THE PHELPS RECORD.

In fulfilment of the cherished wish of a loving father, this book, the last work of his life, is printed by his daughter — Anna Redfield Phelps.

ties, and have had to content myself therefore with the meagre and sometimes conflicting statements which I have found published as facts regarding our early common name and history, and to reconcile them as I could.

My thanks are due to the "cousins" of all the various degrees of consanguinity who have responded so kindly and so fully to my calls. The patience of some of them has been sorely tried, I have no doubt, by the frequency and urgency of these appeals; but I had no other resource and they will be glad now, I am sure, that they were able to help me.

For many interesting facts relating to the early history of the Phelps family I am indebted to Dr. Stiles's "History and Genealogies of Ancient Windsor," in which I have found them published and which I have freely used; and to Hon. Oliver S. Phelps of Portland, Oregon; and to Hon. Charles A. Phelps of Boston, now U. S. Consul at Prague, to each of whom I take this opportunity to make my acknowledgments.

Although I call my record full and complete, I do not assume it to be absolutely perfect. I think, however, that the errors are not numerous, and that but few names are wanting of either Phelps' sons or daughters of our branch of the family.

I shall regard it as a great favor to be advised of any errors or omissions, so that they may be corrected in a supplemental sheet or in a future edition.

To make it what it is has cost me much patient and persistent work; and yet it has been to me a labor of love. If "the sisters and the cousins and the aunts," with the brothers, husbands and children of the family, shall derive a moiety of the satisfaction in looking it over that I have had in preparing it, I shall be more than satisfied.

DUDLEY POST PHELPS.

NOTE.—This Record has not been carried beyond the date given above. My father's death occurred September 25, 1880.

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

The most trustworthy account which we have of the early history of the family goes to show that it originated in the north of Italy during the middle ages: that in the 11th century many of its members found their way into Germany (the name taking in both of these countries various forms, as Welfs, Velps, Vulps, and Guelphs) and thence to Great Britain, where they settled numerously in Somerset, Staffordshire, and Gloucestershire, where they have been found for 800 years and more.

Here, through various changes in spelling, the name grew to be Ffelypes, Phylups, Phyllypes, and finally Phelps—as we now write it. Stiles, in his “History and Genealogies of Windsor,” says: “Phelps [Phyllypes]—an ancient Staffordshire family. The superfluous letters in the name were dropped during the reign of Edward VI."

The immediate history of our immigrant Puritan Ancestor, and his family, seems to be involved in the doubts and uncertainties which in the course of two hundred and fifty years have gathered around it. It would be a pleasant thing for all who are connected with or who are interested in the family which he formed in this country, if they could have something like historic exactness in regard to his birth-place, family connections, and early life in his English home.

It is to be hoped that some loyal and painstaking descendant of the old Puritan will yet be found to take upon himself the duty which some one, able to do it, is called upon to perform.

By one, I find him written down as a native of Exeter, in Devonshire, where it is said that he first married and where both he and his wife were members of Rev. John Warham's church, in whose company they emigrated to America.

Another, declares him to be a son of Francis Phelps, of Nether-Tyne, in Northumberland, whose family opposed the high Church party of Strafford and Arch Bishop Laud, and an uncle of that John (son of his brother John who died in 1641) who became private secretary to Oliver Cromwell, "sat in the painted chamber" as Clerk to the Parliament or High Commission that tried and ordered the death of Charles the First, in 1649, and "who wrote the official journal and signed it with his name."

At the restoration of Charles the Second, this John was sentenced to be "degraded and drawn from the Town to Tyburn." With Andrew Boughton, the Assistant Clerk who read the death sentence to the King, he escaped to Switzerland. Both died at Vevey, and are supposed to be buried there under the cathedral.*

* [Since this was written, the following paragraph from Galignani's Messenger of May 19, 1882, has confirmed this supposition — A. R. P.—:

- (1) But still another record, and probably the true one, gives his birth-place in Tewksbury, in Gloucestershire, in the year 1599, of which place William Phelps, supposed to be his father, was bailiff in 1607—his brother Edward holding the same office in 1629.

Most visitors to Vevey, in Switzerland, will remember St. Martin's Church and the tombs of the English refugees Ludlow and Broughton, the latter of whom read the death warrant to Charles I. A beautiful marble tablet has lately been placed to the memory of their companion in exile, Charles Phelps, private secretary to Oliver Cromwell, and, with Broughton, clerk of the court which tried and condemned the King, and who, to avoid all question as to his accountability, wrote out the journal of the court daily and signed it with his full name. The tablet bears the following inscription:—

of Him who, being with Andrew Broughton joint clerk of the Court which tried and condemned Charles the First of England, had such zeal to accept the full responsibility of his act that he signed each record with his full name

JOHN PHELPS.

He came to Vevey and died, like the associates whose Memorials are about us, an Exile in the cause of Human Freedom.

This Stone is placed at the request of
Wm. Walter Phelps of New Jersey, and Charles A. Phelps of Massachusetts,
Descendants from across the Seas."}]

(1) I find the same conflicting statements regarding his married life;—one making the marriage to his second wife—Mary Dover—occur in England, she immigrating to America with him; and the other (probably the true one) asserting that they were married in 1638, after his removal to Connecticut, and at Windsor.

By that marriage, wherever it occurred, he had born to him, at Windsor, two children, Timothy and Mary, from the former of whom, our branch of the family descends.

These facts in regard to his life in this country seem at least to be established, viz.: That on the 30th of March, 1630, he sailed from Plymouth, England, with his wife and four sons, William, Samuel, Nathaniel and Joseph, his brother George,—and a son of either George or William, Richard,—with others, amongst whom were those “two Rev. Servants of God, Mr. John Warham and Mr. John Maverick, whom they had chosen to be their Ministers”—making in all a company of about 140 souls, in the ship

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

- (1) Mary and John, 400 tons burden, of which one Squib was Master, and landed at Hull, Mass., on Sunday, the 30th of May following. He took up his residence at Dorchester and from the first was a prominent and leading man. On the 19th of October, 1630, he applied to be made a Freeman, whatever that may have meant; on the 9th of November was chosen a member of the first jury empanelled in the colony, to try Walter Palmer for killing Austin Bratcher; on the 27th of September, 1631, was chosen a constable of Dorchester; on the 9th of May, 1632, was appointed one of two commissioners for Dorchester to confer with the General Court about raising a public stock; on the 4th of March, 1633, was appointed by the General Court one of three commissioners to set bounds between Boston and Roxbury; on the 14th of May, 1634, was a member of the General Court held at Boston, and was appointed one of four commissioners to view the place, and certify to the next General Court "whether Boston shall

(1) have convenient enlargement at Mount Walloston ;” on the 6th of May, 1635, was a member of the General Court held at New Towne, and in the course of this year, by order of the General Court, established the bounds between Hingham and Weymouth.

Having been appointed also one of the Commissioners of the Peace for the government of the Connecticut River Plantation, he went down there on an official visit, and, after seeing the rich soil of the valley of that river, at once determined to leave the sterile region of Dorchester and make for himself and descendants a new home, in what he regarded as a more fertile and favored country.

After much opposition from the authorities of the Massachusetts colony, he, with his brother George and a company of about sixty others, including men, women and children, set forth from Dorchester on the 15th of October, 1635, on their toilsome and tedious journey of two weeks, for a new home on the Connecticut.

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

(1) Most of them went on foot, driving their cattle before them, the compass their only guide through the mazes of the wilderness, with its mountains to be climbed and its streams to be forded. Beginning and ending each day with songs of praise and with fervent prayer, the scene was as strange as it was new, in the solitudes of the unbroken wilderness through which their journey led.

William Phelps, and a part at least of his company, sat themselves down at Windsor, where he established himself for life, dying there on the 14th of July—buried on the 15th, 1672. His wife, Mary Dover, died November 27, 1675. The same qualities which made him so prominent and conspicuous at Dorchester, made him equally so at Windsor.

Dr. Stiles in his history of Windsor says of him:—

“He was one of the most prominent and highly respected men in the colony; he was a member of the first court held in Connecticut, 1636; also of the court of 1637 which declared war against the Pequots; a magistrate from 1638 until the close of 1642; in 1643 he was the foreman of the first grand jury; deputy in 1645, '46, '47, '48, '51, and '57. In 1658 he was again made magistrate, which office he continued to hold for four years after. He is frequently named on the petty jury, and in 1641 was appointed, in company with Mr. Welles of Hartford, a committee on lying; he was an excellent, pious and upright man in his public and private life, and was truly a pillar in Church and State; his residence in Windsor was about three-quarters of a mile northwest of Broad street on the road to Poquamoc on the place now owned by Deacon Roger Phelps."

In 1635 he purchased of Sehat, a Poquonic sachem, a large tract of land, but not being able to prove full payment, he made a repurchase of it in 1665, as appears from an old deed bearing

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

(1) date March 31 of that year, which reads as follows:—

“These presents testify, whereas there was a parcel of land purchased formerly by Mr. William Phelps, Sen., living at Windsor, about thirty years since, of Sehat, an Indian, a Paquanick sachem, and I (Phelps) not being able to prove full payment of the said purchase, in consideration whereof I now engage to make up the full payment, by paying to the said Sehat’s kinsman, Nassahegan, Sachem of Paquanick, four trucking coats, or what, upon agreement shall satisfy them, to the value thereof. The said Nassahegan engaging to make said parcel of land free, as shall be expressed, from any challenge or demands for future time, of himself, his heirs, or successors, or any other Indian or Indians whatsoever. And Coggerynosset, Sehat’s son, and his sister, and the said Nassahegan’s own sister, shall subscribe to the said premises.

“The said parcel of land is thus bounded ; as it takes in all the first meadow bounded by the rivulet the Indian name being Taulchag ; and half the second meadow according to the running of the river, the Indian name being Pabachimusk ; the parcel of land bounds south by a little brook that falls into the river about forty rods from my now dwelling house, and to extend in length from the river westward upon a line three miles, all the breadth the said land from the south brook to the middle of the second meadow ; which said agreement is made and assigned to by us whose names are underwritten, this year of the Lord, 1665, March 31st. Owned already paid in two coats, and forty shillings in wampum for a third coat, and six bushels of Indian corn and fifteen shillings in wampum, for the fourth coat ; and fifteen shillings in wampum is at six a penny.”

“ Witnessed by Samuel Phelps, Matthew Grant, John Bartlett and Timothy Buckland.”

The squatters upon these lands—so called in Western parlance—were required to pay twelve pence per acre to Mr. Phelps for all lands occupied by them “capable of plowing or mowing,” and by so doing they acquired a clear title.

GEORGE PHELPS, the brother of William came over with him in the Mary and John and was also of the party which went with him to Windsor.

He there married Philleny (daughter of Philip) Randall, who died April 29, 1648. He married for his second wife, November 2, 1648, Frances (widow of Thomas) Dewey and removed to Westfield, Mass., where he died July 9, 1678.

- (1) His children were six sons: Isaac, Abraham, Joseph, Jacob, John and Nathaniel.

RICHARD PHELPS, one of the Mary and John immigrants, probably a fifth son of William, was a member of the Dorchester community, but is lost sight of in the subsequent history of the family.

WILLIAM, the first son of our ancestor William, was twice married at Windsor—June 4, 1646, to Isabel Wilson, and December 20, 1676, to Sarah Pinney, but had no children by either marriage.

SAMUEL, the second son, married at Windsor, November 10, 1650, Sarah Griswold, by whom he had nine children. He died May 15, 1669.

NATHANIEL, the third son, married Elizabeth Copley, September 17, 1650; removed to, and was one of the pioneers of Northampton, Mass., where he died May 1, 1690, leaving four children.

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

(1) JOSEPH, the fourth, and last of his English-born sons by his first wife, married at Windsor, September 20, 1660, Hannah Newton; removed to Simsbury, Conn., at an early day, and died there in 1684. He had five children.

The second child of the marriage of "ould Mr. William Phelps" (as he is called in the record) with Mary Dover, was a daughter, MARY, born March 2, 1644. She married Thomas Barber, December 13, 1660. They removed to, and settled at Simsbury, and were the ancestors of numerous families of that name in this country.

The first child, as before stated, was a son,—

Timothy (Lieut.),

born at Windsor, September 1, 1639. Married May 19, 1661, Mary, daughter of Edward Griswold, born October 5, baptised October 13, 1644. He died in 1719. They had twelve children,— Timothy, born Nov. 1, 1663.

Joseph, b. Sept. 27, 1666.

William, b. Feb. 4, 1668.
Cornelius, b. April 26, 1671.
Mary, b. Aug. 14, 1673.
Samuel, b. Jan. 29, 1675.
Nathaniel, b. Jan. 7, 1677.
Sarah, b. Dec. 27, 1679.
Abigail, b. June 5, 1682.
Hannah, b. Aug. 4, 1684.
Ann, b. Oct. 2, 1686.
Martha, b. Nov. 12, 1688.

Joseph,

the second son of "Lieut. Timothy" and Mary Griswold, born as above, September 27, 1666, at Windsor, married Sarah Hosford, November 18, 1686, and with his brothers Timothy and Nathaniel, removed to, and settled in Hebron, Conn., about 1690, where he became "a large landholder—of some 600 acres."

From these three brothers, the Phelps who at one time formed so large a part of the population of that old town, are mainly descended. The father of the writer used to say, that when

They, Timothy and Mary, had children as follows:—

Sarah, born Aug. 14, 1687.

Mary, b. June 8, 1689.

Joseph, b. March 16, 1692.

Abigail, b. Oct. 15, 1693.

Benoni, b. June 24, 1699.

Joseph, b. Sept. 20, 1703.

Abel, b. Feb. 19, 1705.

Daniel, b. March 28, 1707.

Ichabod, b. April 3, 1708.

4

Joseph,

the sixth child of the above-named family, born at Hebron, September 20, 1703, married Lydia Rowley, January 21, 1741.

The children of this marriage were probably born March 27, 1743, married December 6, 1764, Jemima Post, born September 21, 1748. He died at Hebron, January 17, 1795. His widow married Ashbel Phelps in 1798, and died December 5, 1805.

Joseph (Farmer, Hebron, Conn.),

Their children, all born at Hebron, were:—

6. LYDIA, born May 28, 1765; died January 28, 1774.

7. SIBBEL, born February 4, 1767; married Amasa Kilborn, born in 1761, of Colchester, Conn., where they lived until 1808, when they removed to what was then Ontario county, N. Y., now in Monroe county, stopping on their way for a brief period in Onondaga county, where their youngest child was born. All the others

(5) were born at Colchester—Lydia, 1794; Polly, 1796; Harriet, 1798; Clarissa, 1800; Joseph, July 19, 1802; Nancy, 1804; Eliza, 1806; Harvey H., 1808. They lived in Monroe county for forty years and then removed to Cuyahoga county, Ohio, where they both died—he, July 29, 1844, and she July 9, 1849.

8. JOSEPH, born March 20, 1769; married January 12, 1792, Lydia Phinney, who was born at Hebron, January 27, 1774, and died December 19, 1810. On the 20th of February, 1813, he was again married to widow Susannah Walter, who was born at Stockbridge, Mass., April 25, 1786, and died at Sandwich, Ill., September. 1875. He died at Elgin, Ill., May 9, 1851. His daughter Mercy (Mrs. Wells) says: "I have none but pleasant memories of my father. He was a cheerful, happy old man, beloved by every one. His last days were peaceful and happy, waiting hopefully for the time of his release to enter the rest prepared for God's people."

- (5) 9. JEMIMA, born August 5, 1771; died November 16, 1775.

10. HEMAN, born May 29, 1773; married at Hebron, September 19, 1799, Philoxcena, daughter of Solomon and Dimis (Fuller) Huntington, who was born at Hebron, July 4, 1779, and died at Preble, N. Y., June 23, 1829. He learned the trade of a cloth-dresser, at that time one of considerable importance in finishing up the products of the domestic spinning-wheels and looms, which were found in almost every household; and he carried on the business until his factory was destroyed by fire.

It was to him a great disaster. Having assumed heavy liabilities in purchasing and stocking the factory, it required the hard work of several years to relieve himself of the burden which this loss entailed upon him.

When it was accomplished, following the tide of emigration then setting westward, he removed with his family, then consisting of a wife and three children, to Preble, in Cortland county, N. Y. (then a part of Onondaga county), where they arrived in October, 1807. For several winters after his removal to Preble he did the benevolent work of teaching school, and for fifteen years filled acceptably some of the town offices. He continued to reside at Preble, and in the neighboring town of Scott, till 1839, when he went to Oneida, in Madison county, and afterwards to Syracuse, where he died November 21, 1865, in the ninety-second year of his age, retaining his faculties in a wonderful degree up to the time of his death.

In 1812 he and his wife united with the Presbyterian Church at Preble, of which Rev. Matthew Harrison was pastor. At the same time "they brought forward their then five children for baptism and dedication to God."

"Religiously educated by a pious mother," of whom in a brief autobiography which he left he speaks with the greatest gratitude and affection, and blessed with a wife in whose character the

And now, looking back through the long years which have passed, that humble home is invested in memory with a charm like that which attracts the religious devotee to the holy places of his faith, and those who ministered at its altar, to our mental visions seem to have been clothed upon with heavenly garments, as with a patience and self-denial which were heroic, they wrought untiringly in the good work, of which only with the eye of faith could they have seen the full fruition.

On the 30th of September, 1832, he was again married to widow Betsey (Brown) Hull of Scott,

11. LYDIA, born November 14, 1775; died November 15, 1775.

12. JABEZ BALDWIN, born June 4, 1777; married at Cazenovia, N. Y., January 15, 1801, Lydia, daughter of Abner Johnson of Stafford, Conn., born December 27, 1780; died at Preble, June 14, 1874.

He came from Hebron some time in 1800, removed to Vernon, N. Y., after his marriage, and the next year to Preble, where for several years he practised as a physician. Giving up his profession he engaged in other pursuits, and, as is stated of him in a biographical sketch published in the history of Cortland county, "turned his attention to political affairs, and at different

(5) periods of his life was elevated to important positions, which he creditably filled."

He was the first Postmaster at Preble, was Surrogate of Cortland county from March 27, 1823, to April 15, 1828; for several years was one of the Associate Judges of the County Court, and a Member of Assembly in the Legislature of 1841. He died at Preble, December 20, 1851.

13. DAN, born September 18, 1779; married at Cambridge, Washington county, N. Y., September 13, 1807, Betsey, born April 18, 1789, daughter of Israel and Betsey (Johnson) King, who were among the early settlers of Genesee county.

Soon after marriage they removed to Tully, in Ononda county, where their first child was born, and the year following to Darien, Genesee county, where most of his other children were born. Subsequently they removed to Geneva, Wisconsin, where his wife died January 3, 1864, and he followed her April 26, 1868.

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

- (5) 14. JEMMA, born October 7, 1781; married Elijah Church at Hebron, Conn., November 19, 1803, and soon afterwards removed to Preble, N. Y., where they continued to reside until about 1833, when they removed to Ohio, both dying at Jefferson, in Ashtabula county—he on the 8th of February, 1859, and she on March 8, 1872. She was a woman of very decided energy and force of character.

Their children were—Matilda, born November 6, 1805; married in Lenox, Ohio, D. Burgess, and died there August 1878. They had one son, Walter, born May 30, 1837; died November 3, 1872.

Betsey, born May 19, 1808; married John Van Wormer at Preble, N. Y., July 6, 1828; removed to Jefferson, Ohio, soon afterwards, and died there July 6, 1876. They had three children—Marion, Arthur, and Albina. Arthur, a Union soldier, was killed in the war of the Rebellion.

Lemuel L., born in 1812; married Elizabeth Bailey in 1842. They had four children—Philander, Florence, Louisa M., and May Dell.

Eveline, born October 12, 1814; married Austin Latimer in 1833. They had four children—Adelaide, Olney, Eleanor, and Aime. Her husband died in 1848, and in 1853 she married Willard Holt, by whom she had one child, Willie.

Elijah P., born September 25, 1818; married Caroline Wilcox, September 15, 1840. They had two children, Cordelia and Louisa.

Emogene, born in 1821; married in 1842, S. D. Wilcox. They have four children—John, Matilda, Lawrence, and Ophelia.

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

- (5) 15. LYDIA, born November 19, 1783; married Jonathan Trumbull. They had six children, born in Connecticut.

About 1830 they removed to Borodino, Onondaga county, N. Y., and thence to Ohio. She died in February, 1852, in Sullivan, Ohio, and was buried at Mansfield, Ohio.

Their oldest son, Waite, came to Preble before the rest of family sometime about 1827. He taught a school there one winter, and in the spring following started for Michigan. He went to Buffalo, whence he intended to go by Lake, but was never heard from afterwards by his friends.

David was a farmer, and Benjamin a physician. Both are supposed to be now living in Ohio. Hannah Maria married a Mr. Barker, who died, and afterward a Mr. Patterson, of Mansfield, Ohio. They afterward removed to Van Wert, in the same State, where they both died.

Adelaide married a Mr. North, of Borodino, and removed to one of the Western States. The youngest daughter was Mary.

This is all the information I have been able to obtain regarding this family, after diligent inquiry and correspondence; and for this I am indebted to Mrs. Amanda M. Chew (41).

16. MARTIN, born April 5, 1786; married in Preble, Laura Johnson, sister of the wife of his brother Jabez. He died December 4, 1848, and his widow followed March 20, 1856, "aged 71 years," as appears by the inscription on the monument in Preble cemetery, where all the family are buried. He learned the trade, and carried on the business of blacksmith, in connection with farming.

He held for several years a commission in the State Militia as Major-General, and was an active and worthy member of the Presbyterian church at Preble, teaching and leading its choir for many years. In every relation of life, whether in the family, the church, or the busi-

17. POLLY, born August 14, 1788; married August 5, 1805 Aaron Phelps (born October 26, 1781—died February 3, 1855), a son of her step-father Ashbel, and died at Marlboro, Conn., (probably) October 11, 1855. Their children were—Aaron Post, born September 3, 1806—died April 2, 1810; Mariett, born July 29, 1810—died November 8, 1854; and a daughter born July 31, 1813, and a son October 5, 1819, both of whom died on the days of their birth.

Mariett married William B. Brown, March 28, 1836. A daughter of this marriage is the wife of Daniel Gott, son of Chauncey Gott of Turnerville, Conn.

In August, 1829—not yet twelve years old—he came to Syracuse as office-boy for Dr. Jonathan Day, and was a clerk in his drug store, remaining there, and living in his family, until the death of Dr. Day by cholera in August, 1832; and afterwards with his successors in business, with the exception of a few months at school, until March, 1834, when he entered the office of Wilkinson & Outwater as a law student, and became a member of Mr. Wilkinson's family for the six years following.

And just here let the writer take the opportunity of expressing his obligation and gratitude

THE PHELPS FAMILY.

(10) for the parental kindness with which he was treated by the heads of these two families while he was a member of them, whose counsel to a motherless boy was as generously and wisely bestowed as they were gratefully received.

He was admitted as an attorney of the Supreme Court in July, 1840, and afterwards to the United States District and Circuit Courts of Northern New York, but having before then taken employment with the Syracuse and Utica railroad, just then constructed, he gave up the active practise of the law and continued in the service of that company until the spring of 1852. From April, 1856, to May, 1860, he was engaged with the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana railroad company, as its General Ticket Agent, but retaining his residence at Syracuse. From May, 1861, to March, 1868, he was Treasurer of the Onondaga County Savings bank, and for the ten years succeeding was President of the Trust and Deposit company of Onondaga. He represented the First district of Onondaga county in the Assembly of 1855, serving as chairman of the Committee on Manufacture of Salt, and as a member of the Committee on Railroads. He was Treasurer of the county of Onondaga for the term of 1864-66, having succeeded Henry W. Slocum (afterwards Major-General), whose duties as County Treasurer Mr. Phelps discharged for the last year and a half of his official term, while the General was serving in the army. He was for one term (two years) a member of the Board of Education of Syracuse, and has always taken an active part in the social, moral and business interests of the city of which for fifty years he has been a resident.

In his religious views he has departed from the Calvinistic orthodoxy of his ancestors and family, being unable to accept doctrines which seem to him monstrous, but which, bearing the stamp of theological systems, receive so often a hypocritical assent when they are not intelligently believed. He feels compelled to reject

(10) them, and accepts rather the idea of Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man, with the duties, responsibilities and obligations which these relations and terms imply, and which naturally grow out of them, as the brief embodiment of his religious faith. For forty years he has been a member of the Unitarian Church of Syracuse.
