RESERVED TICKETS FOR "MAKING MONEY" TAKEN BY RUSH SALE

Heavy Demand By Fraternities Take Nearly All the Reserved Section in Fowler Hall.

Program of Costumed Folk Dances By Group of Student Dancers Is Exceptional Feature.

Only a few reserved tickets remain for "Making Money." The student sale has been exceptionally heavy. There remains only a few reserved seats in the balcony. The fraternities have purchased the majority of the tickets, intending to attend with their guests in groups.

Other Good Seats.

It must be remembered that there are seats outside of the reserved section just as good as th ones already sold. Anyone who has been in Fowler Hall knows that there is very little choice in the location of the seats, since everything which occurs on the stage can be heard and seen easily from all parts of the building. The price of the general admission tickets is thirty-five cents. The only import. of the questions to be decided but the ant advantage of the reserved seats is efforts seem to be quite disconcerted the convenience of not having to wait as the guesses range from 0 to 1000. outside the doors before the opening Some roosters crow more than others, of the play. ON LOVING ONE'S OWN FACE.

A venerable grandmother made the remark not long ago that "when a man is told he is good looking he is done for." Perhaps there is a great deal of truth in the statement; at least, it is almost universally conceded that when a man becomes egotistical his period of real usefulness is past. This is a pretty general law throughout the scheme of things. Na. tions which grow egotistical change from benefactor to menace.

The sad career of Germany is a flagrant example of this. Germany under the stimulus of unification and a 5,000,000,000 mark indemnity, developed a commerce and an industry that made the twentieth century world | Pilcher. blink. She sprang to the front in industrial chemistry; she laid foundations for the application of science to the practical matters of business for which the whole world is grateful. But she began to have too good an opinion of herself; she began to think the manufacture of Curtiss Steam Turshe was a chosen race, that she had produced the superman. She even depict the construction of the turbine imagined the German dolichocephalic from every angle. head was the only head to have, and head at all. And she honestly and sincerely believed that she should reports will be a complete summary force her Kultur on the rest of the world even if it must be by the means | year. of blood and iron-even as we pour the loathed physic down the unwilling throat of the small boy "for his own good." And so she became a menace to the world, and has compelled the world to "take her down a notch."

We are all willing to admit this failure on the part of Germany, but are we quite so willing to frankly recognize similar tendencies on our own part, and nip them mercilessly in the bud? Some of the enthusiasm we hear about America spreading democracy to the world is dangerously close to the spirit of the cock of the walk It probably comes from the constant repetition of that elusive phrase, "make the world safe for democracy." Of course, we are trying to make the world safe for democracy. We are Plummer, '18, Louise Spake, '20, and trying to make the world safe for W. T. Chafee, '21, will present a trio charge of meeting Wednesday.-Effie liberty, which, according to one emi- dance. Leone Decker, '20, is pitanist. tion. We are trying then to make internationalism honest, to make the word of nations true, to prevent again the tragedy of a few classes leading a whole people astray.

But to assert, as some Americans do, that we are trying to spread American democracy to the world is an egotistical assumption that ought to be laughed to scorn. If we Americans begin to think our democracy is so ideal we can inflict it on the rest of the world we can cease to hope for future advance. Let us first eliminate our oil trusts, and our tammanies, and our commercialized vices before we dare say "Ours is the great, ideal do-

In the meantime, let us fight with all our resources to make the world safe for the future development of our own democracy, and of other democracies which may even be able to teach us how to improve-who knows?-The Minesota Daily.

COUNTY LIBRARIANS WILL HOLD MEETING AT PURDUE

A meeting of librarians and library trustees of thirty libraries in Tippe. canoe and surrounding counties will assemble at the Purdue Library day morning at 10 o'clock to discuss matters relating to their profession. Representatives of the Public Library Commission at Indianapolis will be in attendance. There will be also an afternoon session and various phases of war work as they affect public libraries will be taken up. Representatives of the departments of home economics and agricultural extension will make short addresses, but the greater part of the time will be taken up with round table discussions. This is one of a series of meetings conducted under the auspices of the Indiana Library Association. Other meetings of a similar nature have been held in Logansport and Crawfordsville.

The names of sixteen Columbia men who have been killed in action or who died in military service during the war were announced last week at the university. One of the best known in the list was Dr. Theodore C. Janeway, a major in the office of the surgeon general at Washington, who died of pneumonia in December. Dr. Janeway was engaged in research work when he became ill. He was graduated in APPRECIATION.

+ Editor The Purdue Exponent, Lafayette, Indiana.

My Good Friend:-Will you + please allow me to take this op-+ portunity to congratulate Prof. + Emrick and the university com. + munity at large upon the excellent showing the Purdue band ♦ made at Crawfordsville yester- ♦ day afternoon and evening. As 🕈 you no doubt know, yesterday 降 → was a "red letter day" here, in → + that it marked the coming of + ex-President Taft to this city. + The entire program was a great + success, and the Purdue band has received very flattering press reports in the local papers.

Several of the prominent cit- izens of this city, knowing that I → claim Purdue as my Alma Mater, stopped me on the street today, ♦ and asked that I write you people ♦ + in order that the university com-+ munity at large might know how → well the band was received. The → → singing of Mr. Nell was excellent, → ♦ and we hope to have him here at ◆ + some future time, not far off.

All in all, yesterday was a day long to be remembered.

Yours very truly, G. A. ROSS.
