorcycle.com/mo/mcmuseum/indintro.html>] "Indian began with bicycles. The first popular bicycles were the ones with the big wheel in front, the so called high wheels. George Hendee was a champion amateur bicycle racer in the high wheels for three years. He entered 309 races and won 302 of them. The safety bicycles with two equal size wheels came on the scene in the 1890's and bicycle racing became popular to promote the sale of bicycles. Mr. Hendee ran a bicycle company in Springfield, MA and in the process, crossed paths with Mr. Hedstrom who was also a bicycle racer. And that was the beginning of it, the proverbial back of an envelope or handshake deal was how they got started. Hendee had the connections in Springfield and in the Connecticut Valley. With his reputation as a bicyclist, he was able to promote the venture and raise a lot of the capital, sell stock. Hedstrom was the engineering genius, he was the guy able to make the machines with his own hands." [Indian Mororcycle Memories - <http://wgby.org/localprograms/indian/pages/hatfield.html>]

"Hendee had won the National Amateur High Wheel Championship of the United States in 1886 and held the title until 1892. After retiring from professional racing in 1895, the former champion continued to be involved in the bicycle trade, and in 1897 he established his own manufacturing firm in Springfield, Massachusetts. At a race at Madison Square Garden in 1900, George Hendee first observed the use of the motorized tandem and was impressed with the performance and reliability of Hedstrom's machine. At their first meeting, Hendee proposed building a light road machine for

"April 15, 2005, To introduce myself, my name is June Hale Cook, and my uncle was George M. Hendee of Indian Motorcycle [this was the original spelling used prior to "Motorcycle" - D. Petrie] fame. I had a wonderful childhood with him before his death in 1943 when I was only eighteen. His wife Edith was my Dad's sister. I have compiled several albums about the life and career of my uncle. I have shared what I have with two authors. You will find my name as a contributor to their books under Indian Motorcycle Books. Also, at <http://www.ip-lawyers.com/NWSLTTR2002.PDF> (page 3), you will find an article and photo about me. A group in Suffield, Connecticut "Friends of the Farm at Hilltop" (FOFAH) are restoring the "monster" barn my uncle [George M. Hendee] built in 1915 on his estate. I am the honorary director and have contributed photos, etc. to them . . . I had lunch with FOFAH president Laura recently, and if you do visit the area she will be very glad to give you a tour of Hilltop Farm. If you are here on Labor Day there is an all day annual Farm Fest that is a popular event." "I will begin with a little background. From the time that I was born in 1925 until the deaths of both George and Edith, they were a very vital part of my life. My mother took off when I was only five. My Dad never remarried, so I was extremely lucky to have his sister and husband take such an important role in my life. Even before I was a toddler, and even before I have any memory of their home, I was there a lot of the time. And what a wonderful place Hilltop Manor and estate was. I spent wonderful wonderful days there with my aunt and uncle. As I grew older, I would much prefer to be in their company than going places with my friends. Uncle George gave up Indian Motorcycle long before I was born, and sadly no one ever brought up Indian Motorcycle to me as a very young child. When I was born, Uncle George was very involved with the Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children, now known as just Shriners Hospital. He was the President of the Board of Directors from the time the hospital was built in 1925 until his illness in the late 1930's. He often took me to the hospital to visit with the children, and always at Christmas. He had a very large doll house built for me that was kept at Hilltop, and when I outgrew it, it was sent to the Shriners Hospital for the children to enjoy.

Their chauffeur and family lived on the estate above the five car garage and I grew up with the two daughters. On the estate the Hilltop "monster" barn became quite famous. He was so proud of his Guernsey cattle. As a child I was never allowed to enter the barn, and it was not until a few years ago that I finally got a tour of the barn. My Uncle told me that the barn was no place for a girl, and I never disobeyed him. Strange though, I lived with my Dad on our farm and scampered in and out of the barn at will. My visit to the "monster" barn: A few years ago the president and vice president of a group of people in Suffield, Conn. (where Hilltop is located) got in touch with me to see what information I could give to them about Hilltop. They arrived at my Westfield home on a dreadful snowy day and stayed here for three hours going through my albums and listening to my stories. This group is The Friends of the Farm at Hilltop, known as 'FOFAH.' To see a photo of the barn and information, go on line www.fofah.com. They are in the process of restoring the "monster" barn that my uncle built in 1914. I have contributed much in the way of photos and information to them, but their president is also very interested in the man [George M. Hendee] himself and has done a lot of research that has also helped me. They also received a grant for $500,000 by the State of Connecticut for the restoration and the barn and some land has been leased to them for $1.00 per year for 99 years. I have photos of the barn when it was built a hundred years ago that I can share with you. I have photos of Hilltop Mansion that unfortunately was razed many years ago. Until I shared these photos with FOFAH, I was the only one with pictures professionally taken of the interior of the 17 room mansion. I even had my own playroom on the third floor. My aunt and uncle entertained frequently and I was in seventh heaven when I could stay overnight and sit on the balcony overlooking the great hall and watch the beautifully gowned ladies below as they danced to the live music. In later years I was sorry not to have known who many of these people were. I know that Sir Harry Lauder was entertained there and I have a photo of him taken in the Great Hall at Hilltop that I prize.

Hilltop Farm - "From 1913-1925 George Hendee, of Indian Motorcycle fame, purchased 24 parcels in this corner of town and created Hilltop Farm. Hendee's holdings ultimately totaled 500 acres, a good-sized operation in the Northeast for the early 20th century. Hendee lived at Hilltop until 1940 when ill health forced him to sell. To some people, George Hendee is an icon. Indian Motorcycles are revered by the people who revere such things, and it's pretty neat to learn that he started this very farm. To their credit, Hilltop does indeed have some historical displays set up about Mr. Hendee and it's the stuff like that that drive me to think about this place as sort of a museum. He's so important that I will now write a bit more about him, again from Hilltop's website: In 1897 George Mallory Hendee, a former highwheel bicycle champion, founded the company that would later launch the Indian motorcycle. Introduced in 1901, Indian was the first commercially successful, gasoline-powered motorcycle in the U.S. The company was known as Hendee Manufacturing Co., until 1923 when it was renamed Indian Motorcycle Co. Born in Watertown, Connecticut, in 1866, Hendee had a keen curiosity and taught himself to ride a highwheel bicycle at age 15. He won the U.S. Amateur Champion title at age 16 in 1882 and held it until 1886. During his racing career, Hendee won 302 out of 309 races. In his last race in 1897, he won the World Championship. Hendee was a prominent figure in bicycling, holding positions in local, state and national organizations. He also sponsored racers and races, which led to his interest in developing a motorized pacing bike. In 1900, Hendee met engineering wizard Carl "Oscar" Hedstrom and witnessed the superior performance of Hedstrom's pacer. He recognized the commercial potential of the bike for the general public. In January 1901 Hendee recruited Hedstrom to join his company in Springfield, Massachusetts as chief designer and engineer of a "motorized bicycle for the masses." In May 1901, the Indian prototype was successfully tested on a steep hill in Springfield. Hendee Manufacturing eventually became the largest employer in Springfield with 3200 employees. Despite competition from 200 other motorcycle brands, by 1913 the company was the largest motorcycle company in the world with annual production of 32,000 units. Hendee stepped down as president of Hendee Manufacturing in 1915 and as chairman in 1916 and retired to his 500-acre Hilltop Farm and 17-room Hilltop Manor. He raised a prized herd of Guernsey cows known as Hilltop Butterfats, which became well-known throughout the cattle breeding industry. He also established a model poultry plant for the breeding of white leghorn chickens. Hilltop Farm became an important producer of milk, dairy and poultry products. During WWI, Hendee was the volunteer postmaster of the YMCA in France and oversaw delivery of mail to troops in the front lines. Hendee, a noted philanthropist, was instrumental in bringing a Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children to Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1925. He generously supported many other Springfield organizations. After many years of failing health, Hendee died in 1943 at the age of 76. He and his widow Edith Hale Hendee had no children. Hendee was inducted into the AMA Motorcycle Hall of Fame in 1998 and the U.S. Bicycling Hall of Fame in 2010 . . . Noticeable from the roadway is a great white barn calculated to be sufficient for a farm of considerable scope and dimensions. The two great towers bordering the entrance are more than ornamental however; they're silos and of prodigious capacity. The rest of this main floor is given up to hay storage and for farm wagons and implements. It could also store a locomotive or a whole train of cars, for it is mammoth in size. The ground floor reached from the lower level is done off in concrete and plaster and there is room for a "tie up" of an army of cattle. Off to the left of this good old-fashioned barn is a hen emporium with countless runs for thousands of biddies." June (Hale) Cook

"I will begin with a little background. From the time that I was born in 1925 until the deaths of both George and Edith, they were a very vital part of my life. My mother took off when I was only five. My Dad [Hale] never remarried, so I was extremely lucky to have his sister and husband take such an important role in my life. Even before I was a toddler, and even before I have any memory of their home, I was there a lot of the time. And what a wonderful place Hilltop Manor and estate was. I spent wonderful wonderful days there with my aunt and uncle. As I grew older, I would much prefer to be in their company than going places with my friends. Uncle George gave up Indian Motorcycle long before I was born, and sadly no one ever brought up Indian Motorcycle to me as a very young child. When I was born, Uncle George was very involved with the Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children, now known as just Shriners Hospital. He was the President of the Board of Directors from the time the hospital was built in 1925 until his illness in the late 1930's. He often took me to the hospital to visit with the children, and always at Christmas. He had a very large doll house built for me that was kept at Hilltop, and when I outgrew it, it was sent to the Shriners Hospital for the children to enjoy.

"April 15, 2005, To introduce myself, my name is June Hale Cook, and my uncle was George M. Hendee of Indian Motorcycle [this was the original spelling used prior to "Motorcycle" – D. Petrie] fame. I had a wonderful childhood with him before his death in 1943 when I was only eighteen. His wife Edith was my Dad's sister. I have compiled several albums about the life and career of my uncle. I have shared what I have with two authors. You will find my name as a contributor to their books under Indian Motorcycle Books. Also, at <http://www.ip-lawyers.com/NWSLTTR2002.PDF> (page 3), you will find an article and photo about me. A group in Suffield, Connecticut "Friends of the Farm at Hilltop" (FOFAH) are restoring the "monster" barn my uncle [George M. Hendee] built in 1915 on his estate. I am the honorary director and have contributed photos, etc. to them . . . I had lunch with FOFAH president Laura recently, and if you do visit the area she will be very glad to give you a tour of Hilltop Farm. If you are here on Labor Day there is an all day annual Farm Fest that is a popular event." "I had a great time recently. I was in contact with the present owners of the lodge my uncle owned at Lake Sunapee back in 1908-1916. All I had were lots of pictures. What a treat it was. And really surprised to find framed photos of George Hendee on the walls and other memorabilia." [June Hale Cook - jcook01085@comcast.net]

"Some time ago I sent in an application to apply for my uncle [George Mallory Hendee] to be elected to the U.S. Bicycle Hall of Fame. Recently got the news that he was voted in and the ceremony will be in California in October [2010]." [June Hale Cook - jcook01085@comcast.net]

"My book is just about ready for printing. It is to be ready for the 2nd Indian Rally at Hilltop on July 17th, and for Indian Day at the new Springfield History Museum the next day. My son came up with the title-- "A TRIBUTE TO THE LIFE AND CAREERS OF GEORGE MALLORY HENDEE"." [June Hale Cook - jcook01085@comcast.net]

"Hi June, Just wanted to send a heart felt thank you from Judith and myself for your gift of your George Hendee book. We have both been enjoying the text and pictures, some of which we remember seeing in person at the farm thanks to you. I'm glad some Hendee researchers have ordered books. Maybe I'll try to find some Indian Motorcycle web sites where I can post some ordering information." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"Dave, I didn't know you collected automobile advertisements. It reminds me of a day at a Farm Fest at Hilltop [Farm] when I was selling my book. I met Jerry Hooker and we exchanged books. He published Motorcycling Through History During the Golden Age of Post Cards. It was 252 pages and weighs a ton. I'll look through it and locate the ones you sent to me. The one of the Indian Tricar is great. Didn't I send you my book? On page 15-18 are photos etc. of the Silver King and Silver Queen Bicycles manufactured by Hendee & Nelson Mfg. Later to be Hendee Mfg., then Indian. I was surprised to find the many items Hendee manufactured. Some I know from family, others from research. I've put together 3 large albums of my uncle's life. I'll see about getting information for you. Indian made an aircraft engine that I'm told is in the Smithsonian. Also, a refrigerator that may also be there. I remember seeing a car made by Indian. There were 13 Indian Motorcycle [spelling is correct] plants throughout the USA. When I first met the president & vice president of the Friends of the Farm at Hilltop, they asked to come see my album. They arrived during a very bad snowstorm at 1 P.M. with a dozen roses for me. They didn't leave until 5:15! Just remembered – Uncle George was good friends of George Wells, another high bicycle rider. Uncle George gave him the only Indian franchise in England. Back in 2012 I met a man at the Hilltop Farm Fest who gave me a large photo of George Hendee Wells. I knew of this man as Uncle George mentioned him often. George Wells had a son and he was named for my uncle. I wrote to him & received a letter back. (I also sent him my book.) He wrote a great letter and I was pleased to read that it gave him great pleasure to read that 'after 94 years, I read that I actually appeared in the American Press by getting born!!' His letter informed me that independently of their parents 2 of his grandsons had changed their middle names to Hendee. Mr. Wells said we would write together often. Unfortunately, I received shortly [a letter saying] Mr. Wells had a severe stroke. A message a few days later from Tim advised me of his death. George Hendee Wells – 23/12/15 to 19/9/10 [23 Dec 1915 to 19 Sep 2010] Shortly I received a lovely letter from his daughter-in-law, Pat Wells. We write to each other often. Fondly, June" [Letter from June (Hale) Cook to David Petrie - 16 Jan 2017]

"Hi All, I just came across the publication of a new book on George M. Hendee who is being inducted into the United States Bicycling Hall of Fame this fall. He compiled an unbelievable string of undefeated victories in national high wheel bicycle races at the end to the 19th century. Training requirements led him to attach a motor to a bicycle so his coaches could keep up with him and this eventually led to his co-founding the "Indian Motorcycle Company" [yes, the spelling is correct]. A Tribute to the Life and Careers of George Mallory Hendee. It begins with family, onto his bicycling career, motorcycle career and the Shriners Hospital, with sections about his overseas YMCA work during WWI, marriage, photos of his mansion and farm called Hilltop. The book was written by his niece, June Hale Cook, who was very close to George Hendee and spent a lot of time with him at his home and farm as a child. George had no children of his own. June inherited many wonderful old pictures from George's life as well as interesting information on his Hendee ancestors and relatives. You can order the book directly from the publisher via Internet at the following site: <http://www.acenturyofmotorcycling.com/shop/> Thought some Hendee researchers out there might be interested." Obituary: "Edward Dwight Hendee, for many years identified with New Haven life, died at his home, 178 Bradley street, last Sunday, in his 73rd year. He was the elder son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hendee, and entered business with his father and his uncle. Later he was associated with the late William D. Bryan, the tailor, to whose business he eventually succeeded, carrying it on for many years. Mr. Bryan's store was the rendezvous of a notable group of New Haven men of the 70's, whose friendship Mr. Hendee, with his charm of character and manner, readily made and retained throughout their lives. He retired from business several years ago because of failing health. Mr. Hendee was a charter member of the Union League, a Mason, an Odd Fellow and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. He was hospital steward of the New Haven Greys, and later of the Governor's Foot Guard. For his spirit of youth and of fairness he was beloved by a long succession of college boys, and he was for many years one of the official timekeepers of Yale. He was a member of Trinity Episcopal church. The service at the chapel of Hayes & Pierce was read by the Rev. Charles Carver of Christ church, a close friend of the family.

"I also don't know the answer to another question: how does a fellow named Harold Hendee who worked for R.C.A. get into the act. This is not my brother, Harold. Your mother and I called on him back in the 30's and he produced a family tree which depicted the Hendee family. When I asked him where I was on the tree, he rather loftily said "you aren't". If you are making a "family tree", don't you put everyone on it who is a descendent of the Hendee line? He visited us while we were living on the farm down in Columbia County and at the time he had a young fellow in tow also by the name of George M[?]. Hendee. Not the millionaire, but a young lad somewhere in his twenties as I recall. I never saw either one of them again, so there is another not so clear enigma . . . Harold Hendee of R.C.A. fame lived in N.Y.C. and I think it was on 43rd Street, a bachelor, and a rather swanky apartment. At this point, however, I don't have access to any of that information. According to my grandfather, Edgar Arthur Hendee, my great grandfather, Clarence Arthur Hendee (son of Abel Cornelius Hendee and Esther L. Hastings) was the cousin of George Mallory Hendee. Apparently in the family tree that George compiled back in his day, he didn't include Clarence's part of the family because they were considered too poor to condescend associating with. My grandfather, however, tells a story of George visiting his father's farm in a big fancy car only once in his life and as my great-grandfather was only a young child at the time, he was whisked away to keep from annoying the most-distinguished guest. Anyway, I just thought I'd see if any of these names ring a bell or if you have any additional information you'd be willing to offer. "My grandfather was named Abel Cornelius Hendee. Carolyn [Carolyn (Hayes) Hendee] has a picture of him; an old gentlemen with a white beard. He was a carpenter of sorts but I don't remember him distinctly since I was very young. I do not know how many brothers or sisters he had, but recall my Dad mentioning a Lucius who went to sea and was never heard from again. I think he was my grandfather's brother. I do not know grandfather's place of birth but feel pretty certain it was somewhere in Massachusetts or Connecticut. Possibly Bristol, Connecticut although there was a place called Tariffville, Connecticut which was frequently mentioned. He died on the farm somewhere about the year 1908 or 1909. Since I was only five or six years old at the time, you can see that I wouldn't have a clear picture of him in my mind. He had five children that I know of: Eugene (the one to whom grandmother [Esther L. (Hastings) Hendee] left the farm), Albro, Ernest, and Dad, and there was a daughter who died rather young whose name was Elsie. Eugene stayed on the farm and never married; Albro became a traveling salesman and travelled all over the U.S.A. finally settling down in Seattle, Wash. where he married, had at least two daughters; Lily was the name of one and I never knew the name of the other. I have the feeling that Lily died but don't know for certain. I do not know when Albro died, but it surely was some time ago. Ernest moved to Westfield, Mass. I also do not know when he passed away, but again, it also was quite a while ago. He never married. That leaves Dad, or Clarence, who married Jennie Olena, my mother. They had two children: Edgar and Harold. Edgar's two children were you, Eddie, and you Carolyn. Harold's two children were Robert and Marylea. Robert is not married to my knowledge while Marylea is. She lives in Texas, has two daughters, and we hear from her on occasion." It was somewhere in New England, possibly Bristol, Conn. or perhaps Springfield, Mass. I recall her quite clearly having lived on the farm with her while Dad was operating it. She died suddenly while we were living there and I would estimate it about the year 1912 or 1913. She was a rather austere and stern typical New England Yankee, and no doubt some of the coldness which she seemed to show especially to my brother and me could be attributed to severe crippling arthritis, but she called it rheumatism. She was, however, able to do some of the usual duties of keeping the farm going such as making bread, churning butter, and getting meals." "The [Abel Cornelius Hendee] farm was situated in a rural area of the Berkshires in a town called Hartland, Connecticut. It was located about three miles from the Massachusetts state line. Most of the shopping was done in the village of North Granby, Connecticut, also located about three miles from the farm. Sometimes, we shopped in Granville, Massachusetts about three miles away. It wasn't located too far from Hartford, Connecticut since my father used to drive a horse and buggy to Hartford where he sold trailing arbutus which grew in abundance on the mountain sides. He used to get 50¢ per bunch for it even in those days. Subsequently a law was passed forbidding the picking of this wild rather beautiful flower with a perfume out of this world. It grew just as the name implies in a trailing fashion and in picking the blossoms, the trailing vines were pulled up and destroyed. Dad [Clarence Arthur Hendee] never did very well in his operation of the farm because while the soil was fertile enough, it was quite rocky and of course there were few farm implements in this period to help him do a good job. It might be called a one horse operation. When my grandmother [Esther L. (Hastings) Hendee] died, she left the farm to one of Dad's brothers [Eugene C. Hendee] and that ended Dad's operations in that part of the world." Clarence Arthur Hendee b. 7 Oct 1875 Connecticut (probably Bristol), USA m. Jennie Olena 1902 d. abt 1962 (age 86yr) Valatie, New York Occupation: vaudeville trouper, farmer, machine operator Residence: Hartland, Connecticut (1910); Troy, New York; Columbia County, New York (1921-1948); Valatie, New York (1948-abt 1962) [LDS Family History Search - http://www.familysearch.org/ENG/Search/frameset_search.asp] "Supposedly, at one point, my uncle or one of my other family members was able to trace our Hendee roots back to the original French immigrants. At this point, however, I don't have access to any of that information. According to my grandfather, Edgar Arthur Hendee, my great grandfather, Clarence Arthur Hendee (son of Abel Cornelius Hendee and Esther L. Hastings) was the cousin of George Mallory Hendee. Apparently in the family tree that George compiled back in his day, he didn't include Clarence's part of the family because they were considered too poor to condescend associating with. My grandfather [Edgar Arthur Hendee], however, tells a story of George [Mallory Hendee] visiting his father's farm in a big fancy car only once in his life and as my great-grandfather [Clarence Arthur Hendee] was only a young child at the time, he was whisked away to keep from annoying the most-distinguished guest. Anyway, I just thought I'd see if any of these names ring a bell or if you have any additional information you'd be willing to offer. I have the names of Abel's other children, but not much beyond Abel himself, although I fully intend to keep looking!" [Catherine Hendee (Hayes) Cole - catherinehcole@gmail.com; Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

Jennie: b. 1877 New York, USA d. abt 1963 (age 85yr) Valatie, New York Parents: Walter Olena (b. abt 1855 New York m. abt 1875 d. bet 1903-1910 bur. Oakwood Cemetery) and Phoebe Jane Patton (b. abt 1852 New York d. bet 1910-1920 "likely Troy, New York")

"As to the Olenas (Walter and Phoebe, Jennie's parents), I have even less. Supposedly Walter was buried in Oakwood Cemetery but I have been unable to find him listed so far. The good news is, a group of people is currently working on publishing a list of the interned at Oakwood and they've gotten up to 1903. I did find Walter's son, Edgar listed there, so it's likely that, given time, Walter will surface as well. I also have a picture of Jennie Olena, as well as family portrait with Clarence Hendee, Jennie Olena, Edgar and Harold Hendee, Phoebe Olena, and Charles Olena. I will send both later today as well. Walter Olena b. abt 1855 New York (although the 1880 Census for has Canada listed as the birthplace for Jennie, Charles and Edgar Olena's father, this being Walter, I believe it to be an error as all other Censuses list Walter's birthplace as New York) m. abt 1875 d. between 1903-1910, based on Cemetery Records at Oakwood Cemetery and 1910 US Census - plus, my grandfather never met him and he was born in 1903. Phoebe Jane Patton b. abt 1856 New York d. between 1910 and 1920, likely Troy, NY as she left the family home to Jennie and Clarence Hendee upon her death." [<http://search.ancestry.com>; Catherine Hendee (Hayes) Cole - catherinehcole@gmail.com]

"The [Abel Cornelius Hendee] farm was situated in a rural area of the Berkshires in a town called Hartland, Connecticut. It was located about three miles from the Massachusetts state line. Most of the shopping was done in the village of North Granby, Connecticut, also located about three miles from the farm. Sometimes, we shopped in Granville, Massachusetts about three miles away. It wasn't located too far from Hartford, Connecticut since my father [Clarence Arthur Hendee] used to drive a horse and buggy to Hartford where he sold trailing arbutus which grew in abundance on the mountain sides. He used to get 50¢ per bunch for it even in those days. Subsequently a law was passed forbidding the picking of this wild rather beautiful flower with a perfume out of this world. It might be called a one horse operation. When my grandmother [Esther L. (Hastings) Hendee] died, she left the farm to one of Dad's brothers [Eugene C. [Edgar Arthur Hendee: "Hendee Chronicles" letter - 25 Oct 1982, Waddington, New York; Catherine Hendee (Hayes) Cole - catherinehcole@gmail.com]

"Getting back to my Dad [Clarence Arthur Hendee], your grandfather, he was a machine operator in one of the large collar and cuff establishments in Troy, New York. Every so often he would become fed up with his Troy job and decide to go back to Connecticut on grandmother's farm where he would last a year or two and then back to Troy again. He did this so many times that it accounts for my leaving school and never trying to go to high school. When he finally took over [a] farm from a fellow named Oakley Furnet down in Columbia County, New York, he managed to stay there from about 1921 until 1939 or 1940. Harold and I of course helped him on the farm and we would take market gardening produce to the Albany Market by the truck load. It was then that Harold (brother Harold, that is) and I decided to forget the farm and go back to high school even at an advanced age. Dad tried to prevent it, but we went back anyhow and figured that we could help him after school and, if we went on to higher education, we could help him in the summer. We both went on to college as a result. I won the English prize, math prize, general knowledge prize, Cornell scholarship, and New York State scholarship, while Harold went on to State Teachers College at Albany. After college, I worked for the Federal Bank of Springfield, Mass. and Harold went to teaching school. Dad then gave up the Furney farm, and moved a few miles down the road where he lived until about 1948. Then dad and mother moved to a nursing home in Valatie, New York where they lived only a couple of years, Mother dying at 85 and Dad shortly after at 86. I come from a long lived family. When Dad took over the farm in Columbia County from Oakley Furney, (a man who worked for the State Education Dept.) and Mother saw that he was going to stay put for a few years, she sold the house in Troy which had been left to her and that about put the finishing touches on Dad's moving back and forth from the farm to Troy and at least gave him no place to go back to, anyhow. He didn't do so well in Troy, anyhow as sometimes work got slack and he would be laid off. Once, he took a job driving a horse and wagon delivering ice cream to the stores. He was paid all of 12¢ per week for this job, so maybe that's why he was so restless! . . . At one time when he was operating the farm for Furney, he had over 5,000 chickens and about 1,000 ducks. Their appetites almost put grandfather out of business." [Edgar Arthur Hendee: "Hendee Chronicles" letter - 25 Oct 1982, Waddington, New York; Catherine Hendee (Hayes) Cole - catherinehcole@gmail.com]

"Probably a final few words about Dad [Clarence Arthur Hendee], and I'm sure you don't know these facts. In his younger years, he was a vaudeville trouper going from one town to another for one night stands. His specialty was to play the part of a tramp who would pretend he had just arrived in town via the usual route. He would crack a few jokes, kid a few of the prominent people into being the butt of the jokes, having gotten their names beforehand, and then he'd go into his specialty which was enacting out the old tear jerker, "It was down in the Lehigh Valley". I've heard him do it a hundred times in the old days for guests and at parties. At the end of his specialty, he'd appear to see a vision of little Nellie and fall over dead. Obviously his bones were lots stronger than mine, otherwise he'd have some shattered bones. He sure could hit the deck. Did you know that he was a short order cook? You better believe he could fix fried oysters and fried clams to make your mouth water. In spite of his falls he lived as stated to be about 86." “I don't have much on The Podlewskis (Wladyslaw and Agnes, parents to Jane). They came over from Lublin, Poland (although it was technically under Russian control at the time) in the early 1900s, so I only have what is referenced on Ellis Island Immigration forms. I do know that the father was a merchant but ended up in construction once settled in New York. I have a picture of him, which I'll send once I get home from work. “The following letter was written to my mother, Carolyn Hayes, and my uncle, Ed Hendee, by my grandfather, Edgar A. Hendee, on October 25, 1982 in Waddington, New York. The letter was type-written and was in response to a request made by my uncle [Ed Hendee] for more information on his family's history.” [Catherine Hendee (Hayes) Cole - catherinehcole@gmail.com]

“To Eddie & Carolyn, Since Eddie requested that I write down what I know of the Hendee family, I shall try to do so, but it will be sketchy since all I ever knew of the family history consists of what my father on occasions said. The Hendee Chronicles: My grandmother on Dad's side was name Esther Hastings. I do not know if she had sisters or brothers nor do I know where [she] was born. It was somewhere in New England, possibly Bristol, Conn. or perhaps Springfield, Mass. I recall her quite clearly having lived on the farm with her while Dad [Clarence Arthur Hendee] was operating it. She died suddenly while we were living there and I would estimate it about the year 1912 or 1913. She was a rather austere and stern typical New England Yankee, and no doubt some of the coldness which she seemed to show especially to my brother and me could be attributed to severe crippling arthritis, but she called it rheumatism. She was, however, able to do some of the usual duties of keeping the farm going such as making bread, churning butter, and getting meals. The farm was situated in a rural area of the Berkshires in a town called Hartland, Connecticut. It was located about three miles from the Massachusetts state line. Most of the shopping was done in the village of North Granby, Connecticut, also located about three miles from the farm. Sometimes, we shopped in Granville, Massachusetts about three miles away. It wasn't located too far from Hartford, Connecticut since my father used to drive a horse and buggy to Hartford where he sold trailing arbutus which grew in abundance on the mountain sides. He used to get 50¢ per bunch for it even in those days. Subsequently a law was passed forbidding the picking of this wild rather beautiful flower with a perfume out of this world. It grew just as the name implies in a trailing fashion and in picking the blossoms, the trailing vines were pulled up and destroyed. Dad [Clarence Arthur Hendee] never did very well in his operation of the farm because while the soil was fertile enough, it was quite rocky and of course there were few farm implements in this period to help him do a good job. It might be called a one horse operation. When my grandmother died, she left the farm to one of Dad's brothers [Eugene C. Hendee] and that ended Dad's operations in that part of the world.

"When he [Clarence Arthur Hendee], finally took over the farm from a fellow named Oakley Furnet down in Columbia County, New York, he managed to stay there from about 1921 until 1939 or 1940. Harold and I of course helped him on the farm and we would take market gardening produce to the Albany Market by the truck load. It was then that Harold and I (brother Harold, that is) decided to forget the farm and go back to high school even at an advanced age. Dad tried to prevent it, but we went back anyhow and figured that we could help him after school and if we went on to higher education, we could help him in the summer. We both went on to college as a result. I won the English prize, math prize, general knowledge prize, Cornell scholarship, and New York State scholarship, while Harold went on to State Teachers College at Albany. After college, I worked for the Federal Bank of Springfield, Mass. and Harold went to teaching school . . . Harold's two children were Robert and Marylea. Achsh Hendee b. 13 Feb 1787 (or 13 Feb 1786) Westminster, Windham County, Vermont, USA m. Amos Hitchcock 23 Nov 1808 (or 7 Nov 1807) Westminster, Vermont by Timothy Field, Minister d. 2 Feb 1852 (age 65 yr) Westminster, Windham County, Vermont 10 children [https://familysearch.org/pal:/MM9.2.1/M7VG-9GT]

Note: Both Achsh Hendee [spouse – Amos Hitchcock] and Caleb Hendee [III] [spouse – Ruth Prentis] were married to their respective spouses in Westminster, Vermont by Minister Timothy Field. Neither Achsh nor Caleb have found a definite place in this Hendee document but it would seem their marriages nine years apart in the same place by the same person would indicate a close relationship – possibly brother and sister. Their parents are a problem since nowhere are their parents explicitly identified. The one clue which may bear fruit is that Westminster, Vermont was the place of death for both parents of Judith (Goodell) Hendee. Judith was the wife of Caleb Hendee (b. 24 Aug 1756 or 24 Sep 1755 Ashford, Windham County, Connecticut). This document proves only one child born to Caleb and Judith: Abel Cornelius Hendee b. 1789. Abel's birth date fits exactly with those of Achsh b. 1786 and Caleb's marriage in 1817. Not iron-clad but better than anything else found so far. If this proves to be true, Horatio S. Hendee and all his descendants would also find a home in this document under the above Caleb and Ruth (Prentis) Hendee. Achsh and Caleb Hendee and their descendants have tentatively been included below under this Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756) on the basis of this logic." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"You got my curiosity up so I did some research and here is what I can add to what you already suggested. Not only did Caleb Hendee, Jr. marry Judith Goodell who had ties with her parents to Westminster [Vermont], but you may also know that his sister Mehitabel [Hendee] married Amos Goodale who was reported as born in Westminster [Vermont]. As you said, Caleb [III] (b. Connecticut d. 1833) and Achsh (b. 13 Feb 1787 d. 2 Feb 1852 in Westminster) were both married in Westminster [Vermont]. But did you know that Rockset Hendee was born 5 Mar 1795 in Westminster [Vermont]. She married George Parker who was born 24 Feb 1796 in Chester, Windsor, VT. Caleb [III], Achsh (b. 1787), Rockset (b. 1795) and Abel (b. 1789) were all born close in time and could be siblings . . . Achsh is a Hebrew name and in the Bible she is listed as the daughter of Caleb. Could they have found this in the scriptures and that is why they chose that name for her?" [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"I believe it likely that Achsh, Abel, Rockset/Rocksey and Caleb were siblings. In that regard, is there any documentation that confirms where Abel was born or is the birthplace assumed based on where he lived and where his father was born? In other words, all could have been born in Westminster or the later children could have been born there. If Josiah was the father, he would have had to remarry after his wife Tamma died in 1789, which is entirely possible. However the fact that Achsh comes from a biblical individual who was the daughter of Caleb and that her likely sibling was Caleb, who may have been named after his father, I would tend towards Caleb. It is true that we have no connection to Westminster for Caleb except through his wife and brother-in-law and that we know that a Josiah Hendee lived there. Perhaps both Caleb and Josiah went there after Josiah's wife died. The records do not indicate that any of Josiah's known sons went here. They all were found in Ontario County, New York (an area that later became Wayne County). I have been able to identify some of their descendants. If Josiah did go there, it appears that he returned to Connecticut and died there or at least was buried there per Connecticut, Deaths and Burials, 1772-1934; birth: 1751; death: 4 April 1826; burial: , , Connecticut. That is consistent with the fact that he no longer operated the hotel after the turn of the century." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

Dr. Horatio S. Hendee (Obituary): Dr. "Horatio S. Hendee died at Lowville, Lewis County, New York on Tuesday aged sixty-two years. He was graduated in his profession from Castleton (Vermont) Medical College. In September 1862, he was commissioned Assistant Surgeon of the Fifth Regiment of Heavy Artillery, which had been recruited in Lewis and Jefferson Counties [New York]. Later he was promoted to be Surgeon, and assigned to duty with the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Regiment New York Volunteers. He was one of the New York officers detailed to accompany President Lincoln on his memorable visit to the battlefield at Gettysburg in 1863. After two years service in the army, he resigned and resumed the private practice of his profession, first at Carthage and later at Lowville. While residing at Carthage, he was elected as a Republican to represent the Second Assembly District of Jefferson County in the Legislature of 1872. He was for several years an Elder in the Lowville Presbyterian Church. He leaves a wife and two children." [The New York Times, 8 Jan 1892 - <http://query.nytimes.com/mem/archive-free/pdf?res=F50C15FA3C5C17738DDDA10894D9405B8285F0D3>]

"HORATIO S. HENDEE: Dr. Hendee, of Carthage, worthily represents the Second district of Jefferson county. A man of commanding presence and high grade of ability, he is one of the marked members of the present House, and not only gives every measure close scrutiny but is active in forwarding those which he deems conducive to the public welfare. He was born in Greig, Lewis county, November 11th, 1826, and is, therefore, about forty-six years of age. His parents, Caleb and Ruth Hendee, were natives of Vermont, from whence they moved to New York shortly after their marriage. Mr. Hendee's mother is still living, at the age of eighty, but his father died in 1833. Mr. Hendee secured the advantages of a liberal common school education, and early chose the medical profession, in which he has attained considerable eminence as a practicing physician and surgeon. After the completion of his studies he visited Europe, and gained much knowledge of value in his profession. During his absence the rebellion broke out, and on his return he offered his services in the Union cause. He was commissioned Surgeon of the 183d Regiment, New York volunteers, and during the years 1862, 1863 and 1864, he served with distinction in that capacity, and acquired a professional experience which was invaluable to him. On leaving the army he settled at Carthage in a lucrative practice, which he still enjoys. In political belief, Mr. Hendee is an uncompromising and earnest Republican, having always acted with that party since its organization, though his first vote was cast for Whig candidates. He has always been adverse to accepting public honors, however, and never held office previous to his present term in the Assembly. He was elected by a majority of 300 over Andrew J. Cornwall, his Democratic opponent. He is Chairman of the Committee on State Charitable Institutions, and a member of the Committees on the Militia and Public Health. Mr. Hendee is a man of large frame and iron constitution, and his physiognomy denotes that he is also a man of deep convictions and sound judgment. He is now in the prime of life, and with a mind fully matured and ripened in the school of experience, he is in all respects a safe counselor and an able legislator. He has been twice married. His first wife was Sabra L. Myers. She died in January, 1871, twenty years after her marriage; and in February, 1872, he married Ella F. Ward. For many years past, Mr. Hendee has been a member of the Presbyterian church." [Life Sketches of Government Officers and Members of the Legislature of the State of New York ... "Leslie Horatio Hendee has formed a partnership in the drug business with William Tipping of Albany, N. Y., under the firm name of Hendee & Tipping. They have rented the very fine store of Dr. H. S. Hendee which is just completed in Alhambra building. As a drug store it has no superior in northern New York. Leslie H. Hendee is a son of Dr. [Horatio S. Hendee] and has already attended two full courses of lectures in the College of Pharmacy at Albany, and will graduate in about a year hence. Mr. Tipping is a graduate of the College of Pharmacy, at Albany and has had fifteen years' experience in the drug business. For the past two or three years Mr. Tipping has had charge of one of the leading drug stores in Albany. They will open their store to the public December 1st. Forty-four so-called fresh air children from New York [City] arrived in Lowville last Thursday afternoon and were given a warm welcome by the large crowd gathered at the station. The group included about a dozen ebony-hued little boys and girls who, with the others, for two weeks, will enjoy fresh air unladen with the smoke and smells of industry and will learn that .milk comes from cows and not from cans. Those who will be hosts to the children for two weeks: . . . Mrs. Sabra Strife . . ." [The Lowville, New York Journal and Republican, Thursday, August 3, 1933]

"So there appears it was just a short marriage between Sabra Hendee Strife and Walker Main. Walker Main was great grandfather to my husband. John Campany<Kate (Main) Campany<Joy Main<Walker Main. My mother in law Kate never spoke of any love for her father, Joy. Her brother died last week and at the wake the family spoke of how Joy never allowed the children to call him "dad" etc., they addressed him as Joy. They spoke of how they felt he married their mother for her money then never really looked at her again. I have to wonder if his own father was abusive, if he married the sad widow Sabra Hendee for money, although both had lost spouses they could have shared those feelings of grief. Imagine with 5 children Sabra Hendee Strife was quite afraid of what her life would be like. Did she leave Main because he was abusive? Was the burning of the infant an accident? Walker Main bought and sold farms frequently from what I see in the old newspapers. My mother in law never seemed to have much to say about him except that when he died they sold their farm to move to his - maybe they moved before he died to care for him but no one offers much information. My mother says that Larry Strifes father Leonard was a son to Sabra and maybe I can ask him some questions - will let you know what he tells me!!"

Walker: b. 1864 d. 1941 (age 77yr) Parents: James Main and Martha Saunders “I have a Walker Main- early settler (1802/3) in Lewis County NY. He has one son, Joy Main. This is my husband’s grandfather . . . I am looking for more information on a Walker Main. He lived in Lewis Co. New York- was one of the early settlers of this area. Lived for awhile at Chase Lake then later in life relocated to the Watson area. He had one son named Joy Main- my husbands grandfather. Noticed you mentioned a Walker Main- can you tell me what you know about him? Also you mention Stonington CT and that is the area where many of the early settlers in 1802/3 came from- we suppose that many were given land here after the Revolutionary War for compensation for their service.” [CHARMAINE CAMPANY – cjcamp@frontiernet.net] “Walker Main was born 1864 and Sabra was born abt. 1890 making him 26 years her senior. Walker’s [first] wife was born 1873 and died Dec. 1916. Walkers only child, son Joy [from his first marriage] was born Feb 9, 1893 so he was 3 years Sabra’s junior. Joy [Main], Walker’s son was around the age of 27 in 1920 when the baby Dorothy is scalded and he had married Amelia his wife in 1913 - [Amelia] was born in 1888 so she was 5 years older than Joy (was this part of him not being nice to her?)” [Charmaine V. Campany - Croghan, New York - cjcamp@frontiernet.net]

Note: “Sabra Hendee is shown as ‘Sabra Strife’ in her marriage record when she married Walker Main in 1919. So her previous marriage appears to have been to William J. Strife. Since her marriage to William J. Strife was when she was 20 years old and her marriage to Walker Main was when she was 29 years old, it appears that her marriage to William was her first and her marriage to Walker was her second. According to the 1925 New York census, Sabra was single again at age 35, six years after her marriage to Walker Main. Since no children are listed with Sabra in the 1925 New York census (they would all have been five years old or younger), either Sabra and Walker had no children or their children were living with their father or someone else at the time of that census.” [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

“Would you have anything on a Sabra Hendee, her father is Dr. Leslie H. Hendee, his father is Hon. Dr. Horatio Hendee. Believe Sabra was a widow, then married for a very short time to a Walker Main. During this time she has a daughter who is badly burned in an accident. Believe she and Main divorced shortly after the marriage. Later[?] she may have married a man named Strife. They lived in Lewis County NY and I have that she died in 1942, September. Her mother [Adeline Louise Stebbins] remarried a man named Guy Packhard of Utica, New York, Sabra may have had a half brother named Charles Packhard from this marriage. I’m interested in if she had any children with Walker Main . . . Spoke to my mom, she says that Leonard Strife was Larry Strife’s father - she used to work with Larry so I will catch him and ask him what he knows (Leonard would be Sabra’s son) I see familiar local names in some of your information- Stebbins publishing might have some info on their surname-or the Atwood broadcasting- local businesses- Loucks is another old local name. Seems like there was a migration from Vermont to Lewis County - see some of my Stantons may have come from over there - some of them that migrated were first in what is now Oneida County but would come north as the Black River Canal was developed (branching off from the Erie Canal)- the tanneries here were hiring and transporting hides via the canal. Land was being developed for farming etc.” [CHARMAINE CAMPANY – cjcamp@frontiernet.net]

"I found the information on Sabra while doing some searches for information on my husbands maternal side-surname Main. Apparently no one knew or ever mentioned that a great grandfather was married shortly to Sabra Hendee Strife. I came across it while doing searches of our local newspapers that date back to early 1800's - they are on line to search for free - a public library grant allowed it to be done. I found her listed as Sabra Hendee / Strife / Main and Mrs. Main. Walker Main was quite a bit older than she as his son (an only child) seems to have been closer to her age. You can see her obituary with a picture and mention of her father and grandfather. To copy from those newspapers use the Tools>select&zoom>snapshot tool> right mouse click to print, copy etc..... I have not looked at the Hough's History of Lewis County to see if there is a mention of her father but it is possible and may be a book that you can view on line through the books that Cornell University has on its website- another free search. Petrie is another local name- my daughter has friends from Lowville NY (ten miles away) whose surname is Petrie so you might even find some of them in the old newspaper project. When you search make sure you are pretty specific and search for example as "Sabra" ; "Hendee" and so on... let me know how you make out! I found her information in the Lewis County batch but you might also check on the neighboring counties papers as often they would run some of the Lewis County news. [<http://news.nynl.net/>] Another old newspaper search sight for NY is the 'old Fulton postcard' site- just do a google search for it-Good Luck hunting for information! That has more NY newspapers but seems slower for my computer. -Charmaine PS- After the holiday I will try to give Larry Strife a call in Lowville or see if my mother has his email address- if she does ill pass on your email to him as your wife and him would be cousins." Rocksey (or Rockset, or Rochney, or Roelucy or Roxanna ["Roxey"]) Hendee b. 5 Mar 1795 Westminister, Windham County, Vermont, USA m. George Parker 27 Jan 1818 Westminister, Windham County, Vermont d. 29 Mar 1848 Ohio [Portrait and biographical record of Arizona; Author: Chapman Publishing; Publisher: Рипол Классик: ISBN 5880705676, 9785880705672; Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"I've looked at the entries for Rockset Hendee and I agree that they are not clearly identifiable. It appears that it starts with "Roch" but from there it is hard to tell. It clearly ended with a "y" which could mean that either the name did indeed end with a "y" or it was a familiar form of the name. While the book containing the name Rockset [Portrait and biographical record of Arizona; Author: Chapman Publishing; Publisher: Рипол Классик: ISBN 5880705676, 9785880705672] is clear as to spelling, it was given by a descendant and we cannot tell whether it was transcribed from some other document so that the "t" at the end of the name may be incorrect. I suppose it was pronounced Rocksey ["Roxey" for Roxanna?], either in the formal or informal use of the name. The fact that she had a daughter named Roxanna supports this though the original spelling remains a mystery. Unfortunately though most of her children are named in the link I sent you, only one has a birthdate and I have been unable to locate any of the rest of them." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"I believe it likely that Achshah, Abel, Rockset/Rocksey ["Roxey" for Roxanna?] and Caleb [Hendee] were siblings. In that regard, is there any documentation that confirms where Abel was born or is the birthplace assumed based on where he lived and where his father was born? In other words, all could have been born in Westminister or the later children could have been born there. If Josiah was the father, he would have had to remarry after his wife Tamma died in 1789, which is entirely possible. However the fact that Achshah comes from a biblical individual who was the daughter of Caleb and that her likely sibling was Caleb, who may have been named after his father, I would tend towards Caleb. It is true that we have no connection to Westminister for Caleb except through his wife and brother-in-law and that we know that a Josiah Hendee lived there. Perhaps both Caleb and Josiah went there after Josiah's wife died. The records do not indicate that any of Josiah's known sons went here. They all were found in Ontario County, New York (an area that later became Wayne County). I have been able to identify some of their descendants. If Josiah did go there, it appears that he returned to Connecticut and died there or at least was buried there per Connecticut, Deaths and Burials, 1772-1934; birth: 1751; death: 4 April 1826; burial: , , Connecticut. That is consistent with the fact that he no longer operated the hotel after the turn of the century." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

Note: Both Achshah Hendee [spouse – Amos Hitchcock] and Caleb Hendee [spouse – Ruth Prentis] were married to their respective spouses in Westminister, Vermont by Minister Timothy Field. Neither Achshah nor Caleb have found a definite place in this Hendee document but it would seem their marriages nine years apart in the same place by the same person would indicate a close relationship – possibly brother and sister. Their parents are a problem since nowhere are their parents explicitly identified. The one clue which may bear fruit is that Westminister, Vermont was the place of death for both parents of Judith (Goodell) Hendee. Judith was the wife of Caleb Hendee (b. 24 Aug 1756 or 24 Sep 1755 Ashford, Windham County, Connecticut). This document shows only one child born to Caleb and Judith: Abel Cornelius Hendee b. 1789. Abel's birth date fits exactly with those of Achshah b. 1786 and Caleb's marriage in 1817. Not iron-clad but better than anything else found so far. If this proves to be true, Horatio S. Hendee and all his descendants would also find a home in this document under the above Caleb and Ruth (Prentis) Hendee. Achshah and Caleb Hendee and their descendants have tentatively been included below under this Caleb Hendee, Jr. (b. 24 Aug 1756) on the basis of this logic." [David Petrie – dapwyn@aol.com]

"You got my curiosity up so I did some research and here is what I can add to what you already suggested. Not only did Caleb Hendee, Jr. marry Judith Goodell who had ties with her parents to Westminister [Vermont], but you may also know that his sister Mehitabel married Amos Goodale who was reported as born in Westminister [Vermont]. As you said, Caleb [Hendee III b. Connecticut, d. 1833] and Achshah (b. 13 Feb 1787, d. 2 Feb 1852 in Westminister) were both married in Westminister [Vermont]. But did you know that Rockset Hendee was born 5 Mar 1795 in Westminister [Vermont]. She married George Parker who was born 24 Feb 1796 in Chester, Windsor, VT. Caleb, Achshah, Rockset and Abel were all born close in time and could be siblings." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

John and Seth were in the war of 1812. The daughters were Betsey [Greenman,] Julia, who married Artemas Gleason, and Harriet, the only child born in New Woodstock, who married Orrin Hendee . . . John Savage with his wife and five children, ranging in age from two to ten years, came in 1800, with an ox team from Vermont to New Woodstock. Mr. Savage was a sailor in early life; later he became a carpenter and joiner. Soon after he came to New Woodstock, probably having purchased land on contract. He built a log house which was still standing within the remembrance of some of his grandchildren. In 1807, a deed was given him by Frederick Brim, of one hundred fifty acres of land in consideration of the sum of five hundred dollars. The land now owned by Joseph Coley, above the cheese factory, was the northern boundary. John Savage owned all the land south of that boundary between the east and west roads to Cazenovia, as far as Main street in the village of New Woodstock. Mr. Savage gave the land, once covered with maple trees and constituting his "sugar bush," as the site for the Baptist church. He also gave the older part of the cemetery in consideration of help in clearing the remaining land. His wife, Elizabeth, was the first secretary of the Baptist Mite Society, formed in 1812. Mrs. Savage died in 1826. John Savage, in the latter years of his life, spent much time in trapping and fishing. Obituary: "HENDEE - At the residence of his son, Alpheus Hendee, in Lincklaen Chenango Co. NY March 18, 1886, Orrin Hendee age 87 years 8 months and 10 days. The funeral was attended at New Woodstock the 21st inst. Elder Leary of that place preached a very appropriate and instructive discourse on the occasion. The deceased was born in Ashford, Windham Co. Conn. When about eight years of age he came with his parents to Cazanovia, Madison Co. NY near what is now the village of New Woodstock. When about 17 years of age he united with the Baptist Church of that place. He remained a faithful and earnest member through his long life. In 1825 he was united in marriage to Harriet Savage with whom he walked the journey of life for 55 yeras. In 1863 they removed to Sherburne, where they remained until the death of his companion in 1880. He cared for her through a long and painful illness til the brittle thread of life was sundered and she was at rest. He then came to Lincklaen where he remained waiting patiently, in the family of his son, for his summons to follow. Two sons and two daughters survive him. The long life of the deceased was characterized by industry and integrity. His habits were decidedly temperate, which fact, in a great measure, might account for his uniform robust health and his quiet and peaceful departure. He death was like the going out of a lamp when the oil is spent." [perhaps the Syracuse Herald (?); Mary Farley - farleymary@hotmail.com]

"Lincklaen March 24 - Mr. Orrin Hendee died at the residence of his son, Alpheus, on Friday eveing the 19th inst. The remains were taken to New Woodstock for burial, at which place the funeral services were held. Quite a goodly number of neighbors asembled at the house Sunday morning to express thier sympathy for the bereaved family. Thus another useful life is closed and another link is added to the chain that unites the ____ with the world beyond." [perhaps the Syracuse Herald (?); Mary Farley - farleymary@hotmail.com]

SPENCER T. COLWELL. Elizabeth A. Hendee, wife of the late Spencer T. Colwell, died at her home on Sherburne West Hill, at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 4, 1908. Mrs. Colwell was born in Cazenovia, N.Y., July 14, 1826, and was the eldest daughter of Orrin and Harriet Savage Hendee. She was married to Spencer T. Colwell October 13, 1847, at her father's home in New Woodstock, N.Y., and came with her husband to Sherburne, which has since been her home. Coming of old New England stock, she possessed those sterling qualities which made her a loving, industrious wife, a good mother, a warm friend and a kind and helpful neighbor. Mrs Colwell was of a retiring disposition but while able to engage in active life, did all she could to further the interest of the Church (Baptist of Sherburne) of which she had been a member for sixty years. For the past five or six years she gradually grew more helpless from disease, but never lost her interest in the active life of the world. 'Her children arise up and call her blessed.' Rev. C.V. Stocum conducted the funeral services at her late home on Thursday afternoon, February 6th, and with appropriate words paid tribute to the worth of the departed. As part of the service he read the following poem:"

BEAUTIFUL HANDS,

"Such beautiful, beautiful hands –
They are neither white nor small,
And you I know, would scarcely think
That they were fair at all.
I've looked on hands whose form and hue
A sculptor's dream might be,
Yet are these aged, wrinkled hands
Most beautiful to me.

Such beautiful, beautiful hands –
Though heart were weary and sad,
These patient hands kept toiling on,
That the children might be glad.
I almost weep as looking back
To childhood's distant day,
I think how these hands rested not
When mine were at their play.

Such beautiful, beautiful hands –
They're growing feeble now,
For time and pain have left their mark
On hand, and heart, and brow.
Alas! alas! the nearing time
And the sad, sad day to me
When 'neath the daisies out of sight,
These hands will folded be.

But oh! beyond this shadow land
Where all is bright and fair,
I know full well these dear old hands
Will palm of victory bear –
Where crystal streams through endless years,
Flow over golden sands
And when the old grow young again
I'll clasp my mother's hands."

"The remains were laid in the family plot in the beautiful West Hill Cemetery. Four children survive her; Mrs. Inman, of Eaton; Mrs. Reese, of Cortand and; Miss Hattie of Sherburne, and Irving S., of Auburn; also two grandsons, Howard Spencer and Robert Talcott Colwell, of Auburn; one sister, Mrs. Mary Northrop, of Norwich, and two brothers, Alpheus Hendee, of New Woodstock [N.Y.], and William Hendee, of Syracuse, N.Y." "Mrs. Spencer Caldwell: News has been received of the death of Mrs. Spencer Colwell of Sherburne which occurred Feb. 4th, 1908. For several years she has been afflicted with creeping palsy leaving her nearly helpless; but the immediate cause of her death was bronchitis. At the time of her marriage she was a resident of DeRyter, her home being near Sheds. There are some still living who will remember Elizabeth Hendee. Mr. Colwell passed away last August Oct. 13, 1907, would have been the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage." [Mary Farley - farleymary@hotmail.com]

"The Wedding of John F. [Frederick] Ames and Miss Sophie A. Wall, both of DeRuyter [New York], and Mr. Fred O. Hendee of Sloan, Iowa, and Miss Zella E. Wall of DeRuyter [New York]. The attractive residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Wall, at the head of the beautiful DeRuyter reservoir, was the scene of an unusual and very interesting event on Tuesday last. At 11 A. M. that day, in the presence of an assembled multitude of relatives and friends, two young couples took upon themselves the holy bonds of matrimony and started out to pursue together the rosy-hued journey of life. The contracting parties to this pleasant occurrence were Rev. John F. Ames, a recent graduate of Madison University, who took unto himself Miss Sophie A. Wall, the accomplished elder daughter of the household, and Mr. Fred O. Hendee, son of Alpheus Hendee, Esq., of Lincklaen [New York], who led to the hymeneal altar the beloved second daughter, Miss Zella E. Wall. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Smith of New Woodstock, with the beautiful service of the M. E. Church, followed by an impressive prayer. Mrs. M. Lou Ames played the wedding march. The brides were dressed alike, in light brown silk, wearing white illusion and natural white flowers. The happy grooms appeared the personification of manliness, while the beautiful young brides looked as sweet and lovely as brides are always supposed to. After extending congratulations and viewing the presents, a list of which is given below, a substantial collation was served. 110 persons were present, among whom were Mrs. Susan Coon, grandmother of the brides, aged nearly 89 years, and Mrs. Celma Briggs, grandmother of Mr. Ames, past 87. At 1 o'clock the happy couples, followed by showers of rice and slippers, started for the depot, where they took the train for Niagara Falls. Mr. Hendee and bride go to Sloan, Iowa, where he is engaged in a prosperous mercantile business in partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. George Wall; while Mr. Ames returns to Genoa, N. Y., where he has accepted the pastorate, under very flattering circumstances, of the Baptist Society. The best wishes of the community go with them all; while every mother, whose children have gone out into the world, will feel a throb of sympathy for Mrs. Wall, in parting with two beloved daughters in a single day."

"Echoes: It was undoubtedly the largest private wedding party ever assemble in DeRuyter. M. W. Coon were there. We mention it, because he was so irrepressibly quiet that his presence might have escaped notice: A social gathering isn't complete without "Myron." A physician was present. His services were not called into requisition, but a smile crossed his features when he saw the "irrepressibly quiet" guest capture the second dish of ice cream. Prof. F. H. Ames of Stillwater was the only one of "the Elder's" 7 brothers unable to be present. "The Professor's" absence was much regretted; he sent a neat letter of congratulations however. F. M. Hungate took a keen interest in the ceremony. By personal request he secured of Mr. Wall a generous slice of the brides' cake, and slept with it beneath his pillow Tuesday night. He doesn't tell what he dreamed about, but there's a tender light behind his specs which leads to the inference that "everything is lovely - in his mind." [DeRuyter Gleaner, June 27, 1886]

Dear Father and Mother: -- After the storm of rice and old shoes had subsided, we reached the depot in ample time for the train. At Cortland, Ray Bliss, Sophie's cousin, met us with a hack, and gave us a good ride through the village after which they invited us to sit down to a bountiful supper. We went to Syracuse and from there right through to Rochester, putting up for the night at the New Osborn House. This morning we went to visit Power's Art Gallery, probably the finest in America. What beautiful masterpieces of art we saw. We kept going from one room to another until it was time for our train. We arrived here about one o'clock and were very successful in getting a hotel. It

"History will remember Fred Hendee, by FAYE WHITBECK, Staff Writer: FHS teacher leaves bountiful bequest to RRCC Foundation - Many who had him as a teacher at [International] Falls High School [Minnesota] may remember him dramatically paddling a canoe between the rows of desks in his classroom. Or donning some article of old clothing like one worn long ago by the inhabitants of history. Or leaning down close to just one student and fervently whispering some historical detail as if the message was meant just for her. Some referred to him as "General Hendee" — the American history teacher and Civil War buff who taught at FHS from 1945 to 1976. Frederick Hendee, with squinting eyes and an affable "Jimmy Stewart" way of speaking, had a penchant for storytelling that made the past seem like not so long ago. For a lot of kids, that made all the difference between forgetting — and learning. In keeping with his love of history and education, the late Fred Hendee has left a $650,000 endowment to the Rainy River Community College Foundation. The gift was announced following his estate settlement after the 2007 death of his only child. The endowment's preferred designation is for scholarships, but there are no restrictions, according to Hendee estate executor, Wayne Lindstrom. The gift comes at an important time for RRCC [Rainy River Community College] and it acknowledges the distinction of funds left to the Foundation, as separate from the college in general. 'It comes at a time when the college is in need of additional resources,' Provost Mike Johnson told The Daily Journal. 'And scholarships are definitely a priority with the costs of higher education today. But we also hope to be creative in starting new programs which are very valuable in the times that we are in now. The college certainly looks to the Foundation to work together in how best to utilize these resources.' RRCC Foundation President Patti Ballan said the gift is a great tribute to Hendee. 'He was somebody who loved education and wanted it to continue in the community,' Ballan said. 'This is an opportunity for the Foundation to pass that on.' Who was Fred Hendee? Fred Hendee was born Dec. 9, 1913 in Sloan, Iowa and died in International Falls on May 4, 2003. His father, Arch Hendee, was a banker and a stockbroker. The son would invest and meticulously follow the stock market all his life. His mother Irma (Rieper) Hendee had a teaching degree in English. Fred graduated from Sloan High School, and Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa. Wayne Lindstrom said that Hendee's original will had designated the funds to his alma mater but discussions in the 1990s led to the RRCC bequest. In 1941, Fred married Mildred Davis in Leon, Iowa. Attracted by the rustic recreational northland, they came to International Falls where Fred began his local career in 1945 at the Old Falls High School, that stood where TruStar Bank is today. In 1949, the couple prepared for the birth of their son, Arch "Freddie" Hendee. Refined and intellectual, they lived at the Keyes Arcade apartments. The Journal reported a stork shower held at the home of Mrs. Vern Jones at 807 Seventh St. with other hostesses Mrs. Francis Robbie and Mrs. Clifford Thompson. The idea that the health of this child would catastrophically alter their lives in a few years, likely never entered Mildred's head.

The tragedy: In 1964, while father and son were on the Falls golf course (a favorite pastime), the bespectacled and sport-loving 15-year-old suffered a cerebral assault. A second ruptured aneurysm left Freddie paralyzed on one side and unable to speak. For the couple who adored their only child, it was the heartbreak of their lives. Urged to institutionalize their son, Freddie was sent to Moose Lake, according to Gloria Lindstrom, a student upon whom Fred left an indelible imprint. She sent the teacher a postcard from the Gettysburg battlefields in 1972, a gesture he never forgot. With that, a special bond was formed. Gloria is also a registered nurse who was the dear friend and long-time care giver for the Hendee family. She knew them as well as anyone did. 'When young Freddie was first hospitalized in Duluth for eight months, Mildred stayed there the whole time and never came home once,' Gloria said about the gut-wrenching dedication of his mother. 'Fred was teaching but went down whenever he could.' Freddie was sent to Moose Lake but after one day, they knew they couldn't do that. So they gave up their lives to care for their child," Gloria said. The Hendees provided around-the-clock care for their damaged son and seldom did anything together outside the home, because one of them was always needed at Freddie's side. "Freddie was very lovable and was aware of what had happened," Gloria said. The teenager would communicate with his eyes and motioned with one, very strong, right arm which he used fiercely during occasional rages. Freddie continued to suffer excruciating headaches and would often scream in torment, sometimes making home life very stressful for the Hendees. Later, the couple would both develop Alzheimer's disease. Fred told Gloria many times that he wanted only the best for his son. He began adding to his family inheritance — by investing money for the future care of their son.

Making the most of life Fred was also a notable photographer — his artistic, self-developed photographs took many awards and appeared several times in publications such as the Minneapolis Star Tribune and The Daily Journal. He loved golf and was an enthusiastic target-shooter and fisherman. Gloria had long maintained her friendship with the Hendees, but came to them as care giver in 1988 through their close friend, Rodney Max, who taught world history at FHS. Gloria remembers the Hendees dancing to Lawrence Welk in their living room and loving to laugh. Fred was always reading when he wasn't following the financial market and penciling in tiny numbers on his painstakingly kept market graphs — which he did until very late in life. 'But they kept things very private,' Gloria said. 'Never wanting anyone to come in who could take Freddie away.' Also close to the couple and helping them with bookkeeping were Russ Johnson of the Falls and the late Buck Riley, all of whom belonged to the Border Investors Club. Later, Gloria's brother Wayne, with whom Freddie would have graduated in 1967, helped Fred with financial records. Wayne and wife Nancy also took part in caring for Freddie, now a very large man. 'Freddie had to be lifted and carried,' said Wayne. 'He was immobile, and heavy.' Wayne and Nancy took Freddie to their home where he loved their animals and hated to leave. Wayne also accompanied Fred back to his hometown of Sloan where the elderly man became very emotional at the sight of his family home and the grave sites of his parents and only brother, who had taken his own life. According to Gloria, the dementia that took the minds of both of the Hendees resulted in the whole family being admitted to the Littlefork Nursing Home [Littlefork, Koochiching County, Minnesota] in 1995. Mildred was failing fast but her husband found it difficult to stay in the center. After he suffered peritonitis from a ruptured appendix, Gloria took Fred home and continued to care for him another eight and a half years. Judy Montgomery, with the help of Dave and Lil Anderson, would care for Fred on night shifts. Mildred died in the Littlefork Nursing Home [Littlefork, Koochiching County, Minnesota] with her husband and Freddie in the room. The now middle-aged son understood that his life companion was gone and showed great sadness, according to Gloria. Freddie was moved to the Good Samaritan Center in the Falls where it was easier for people to visit. The senior Hendee died at the age of 89 in 2003, at his home. In 2007, his son would be taken by cancer at the age of 58. 'He had been locked inside that body since 1964,' Gloria said, but noted that it was his parents' care that kept him alive. The bountiful gift to the RRCC Foundation was the result of funds remaining after Freddie's death. 'This was a surprise and was very good news,' said Jerrod Shermoen, RRCC Foundation board member. 'It is a great legacy for Fred Hendee. A wonderful, wonderful gift.' Provost Johnson agrees: 'I'm sure some of the gift will be kept (invested) so scholarships can continue in the future,' Johnson said. 'The college is very thankful for the thoughtfulness of the donor

"A REMARKABLE REUNION, Collinsville "Boys" Assemble, FORMER RESIDENTS OF A LITTLE HAMLET IN LEWIS COUNTY MEET AT THEIR OLD HOME, COMING TOGETHER FROM FAR AND NEAR – MANY OF THEM HAVE WON DISTINCTION – A MOST ENJOYABLE DAY. The little hamlet of Collinsville, which lies midway between Turin and Lyons Falls, was the scene on Thursday last of one of the most notable gatherings ever held in Lewis county. The occasion was the reunion of the Collinsville boys of forty or more years ago, who came from near and far to do honor to their birthplace, and to clasp the hand of those so dear and familiar in the days of 'Auld Lang Syne.' I recall the school houses of the past. The first school house stood near the foot of the hill just below the lime kiln. This had entirely disappeared when I was a boy. The next building was the old two story stone school house on the present site, but near the street. That was the building in which most of us boys began our education. In the winter the school was taught by a gentleman and in the summer by a lady. The winter school was large, sometimes numbering as many as seventy or more scholars. Many large boys and girls came during the winter months. I can picture that old school room, with the desks around the wall, and the hard, stationary benches in front occupied by the larger scholars, and the small, low benches in the center of the room occupied by the small children. The teacher's platform and desk were near the door, with the blackboard behind, the large old fashioned wood stove, cracked and seamed, near the center of the room. In those days the teacher was permitted to use the rod and the ruler. The scholars often came in contact with that ruler, black and round, and as hard as a piece of steel. The collision was most painful, unless the culprit could slip a spelling book into his pocket unnoticed. There were occasional hand to hand encounters in those winter schools, between the teacher and some older boy or young man, but the teacher usually came out ahead and proper order was maintained. I recall the names of some of the teachers of those early days, Elizabeth Scovil, Amelia Hendee, Rev. Mr. Ford, a young Baptist clergyman, and a good preacher as well as a good teacher; J. Ferris Newman, Julia Williams, afterward Mrs. Ager; Clemensa Richmond, afterward Mrs. Albert Miller.

At the age of thirty he married Rosetta, daughter of James Dunn, and they are the parents of four daughters: Addie (Mrs. Kate Goodman); Mrs. Hittie Barton, and Eliza Hendee. In 1859 he bought the George Gee property of fifty acres, in 1866 bought part of the Elisha Barton property of thirty three acres, and which is now carried on by the heirs in connection with his son-in-law, Israel Goodman, who was a native of Bedfordshire, England, who married Kate Hendee in 1878, and who are the parents of one daughter, Rosa, having 115 acres of some of the best farm lands in Wayne county, raising large amounts of mint, hay, grain and stock, making a specialty of small fruits. Steven [Averell] was born] Oct. 28, 1730, at Windham, Connecticut (Cert T. R.), on his father's farm, which was in that part of the town later called Hampton. He lived on that farm until May 5, 1770, when he sold part of it and removed to Pomfret, an adjoining town in the same county. He was a member of the Connecticut Legislature in 1785. "Stephen Averil was Married to Sarah Hendee ye 18th of June 1752" at Windham (Cert T. R.) . She was b. in 1731, and was the daughter of Josiah Hendee and Bathsheba Larned, his wife. In the distribution of the estate of Josiah" Hendee, Mar. 7, 1766, there were mentioned, Caleb Hendee, only surviving son, Sarah, wife of Stephen Averell, and Elizabeth, wife of David Martin (letter by T. B. Davis of Wesleyan University, Chicago, 111.). Stephen's wife, Sarah (Hendee) Averell, was the mother of seven children. She died in 1775, aged 45 years. He m. (2) about 1776, Mrs. Mehitable (Dana) Allin, dau. of Ebenezer and Mehitable Dana, and widow of Ebenezer Ailing of Pomfret.

That Stephen Averill was a man of unusual ability is shown by the inventory of his estate rendered to Hon. Thomas Grosvernor, Esq., Judge of Probate, and dated Pomfret, June 15, A. D. 1810, and signed by Eben'r Kingsbury, Lem'l Ingals, and Squire Sessions, appraisers. The value of the estate was $9,738.72, which was large for a farmer of those days. The inventory is too extensive to copy in full. It contains a long list of wearing apparel: - including hats, coats, breaches, wescots, linen, and knee buckles; household furnishings; - including loomes, hnen wheels, chests, iron ware, pewter, china, bellows, warming pan, a round table, desk, looking-glass, great chair, silver tea spoons, table linen, several beds with flannel and linen bedding; farm products; - large quantities of pork, beef, Indian corn; five barrels of cider. Among out-of-doors movables were side saddles for men and women and farming tools; in the list of stock, he specifies a sorrel horse. Old Line back cow, speckle cow, little Red do, 17 sheep, and a four year old mare, and he owned much more in common with his son Stephen. Among his books were Salmon's Geography, the Bible and Self Knowledge, and the Sincere Convert. Stephen had at least part of the original farm of his father, William Averell, and probably some of his household effects, but they are not specified as inheritances in the inventory . . . We give an abstract of the will found in the Probate Court Records, recorded at Pomfret. This will of Stephen Averill of Pomfret was drawn up 5. Nov, 1804 : - I give to my well beloved [second] wife Mehitable Averill two cows of midling size and my best horse kind and the best woman's saddle, and four good sheep together with one half of my indoor movables to be hers forever - together with the improvement of the following described land and buildings during her remaining my widow. To my son William Aveill two elevenths of my estate He having had 101%, pounds which is to be allowed as so much of his portion: also my wearing apparel. To my son Frederick Averill two elevenths of my estate he having had £120. To my son Josiah Averill two elevenths he having had £113. s. 11. d. 4. To my son Stephen Averill two elevenths. To my dau. Sarah Crafts one eleventh She having had £39.16.s. To my dau. Lucy Averill one eleventh. To my grandson Stephen son of my son Stephen one eleventh of my estate. Frederick (my son) to have the following described lands - Stephen to have all my lands not heretofore willed to Frederick, meaning to contain the widow's dower after her decease. Sons Frederick and Stephen appointed executors. Wit's Stephen Averill, Daniel Clap Junior, Daniel Clap, Daniel Goodell, Proved June 5, 1810. {P. R., Povifret, Conn.) The settlement of this estate was mathematically rather complicated, but it appears to have been made to the satisfaction of the family. MEMORANDA. The name of Averill in Pomfret, as elsewhere in New England, was often called Avery, and still is so called by the friends and neighbors. -Ed." Abigail Parmly (or NABBE PARMELEE or Nabbe Parmela) b. 21 Mar 1767 Randolph, Vermont, New England m. Henry Blodgett 2 Dec 1784 (thanksgiving evening) Randolph, Vermont by James Blodgett d. 18 Feb 1854 Randolph, Vermont "Henry Blodgett and Abigail Parmley were married, thanksgiving evening, Dec. 2, 1784, by James Blodgett, who was the first justice of the peace in Randolph. The marriage had been postponed till a magistrate should be qualified to perform the ceremony, which the parties wished should be in Randolph. This was the first marriage in the town, and took place in a log-house built on the spot where the farm-house, long owned by James McIntyre and at present occupied by James Wright, now stands. Abigail was the second child of Jehiel Parmly, one of the first settlers in town, who married Eunice Hendee, sister of Capt. Joshua Hendee, and niece of President Eleaser Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth, College." [The Vermont Historical Gazetteer; by Abby Maria Hemenway, Carrie Elizabeth Hemenway Page, George W. "James [Blodgett] was born in Monson, Dec. 21, 1723, O. S. [year of our savior?] He married Theoda Walbridge. During the greater part of the Revolutionary war, he served in the American army, and was, during the last part of his service, a lieutenant. Three of his sons, James, Jr., Henry and Joshua, were also in the American army. In 1780 James Blodgett, with his wife and 10 children, moved from Monson to Hanover, New Hampshire. Soon afterwards, he and his son Henry, who was then 21 years of age, came to Randolph, and were among the first proprietors of the town. His son James, Jr. soon followed, and was also one of the proprietors. James and Henry had begun their settlement before the burning of Royalton, but had gone, the day before, to Hanover, where the family still remained. Theoda, the second daughter of James, [Parmly, Sr.], had married Timothy Miles, who, at the time lived on the "West Branch." Mr. Miles was in the east part of the town on some business when the Indians returned from Royalton, and was taken prisoner by them. He escaped, after a year or more of imprisonment, and came back to Randolph. His wife and children, during his captivity, lived at her father's, in Hanover. In 1781 or 1782 James, Sr. brought his family from Hanover to Randolph, and settled near where Col. John B. Mead now resides - Henry Blodgett at the same time settled upon the "Eli Blodgett" farm (now owned by Mr. Priest.) about a mile south of the "Centre" [of Randolph, Vermont]. James Blodgett, Sr. represented Randolph in the General Assembly in 1785, succeeding Asa Edgerton, who was in 1784, its first representative. He remained in Randolph til 1816, when he went to Canada to visit his son, James, Jr., who had moved there some time before. When he left Randolph, he was 93 years of age, yet refused assistance in mounting his horse, and rode on horseback as far as Barre, where one of his daughters resided, and where he stopped for a visit of a few weeks, before going to Canada. He died in Ascott, Canada East, at the age of 94 years, in 1817.

Esq. Blodgett, as the old gentleman was always called, had quite a faculty for off-hand rhyming, which was often a source of amusement to his friends and neighbors. In 1801 a newspaper was established in Randolph by Sereno Wright, afterwards printer to the State. Mr. Wright, meeting Esq. B. one day, asked him to name his paper. Thinking a moment, he said: -

'I, being old and full of days,
Mean not to lavish on you praise,
Lest my unlearn'd and vulgar lays
 May haply you offend.
But I do wish, and wish sincere,
Your weekly wanderer may appear
Once every week, throughout the year,
The mind to inform and fancy cheer,
 And far and wide extend.'

Mr. Wright's paper, therefore, went forth a "Weekly Wanderer," and Esq. B. used, in its younger days, to be often pressed into service to fill the poet's corner. He wrote over the signature of "Old Seventy-Seven," and "Old Seventy-Eight." Some years after, when the old gentleman had long passed four-score, and when Federalists and Democrats were at tongues', and almost at swards' points, and during the war of 1812, he was talking with Mr. Washington Martin, an earnest Federalist, said he:

'The Tory Feds have got their heads
 So filled up with vapors,
That unto them it seems a sin
 To read the 'Demo' papers;
Best if they can get a Fed'ral scrip,
 They'll read, and laugh, and bray,
And so amused with Feddish news,
 They'll read all Sabbath-day.'

The morning of the memorable 'Cold Friday,' old Esq. B. walked about a quarter of a mile to see his daughter - Sally - Mrs. Miller. On the way he froze his ears. He was rather indignant at this rude treatment from the elements, and as he went into Mrs. M's, said to her:

'Full four score springs and falls I've seen,
 And four score summers too;
And four score winters, sternly keen,
 I've felt Old Boreas blow

"The relationship of Mrs. Angeline Pool – to whom Wheelock addressed the letter — remains a mystery. She is enumerated as "Angeline Poole" (b. 1795 in Vermont) in the Middlebury, Addison County, Vermont Census of 1850, in the residence of 32 year-old Justus Cobb (Editor of the Addison County Journal) and his wife Maria Powers."

My dear friend,

I am sensible of my neglect in not answering your letter but I hope you will forgive me and I will endeavor to do better next time. We are all in good health and I hope these few lines will find you enjoying the same great blessing.

One reason of my not answering it was because we bought a place and were very busy moving to it. This place is about five miles from the one we formerly lived on. It consists of about 30 acres and is very pleasantly situated. It is much more convenient than cousin Eleazer's was. It is about a mile and a half from the churches and Post Office. We gave 1800 dollars for it and mother would be glad of that money from [paper fold] for we want all we can get and more too to pay for it. Our stock consists of three speckled cows and two horses. Speckled cows, you know, are my favorites — especially if they are good ones.

We heard from Ohio lately and father is as bad as ever. The rest of our relatives are generally well. We heard from [my brother] Ludolph about two weeks ago and he is well. Our friends in New York are well. Cousin's children have become quite playful but they are not very healthy.

We wrote to Aunt Scott awhile ago and told her that she might take all the things (which Mother left in your care) that you had not sold. Whether she ever received our letter or not, we do not know as we have not heard from her since. If you see her, I wish you would tell her we want to hear from her and her family very much, and tell her we want she should write to us.

I cannot think of much news to write to you but I hope when you receive this you will answer it and tell us all the news you can think of. Tell us how your children come on in learning and tell us how Susan Owen comes on, whether they have found her or not. Now do not fail to write and let us know how you do. We all send our love to you and believe me your affectionate friend.

1846: Rev. Wheelock Hendee Parmly to Rev. William R. Williams: Addressed to Rev. William R. Williams, D.D., No 168 Fourth Street, New York

"This letter was written by Rev. Wheelock Hendee Parmly, (1816-1894), the son of Randolph Parmly and Elizabeth B. Murray. His mother was a niece of Eleazer Wheelock — the founder and first President of Dartmouth College. Parmly graduated from Columbia College in New York City in 1842. About the time he entered college he united with the old Amity Street Baptist Church in New York City of which Rev. Dr. William R. Williams was pastor and to whom he wrote this letter in 1846. Parmly was given a "license to preach the gospel" by the Amity Street Church on the 16th of July, 1844, and in the following month was graduated from Madison Theological Seminary. Years later (1867), Madison University conferred upon him the honorary title of Doctor of Divinity. Soon after graduation, he sailed to New Orleans, where he began to preach, and while there he accepted the assistant pastorate of the Baptist Church at Clinton, La., which he filled "most acceptably for two years, declining during that period three calls to become pastor of churches in the North. He developed a strong friendship for the negro, frequently visited them in their cabins, took a fearless stand on the slavery question as an advocate of human rights, and afterward sheltered many a fugitive slave. During his residence in the South he also acquired that habit of great hospitality which always characterized his home." At the end of two years, Parmly returned to New York City, and on November 15, 1847, "he accepted a call to the Baptist Church at Shelburne Falls, Mass., where he remained two years, and resigned, the winter climate of the Berkshire hills being too hard for his constitution. Shortly after he accepted this pastorate he married Katharine Dunbar, daughter of Rev. Duncan Dunbar, of the Macdougall Street Baptist Church, New York City." Parmly next assumed the duties of pastor of the Baptist Church at Burlington, N. J., in May, 1850, and remained there nearly five years, during which time the " church grew mightily." On the 1st of September, 1854, at the age of thirty-eight, he entered upon his labors as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jersey City, and ably, honorably, and satisfactorily filled that pastorate until his death, August 1, 1894,— a period of forty years, lacking one month." My Dear Brother,

I wrote you a letter dated May 23d but having met with considerable opposition from an old man upon a certain topic, I now write to you confidentially asking your advice; not because doubts concerning the subject rest upon my own mind, but because I wish to be in the right, and because I wish to know whether a large portion of our brethren take the view which this old minister (the father of the lady with whom

Rev. Jehiel Preston Hendee b. 1807 m. Rebecca Ferrin 12 Sep 1831 Morristown, Lamoille County, Vermont d. 1850 Morristown, Vermont "During the first half of the present [nineteenth] century, began the establishment of a newspaper in Lamoille county [Vermont], an important era in the growth of any community, for it marks the sure progress of enterprise. Since that time, except two or three intervals or a short period each, the people have not been without a home paper. The Christian Luminary, the first paper established in the county, was begun at Stowe, in September, 1830, issued by "a publishing committee," with Josiah KNIGHT, contracting agent, and Rev. Jehiel P. HENDEE, father of ex-Gov. HENDEE [of Vermont], editor and proprietor. This was a small, semi-monthly sheet, continued about two years and a half. During the first year of its publication, Mr. HENDEE set the type and carried the forms forty miles, to Danville, Vt., to have the press-work done. He then secured a small press and did the printing at home. Among those who acted as his agents in the county, were Elder J. MOFFIT, of Johnson; B. R. CARPENTER, of Waterville, and Galen PALMER, of Wolcott. In a copy shown the writer, NO.13, Vol. II., issued February 25, 1833, was the following novel announcement: -- "Twenty-five per cent discount will be made to those who pay in advance [one dollar per annum], and the same will be added to those who neglect to pay at the end of the volume. All letters to the editor must be post-paid in order to secure due attention, unless containing one or more subscriptions.'" [Gazetteer of Lamoille County - Part 2; <http://www.rootsweb.com/~vermont/GazetteerLamoille02.html>] "But one public journal was ever issued from the press in this town [Stowe, Vermont], and the publication of that was commenced in 1832, and was continued about two years: the editor and proprietor being the Rev. Jehiel P. Hendee, father of the Hon. George W. Hendee, a distinguished lawyer and statesman of Morristown [Vermont]. The Rev. Mr. Hendee was a preacher of the Christian denomination, and the paper which he published and edited was a religious paper, devoted, mainly, to the interests of the denomination, and a dissemination of its doctrinal views. It was called "The Christian Luminary." In these days of mammoth journals, the paper would be called a very modest sheet. It had but a limited circulation, confined almost wholly to the people of the Christian church and society, and, probably, did not prove a financial success. The "publishing office" was in the west part of the old building which once stood near the site of the three-story erection which now contains the Masonic hall. The Rev. Mr. Hendee afterwards resided in Morristown, and died there in 1850." [Vermont Historical Magazine, Vol. II; edited by Abby Maria Hemenway; published by Miss A. M. Hemenway (1871)]

He received his early education in the public schools of that town. His parents could not afford to give him any further schooling and he obtained employment in a lawyer's office, studied law, and was admitted to the Bar of Vermont in 1855. He was one of the organizers and first Directors of the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad and for seven years gave his entire attention to the enterprise. He also was President of the Montreal, Portland & Boston Railroad of Canada. Mr. Hendee actively entered politics in 1861, when he was sent to the [Vermont] State Legislature. Afterward he was in the State Senate for three years, and in 1869 was elected Lieutenant Governor. On the death of Gov. Washburn in 1870 he became Governor [of Vermont]. Mr. Hendee was also a member of Congress for three years, and as a member of the Committee on the District of Columbia, the reorganization of the District was largely due. A widow survives him." "Albert Augustus Niles, son of Salmon Niles, was born in Morristown, Vermont, May 28, 1845. He attended the district schools of his native town. He enlisted June 1, 1862, in Company H, Ninth Vermont Volunteer Infantry, and served in the civil war until June 22, 1865, when his regiment was mustered out. He was stationed in Virginia and North Carolina, and took part in the battles of Winchester, Harper's Ferry, Suffolk, Yorktown, in front of Richmond, and Petersburg. He was surrendered at Harper's Ferry with others of General Miles' command, but was soon paroled. For three months he was on duty guarding Confederate prisoners at Chicago, and afterward was exchanged. His regiment was subsequently attached to the Eighteenth and Twenty-fourth corps. He was appointed first corporal, then orderly sergeant and at the end of the war was brevetted first lieutenant. For two years after the war he was incapacitated for work on account of illness contracted in the service. Afterward he attended the People's Academy at Morrisville, graduating in 1869. He studied law in the office of Powers & Gleed, of Morrisville. In the fall of 1869 he entered the Law School of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar and began to practice immediately afterward. For five years he occupied the law offices of Governor Hendee, while the governor was in congress, and in 1871-72 was state's attorney for Lamoille county." "George Whitman HENDEE, of Morrisville [Lamoille County, Vermont], was born 30 November 1832 in Stowe [Lamoille County, Vermont], son of Jehial P. and Rebecca (FERRIN)HENDEE. Educated in the common schools, and at the People's Academy at Morrisville. His parents were poor, and all his educational advantages were obtained by his own strenuous and unaided exertions. At the age of twenty he commenced the study of law in the office of W. G. FERRIN of Johnson [Lamoille County]. Admitted to the Lamoille County bar in 1855. It was an era of frequent justice and jury trials. The industry, pleasing address, and clear insight of the young advocate were soon rewarded with ample and constantly increasing practice. A large proportion of the more important cases were soon committed to his charge, and nearly all of his recent practice has been in the county and supreme courts of the state and U. S. circuit and district courts. During the last twenty-five years the discharge of important political duties, and the management of great business enterprises have at times withdrawn the attention of Governor HENDEE from his professional labors. He was one of the pioneers in the construction of the P. & O. [Portland and Ogdensburg] Railroad, and gave his entire time to it for a period of seven years, and is now the only director who has given the railroad continuous service since the organization of the corporation. He has been for three years, and is now, the president of the Montreal, Portland & Boston Railroad of Canada. His connection with banking interests has been varied and extensive; is a director and vice president of the Union Savings Bank and Trust Company of Morrisville; was receiver of the National Bank of Poultney, and of the Vermont National Bank of St. Albans; and was national bank examiner from 1879 to 1885. Republican. When he was twenty-one years old he was elected to the office of superintendent of schools, a position he has since repeatedly and worthily filled, and during the almost forty years since that time there has been no year in which he has not been called by the public to discharge some official trust; has many times acted by order of court as auditor, trustee, and special master; was a member of the Vermont House of Representatives for Morristown [Lamoille County] two sessions, 1861-1862; state's attorney for Lamoille County 1858-1859; deputy provost marshal during the war; senator for Lamoille County 1866-1867 and 1868; and Lieutenant Governor in 1869. Sworn in as Governor by Judge STEELE on the death of Gov. P. T. WASHBURN, he served the remainder of the term; was a member of the forty-third, forty-fourth, and forty-fifth Congresses, and there served on the committee on private land claims, and on the District of Columbia; was largely instrumental in drafting and securing the passage of the law which made an entire change of the form of government of the District, under which it has since existed, and which has placed it on an entirely sound financial basis. During his long public career Governor HENDEE has served his town in many and varied capacities, and the grateful appreciation in which his services, both public and private, are held, is well known. He is now serving his third term as president of the board of village trustees. During the last ten years he has sought relaxation in agricultural pursuits. He is largely interested in the breeding and development of first-class light carriage horses of the Morgan type and blood. Member of the Masonic fraternity. On 17 November 1855 he [George Whitman HENDEE] married Millissa, daughter of Stevens and Caroline (JOHNSON) REDDING. Their only child was Lillian Frances, now deceased. "Benjamin Storrs Edgerton, son of Asa and Eunice (Storrs) Edgerton; born: March 12, 1777; Norwich, New London Co., CT. (VRp I:358); bap: July 6, 1777; First Church of Mansfield; Mansfield, Tolland Co., CT. (VRp 396); died: October 12, 1816; Randolph, Orange Co., VT. Benjamin Storrs Edgerton was born at Norwich, Connecticut on March 12, 1777, the son of Asa Edgerton and his second wife, Eunice Storrs. Within a month or two following his birth, the family removed from Norwich. They resided briefly in Mansfield, Connecticut, his mother's hometown. Benjamin was baptized at the First Church of Mansfield on July 6, 1777, as "Benjamin Storrs, son of Asa Edgerton". A younger brother, Asa Jr., was baptized at the Mansfield Church in 1780. In 1781, the family settled permanently in Randolph, Orange County, Vermont, where Benjamin's father, Asa, was one of the earliest settlers and grantee of the charter. Benjamin was raised in Randolph, and spent the remainder of his life there. Upon the death of his father in 1798, Benjamin apparently took over the family homestead in East Randolph (Randolph Center). Benjamin was married in Randolph, Vermont on February 15, 1802 to Milly Hendee, the daughter of Joshua and Lydia (Woodward) Hendee. Milly was born at Hanover, New Hampshire on June 14, 1782. The family of Benjamin and Milly Edgerton was recorded in the Old Vital Records of Randolph (Book A, page 104), listing their marriage and the births of five children – Maria, Ariel, Amanda, John and Benjamin S. It is now known that the youngest child, daughter Benjamin Storrs, was accompanied by a twin brother, Benjamin Storrs, who was omitted (probably by mistake) from the record. Benjamin Storrs Edgerton served in the War of 1812. He enlisted on April 4, 1832 and served as Captain in the 11th U. S. Infantry Regiment under Col. Isaac Clark. According to his enlistment record (U. S. Army Register of Enlistments 1798-1814; pg. 49, no. 75), Benjamin was stationed in northwestern New York – at Sackett's Harbor and Malone. He resigned from service on December 7, 1813. Benjamin's widow, "Millie Edgerton" later applied for a military pension (see Index to War of 1812 Pension Files; Virgil D. White (comp.), 1989; Vol. I, p. 659). The following description of Benjamin's military service is given in Roster of Soldiers in the War of 1812 – State of Vermont (Herbert T. Johnson, Adjutant General (comp.); 1933, pg. 148): "EGERTON, BENJAMIN S., Captain. Appointed Captain 11 Inf. March 12, 1812; resigned Dec. 12, 1813. Commanded company in 11th Regt.; on Pay Roll for September and October, 1812 and January and February 1813." Benjamin Storrs Edgerton died at Randolph, Vermont on October 12, 1816, seven months prior to the births of his youngest two children. He was buried at the Randolph Center Cemetery, where his parents and numerous other close relatives are also interred. His gravestone was inscribed with the following epitaph:

She was listed in the 1850 Federal Census of Randolph, residing in the household of her son, John "Edgerton". She was enumerated then as: "Millie Edgerton, aged 67 years, born in Vermont". She died on August 18, 1854, presumably at Randolph, Vermont. Her burial site has not been located." [Original Source Documents: Enlistment Record – Benjamin Storrs Edgerton; U. S. Belcher Methodist Cemetery, village of Belcher (Hebron Township), Washington County, New York [LDS Family History Search] – LDS Submitter - BILLY DUBOIS EDGINGTON, PO BOX 559, PEARBLOSSOM, CALIFORNIA, USA 93553]

"Ariel Edgerton, son of Benjamin Storrs and Milly (Hendee) Edgerton; born: September 28, 1805; Randolph, Orange Co., VT. (VR A:104); died: December 29, 1882; Belcher, Washington Co., NY. (from age at death, GI – "ae 35y"); died: March 15, 1843; Randolph, Orange Co., VT. (GI); buried: Randolph Center Cemetery; Randolph, Orange Co., VT. (GI)" Ariel Edgerton was born September 28, 1805 at Randolph, Vermont, the eldest son of Benjamin Storrs Edgerton Sr. and Millee Hendee. He was probably named after his uncle, Ariel Edgerton, who had died in Randolph three years earlier at the age of twenty. Ariel was raised in Randolph. He made his living variously as a farmer, laborer and shoemaker. Ariel Edgerton was married twice. His first wife, Almira Isabel Church. Almira's parentage is not known at this time. According to the 1880 Federal Census enumeration of her son, Charles, Almira was born in the state of Vermont. Ariel and Almira are known to have had at least two children: a daughter, Elizabeth, born circa 1835; and a son, Charles Church, born April 17, 1841. The 1840 Federal Census (see below) indicates that Ariel and Almira may have had two other sons born between 1835 and 1840, although to date there is no evidence of their identities. Mrs. Almira Isabel (Church) Edgerton died on March 15, 1843, presumably at Randolph, Vermont. She was buried at the Randolph Center Cemetery, where her gravestone was inscribed: "Almira Isabel wife of Ariel Egerton Died March 15, 1843 AE. 35 yrs". Following Almira's death, her daughter, Elizabeth, was adopted by Aaron Cleaveland of neighboring Brookfield, Vermont. Elizabeth was enumerated in Aaron's household in the 1850 Federal Census of Brookfield, Orange County, Vermont as "Elizabeth E., aged 14, b. in Vermont". Elizabeth died at Brookfield in 1854 and was buried at the Old Center Cemetery in Brookfield. Her gravestone was inscribed: "ELIZABETH EDGERTON / Adopted Daughter of / Aaron Cleaveland / DIED / Oct. 31, 1854 / AE 19 yrs". Ariel and Almira's son, Charles Church, later settled in Boston. He was married twice but did not have any children. Charles died at Boston on May 7, 1900. Ariel Edgerton was remarried in 1847 to Martha Matilda Morrow. Martha's parentage and ancestry have not yet been investigated. According to census records, she was born in Ireland circa 1818 – 1820. The age at death recorded on her headstone indicates that she was born circa 1817. Martha's first name was recorded in the 1850 and 1860 census enumerations of the family as "Matilda". Her gravestone lists her first name as "Martha", as do several secondary references (eg. the aforementioned DAR records). Ariel and Martha (Morrow) Edgerton had five children: two daughters, Sarah J. and Mariah, and three sons, John, Henry and George. The younger daughter died at the age of two weeks. The family resided in Washington County, New York – first in Salem and then in neighboring Hebron."

The household of "Uriah Edgerton" was recorded in the 1850 Federal Census of Salem, Washington County, New York (pg. 277; dwelling #43; family #451; enum. August 22, 1850), as follows:

Celian Abner Hendee b. 1828 Alden, New York, USA m. Mary Louise Jones d. Milwaukee, Wisconsin bur. Forest Home Cemetery, Milwaukee, Milwaukee County, Wisconsin "The family remained true to the maritime traditions of old Richard Hendee, the Hugunot, for many generations. Many of them were seafarers, many ship-owners, and some ship builders. Homer's son, Celian A. Hendee, carried the tradition still further by his marriage to Mary Jones of another seafaring family. In fact, it was Mary's grandfather, Capt. Augustus Jones, who built the first steamer on the Great Lakes, the Walk-on-the-Water, of Erie, Pa. . . . the first member of Hendee line to settle in Milwaukee was Ceilan [Celian?] himself, who moved here with his wife, Mary, in 1858. It is their son, L. E. Hendee, who is the father of Mrs. Carl Mueller." [Milwaukee Sentinel – March 3, 1935; <http://www.wisconsinhistory.org/wlha/articleView.asp?pg=1&id=14055&key=Hendee&cy=>]

"Dear Mr. Petrie, I can't tell you how excited we were to see your posts about our Hendee ancestors on genealogy.com...My daughter in law is a Hendee and we have been researching her genealogy. We too were absolutely stuck after we traced the line back to Celian Abner Hendee and couldn't go much further. Your post was like a breath of fresh air! It helped so much! First off, now we know where the family name Abner came from! (Would you happen to know where Celian comes from as it runs all the way through her family back to her GG Grandfather?) Second, we are overjoyed that there is such a rich history. It is wonderful to read what you have posted! The last post we found said you might have pictures? That would be so great! ;) I found your email on one post and decided to try and email you and hope it was still your email address. ..I'm personally so excited I couldn't wait to email you while on lunch break at work. We really look forward to hearing from you! Susannah Williams & Caitlyn Hendee" [Susannah Williams - susannahwilliams@yahoo.com]

"Hi again Mr. Petrie, I am just so overjoyed that you still have the same email address! In answer to your question...YES! That is our Celian! My daughter in law's father is still living and I don't want to breach his privacy without his permission, but here is Caitlyn's grandfather's line: Grandparents: Donn Cass Hendee B May 10, 1925. Died 5-9-1990 . married Helga Ingeborg (Munzenberg) Hendee. He was a soldier in WWII and a captain in the Korean War, He is buried in Ft. Logan National Cemetery here in Colorado. Great Grandparents: Cass Kirby Hendee (From Milwaukee, Wisconsin). He married Irene Drorothy (Stoerber) Hendee (she was a legislator in the House of Representatives in Colorado 1943-1944. He died in a plane crash in Spokane Washington, but is buried here in Denver on Federal. He was involved with the Highlander Boys. Great Great Grandparents- Ceilan Cass Hendee-He was a famous painter of dogs in oils. (C.C. Hendee) He is mentioned in many books. The still are selling his paintings online. He married Maud(e) A. Kirby 16 OCT 1890 . His sons were Cass Kirby Hendee (above) and C. Abner Hendee. His sister Myra Louise (Hendee) Smith sold short stories to magazines. I have seen some of her work. (She is buried at Forest Home Cemetery in Milwaukee, as is Ceilan Cass Hendee, and his wife Maude). Ceilan Cass Hendee's obituary can be easily looked up in the Chicago Tribune July 29, 1941, under C.C Hendee. It shows his two boys and mentions Cass Kirby his son moved to Denver. Great Great Grandfather C. Abner Hendee; Wisconsin Married Mary Louise Jones. (You know this one)! His is the original Celian as far as I can tell and I am trying to ascertain where "Ceilan" came from. Great Great Grandfather: We think Homer Hendee but we only have one census with the three of them together. (That is why I was so happy to see your post)! Note: we have a lot of documentation for most of them. Not only census records, and obituaries, and newspaper articles for some, but we know where most are buried. It would take me some time to send them to you since I work so much, but I would be more than happy to. And I would be so happy to see what you have! Thanks! . . . It occurred to me after I sent the last letter that I should tell you that C. Abner Hendee and his wife Mary Louise Jones Hendee are also buried in the same family plot as our other Milwaukee Hendee's at Forest Home Cemetery in Milwaukee, Wisconsin." "Dear Mr. Petrie, I can't tell you how excited we were to see your posts about our Hendee ancestors on genealogy.com...My daughter in law is a Hendee and we have been researching her genealogy. We too were absolutely stuck after we traced the line back to Celian Abner Hendee and couldn't go much further. Your post was like a breath of fresh air! It helped so much! First off, now we know where the family name Abner came from! (Would you happen to know where Celian comes from as it runs all the way through her family back to her GG Grandfather?) Second, we are overjoyed that there is such a rich history. It is wonderful to read what you have posted! The last post we found said you might have pictures? That would be so great! ;) I found your email on one post and decided to try and email you and hope it was still your email address. ..I'm personally so excited I couldn't wait to email you while on lunch break at work. We really look forward to hearing from you! Susannah Williams & Caitlyn Hendee" [Susannah Williams - susannahwilliams@yahoo.com]

His sister Myra Louise (Hendee) Smith sold short stories to magazines. I have seen some of her work. "Aberdeen Man Arrested at Souix Falls in Test Case up for Trial – Souix Falls, April 1 – W. E. Young formerly connected with the Northern Casualty company at Aberdeen, will have a preliminary hearing Friday morning in municipal court in what appears to be the commencement of a test case to try out the validity of the blue sky law in this state. Young was arrested here several days ago upon authority from State Attourney C. V. Caldwell charged with having tried to sell the bonds of the Union Stock Yards company without having first secured the required license from the state commission. The state's witnesses in this action, those to whom it is alleged Young attempted to sell the bonds are G. W. Walters and Ralph Walters, two farmers residing north of Souix Falls. Young is agent for the company, which has opened offices in the Paulton building. C. C. Hendee formerly of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is president of the company. It is understood that this case will be carried up to the Supreme Court for the purpose of testing the validity of South Dakota's blue sky law, similar laws having already been knocked out of other states by similar actions." Obituary: "Celian Cass HENDEE, 77, PAINTER OF DOGS AND HORSES, DIES - Ceilan Cass Hendee, who began life anew as a magazine painter of dogs and horses when he was 60 years old, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital. He was 77. A native of Milwaukee, Mr. Hendee built and operated the first stock-yards in Sioux Falls, S. D. He had retired from business when his fortune was swept away. Although he was without formal education in art, he turned to painting animals and sold many of his paintings to magazines. He was said to be the oldest breeder of Gordon setters in the United States. Turning his knowledge of animals to practical use, he came to Chicago several years ago and opened a dog equipment shop and studio at 15 East Delaware place, where he recouped his fortunes with his business and his paintings. He leaves two sons, C. Abner Hendee of Milwaukee and Cass Kirby Hendee of Denver, Col. Burial will be In Milwaukee." "GEIGER MOURNS DEATH OF CHIEF, OTHERS IN CRASH: Geiger field is in mourning today following the tragic airplane crash last night in which Brig. Gen. Stuart C. Godfrey, commanding general of the field, and Col. James W. Park, deputy commander, and three other men were killed. The plane, a C-45 transport, crashed with terrific force in Canfield gulch two miles north of Trent road at Otis Orchards. The accident occurred shortly after p. m. Other victims, the Geiger field public relations office reported, were: Cass K. Hendee, Denver, Colo., civilian field director for the Red Cross at Geiger. Capt. George E. Matthews, 30, McGill, Nev., the pilot. S/Sgt. James C. R. Sheets, 21, York, Pa., crew member. The plane, in which Gen. Godfrey and Col. Park were returning from a conference in San Francisco with Fourth air force officials, was demolished after it hit the top of a small hill, then crashed into a stand of bull pines, said State Patrolman Warren Greenberg, one of the first officers on the scene. 'Bodies and wreckage were scattered over an area that would cover a city block,' Greenberg reported. 'They were killed instantly,' he said. 'The plane hit with a terrific impact.' 'People in the vicinity heard the plane, which was flying at very low altitude.' One man said the pilot hopped the motors of the two-engined ship just before the crash but failed to clear the hill. 'I don't believe the men in the plane realized they were in danger.' The Geiger field public relations office reported the pilot had been in radio conversation with the control tower at Geiger, preparatory to landing, and that there was no indication the ship was in trouble. 'Gasoline in the tnks caught fire when the ship crashed and there were several spot fires,' Greenberg asserted. 'Some of the bodies were thrown clear of the plane. Some of them were burned. We found things in such a mess at first we didn't know how many bodies there were.' Bodies of the five victims were taken to the Hennessey funeral home. A board of officers from Walla Walla army airfield has been appointed to investigate the crash. Pending the board's inquiry, officers said, there will be no statement as to the probable cause of the accident. The plane was flying so low 'it seemed like it was just over our barn,' Mrs. Frank Stone, route 2, Otis Orchards told the Chronicle. When the plane crashed a short distance from the Stone's home there was a brilliant light and the resultant blast and concussion shook the house,' Mrs. Stone said. She said she called the telephone operator, who in turn summoned officers. Her husband and his father were the first persons to reach the crash scene and found two of the bodies, she said. Mrs. Richard Shafer told how she was reading the paper when she heard a plane overhead. She said the motors sputtered for several seconds , then stopped. She didn't hear the crash. Hendee's widow lives in Spokane at W 1824 Riverside. They have two sons in the service, and a married daughter in Denver." "I am attaching the details to this mail (Word document) but it looks to me that the original Richard Hendee (b. abt 1585) was actually Caitlyn's 9th great grandfather. Its interesting that my wife's Hendee line, Caitlyn's Hendee line and George Mallory's Hendee line all diverge from three different sons of Ensign Richard Hendee (b.1672) and his second wife, Elizabeth Conant. Judith's direct ancestor was Jonathan Hendee (b.17 Mar 1694). Caitlyn's direct ancestor was Joshua Hendee (b. 25 Apr 1707). George Mallory's direct ancestor was Josiah Hendee (b. 6 Mar 1702). So . . . that makes Caitlyn a fifth cousin three times removed from George Mallory Hendee. She'd be a seventh cousin once removed from my wife and an eighth cousin to our children. Not exactly "kissing cousins" but interesting." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

"Recently, I went back to Webster, NY for a family visit. Before leaving, I made contact with the local genealogical society. We met in Buffalo at the Buffalo Club and had lunch. I was told that this was Dr. Lawrence Hendee's club. We then wen to Forest Lawn Cemetery to visit the family site. It was within the Morgan Family site. I had enough information in my tree and from this visit to connect Dr. Lawrence Hendee to our tree. It was a good feeling. He was a good man. He never married. But, I have indicators he may have been engaged. He lived with his mother (Eliza Morgan Hendee) most of his life at a beautiful home at 235 Elm St, Buffalo, NY.. He did have siblings who moved westerly." [Paul E. Hendee - phendee@att.net]

Hannah: b. 25 JUL 1782 Hebron, Tolland County, Connecticut, USA d. 16 APR 1847 Cazenovia, Madison County, New York 99999

“Ebenezer (3), son of Ebenezer (2) and Abigail (Hendee) Fuller, was born November 8, 1772, in Hebron, Connecticut. He was a cheerful, energetic, active and industrious man, having many friends. He married, in March, 1801, Hannah House, born July 25, 1782, died April 16, 1847; they settled in Cazenovia, New York, about 1802, and here Ebenezer Fuller died May 10, 1858. Their children, all born in Cazenovia, were: 1. Polly, born March 19, 1802, died February 7, 1854. 2. Erastus, born November 25, 1803; married Lucretia Gilbert. 3. Harriet, born October. 25, 1804, died January 25, 1876, at Corning, New York; married David Smith, who died in 1864, and had son James, who died in 1902. 4. Emily, born July 27, 1806, died February, 1858; married Orange Hill and had one daughter. 5. John H., born January 9, 1809; married (first) Wilhelmina Tucker, (second) Susan Garder. 6. Terrell, born August 18, 1813; married (first) Charlotte Frizell, (second) Jane Card. 7. Dwight A., born January 27, 1815; married Jane E. Merrick. 8. George Washington, born March n , 1818; married Adeline Bradley. 9. Ralph D., see further mention, was born in Cazenovia, New York, February 26, 1820. He was the earliest of this branch of the Fuller family to settle in Chautauqua county, New York. He was educated in the district school, and lived in Cazenovia until 1840 when he removed to Portland, Chautauqua county, and for thirty years engaged in merchandising, for four years in company with William Barnhart, and the remaining twenty-six years alone. In 1866, while still in Portland, he purchased a wine cellar and wine making plant, and thereafter was also engaged in the manufacture of wine. In September, 1879, he formed a partnership with J. A. H. Skinner, which continued until Mr. Fuller's death, in 1886. He was a prominent politician in the town, being a Democrat, and holding the appointment of supervisor and various other public offices in Portland. He died possessed of a large estate accumulated through his own untiring industry and ability, having inaugurated the wine making business in the village. His death occurred May 20, 1886. He married, in Jamestown, New York, December 22, 1859, Adeline Coney, born in Portland, February 12, 1830, and who, in 1911, still survived him. She is the daughter of Oliver and Sophia (Fales) Coney, who were the parents of eight children: Lucius Coney, married Diana Lowry; Dexter F. Coney, married Thirza Burley; DeWitt Clinton Coney, married Carrie; Jeremiah Coney, a veteran of the civil war from Colorado, who died unmarried; Adeline Coney, married Ralph D. Fuller; John R. Coney, married Mary Young; Alice Coney, died young; Oliver Coney, died at the age of twenty-two years. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Fuller had but one child Washington, son of Ralph D. and Adeline (Coney) Fuller, was born in Portland, Chautauqua county, New York, November 26, 1860. He received an excellent practical education at the public schools and at Westfield Academy. After completing his studies he became associated in business with his father, and under his expert teaching grew thoroughly versed in grape culture and the art of making wine. Upon his father's death he became manager of the business in partnership with J. A. H. Skinner. The firm, Fuller & Skinner, continued the manufacture of wines until 1907, when Mr. Fuller purchased his partner's interest and continued the business alone until poor health compelled him to dispose of the manufacturing plant. Since then he has devoted himself exclusively to grape culture and the management of his vineyards. He is one of Portland's business men, and a leading and prosperous citizen. In politics he is a Democrat and is greatly interested in the public welfare, though he has never sought nor held office of any kind. George W. Fuller is a member in high standing of the following organizations: King Solomon's Lodge, No. 219, Free and Accepted Masons, of Westfield; Westfield Chapter, No. 239, Royal Arch Masons; Dunkirk Council, No. 25, Royal and Select Masters; Dunkirk Commandery, No. 40, Knights Templar; Buffalo Consistory, thirty-second degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. Mr. Fuller married, May 5, 1891, Berneda Fay, at Portland, New York; she is the daughter of Elisha H. and Ada Dodge Fay, and was born March 1, 1869 (see Fay VIII). The children of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, all born in Portland, are as follows: Viola Beatrice, March 13, 1893; Ralph D., August 26, 1897; Donald C, Februarys, 1899; Gertrude L., January 1, 1904; George Winston, March 6, 1907.” [Genealogical and family history of western New York - https://dcms.lds.org/delivery/DeliveryManagerServlet?dps_pid=IE105791]

He [Thomas Brown] removed in 1738 to Windham, which was the home of the father [Ensign Richard Hendee] of his second wife [Elizabeth Hendee]. On 25 Oct. 1739, Richard Hendee of Windham, for "love Goodwill & parental affection that I have & do bear unto my son In Law Thomas Brown of Windham," conveys to Thomas Brown eight acres in Windham, which is part of the farm where the grantor dwells. [Land Rec. Windham, H-39.] But the previous year, on 17 Oct. 1738, Brazillia Hendee of Windham, for £450, conveyed to "Thomas Brown late of Ipswich In the County of Essex In the province of y^e Massachusetts Bay In New England but now of Windham, "two parcels of upland and meadow, one on the east side of a highway leading from Windham to Norwich, the other on the west side of the same highway, being half of the lot "which my honr'd father Richard Hende bought of Peter Thorp," also half of a dwelling house on the west side of the highway, "all which I bought of my Honr'd father Richard Hende, 21 feb 1736/7." [ib., H-40.] Richard Hendee's will, dated 20 Jan. 1741/2, proved 24 Feb. 1742/3, named his daughter, Elizabeth Brown. These records prove that Thomas Brown was from Ipswich. His gravestone states that he died 10 Jan. 1773 in his 65th year. This serves to identify him closely enough with the son of Sergt. Thomas Brown who was born in Ipswich 7 July 1707, though he was actually in his 66th year . . . His father, Sergt. Thomas, was also described as of the Hamlet. He was called "Thomas, Jr," in the baptismal records of his two children by Mary, also in the record of his second marriage, to Elizabeth Hendee." "The Story of the Powder Horn: "Made at Lake George by Simeon Rous [Rouse] in 1756, the horn traveled far before it arrived in Michigan by 1850. It was found with a box of deeds (1788), and letters on the woodpile when my father attended his grandfather's funeral in 1890. "Barzillia" is carved in a written place on the horn and "Serj't or Clerke" Handee appears in the Jabez Fitch Diaries of 1757 1758...personal meetings as well as record keeping for the troops and provincial regiments. He signed a deed in Connecticut in 1800 so had it at the time from where it passed to the family (Hendee, Hendy, Handy) for its trip west after 1835. Now at last it has found a haven at Lake George where it had its beginnings." [Dorothea Handy Phipps 1994, Powder Horn donor] "THE OWNER OF THE HORN: SIMEON ROUSE - Hi Derek [Stafford], I've done some research on the name that appears on the powder horn and I think it probably belonged to Simeon Rouse. The name appears on the horn as ROVS; the letter is "V" is often used as a "U" on horns. Simeon Rouse served in Captain Ebenezer Billings' company of Major General Phineas Lyman's Connecticut Provincial Regiment in 1756. He enlisted on April 6 and was discharged on December 5, 1756 and served at Fort William Henry for much of that season. In 1757 Rouse was a corporal in Captain Adam Gallop's company of Colonel Phineas Lyman's Connecticut Provincial Regiment enlisting March 1 and discharged December 2, 1757. It will be interesting to know if Barzillai Hendee's name appears on the horn. He is noted as having served in Major Israel Putnam's Company of Colonel Eleazer Fitch's Connecticut Provincial Regiment in 1758. There is no mention of Rouse having served in 1758. You might try to determine if there is any connection between the Hendee and Rouse families. Best of luck in your research. Sincerely, Chris, Christopher D. Fox, Curator of Collections Fort Ticonderoga" "THE PRIMARY INSCRIPTION ON THE POWDER HORN READS: 'Simeon Rouse His horn was made / At Lake George November ye 29 Day 1756 / Take not this horn for fear / of Shame for on it is written / the owner's name'"

Elizabeth ("Betsy") Hendee b. abt 1782 m. Belias Hill Skeels 1802 Whitehall, Essex, New York "Betsy married Belias Hill Skeels (born 26 August 1782 in Litchfield, CT) in 1802 in Whitehall, Essex, New York. I have a lot of information about the Skeels family. Belias's father, Truman and his family, and the family of Barzillai Hendee and other families (e.g. Adgate) belonged to the same church in Connecticut. I then find these families in upstate New York in the 1800 census as well as the 1798 Tax Assessment for northern New York. In The Conant Family in America I also find this statement regarding Barzillai (son of Richard and Elizabeth Conant Hendee) born 18 June 1713 - Lived and died at Woodbury Conn. Left a large family who, it is supposed, removed to western New York. Clinton and Essex county are not in the western part of the state, but rather, near Vermont. More bits about Betsy...I have no idea of her birth date, but Belias was born in 1782 so she was probably close to that in year of birth. I have every reason to believe that Betsy is the daughter of Barzillai junior. Betsy and Belias' son Truman was born in New York in 1806 and at some point the family moved on to Franklin County, Ohio. Subsequent family members moved on to Iroquois county, Illinois." "Richard Hendee was one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Connecticut, in 1660. A tract of land was granted to him, Josiah Reed and Richard Welles, both of Leffing's Neck. He had an early allotment near the town plot, and shared in the first division of land, but it is not known that he ever lived in Norwich. In 1660-61 he worked on vessels at New London, Connecticut, and Newport, Rhode Island, and was evidently a ship carpenter by trade. Four or five years later [1664-1666] he was proprietor of a mill built by John Elderkin, on the Menunkatesuck river, at Killingworth. This mill at Killingworth, and fifty acres of land on Westward Hill, Norwich, were among his assets in the inventory of his [Richard Hendee] estate. In [1670] the townsmen of Norwich directed that the children of Richard Hendee should have a share in the division of common lands as equal proprietors. He married Hannah, daughter of John Elderkin, who was guardian of their three children: Jonathan, Richard and Hannah Hendee. [Ensign] Richard Hendee, born Bet. 1665 - 1667 in Windham, CT; died 06 Feb 1742/43 in Windham, CT. He was the son of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin. He married Elizabeth Conant 17 Oct 1695 in Windham, CT. Elizabeth Conant, born Bef. 29 Jul 1677 in Beverly, MA; died 23 Sep 1762 in Norwich, New London, CT. She was the daughter of Exercise Conant, Lieut and Sarah Andrews. Hannah Hendee b. 14 Jan 1665 New London, New London County, Connecticut, New England m. Samuel Belding 14 Jan 1685 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut by Capt. Sam Tallcott d. 20 Jan 1742 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut Jonathan Hendee b. 1663 Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut, New England d. 1688 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut. It would have seem unlikely that the Richard Hendee born about 1611 would have married in 1661 at the age of 50 years, have three children in the next 5-6 years and then die in 1670. It would seem more likely that it was the Richard Hendee who worked in New London and Killingworth (the birthplaces of two of the children) and who had them after his marriage in 1661 to Hannah Elderkin, after which he died about 1670 3-4 years after their last child. This would seem to point more to the Richard Hendee born about 1631 as the father of Ensign Richard Hendee. Richard Hendee, born 1630 in Killingworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut; died in Killingworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut. He married Hannah Elderkin 1664[1661?] in Killingsworth, Middlesex County, CT. Hannah Elderkin, born 17 May 1634 in Dedham, Norfolk, Massachusetts; She was the daughter of John Elderkin and Abigail Perh Kingsland. Children of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin are: i. Hannah Hendee, born 14 Jul 1665; married Samuel Belden 14 Jan 1684/85; born 03 Jan 1664/65 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT; died 27 Dec 1738 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT.; ii. Richard Hendee, born Bet. 1665 - 1667 in Windham County, CT; died 06 Feb 1742/43 in Windham County, CT; married (1) Sarah Smith 01 Mar 1692/93; married (2) Elizabeth Conant 17 Oct 1695 in Windham County, CT.; iii. John [Jonathan?] Hendee, born 1677 [1663?]." [David Petrie - dapwyn@aol.com]

Jonathan Hendee b. 1663 Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut, New England d. 1688 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut "A will of Jonathan [Hendee] is on file at the Connecticut State Library, Hartford, Conn. Dated 1688." ["Hendee Family History" compiled by Lee W. Hendee Portland, Michigan 1965 Donated to The Library of Michigan (Lansing, Michigan) by Gardner Otto Stockbridge, Michigan 1971; LDS Microfilmed document; Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"Richard II was b. at Killingsworth Ct. He had a sister Hannah [Hendee] who married Samuel Belden 6/14/1686; brother, Johnathan [Hendee] no record; brother, Caleb [Hendee] died young" [Wayne Duncan - DUNCAN642@CS.COM]

"With regard to Caleb, it is possible that there was a third son. However as the second source did not name Jonathan, it is also possible that there were only two and one of them was named 'Jonathan Caleb' or 'Caleb Jonathan.' Both names appear in later generations. Note that I have one source that says that Jonathan died about 1688. which is young, but normally when someone is listed as dying young, they mean as a child. If they die as an adult without children, they usually say, died unmarried or died without issue." [Kurt Darling - dar45069@yahoo.com]

"Richard Hendee was one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Connecticut, in 1660. A tract of land was granted to him, Josiah Reed and Richard Welles, both of Leffing's Neck. He had an early allotment near the town plot, and shared in the first division of land, but it is not known that he ever lived in Norwich. In 1660-61 he worked on vessels at New London, Connecticut, and Newport, Rhode Island, and was evidently a ship carpenter by trade. Four or five years later [1664-1666] he was proprietor of a mill built by John Elderkin, on the Menunkatesuck river, at Killingsworth. This mill at Killingsworth, and fifty acres of land on Westward Hill, Norwich, were among his assets in the inventory of his [Richard Hendee] estate. In [1670] the townsmen of Norwich directed that the children of Richard Hendee should have a share in the division of common lands as equal proprietors. He married Hannah, daughter of John Elderkin, who was guardian of their three children: Jonathan, Richard and Hannah Hendee. [Ensign] Richard Hendee, born Bet. 1665 - 1667 in Windham, CT; died 06 Feb 1742/43 in Windham, CT. He was the son of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin. He married Elizabeth Conant 17 Oct 1695 in Windham, CT. Elizabeth Conant, born Bef. 29 Jul 1677 in Beverly, MA; died 23 Sep 1762 in Norwich, New London, CT. She was the daughter of Exercise Conant, Lieut and Sarah Andrews. Hannah Hendee b. 14 Jan 1665 New London, New London County, Connecticut, New England m. Samuel Belding 14 Jan 1685 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut by Capt. Sam Tallcott d. 20 Jan 1742 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut Jonathan Hendee b. 1663 Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut, New England d. 1688 Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut. It would have seem unlikely that the Richard Hendee born about 1611 would have married in 1661 at the age of 50 years, have three children in the next 5-6 years and then die in 1670. It would seem more likely that it was the Richard Hendee who worked in New London and Killingsworth (the birthplaces of two of the children) and who had them after his marriage in 1661 to Hannah Elderkin, after which he died about 1670 3-4 years after their last child. This would seem to point more to the Richard Hendee born about 1631 as the father of Ensign Richard Hendee. Richard Hendee, born 1630 in Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut; died in Killingsworth, Middlesex County, Connecticut. He married Hannah Elderkin 1664[1661?] in Killingsworth, Middlesex County, CT. Hannah Elderkin, born 17 May 1634 in Dedham, Norfolk, Massachusetts; She was the daughter of John Elderkin and Abigail Perh Kingsland. Children of Richard Hendee and Hannah Elderkin are: i. Hannah Hendee, born 14 Jul 1665; married Samuel Belden 14 Jan 1684/85; born 03 Jan 1664/65 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT; died 27 Dec 1738 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, CT.; ii. Richard Hendee, born Bet. 1665 - 1667 in Windham County, CT; died 06 Feb 1742/43 in Windham County, CT; married (1) Sarah Smith 01 Mar 1692/93; married (2) Elizabeth Conant 17 Oct 1695 in Windham County, CT.; iii. John [Jonathan?] Hendee, born 1677 [1663?]."  Caleb Hendee b. d. "died young" "died without children"

"Richard Hendee came to Boston in the first settlement of the country, and married and settled in that vicinity. He had two sons, Richard and Caleb. The latter died without children; the former married and had a son Jonathan; his wife died soon after." [History of Pittsford, Vermont by Abiel Moore Caverly (1872)]

"Richard II was b. at Killingsworth Ct. He had a sister Hannah [Hendee] who married Samuel Belden 6/14/1686; brother, Johnathan [Hendee] no record; brother, Caleb [Hendee] died young" [Wayne Duncan - DUNCAN642@CS.COM]

"With regard to Caleb, it is possible that there was a third son. However as the second source did not name Jonathan, it is also possible that there were only two and one of them was named 'Jonathan Caleb' or 'Caleb Jonathan.' Both names appear in later generations . . . If he did have a son named Caleb, the fact that he was not one of the children named as an original proprietor in Norwich would indicate he died before the move to Norwich." If you want to update this family history document and have questions, here are a few things to consider.

1. Do you have Microsoft WORD installed on your computer?

If you do not, you may still be able to display the document using a WORD read-only reader but will not be able to update it. The same is true if you have Microsoft "Works" on your computer instead of WORD.

2. Are you displaying the document using Microsoft WORD or a spreadsheet?

The document may look like a spreadsheet but it isn't. It is actually a very large "table" in a Microsoft WORD text document. If you are displaying it in a spreadsheet, it will not work correctly and you will not be able to update it correctly. If you are displaying the document in WORD, the commands you should be using to maintain the table are under the "Table" toolbar tab at the top of your WORD window.

3. Try this to update text.

Highlight the text you want to copy from another part of the document, a web page, another of your documents, etc., and open up a function window ("Edit" at top of window or mouse click with right mouse button on your highlighted text). Choose the "Copy" function. When highlighting the text you want to copy, only highlight the text and not the whole cell. If the whole cell goes black, back up and try to highlight only the text again.

4. Do not use just the normal paste function.

Next go to where you want to paste the copied text. Place your cursor inside the cell where you want to paste the text - this will always be the area furthest to the right, touching the right margin of the document. Trying to paste into a blank cell to the left of this could produce error messages such as the text being the wrong size. Again open up a function window as you did above. Choose "Paste Special" from the window. Do not choose just "Paste." When the "Paste Special" window is displayed, choose "Unformatted Text." Your addition or update should be placed into the document in the same font type and size as the rest of the document.

5. How do I add rows?

The easiest way to add rows is to copy a row that has the same number of generations as the one you want to add. Look through the document to find one the lines up with the same number of cell indents from the left as the one you are looking for. If you can't find one that already exists, look at the function to "Split Cells" under the "Table" tab of your WORD window tool bar. This a little too technical for here so email me if you need to do this.

Once you have found the row you want to copy, click on it so your cursor is inside it. Next go to the "Table" tab of the WORD screen toolbar and choose "Select Row." After selecting the row, open up your "Edit" function window and select "Save" (you can also use the "Save" icon). Now go to the row in the document that you want to follow the row you are adding. Again, click on this row so your cursor is inside it, open up the "Table" dropdown and choose "Select Row." Finally open up your "Edit" function window and select "Paste" (don't need "Paste Special" here). The row you saved will be dropped just above the row you just selected. You can now delete the text and add your new text. Adding rows this way will insure that you maintain the correct outline shading of generations as your document grows.

6. How do I delete rows?

Once you have found the row you want to delete, click on it so your cursor is inside it. Next go to the "Table" tab of the WORD screen toolbar and choose "Select Row." After selecting the row, return to the "Table" tab of the WORD screen toolbar and choose "Delete Rows." The row or rows you previously selected will be deleted.

7. Don't forget . . .

The changes you have made to the table are not permanent until you save the document as with any other WORD document. Considering the amount of work that goes into the maintenance of these documents over the years, you should consider copying them to some storage outside your computer in case it crashes. I always keep two copies of my most important documents outside my computer on CD, Zip Disk, Jump Memory, etc., as well as updating a disk I keep in my safe deposit box two or three times a year.

Good luck and I hope the family document has been of help.
