Additional names and data of the Josiah Ellsworth line, the so called Massachusetts line, the New York line and other collateral lines of English ancestry have been compiled, indexed and bound in one large typewritten volume and filed with the library of the Genealogical Society of Utah, Salt Lake City. These data will be found under the indexed name of "ELLSWORTH."

THE coats of arms shown above are believed to be authentic copies of various coats of arms belonging to the Ellsworth family and its early branches in England. The large representation in center above, because of the earliest spelling of the name, is believed to be the original form.

THE wings represent the strength of the eagle, lofty ideals, high purpose and spiritual motivation; while the crowned heart implies love, nobility and virtue — all characteristics to inspire and guide those who bear the Ellsworth name.

PREFACE BY THE EDITOR

Through the years I often heard of GERMAN E. ELLSWORTH. As time passed my admiration for him increased. I learned early that our kinship was rather remote but nevertheless certain. Only in recent years have I learned that our great grandfathers were probably brothers. This conclusion, as all other relationships of the following pages, rests upon the research of GERMAN E. and his good wife, MARY SMITH ELLSWORTH. Convinced that the records compiled by them through forty years of devoted service to the family should be made available to all interested relatives, I accepted the suggestion of GERMAN E. that I edit the available data and include information of recent generations. Adequacy and accuracy of data through the eighth generation from JOSIAH I, rests with the records compiled by GERMAN E. and MARY. Data for the ninth and later generations have been arranged from letters from living relatives. I have attempted to interpret and record these data. In cases where names and photos are not given, we failed to receive response from those with whom we corresponded. When one family is given in more detail than another, it is because more data were received from that family. We used all of the information we received.

I assume full responsibility for writing the entire manuscript and for the mechanical organization of the material. The responsibility for the line of descent, the spelling of names, and the dates, must rest with the compilers and their ability to interpret the written information.

The record, no doubt, contains errors. The editor invites corrections. If the number of corrections seems to justify a supplement, an attempt will be made to make one accessible. Although all desired facts are not available at this writing, and errors may be numerous, we concluded to go to press with what we have.

The fact that two brothers, DAVID<sup>7</sup> and GERMAN<sup>7</sup>, their uncle BENJAMIN C.<sup>6</sup> and their cousin EDMUND<sup>7</sup>, independently of each other, early joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, has suggested that church positions and particularly missionary experiences of their descendants be recorded. An earnest attempt has been made to secure such information. We find that BENJAMIN C.<sup>6</sup> was the oldest ELLSWORTH and probably the first ELLSWORTH to join the Restoration movement. He was a great missionary for the Church, as were the descendants of the above three men.

We wish to thank all of you who have contributed to making this publication possible. Especially we thank LEO ELLSWORTH<sup>o</sup>, son of WILLIAM WALLACE<sup>s</sup>, for underwriting the cost of publication, and my good wife, ANNIE MERRILL ELLSWORTH, for typing the manuscript.

INTRODUCTION BY THE COMPILER

The gathering of the Ellsworth genealogy was inspired by a deep religious belief in the need for a complete record of the entire human family. Having spent more than fifty years in the ministry, we were impelled in this undertaking by the realization that happiness hereafter, as here, is not to be found in solitude, but in the company of families and friends of like interests and accomplishments. We therefore recognized that our dead ancestors, not finding the true plan of salvation in earth life, would early seek this knowledge after death, and desire to partake of all its saving graces.

We accordingly began a search for our own loved ones in order to do the essential vicarious work of baptism for the dead, which we have done for thousands in cooperation with members of the three western branches of the Ellsworth family, whose progenitors more than one hundred years ago became members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—David, German and Edmund.

This vicarious work of salvation in Christ has included members of the other branches of the Ellsworth family as well. This we did in furtherance of the program of salvation of the human race as revealed by the Lord to the Prophet Joseph Smith and referred to in the Bible (I Peter 3:18-21; Malachi 4:5-6) and by Christ during His ministry, wherein He taught that "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved," also by the Apostle Paul, who, in preaching to the Corinthians on the subject of the resurrection, asked this pertinent question: "Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead if the dead rise not at all? Why are they then baptized for the dead?" (I Cor. 15:29)

Since this record and the already completed vicarious temple work is but the beginning of the work to be done for the entire Ellsworth family, we humbly hope and pray that many living members of every branch of the family to whom this great light and mission has come, will in the future become vitally interested in perfecting a record of their ancestors and also in doing the vicarious work in each and every case where it is required, thus becoming saviors on Mount Zion, being numbered among those who assisted in bringing perfection to the work of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

In this connection and to stimulate interest in this work, members of the family are placing copies of the David, German, and Edmund lines of the family in the principal libraries of the United States, Canada and England. A notice will be placed on the inside cover of each book telling which member of the family donated the book for the benefit and encouragement of any who may, by interest or blood or marriage, be impelled to do further research in extending and perfecting the genealogical data we have gathered.

We are convinced, through many years of experience, that no other task will prove as rewarding, here and hereafter. We have sought by this means to do our part in spreading this phase of the Gospel of salvation among the children of our Father in Heaven.

Other members of the Ellsworth family, like Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth, who gave his young life for a united country, explorer Lincoln Ellsworth, who accompanied Amundson to the North Pole and has continued in the vanguard to carry the light of civilization to the undiscovered and undeveloped countries of the world, and Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth in his distinguished part in the early days of our country, have all contributed in their way in preparing the world to receive the Restored Gospel. They were with the many others who gave their lives for their country, their families, and the principles of freedom, sons of God seeking to promote a better life under the banner of Jesus Christ.

Our family and our children have not only the opportunity now, but the obligation of bringing the Gospel and its benefits to them and to their kin. We therefore salute these, our ancestor dead, and admonish our living relatives to follow in the service of the Master that their pride will not be hurt nor their hearts afraid or ashamed when they stand before the bar of God's justice to give an account of their deeds and accomplishments in their own lifetime on earth.

Our own work over the last fifty years on genealogy has been intensive. The original research began in 1908 during our missionary service in Chicago. We sent out fifteen hundred letters to the Ellsworths listed in the telephone directories of the principal cities of the United States, giving four generations of our then known line and asking for information from them.

As a result of the letter-campaign, Mrs. Edith Ellsworth Johnson of Yakima, Washington, interested in research for people seeking membership in the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution, came to Chicago and joined my wife in working in the genealogical libraries in Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and the smaller libraries and old cemeteries in the New England States, with a later visit to the libraries of England and Washington, D.C., followed by months of compilation and typing in Chicago.

Our thanks and appreciation are here now given to Mrs. Johnson for her untiring efforts, and our deep gratitude to my wife, Mary Smith Ellsworth, for her years of devoted and dedicated work in listing and recording the hundreds and hundreds of temple sheets handled through the years.

Mrs. Ellsworth brought more than fourteen hundred names from her search in England, some of which date back to the twelfth century. We have been unable to definitely connect Josiah of America to the Johns, the Davids, and the Lord John of Elesplace or Elesworth, from which the name Ellsworth is supposed to have come. Some gaps and omissions will therefore be found in the records we are leaving for future attention. The perfection of the balance of the family record we pass on to the future.

Also to my brothers and sisters of the David, German, and Edmund Ellsworth families, to their descendants and to all Ellsworths and all men, I solemnly bear witness that the Gospel of Jesus Christ restored through Joseph Smith with authority to officiate in his name is true. The Book of Mormon given to the world through Joseph Smith is true and my untiring effort for its distribution was sparked by a voice out of Heaven on an early June morning in 1907 as I stood on the Hill Cumorah which declared: "Son of German, son of German, push the distribution of the record taken from this hill. It will help bring the world to Christ."

In conclusion I dedicate the efforts made in this volume to the cause of genealogy and to the furtherance of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, to which I have been fortunate to give my life.

INTRODUCTION BY THE EDITOR

Having been born of goodly parents who taught me the fundamentals of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, and having recognized my duty to record the advantages of a pioneer heritage, I assume the responsibility of bearing again the testimony for which DAVID, GERMAN, and EDMUND spent most of their time and energy, and for which they gave the best part of their lives. If they could speak to us, their descendants, I know they would give us anew their testimonies of the restored gospel and urge us to serve our fellow men and keep all of the commandments of the Lord Jesus Christ. They would have us know that just as certain as we were born, so we will die and be resurrected. Likewise, they would have us know that we lived as individuals in the spirit world before we were born and that we will live again after death, and meet our relatives — our ancestors — and our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and our God, provided we merit such blessings. If each could speak he would probably say: I am your father. I love you, my children. I want you to live so you may come and enjoy with me the association of our kinsmen and the blessings of our Lord. I need your help to teach the gospel to those of our ancestors who lived and died before the restoration of the gospel. While you have the opportunity I would have you seek their names and do their work in the temples of our God. I would remind you, as King Benjamin said, "That when ye are in the service of your fellow beings ye are only in the service of your God;" that the "Grace of God will save you only after all you can do." I would have you "Learn your duty, and act in the office in which you have been appointed in all diligence. You that are slothful shall not be counted worthy to stand, and you who learn not your duty and show yourself not approved shall not be counted worthy to stand." I would have you "Search the scriptures for in them and in obedience to their teachings you will have eternal life." I would have you know that you are the seed of Jacob, and are of the House of Israel, and may inherit all of the blessings of Abraham. Although you were born heirs to those blessings, you obtain nothing without compliance to the contractual conditions of the inheritance. If you obey not the commandments and live not the Gospel of Jesus Christ, you will have missed your opportunity. I commend you who are diligent for your faithfulness. You will meet your Saviour and hear Him say: "Well done my good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord." You have been born an heir to the Priesthood. Exercise that blessing by service to the needs of men. You who were born after me, may go to the temples and weld link to link of our family chain. Come, follow me. I will lead the way. With your faithfulness I will cause your mind to be inspired as to the source of material so that all links of our family chain may ultimately be completed. You cannot, however, do for others until you have acted for yourself. The time is short. Quick action is imperative. Many who are here await your decision. "The field is white already to harvest; and lo, he that thrusteth in his sickle with his might, the same layeth up in store that he perisheth not, but bringeth salvation to his soul; and faith, hope, charity and love, with an eye single to the glory of God, qualify him for the work. Remember faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, brotherly kindness, godliness, charity, humility, diligence. Ask and ye shall receive; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. Amen."

Pausing with you, my kinsmen, to contemplate the admonitions of our fathers, I bear record that I know that the foregoing is true. I know that the blessings of God come to those who diligently seek Him. By the exercise of the power of the Priesthood I have seen the sick made whole. By administration I saw my own father relieved and healed of the pains of cancer. I testify that "This is life eternal that thou mayest know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ whom He hath sent." As the Father loved the Hebrews and gave them the Bible, He also loved his people, the Nephites, and gave them, through his prophets, the Gospel contained in The Book of Mormon. "And when ye shall receive these things, I would exhort you that ye would ask God, the Eternal Father, in the name of Christ, if these things are not true; and if ye shall ask with a sincere heart, with real intent, having faith in Christ, he will manifest the truth of it unto you, by the power of the Holy Ghost."

I have been honored by the councils of men, but I certify to you my kinsmen, that I think more of my certificate of ordination to the Priesthood of God than I do of my doctor's degree from the great Cornell University. I think more of my record on the tithing rolls of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints than I do of my record in "Who's Who in America." I think more of my position in the Priesthood Quorum than I do of my positions as a University Professor and as a Dean. The one is "Life Eternal"; the other is "Until death do we part."

Be of good cheer, my kinsmen. I may never see you in this life, but some day I may meet you before the judgment bar of God, and there again assert as I do now that I know the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ is true. Jesus is our Saviour. God lives. The Book of Mormon is a true record of God's dealings with the inhabitants of Ancient America, and Joseph Smith was a prophet of the most high God. Amen.

Your kinsman,

John Orval Ellsworth

CHAPTER I

OUR ELLSWORTH ANCESTORS

The American ancestors of DAVID, GERMAN, and EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH, the subjects of the present writing, began, so far as we can determine, with Sergeant JOSIAH ELLSWORTH of Windsor, Connecticut. The first authentic record of JOSIAH is his marriage to ELIZABETH HOLCOMB, 16 November, 1654. Reference is made by some writers that JOSIAH was born 7 August, 1629 in Cambridgeshire, England, the son of Sir JOHN ELLSWORTH and LUCIA BOWER. (Not confirmed). Sir JOHN may have been the son of Lord JOHN, or the son of DAVID. In any case JOSIAH was probably a descendant of Sir SIMON de ELLSWORTH, who was born about 1235 in England. He is reported to have been a "Justice" in the court of King EDWARD I from 1271 to the time of his death in 1291. A descendant of Sir SIMON is mentioned in Savage's "General Dictionary, Wills and Abstracts" as having been born in 1323. From that date to 1590 we find no record other than the birth of Lord JOHN ELLSWORTH, between 1570 and 1590. Sir JOHN, probably the son of Lord JOHN, is reported to have come to America in 1634, later returning to England where he died in 1649.

JOSIAH came to America in about 1646, at the age of seventeen. He made his home in Windsor, Connecticut. He was made a "Freeman" by court order, 21 May 1657. Previous to his marriage JOSIAH purchased property from ALEX ALFORD (19 March 1654). He and his family lived at this place until it was sold to CORNELIUS GILLET in 1658 at the time JOSIAH purchased a lot from WILLIAM PHELPS. Several years later, in 1664 or 1665, JOSIAH purchased from JOANNA DAVISON the property which has come to be known as the "ELLSWORTH HOMESTEAD." The place, also known as "ELMWOOD," was deeded in 1903 by the heirs of Chief Justice OLIVER ELLSWORTH to the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution, who maintain the property as a colonial historical landmark and a museum of revolutionary relics.

Because of the fact that JOSIAH was our first American ancestor, and that the "ELLSWORTH HOMESTEAD" has become so well known, we include the following:

"Extracts From Original Deed to Josiah Ellsworth, 1665. Attest copy of extracts from the original deed furnished in 1907 by the Town Clerk of Windsor, March 31st 1665. Josiah Ellsworth hath by purchas Land here in Windsor that formerly was Frances Styles's and then from him to Robert Silkinstol then purchased by Master Daveson, and now made over to Josiah Ellsworth by Joanna Davison, the Widow and Relieb and Sold Executrix to the Said Mr. Davison, Decd, Vidilleset the Dwelling house orchard, with that part of the home Lott, which is on the East Side of the Street, in bredth Eighteen rod, and now bounded North, by the Land partaining to the children of William Gaylord, Decd. South by the Land of Henry Styles . . . .

Also four acres more or Less of meadow butting the home Lott, and bounds North by the Land of the Children aforesd, South by the meadow of Henry Styles, Easterly by the brook, according as it runs down to the River and a Little part by the River . . . Whereas that part of the home Lott as Lyes on the East Side of the Street, being not found, to have the bredth of Eighteen rods by the Street, but fifteen and a half, it is now upon Trial found, that the first proprietors Frances Styles and William Gaylord, now both Decd had made Some Exchange, betwixt them for what is wanting in bredth, by the Street, is over and above its first bredth, next the meadow, So that Josiah Ellsworth takes up as Satisfied with it . . . as it now is bounded and the fence Stands . . . April 5th 1666, Witnessed by me Mathew Grant, Register."

We do not know — unless it was JOHN — which owner built the spacious colonial house which has occupied the site for many years. The main part of the house was probably built about 1740. The south "ell" is of a later period and may have been built by OLIVER ELLSWORTH.

JOSIAH served frequently as a juror, according to the records of the Secretary of State, at Hartford. He served in other public offices of trust, which attest the character of the man. JOSIAH was the owner of thirteen different pieces of land, totaling about two thousand acres. One of the three fort palisades at Windsor was known as the ELLSWORTH FORT. At this place women and children sought refuge from possible Indian attacks. At the time of his death, 20 August, 1689, at the age of sixty, JOSIAH was considered to be in the upper group, financially. His will, probated 11 November, 1689, listed his property at about $3000. Judging from the inventory of the estate, JOSIAH may have been a weaver.

The fact that our mothers have contributed equally with our fathers to our inherited characteristics suggests that we record as much as possible relative to the women who frequently were the factors determining the survival of families and of the pioneering society of America.

The wife of JOSIAH ELLSWORTH was ELIZABETH HOLCOMB. She was born in 1634 in Dorchester, Massachusetts, the daughter of THOMAS HOLCOMB and ELIZABETH FERGUSON.

THOMAS HOLCOMB, the father of ELIZABETH, was one of a company of one hundred forty Puritans who, in March of 1630, assembled at the hospital at Plymouth, Devon County, England, for the purpose of developing plans for their voyage to America. They chartered a 400 ton ship, the Mary and John, and soon set sail. After sailing for seventy days the group arrived 30 May, 1630 at Nantasket, Massachusetts. The party possibly settled just south of Boston. They named the area Dorchester. It was later incorporated into greater Boston.

THOMAS married ELIZABETH FERGUSON, a widow, in 1632. THOMAS was made a freeman 14 March, 1634. Within a few years—1635-1636—THOMAS HOLCOMB, with sixty other people, settled Windsor, Hartford County, Connecticut. He sold his Dorchester property 12 August, 1635. THOMAS represented Hartford County in framing the constitution of the Colony of Connecticut. THOMAS died 7 September 1657, age 57 years.

The best information available reports that THOMAS was born in Hull, Devon County, England, about 1600, probably the son of GILBERT HOLCOMBE of Hull, born about 1565, the son of THOMAS H. HOLCOMBE, son of ELLIS HOLCOMBE, son of CHARLES HOLCOMBE (b. about 1472, d. 1528) son of ROGER HOLCOMBE (d. 1489) son of JOHN HOLCOMBE II, son of JOHN HOLCOMBE I of Hull.

His first wife was ABIGAIL EGGLESTON, to whom he was married 14 October 1669. JOHN and ABIGAIL had ten children: JOHN and MARTHA had the following children: A son, born and died the same day, 3 February 1692, ISAAC, MARY, and JACOB (OSBORN).

V. THOMAS ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> was born 2 September 1665. He married SARAH MILLS about 1695. She was born 16 September 1670, the daughter of SIMEON MILLS and MARY BUELL. SARAH died previous to 25 March 1719. THOMAS was a carpenter by trade. He owned several pieces of land and held the public office of collector (probably taxes) for Windsor and later he was a lister. THOMAS died 26 September 1750 in Windsor. The inventory of his property mentioned the children: SARAH, NATHANIEL, WILLIAM, HANNAH, ELIZABETH, THOMAS, MARY, ABIGAIL, DEBORAH, EUNICE, and NAOMI (ELLSWORTH).

VI. JONATHAN ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> was born 28 June 1669. He married SARAH GRANT 26 October 1693. She was born 19 September 1675 in Windsor and died 9 November 1755. SARAH was the daughter of TAHAN GRANT and HANNAH PALMER. JONATHAN became one of the leading men of Windsor. He held many public offices, including fence viewer, surveyor, constable, lister, and townsman. He was active in the militia, being appointed ensign in 1713 and Lieutenant in 1726. JONATHAN was interested in local industry, having been a partner in a saw mill and a grist mill. He operated a tavern and small store. JONATHAN died 13 September 1749, the result of being thrown from a horse.

Children: JONATHAN, SARAH, JOHN, GILES, MARY, ESTHER, DAVID<sup>3</sup> (the father of Chief Justice OLIVER ELLSWORTH<sup>4</sup>), HANNAH, JONATHAN, and ANN (ELLSWORTH).

VII. JOHN ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> was born 7 October 1671 and died 26 October 1720. He married ESTHER WHITE, 9 December 1696.

She was born in 1671 and died 7 September 1766, age 95. She was the daughter of DANIEL WHITE and SARAH CROW. Family tradition indicates that JOHN built the house later known as the "ELLSWORTH HOMESTEAD," referred to previously. JOHN was a prominent citizen, serving first as hay warden, member of numerous local committees and constable. One important assignment was as one of a committee to determine the state boundary between Enfield, Massachusetts and Windsor, Connecticut. JOHN was one of the largest landowners in Windsor. A portion of his holdings was inherited from his father.

Tradition tells us that JOHN and his sons, JOHN and DANIEL, were developing land in Ellington. They would go to their new holdings on Monday morning with their oxen and cart, spend the week clearing the land, and return to their home in Windsor on Saturday. One Saturday afternoon JOHN asked his sons to gather some turnips and place them in the cart while he went to the marsh to fell a tree. The boys, having completed their assignment, waited for the return of their father. After some time they went to look for him and found the tree had fallen on him and he was dead. The boys placed the body upon the stone boat, taking it to a shanty which had been built as a temporary shelter. There one boy remained with the body all night while the other boy went to Windsor for aid. A stone marks the place with the inscription: "Lieutenant JOHN ELLSWORTH was killed here by the fall of a tree, 26 October 1720, age 47 years and 15 days."

Children: JOHN, DANIEL, ESTHER, HANNAH, MARTHA, and ANNIE (ELLSWORTH).

(An appreciation of the preceding story, and others, may be enhanced by an understanding of some of the problems of colonization on the American frontier. Most of New England was a dense forest. The area had been glaciated, the receding ice having left stone of all sizes scattered through the soil. Names like "Town of Ellington" referred to what we in the West call a township and not to a village. The area of the township depended upon rivers, shorelines, mountains, or other convenient boundaries. A "town" may be four to ten miles, more or less, in each dimension, depending upon the distance to or from or between rivers or lakes. The disposal of trees and the removal of stone were essential in the conversion of forest land to crop land. Stones were frequently ricked along the field or property lines and often served as a fence. Stones were moved on a drag called a stone boat.)

VIII. JOB ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> was born 13 April 1674 and died 29 September 1751. He married 1st MARY TRUMBULL (or Trumbel), 19 December 1695. She was the daughter of JOSEPH TRUMBULL and HANNAH SMITH. MARY was born 28 March 1675 in Suffield, Connecticut. She died 15 September

1710 in Windsor. JOB and his brother, JOHN, each received about seven hundred acres of land from the estate of their father. JOB married 2nd Mrs. SARAH WARNER CLARK, widow of JOHN CLARK of Farmington, 25 October 1711. She was born 6 March 1670 and died 9 November 1755, the daughter of ROBERT WARNER and ELIZABETH GRANT of Middletown, Connecticut.

Children by first wife: BENJAMIN, JOB, HANNAH, MARY, ELIZABETH, MARGARET.

IX. BENJAMIN ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> was born 16 January 1676 and died 14 April 1690.

1. JOSIAH ELLSWORTH<sup>2</sup> (JOSIAH<sup>1</sup>) was born 5 December 1655. He married MARTHA GAYLORD, 30 October 1679. (JOSIAH, age 24 and MARTHA, age 20). MARTHA was born 24 June 1659, the daughter of SAMUEL GAYLORD and ELIZABETH (or MARY) HULL. She died 22 April 1721. At the time of his father's death in 1689, JOSIAH<sup>2</sup> came into possession of the "Homestead" to which they moved their home. JOSIAH was chosen constable of Windsor 15 December 1696 and in 1704 he was chosen fence viewer for the south side. JOSIAH<sup>2</sup> received a piece of land from his father-in-law, SAMUEL GAYLORD. The land, in addition to the "Homestead," was inherited by the three sons of JOSIAH. The remainder of the GAYLORD land and a part of that owned by JOSIAH came into the possession of THOMAS ELLSWORTH. WILLIAM ELLSWORTH purchased the remainder of the land owned by JOSIAH and later sold it to DAN PRATT. JOSIAH died 4 May 1706. His will was executed 19 April 1706. The inventory valued the estate at about two thousand dollars.

Most of our information about ISRAEL<sup>5</sup> was obtained from his application for a pension, made 17 December 1831. The application follows:

ISRAEL ELLSWORTH (alias Holiday). Copied from the Archives of the United States, Revolutionary War records Continental Green Mountain Boys, Vermont. File 10856, State of Virginia, County of Fairfax, 15 October, 1832

Personally appeared . . . ISRAEL ELLSWORTH HOLLIDAY, a resident of Virginia in the County of Fairfax, aged 81-82 years, who on oath made the following declaration:

“ . . . that he entered as a volunteer in the service in the army of the state of Vermont in the year, he thinks, of 1776, under Captain PELEG SUNDERLAND and he served as Sergeant in said company when it marched under Colonel ETHAN ALLEN and BENEDICT ARNOLD, when they took Ticonderoga. He remained a short time there. He then assisted under Capt. P. SUNDERLAND in building Fort Independence and in removing the cannon to that place from Ticonderoga. He was at this about one year. He remembered in this service Captain SUNDERLAND, his Lieuts. JONATHAN FASSETT and WILLIAM COOK, also Capt. BENJAMIN COOLEY, also Capt. SAMUEL HOLLIDAY with his Lieutenants . . . HENDÉE, also Colonels JAMES MEADE and a Captain MEADE and a Captain STEPHENS.

“After taking Ticonderoga and building Fort Independence, he was marched back to Pittsford and while there he was sent out with twelve men to keep a lookout for British foragers and was taken with the twelve men under his command on Otter Creek near Brown's Camp by a British officer that was called by common appellation Major FRASURE (Frazier). He took us across Lake Champlain to General BURGOYNE'S camp at Crown Point where he was examined by General BURGOYNE (and as near as he can now recollect the name REDAZEL, and Major FRASURE who was afterwards killed passing down the lake to Albany.

“After being kept there a short time he was exchanged, and he thinks soon after his exchange, he believes the twelve men were exchanged also. He remembers one man by the name of COOK, two men by the name of GRAVES, and one JESSE ARMSTEAD in this capture.

“After his exchange he joined Captain SAMUEL BLOTCHET and was in an engagement at Hubbleton (Hubbardton) with a parcel of Tories and Indians and we were beat by them and routed in Vermont.

"After this in 1777 he received a Captain's commission which was signed by THOMAS CHITTENDEN who was at that time chairman of the convention in Vermont. A short time after, he marched with his command of 75 men and two Lieutenants, BENJAMIN STEPHENS and ABLE STEPHENS, and joined Colonel SETH WARNER, he thinks, in the township of Allentown, who afterwards with his regiment joined Colonel ALLEN who marched to Bennington and from there to a small settlement called Macloomscock (?) in New York where he had an engagement with a detachment of BURGOYNE'S army that was sent, as he supposed and believes to take our stores at Bennington. A party of the enemy was taken prisoners and put in the meeting house at Bennington. He was out on this enterprise about two months and marched back under Colonel WARNER to Pittsford for the greater security of the frontiers of Vermont, where he continued to serve as a Captain in the Vermont line (words "volunteer minute men" crossed out) until the end of the war before his discharge.

"His general employment after this was to keep a lookout from Onion River down to Fort Ann and Stillwaters, having likewise the general care of the cattle, from being taken or driven to the enemy. His paymaster was JONATHAN FASSETT and commissary was CALEB HENDEE during his general station from Onion River to Stillwaters.

"The said ISRAEL ELSWORTH HOLLIDAY was born in the year 1750 or 1751 in the township of Simsbury, County of Hartford, State of Connecticut, and removed at 16 years of age with his father into the township of Pittsford, County of Rutland in Vermont, where he remained until one or two years after the war.

"He then removed to the town of Winchester in the State of Virginia, from there to Harrisburgh in Pennsylvania, from there to Charlestown in Maryland, from there to the city of Washington and Georgetown in the District of Columbia, and finally from there he removed in the year 1809 into the county of Fairfax, Virginia in the neighborhood where he now resides.

"He left his commission in his father's house with all other evidence of his service, which he has never seen since. He has never returned back to the State of Vermont nor has he received any letter from any part of his family or acquaintance for the space of 40 years. Neither does he know of any person now living with whom he had acquaintance in the state of Vermont.

"He hereby relinquishes every claim whatsoever to a pension or annuity except the present . . . .

Sworn and signed

ISRAEL ELSWORTH HOLLIDAY

Several character affidavits accompanied the application for pension, including the following of GEORGE WASHINGTON POOLE.

" . . . . I have been acquainted with ISRAEL ELSWORTH HOLLIDAY from the year 1816 and before that time, having worked with him at the carpenter's trade. I have often heard him give an account of his services as a soldier in the Revolutionary War which corresponds with the detailed statement in his declaration which I have seen . . . he was even more minute and circumstantial in his details . . . His mind and memory are impaired by infirmities of old age and a stroke of palsey." December 17, 1832."

The pension application was approved, the name of ISRAEL ELSWORTH HOLLIDAY.

ISRAEL<sup>5</sup> was on the pay roll of Captain COOLEY'S Company in Colonel GIDEON WARREN'S Regiment of militia for six days, 8 to 13 November 1778, with his brother, SAMUEL. The service record mentioned in the pension application file 10,856, seems sufficient to secure approval for descendants of ISRAEL<sup>5</sup>, for membership in the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution.

ISRAEL<sup>5</sup> purchased land in Pittsford, Vermont from his father in 1786 and sold it to JOHN EGGLESTON in 1790. He moved with his family to Northern Pennsylvania, near Troy, (on Sugar Creek) in Bradford County, from which place he disappeared.

From the time of his disappearance, about 1790, until his pension application in 1832, his first family and their friends knew nothing about him. He had gone to Virginia and there married ANN BENNETT. ISRAEL<sup>5</sup> used the maiden name of his mother. He made his home at Fairfax, Virginia. There he had four children.

CALEB HENDEE recorded that "After ISRAEL left his wife in Pennsylvania she returned to Pittsford and her people, and reported that in a fit of insanity her husband went into the woods and never was seen afterwards. His wife married again to a MR. PATTERSON, with whom she lived some years and then later he left her. Later she married WILLARD SEATON, with whom she lived some years. They were pretty well matched, both bad enough; he at length left her and afterwards she went into Upper Canada and there married a fourth time."

(See the record under ISRAEL<sup>5</sup>). The best information we have relative to JONATHAN is included in the journal of his son, EDMUND, written many years after the death of JONATHAN, about 1819. "My father and mother, SARAH GALLEY, at the time of my birth owned and occupied the whole tract of land upon which is now (1885) built the village of Paris, New York. My father was a carpenter and joiner by trade and followed his occupation . . . My father's origin I know but little of, further than that his father was an American and fought under General WASHINGTON in several battles. My mother is of Scotch descent. SARAH GALLEY was born in 1789 in Perth Amboy, New Jersey, the daughter of JAMES GALLEY and REBECCA . . . My father, at the time of my birth, was on a trip to Quebec, Canada, where he went with one of my uncles, his brother, with a raft of lumber down the St. Lawrence River. ## CHAPTER II.

DAVID was born 8 October 1809 in Pittsford, Rutland County, Vermont. He died in October 1875 in Grand Junction, Utah. Said to be buried in his orchard near Kanab, Utah.

DAVID married (1st) DIANA LIVINGSTON, who was born 6 May 1811, and died 15 November 1843 in Nauvoo, Illinois.

DAVID married (2nd) MRS. CATHERINE LANCASTER McGILVERY, who was born in Lancashire, Nance County, England, and died in Phoenix, Arizona.

DAVID married (3rd) MRS. NANCY JANE McFERREN McCLEVE 28 March 1857 in Payson, Utah. She was born 1 May 1815 in Crawfordsburn, Down County, Ireland. She died 24 April 1879 in Toquerville, Utah. She was the daughter of WILLIAM McFERREN and MARGARET McHENRY and the widow of JOHN McGLEAVE.

DAVID left Canada with his father to escape the Orange and Troy War, during the winter of 1829, crossing the St. Lawrence River of Ogdensburg, New York.

We read in the "Life of Heber C. Kimball," (page 80) that Apostle Kimball and Elder Luke Johnson left the town of Hewton, (Western New York) early one morning, "A walk of six miles brought them to Esquire DAVID ELLSWORTH'S where they were warmly welcomed and hospitably entertained. The apostles blessed the kind souls who thus administered to their wants, and who, on bidding them farewell, gave them money, wished them God-speed, and wept at their departure. About one year later the whole family embraced the Gospel." Thus DAVID probably became the first ELLSWORTH to join The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. DAVID attended the dedication of the Kirtland Temple in 1836.

The family moved in about 1841 to Nauvoo, Illinois, making their home across the Mississippi River in Iowa Territory. The family participated in the vicissitudes of the Nauvoo period of the Church. DAVID was ordained to the office of a Seventy in 1845 by George A. Smith. DAVID and his wife took part in the impressive ceremonies in the Nauvoo Temple just before the exodus of the Church from Illinois in February, 1846. The family moved West with the Church, arriving in Utah in about 1848.

DAVID lived in the area of Salt Lake City for awhile, later moving to Payson, Utah where he became known as an authority in horticulture. In 1862 DAVID answered a colonization call of the Church and moved his two families to Washington County, Utah. About 1872 the family moved to Kane County, Utah again in response to a colonization call of the Church. There, as previously, DAVID exerted his skill as a horticulturist in the stimulation of the planting of trees as a tempering agency in the modification of the desert climate. His special interest was in fruit trees and berries.

He married (1st) EVELINE ELLSWORTH<sup>8</sup>, his cousin, who was born 7 September 1842 in Attica, Michigan, and died 2 September 1892 in Salt Lake City, Utah. Through his youth and young manhood, JAMES HENRY moved about with the family of his father, DAVID. In about 1871 HENRY moved by way of Leeds, Utah to Kanab, Kane County. He moved in December, 1878 to the Mormon settlement of Taylor, in Northeastern Arizona. He moved to Luna Valley, Secora County, New Mexico in about 1883, and to the Gila Valley of Arizona in the autumn of 1885. He made his new home at Safford, where he engaged in farming and blacksmithing.

JAMES HENRY was always known as a special friend to the Indians. At times Indians would come to his home under cover of darkness and call, "Jim." JAMES HENRY would leave his fireside, his family, house guests, and his gun, and join his Indian friends in the night time.

He cast his lot as a professional breeder of race horses and established his stables near Ontario, California. The stables, REX as the breeder, Michek Tenney as the trainer, and the state of California shared the glory of the famous three-year old "Swaps" when he won the 1955 Kentucky Derby. This horse later established a new world record of 1:40  $\frac{2}{5}$  for the running one and one-sixteenth miles. REX stands out in racing world—no liquor, no tobacco, no betting on his own or other horses. His judgment on the conformation of what it takes to make a horse fast is almost uncanny. Hal Davis of Louisville, Kentucky pays this tribute to REX ELLSWORTH from California: "A man who is clean both inside and outside and who neither looks up to the rich nor down to the poor, who can lose without squealing and win without bragging, who is considerate of women, children and old people, who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat, and who takes his share of the world, and lets others have theirs."

CHAPTER III.

GERMAN ELLSWORTH<sup>7</sup>

GERMAN<sup>7</sup> was born 18 January 1815 in Crosby, Ontario, Canada. He died 9 November 1849 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

GERMAN, at the age of fourteen, crossed the St. Lawrence River on the ice in a bobsleigh with his father ISRAEL and family. They arrived at Ogdensburg, New York, and lived near Paris, Oneida County, New York, for a short time. (See notes on EDMUND<sup>7</sup>, who said his father JONATHAN<sup>6</sup> lived at Paris, New York.) The family moved to Lapeer, Michigan where GERMAN secured eighty acres of land which he cleared and fenced. (Lapeer County records of 16 January 1837)

GERMAN<sup>7</sup> married EXPERIENCE (SPEEDY) BROWN, 25 November 1837. She was born 25 May 1820, near Leeds, Ontario County, Canada. She was the daughter of DAVID BROWN and LUCINDA BACHELDER. "SPEEDY," as she was known, was a stocky, light-complexioned, blue eyed lady. Thirteen of her fourteen children were dark complexioned.

GERMAN<sup>7</sup> heard the missionaries of the Restored Gospel of Jesus Christ and was baptized in 1839. He was ordained an Elder and with Elder BROWN baptized 385 converts in two years.

GERMAN<sup>7</sup> sold the farm to his half-brother DANIEL on 29 October 1842 and joined the party of 380 new members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on their trek from Michigan to Nauvoo, Illinois, the headquarters of the Church at that time. GERMAN, being of a clerical turn of mind, assembled the records of his ancestors in keeping with the revelation given by God to Joseph Smith. The procedure was essential that proxy baptism and endowments could be done for the dead, all in harmony with the sermon of the Apostle Paul upon the subject of the Resurrection. (15 chapter of Cor.) The record was drenched by a heavy rain, and while drying before an open fireplace, the papers caught fire and were destroyed.

GERMAN<sup>7</sup> gave all time possible from 1842 to early 1846 to aid in the construction of the beautiful Nauvoo Temple. GERMAN and his wife received their sacred temple endowments in the partially completed Nauvoo Temple before the exodus in early 1846. GERMAN was anxious to travel west with the first Company, but responded to the request of President Brigham Young to remain as clerk and checker of the Kanessville gathering place near Council Bluffs, Iowa. Thus their leaving was detained until the spring of 1849. They arrived in Salt Lake Valley, 23 September 1849. The family purchased land near Third South and Second West, called the Jennings's Block. Largely the result of exposure and his strenuous effort, GERMAN contracted mountain fever, which took his life only six weeks after his arrival in the Salt Lake Valley. A baby, ISRAEL, had been buried at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Another baby, GERMAN<sup>8</sup>, was born only a few weeks before the death of the father and only one week after the arrival of the family in Salt Lake. The mother had walked much of the way from Omaha, Nebraska. A widow with six small children, all under ten years of age, faced the winter of 1849-1850, in the strange land of the Utah desert. A great woman and a great mother was left to rear a family alone. The following pages will evidence how well she did her unsolicited assignment.

"SPEEDY," the widow of GERMAN<sup>7</sup>, married (2nd) PHILO JOHNSON, 17 March 1850. He was born in Newton, Connecticut, 6 December 1814, and died 3 April 1895 in Payson, Utah. He was the son of SAMUEL JOHNSON and SALLY A. GRIFFIN. PHILO JOHNSON, a widower, was the teamster of the wagon that had attached to it the home-made roadometer, that measured the one thousand miles from Omaha, Nebraska, to the Salt Lake City, Utah, in the Brigham Young Company of pioneers.

Few women leave such a testimony for their descendants. That they may all enjoy the sentiments of an honest soul, we include the following which was written 18 February 1881 and sealed to be opened fifty years later:

"I, 'SPEEDY' JOHNSON, desire to leave to my posterity a biography of my life that they may in fifty years hence be benefited thereby.

"I am the daughter of DAVID BROWN and LUCINDA BACHELOR. I joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in 1841. I was married to GERMAN ELLSWORTH May 25, 1837. I immigrated to Illinois in 1842, where I remained until the spring of 1846, where by the order of the Governor of Illinois we were driven from our homes along with the Saints. We went to Winter Quarters where we remained until the spring of 1849, when we started for Utah. We arrived in Salt Lake City the 23rd of the following September. On the 9th of the next November my husband died, leaving me with seven children, named respectively:

ELIZABETH ELLSWORTH.....	Born December 29, 1839
EPHRAIM ELLSWORTH .....	Born July 25, 1841
EVALINE ELLSWORTH .....	Born September 7, 1842
ESTHER ELLSWORTH.....	Born September 12, 1844
ISRAEL ELLSWORTH.....	Born April 14, 1846 (Died, 1849)
MINERVA ELLSWORTH.....	Born January 16, 1848
GERMAN ELLSWORTH.....	Born September 29, 1849

"I married again in 1850 to PHILO JOHNSON, by whom I also had seven children, as follows:

PHILO JOHNSON.....	Born August 15, 1851
EMILY JOHNSON.....	Born August 31, 1853
MELISSA JOHNSON.....	Born August 31, 1855
HANNAH JOHNSON.....	Born October 1, 1856
REUBEN JOHNSON.....	Born September 9, 1858
CELESTIA JOHNSON.....	Born February 8, 1861
SPEEDY JOHNSON.....	Born April 29, 1865

"We remained in Salt Lake City until 1858, when the Church was called to move south, at which time we moved to Payson where I now live. In the spring of 1863, my youngest son, a boy of five years, was accidentally shot. It was a terrible sorrow to us, but I felt to acknowledge the hand of God, that gives and takes away, and blessed be His name.

"In 1865 the Relief Society was organized in Payson, my name being among the first enrolled. In 1877, the Church was requested to renew their covenants. My husband and myself were re-baptized. In 1878 the Relief Society was reorganized in the wards, and I was set apart President of the second district, by Joseph D. Tanner and council, which place, with the help of God, I have tried to fill to the best of my ability.

"I am now in the sixty-first year of my life. I have been forty years a member of the Church of God, and I have never for one moment doubted the truth of His work, and my constant prayer is that I may prove faithful to the end. I have ten living children and thirty-three grandchildren, and I pray God, my Eternal Father, to enable them to be faithful to the cause of Christ, and that they may gain for themselves an exaltation in the Celestial Kingdom of our God, and that we may meet in Heaven to enjoy the society of our loved ones that have gone before with the just and the true.

"When you read this I shall be sleeping in the dust, but I hope and trust that my memory may be dear to you, and that it may be a guiding star to you to walk in the straight and narrow way that leads to life eternal, which is the sincere desire of your mother and grandmother."

2. GERMAN ELLSWORTH<sup>8</sup> (GERMAN<sup>7</sup>, ISRAEL<sup>6</sup>, ISRAEL<sup>5</sup>, SAMUEL<sup>4</sup>, SAMUEL<sup>3</sup>, JOSIAH<sup>2</sup>, JOSIAH<sup>1</sup>) was born 29 September 1849 in Salt Lake City, Utah, ten days after his mother had walked most of the distance of one thousand miles from Council Bluffs, Iowa to the Salt Lake Valley. He died 1 April 1922 in Payson, Utah. The mother of GERMAN<sup>8</sup> was left a widow six weeks after this baby was born. She had six older children all under ten years. GERMAN<sup>8</sup> was reared by a step-father, PHILO JOHNSON. When GERMAN<sup>8</sup> was seven years of age, the family moved sixty-five miles south to Payson. The move was necessitated by the approach of Johnson's Army in 1856. At the new location, PHILO built a stone house and planted one of the first apple orchards of the area. One seedling became famous as the "Johnson Apple."

The accidental discharge of an old "unloaded" gun in the hands of the ten year old GERMAN, killing his younger brother, REUBEN, had a sobering influence on his entire life. Water shortage and Indian trouble, together with a large pioneer family, accounts for a latter statement by GERMAN that it seemed he never had enough to eat until after he was married. Years later, he seemed to enjoy eating thistle stocks, sego bulbs, and other wild plants, for which he acquired an appetite during his childhood.

As a youth GERMAN was unusually alert and vigorous, after assuming the duties of a man in such activities as Indian guard duty. He was numbered among the "Black Hawk" veterans. GERMAN was tall and straight, slightly under six feet, with abundant dark hair, blue eyes, and full beard. He was quick and powerful in action. Every stroke of his saw or hammer was thrust with a set jaw and backed by all of his strength.

GERMAN<sup>8</sup> married CHRISTINA NILESON, 21 December 1869. She was born in Scarby, Malmohous, Sweden, 12 July 1849. She died in Payson, Utah 28 April 1926. She was the daughter of PETER NILESON and CHARSTA LARSEN. CHRISTINA was a tall, beautiful blonde with even temper, good voice, and poetic heart. Her spirituality was a high complement to her husband. Besides all of her family duties she acted, for years, as President of the Women's Relief Society organization, whose principal duties aside from their cultural and educational studies, were to care for and comfort the poor and unfortunate of the community. In the absence of a doctor, CHRISTINA treated the sick and injured.

GERMAN E. ELLSWORTH<sup>9</sup>, the compiler of the data used in this volume has the following to say about his parents:

"As converts to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, CHRISTINA and her mother left Sweden when the daughter was twelve years of age. They were on the ocean for six weeks traveling in a Dutch sailing vessel. They walked across the plains from Omaha, Nebraska, reaching Utah in the fall of 1862. They lived first in West Jordan, Salt Lake County, then in Moroni, Sanpete County, Utah.

"Visiting her brother Lewis who preceded his mother and sister from Sweden, at Santaquin, Utah, six miles south of Payson, and her sister CECELIA POTTER in Payson, Mother met her future husband, GERMAN ELLSWORTH. They started housekeeping in a one-room log cabin built on a one acre lot purchased from the city of Payson for $25. Later an additional log room and a lean-to were added, together with five more acres of land which was all planted to an ideal family orchard and garden. With the addition of a small farm, bees, cows, hogs and poultry, the family of fifteen children and several others were provided the necessities and a few of the comforts of life. The original one-room log house, moved near the new brick home, is still standing (1956) after 87 years, with the original floor and the two-shelf dish cupboard in the northeast corner of the room.

"The principle of polygamy mentioned in the Bible and taught as revealed from God to Joseph Smith, with added stress by President John Taylor to men of ability marrying some of the many widows of pioneer days in order to provide help and fatherly care for their families, came to GERMAN and his wife, CHRISTINE. It was a long and serious debate, with many prayers and Mother's tears, before a widow with three half-grown children was brought to share the family storehouse and the time of Father. Mother was asked by her eldest daughter-in-law how she ever stood it, and Mother's reply was, "Mary, I could never have stood it had not the Lord come to assist me." But even with the Lord's spirit, it took away Mother's song from her later children, but added, before the end, a nobility of character akin to the immortals. At seventy-seven (77) her complexion and skin were as soft and beautiful as in her youth, without modern makeup or complexion glow. "During the Government raid and prosecution of men who had married the widows of a dead men to provide for the children. Father was arrested and pleaded guilty to marrying this widow. He was sent to the Utah State Penitentiary for six months' sentence for unlawful cohabitation. The months there proved a great blessing to Father. He was an earnest and devoted student in the school taught by Apostle Rudger Clawson. His reading, writing and mathematics were like a college course, and greatly appreciated.

"Father was highly spiritual and deeply devoted to his friends in sickness and sorrow. His administrations to the sick were effective and comforting. Before the days of undertakers many remember his free and willing service. In hundreds of Latter-day Saint homes his recorded patriarchal blessings will live for generations as a comfort, guide, and inspiration to those on whose heads his hands were placed.

"At family prayers, the large family kneeled around the table; Father seemed so sincere and earnest that I was afraid to open my eyes for fear of seeing the Heavenly personage to whom Father seemed to be speaking.

"Father had only weeks in school, but he craved an education and early after marriage acquired that habit of reading aloud to Mother and the children from the Book of Mormon and other standard church books. He read to us the history of the United States, and stories including Robinson Crusoe, Swiss Family Robinson, and frontier Indian stories. He usually added his own experiences in well chosen language. I am sure all his children remember his sweet voice in 'Carry Me Back to Old Virginny,' 'Old Black Joe,' 'O, Susanna,' 'Hard Times, Come Again No More,' with 'Wait For the Wagon and We'll All Take a Ride,' and many others, including 'Darby Town' and 'Ben Bolt.'"

GERMAN<sup>8</sup>, in addition to caring for his small farm, usually spent ten hours a day, six days a week, as a carpenter. The compensation was twenty-five cents an hour. Few men could fell a tree or score a tie as quickly as he. GERMAN taught his trade to his sons; however, their movements and actions were tempered by the even disposition of their mother. GERMAN<sup>8</sup> was one of the early extensive beekeepers of Utah. For years he served as county bee inspector. He was a member of the Payson City Council. He served as a member of the Payson Second Ward Bishopric. GERMAN filled a mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Northern States, while his son GERMAN E.<sup>9</sup> was President of that mission. CHILDREN of GERMAN<sup>8</sup> and CHRISTINA NILESON:

GERMAN<sup>9</sup>, who with his wife, was the compiler of the data used in the present volume, was born 12 October 1871,

German Edgar<sup>9</sup>son of German<sup>8</sup>

in a one room log house in Payson, Utah. The house was standing in 1956. GERMAN<sup>9</sup> was educated in the public schools of Payson, Utah, and at the Brigham Young Academy. He served as principal of the Lake Shore Utah County Public schools for two years for the purpose of financing him to the medical college. His training for a medical career was interrupted by a call as a missionary to California, May 1896-June 1898, for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at the cost of his savings for medical school. GERMAN married MARY RACHEL SMITH 29 June 1898. She was the daughter of JESSE SMITH and MARY ANN PRICE. MARY RACHEL died 29 June 1953. Following his marriage, GERMAN became the principal of the schools for four years in Riverton, Salt Lake County, Utah. While at Riverton, GERMAN E. served the Church in the Jordan Stake Sunday School Superintendency, managed the Church recreational program and was so much in demand and so many nights away from home in Church work that his wife, MARY RACHEL, was afraid if they did not move away that a statement or "prophecy" made the day prior to their marriage "That she would be a missionary widow within five years" might come to pass. The family moved in June 1902, to Lehi, Utah County. There GERMAN was employed as an insurance agent, and took no active part in Church. Apostle Matthias F. Cowley from Salt Lake City was the visiting authority at a conference in February 1903. At the close of the meeting, GERMAN E. was called to the stand and introduced to Elder Cowley who said, "Brother Ellsworth, all the time I was speaking and looking your way, I felt like you were wanted in the Northern States Mission. Will you go if called?"

"I've only been home from my California mission a little over four years, Brother Cowley," was the answer.

To this Apostle Cowley said, "I don't care if you have only been home four weeks, you are wanted in the Northern States Mission."

This information came as a shock to GERMAN E. and wife, but a great manifestation of tongues in a Sunday Fast Meeting in May settled the question, for the interpretation of the tongue by Patriarch Kirkham said, "My servant GERMAN E. ELLSWORTH has been called by mine authority and acknowledged of me as a missionary to the Northern States."

Prior to his departure, when discussing the medical profession with President Joseph F. Smith (head of the Church), GERMAN received the admonition: "You go on this mission. It is far greater to be a doctor of the soul."

The call of GERMAN was to serve as a regular traveling missionary; however, almost immediately he was appointed Secretary of the Mission, and after one year, at the age of 33, he was appointed by wire, President of the Northern States Mission, with headquarters in Chicago. The Northern States Mission included seven states: Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota; and Manitoba, Canada; with 175 missionaries. In this capacity GERMAN served for seventeen years, during which time the children had increased to six in number: three sons and three daughters.

An incident of significance to all subsequent missionary activities occurred in June 1907, when GERMAN, as guest of Apostle George Albert Smith, visited New York State for the purpose of purchasing for the Church the Joseph Smith homestead, located near Palmyra. While waiting for the approval of title to the property, GERMAN frequently walked the three miles from Palmyra to the Sacred Grove and to Hill Cumorah. One early morning at sunrise on Cumorah, GERMAN heard a voice out of somewhere which has influenced his whole life. It said, "Push the distribution of the record taken from this hill; it will help bring the world to Christ."

GERMAN followed the admonition by injecting enthusiasm and inspiration for the value of the God-given Book of Mormon as a witness for Christ. A postcard picture of the Hill Cumorah with this statement was sent to all Northern States missionaries and to all Mission Presidents. GERMAN E. was invited to visit all U. S. missions in order to spark the wider use of the Book of Mormon as a missionary medium. At one mission, Apostle George Albert Smith said, "President Ellsworth, you haven't said a thing I wanted you to say. Get up and give them your conviction that there is no missionary book equal to the Book of Mormon, the one given by the Lord for the convincing of both Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ. (The Book of Mormon was the exclusive book used by early missionaries from 1830 to 1837).

President Joseph F. Smith sent for President Ellsworth to spend a day with Elder Melvin J. Ballard before going as a new Mission President to the Northwestern States Mission in order to encourage the wider use of the Book of Mormon in that Mission. From a few hundred copies shipped to the Missions of the Church (at 37½ cents per copy) from the Deseret News in Salt Lake City, a Chicago edition of ten thousand from new plates was printed at a cost of 27 cents, including new plates. This was followed by a fifteen thousand edition at 24 cents per copy, and then many additions of twenty-five thousand at 18 cents per copy over the years, and finally a one hundred thousand-copy edition of the same quality was printed in Chicago at 12½ cents per copy just prior to the establishing of Zion's Printing Company in Independence, Missouri, to which place all Book of Mormon plates and all plates for various tracts and books that had been printed in Chicago were shipped, from which place millions of books and tracts were printed.

The Patriarchal Blessing given to GERMAN E. as a boy said he would take part in the beginning of the establishing of the Center Stake of Zion (in Independence, Missouri). He has said since that as he was President of the first corporation the Church had in Missouri, Zion's Printing and Publishing Company, that his boyhood patriarchal promise was fulfilled.

Following his release from the Northern States Mission the bank in which he was interested failed in the general depression of early 1920, and with no outlook for employment, with his family in a Ford car he drove for twelve days through snow and and, leaving Salt Lake City October 5, 1925, to take a Civil Service examination in Washington, D. C. During his years in Washington he continued his missionary service by sending three children on missions for two years each: one to California, one to the Northern States, and one to England. The two older members had already had their missionary turns. Now at 85, counting time of self and wife, children and grandchildren, the family of GERMAN E. has given more than seventy-five years of missionary service, and the end is not in sight, for the remainder of the thirty-eight grand—and the twenty great-grandchildren must carry on.

GERMAN E. was an employee of the Treasury Department of the Federal Government for sixteen years—1925 to 1941—when he was retired at the age of seventy. Again, GERMAN was called to the missions of the Church, this time to divide the California Mission and take over as President of the newly organized Northern California Mission. In this calling, he and his wife spent eight years during which time they sparked an enduring campaign of chapel building.

During twenty-seven years as a missionary, GERMAN E. directed the activities of more than two thousand young men and women missionaries, the cream of the Church. His leadership and inspiration gradually changed timid youth into mature servants of the Lord, bearing powerful testimony of the Restoration of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the truthfulness of the Book of Mormon as the scripture of the Americas, and the divine calling of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Following the death of his wife June 29, 1953, GERMAN assumed the responsibility of placing in final shape for publication the genealogical data assembled by himself and wife over a period of forty years. October 12, 1956, his 85th birthday, he married Mrs. Emma Anderson Nash, a life-long friend.

This record would not be complete without a treatment of the life of MARY SMITH ELLSWORTH, the perfect teammate of GERMAN E.<sup>9</sup> When they first met, unIntroduced August 1895, he 24 and she 19, he said half audibly, "You're mine," and years after she often said, "He proceeded at once to act the part."

After eight months of courtship, they corresponded during his mission of two years in California, and were married in the Salt Lake Temple ten days after his return. They started life on one hundred dollars of borrowed money at twelve per cent and a school principalship at seventy-two dollars a month at Riverton, Salt Lake County. They paid fifteen dollars a month rent for two nice rooms in a widow's home. MARY spent her evenings and spare hours in extensive reading and studying, thus adding greatly to her public school education. Other educational activities in her life before marriage included Church choir, Sunday School teaching, and home dramatics, in which she played the leading lady for more than three years.

The prediction that she would be a missionary's widow within five years bothered MARY all the time they lived in Riverton, and she often said to GERMAN, "If you'll move to Lehi, the authorities have more sense there than to call you on a second mission."

They moved to Lehi in June, the call came the following February, and she was a missionary widow with three children, her own two and her brother's motherless boy whom she nursed along with her own daughter Blanche.

MARY and her two children joined her husband in October 1904 in Chicago in a large, old twelve-room mission home recently purchased, in connection with the old Presbyterian Church. There was little income. The former Mission President had received a quarterly check from Salt Lake City with which to run the Mission. MARY, however, being young and ambitious, agreed with her husband to try and operate the Mission with no help from headquarters. Her leadership was evident in caring for the increase of missionaries in the home. Each paid only three dollars a week for room and board. She tracted from door to door and joined in holding meetings on the streets of Chicago.

In a special women's meeting in Lehi, Utah in the fall of 1903, because of a strong feeling developing among the young against large families the Lord revealed to MARY through the gift of tongues a message of comfort and inspiration to mothers of large families in these words: "I, the Lord, love the women of Zion above all other women for their willingness to bear the souls of choice spirits in these latter days, and when they have finished their missions on earth they will be thrice welcome in my Kingdom, and crowned above all other women."

She was a real mother to her children and to the young missionaries away from home for the first time. Her real heart was always with the poor and lowly and those in need.

She finally became deeply absorbed in genealogical work. This she followed faithfully throughout her life. She visited libraries in Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Washington, D.C.; and later in London, Liverpool, Birmingham, and Hull in England, seeking the genealogical records of the Ellsworth family. Through her efforts more than fourteen thousand Ellsworth names of the departed were guided through the Index Bureau and through the Temple for baptism and other sacred ordinance work. This was done in addition to taking care of her family and public duties.

It has been said by many that MARY was one of the great women speakers of the Church. Elders and lady missionaries will long remembered here for her deep inspirational short sermons and for her deep conviction on the sacredness of motherhood. The ELLSWORTH family are eternally indebted to MARY SMITH ELLSWORTH.

Autobiography of EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH<sup>7</sup>.

EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH<sup>7</sup>, son of JONATHAN ELLSWORTH<sup>6</sup> and SARAH GALLEY, was born 1 July 1819 in Paris, Oneida County, New York.

My father and mother at the time of my birth owned and occupied the whole tract of land upon which the village of Paris was later built. This land rightfully belongs to me at this time. My father was a carpenter and joiner by trade and he followed his occupation.

My sister, CHARLOTTE, was born in March, 1817 and was married in 1839 to WILLIAM COGSWELL, a furnace man. He was from Pulaski, Oswego County, New York, and was the father of her first two sons and one daughter. The family was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in February of 1841. They moved to Nauvoo, Illinois in the fall of 1844. Because WILLIAM found difficulty in procuring employment in Nauvoo, he left his wife and children for a short time and went to St. Louis where he found work. Then he went to Ottawa, Illinois and entered partnership with a gentile. The two built a foundary. The next season WILLIAM sent for his family and they made their home in Ottawa thereafter.

I know but little of the origin of my father, except that his father was an American and fought under General WASHINGTON in several battles. My mother was of Scotch descent. Her father was JAMES GALLEY. He had a large family of children by his wife, REBECCA. She was also of Scotch descent. The family included only one son who was named WILLIAM GALLEY. The son, WILLIAM, lived and died in the town of Ellisburgh. He left a large family of sons and daughters.

My father, at the time of my birth, was absent on a journey to Quebec, where he went with one of my uncles, his brother. They went down the St. Lawrence River on a raft loaded with lumber. Soon after my birth my mother received a letter from my uncle stating that my father had died with yellow fever and that he had willed all of his property to him. Although he failed to produce the evidence in writing he succeeded in driving my mother, with her children, from her home and dispossessing her of all the property that belonged to my father. My mother next married a man by the name of THOMAS MERRIT, who soon died with dropsy. When I was nine years old mother married a man by the name of ABRAM HENDRICKSON by whom she had five children, two boys and three girls. They were ABRAM, JOHN, SARAH, NANCY, and EMMA. This marriage of my mother did not make a desirable home for me.

When I was about nineteen (1839 or 1840) I went down the Mississippi River. I received a letter from my mother stating that she and her husband had joined The Church called the Latter-day Saints, or Mormons. I had heard many bad reports about this people. I, therefore, felt it my duty to try and save my mother from this supposed delusion. Accordingly, I prepared to go home. On the way I passed through the country where Joseph Smith found the plates and started the Church. I took all pains to collect all the evidence that I could against the people. Instead of obtaining anything against them I found much in their favor. When I arrived home I learned the truth relative to the gospel. On 20 February 1841 I was baptized by LYMAN HEATH, as was also my sister, CHARLOTTE, and her husband WILLIAM COGSWELL. The next September, 1841, I started for Nauvoo in Company with Brother MARSILLES BATES and his wife. I arrived at Nauvoo 7 October 1841 and joined the Elders quorum. I went to work immediately at the Temple quarry where I was occupied most of the winter.

The 10th of July, 1842 I married ELIZABETH YOUNG, the oldest child of BRIGHAM YOUNG. I was rebaptized on my arrival in Nauvoo by the Prophet JOSEPH SMITH, who also re-confirmed me. In August, 1842 I was ordained a Seventy under the hands of JOSEPH YOUNG. I worked for WILLIAM LAW for about one year, running a saw mill and doing other work. Our first child was born 1 July 1843. We named her CHARLOTTE. In the spring of 1844 I was called to go with about twenty other men as pioneers to explore the Rocky Mountain Country. Our purpose was to see if the area offered a place suitable for the settlement of the Saints.

Soon after, the Prophet Joseph Smith concluded to run for President of the United States. I was called to go to the state of New York on a lectioneering mission, to which place I immediately started. There I labored until the death of the Prophet. I was informed of the tragedy in a letter from President YOUNG, in which he called the Elders home. I was present at the meeting which heard President SIDNEY RIGDON. I plainly saw the mantle of Priesthood fall upon President YOUNG with its power and spirit. The testimony of this was given to most of the congregation.

The spirit of jealousy on the part of local citizens of Illinois began to increase towards the Saints. Threats of mobbing were frequent. President YOUNG said that the temple must be built. We went to work as one. In poverty we watched and worked and prayed.

When the Fourth Quorum of Seventy was organized I was attached to the quorum. In the winter of 1845-1846 my wife and I received our endowments and adoption into the family of President BRIGHAM YOUNG.

In February of 1846 we crossed the Mississippi River, enroute to the mountains. Through wind and storm we traveled west to Richardson's Point. There Brother EDWIN LITTLE, son of SUSAN STILSON, died. He was my friend and I mourned his loss. When we arrived at Garden Grove I was sent by President YOUNG back to Nauvoo with a span of horses and a carriage to trade them for oxen and a wagon. President YOUNG sent for many things needed in camp, in case I could get them. I was greatly blessed in obtaining everything he had sent for. I also brought his wife, HARRIET COOK, to the camp. When I arrived I was shaking with ague. I arrived in time to help mow the hay for winter. We were at Winter Quarters, on the west side of the Missouri River. As the winter of 1846-47 set in I was placed in charge of the cattle of President YOUNG and President KIMBALL and sent over 100 miles up the river to the Bush Bottoms where a man by the name of LATHROP wintered. He took charge of the cattle and I returned home safely. During my stay at LATHROP'S, two days and three nights, I shot over forty wild turkeys. Most of them I shot by moonlight off the trees on which they roosted. I was one of the four men who started the first brass band organized in the Church. The names of the others were WILLIAM PITT, JAMES SMITHERS, and JAMES STANDING. During the winter we were called on to play for many dances, sometimes six in a week. This activity was encouraged in order to keep up the spirits of the people. At Winter Quarters many of our people died as the result of hardships and fatigue of the journey. In the early spring of 1847 I was called to go with the Pioneers to the Rocky Mountains. When we arrived at the Loop Fork of the Platt River we cut Cottonwood trees for the horses. They ate the bark as the only feed available. A little farther west we came to buffaloes so numerous that the feed was all consumed and they were very poor. We were thoroughly instructed to humble ourselves and go as men of God that the blessings of the Lord might attend us. We crossed the La Platte River at Fort Laramie, thence through the Black Hills to the upper crossing. By this time the river had swollen so much we could not ford. We were compelled to go for timber. We hewed out three large canoes. These we framed together, making a good ferry boat on which we ferried our wagons. Before we had finished with our own wagon the emigrants to Oregon began to arrive. President YOUNG appointed ten of us to remain and operate the ferry for custom. We were promised that we would share equally in the honors of accomplishment of the mission with those who went on ahead to the Valley. The ten selected to stop expected their families would arrive in a few days, at which time we were to follow the first company. The purpose of our operation of the ferry for hire was to obtain in exchange much needed flour, bacon, and supplies that would help the mission on its return for their families. We were kept busy at the ferry for about two weeks. We expected every day to hear that our own families were near. After waiting for another week ten or twelve members of the Mormon Battalion arrived. They were going east to meet their families. We soon arranged that a part of both groups should start back to meet our families while the rest remained to maintain the camp. No one thought that we would be gone more than two to five days. We took provisions to last only three days. When we arrived at Fort Laramie the Indians reported that wagons were coming up the Platte but they gave us no idea of the distance to them. Provisions could not be purchased. We traveled on for 175 miles with only one antelope and one rabbit for the entire company. This amounted to less than one-half of a meal for each of us in seven days. I never expected to witness greater excitement than prevailed when we beheld at a distance a group of wagons camped for the Sabbath. Our horses did their best to carry us on to breakfast where several of us found our families. Truly my soul was filled with joy at meeting my wife and two little ones in company with the Saints moving to Salt Lake Valley.

At Strawberry Creek we met and camped with the group returning to Winter Quarters for their families. That night the Indians stole fifty-two head of our horses. The loss greatly distressed the company which was on the return to Winter Quarters.

I, with my family, accompanied the Saints to the Valley where we arrived on the 12th of October 1847. As we entered I beheld for the first time the future home of the Saints.

In the spring of 1848 CHARLES DICKER and I put in crops on the land later occupied by the 13th Ward of Salt Lake City. We planted several acres to a small variety of corn, called "jumbo." As a consequence of the climate and the shortness of the season the crop hardly matured. The first killing frost came in September. Early in May of 1848, nine other men and I started back to the ferry on the Platte. There we met many going to the gold fields of California. They were overloaded with the comforts of life. The meeting afforded us an opportunity of obtaining many items for our own families and for other families who were going to the Valley. I started on immediately to meet President YOUNG and Company, offering what assistance I could to help them over the last end of the journey. We arrived in Salt Lake in good season.

Provisions were scarce and the Saints suffered more or less with hunger and cold. Many had no houses to keep them warm. We lived in a shanty most of the winter of 1848-49. CHARLOTTE, our oldest child, froze her feet, making them very sore.

I built a house in the 13th Ward in which we lived for two years. President YOUNG wanted me to build and live near him on the hill. This we did.

In 1848 or 1850 I was ordained to the Presidency of the Third Quorum of Seventy. We had some trouble with the Indians. I was called to go with one company to Battle Creek, where, after a skirmish, the Indians promised to let our stock alone and we returned home. Soon after Provo was settled the Indians commenced killing cattle and shooting at the herders. Two companies of us were called to go and bring about a treaty with them. General WELLS took command. We fought the Indians on the Provo River for three days. The second day Brother JOHN HIGBEE was killed and ELEK WILLIAMS was wounded. He was in the company of which I had command. The fourth day we went to the south end of the Utah Valley to find that the Indians had fled on west. We followed them. On the morning of the fifth day we killed about thirty Indians. I was wounded slightly. This ended our Indian trouble for a time.

All land that could be watered was cultivated. The water was scarce at that time. Gradually food became abundant. In 1852 President YOUNG called me to take five young men and open the north fork of Emigration Canyon as a source of wood and timber for building. At this work I continued until winter. In the fall of 1852 our oldest child, CHARLOTTE, was burned to death. On the 24th of December 1852 I had MARY ANN DUDLEY sealed to me by President YOUNG.

According to appointment on the 29th of March, 1854 I started on a mission to England, in company with F. D. RICHARDS, one of the Twelve, GEORGE D. GRANT, WILLIAM KIMBALL, JAMES A. YOUNG, JAMES A. LITTLE, W. G. YOUNG, JUDGE REED, FREDRICK HESLER and GEORGE HALLIDAY. We began our journey under the charge of CHARLES DECKER, mail contractor. After fording streams, wallowing through snowdrifts and mud, and sleeping on the ground, we arrived at Fort Laramie on the 16th of April. We were all well. At Fort Laramie we reluctantly parted with our conductor, Brother DECKER. On the 18th we started again on our journey. We arrived at Fort Kearney the 26th of April. We were all well. On the 3rd of May we met the west bound mail twelve miles above Leavenworth. On the 3rd of June we arrived in Liverpool, England. After spending one day in Liverpool I received my appointment to labor under the direction of JOHN BARKER, Pastor of the Cheltenham, Worcester, and Herefordshire conferences. On the 7th I arrived in Abersychan the headquarters of the Herefordshire conference. There I commenced my labors, making my home with THOMAS HEWLETT SHOEMAKER. The Saints received me with warm hearts. On the 26th of June I attended a council of the American Elders held in London. Brother F. D. and SAMUEL RICHARDS were presiding. The spirit of the Lord was poured out upon us with much profusion. We visited the principal places in town, the Tower, Thames Tunnel, Crystal Palace, Armory, and the Monument. On the 28th I attended the festival at the White Chapel with the Saints. On the 29th I returned to Abersychan. On the 9th of July we held our conference at Pontspool. Pastor BARKER was present. We had a good time. On the 12th I baptized fifty of the Saints in Abersychan and continued baptizing through the conference. On the 15th I went 13 miles to Fredigar in the Monmouthshire conference among the Welsh Saints. We had a good conference. On the 17th I held a festival where I sang many pieces and at night for the first time in my life I had my feet washed by Sister GILES as a servant of the Lord. On the 18th I bid farewell to Brother DAN JONES and Brother JERNEY and returned to Abersychan. On the 19th I went to Newport, 10 miles distant, and baptized fifteen of the Saints. I saw the Devil in Naish. On the 20th I returned home and baptized thirteen Saints and two that had not been baptized before. On the 21st I received a letter from my Sister, CHARLOTTE. I wrote letters. On the 22nd I went to Abergavenny eight miles away. I had a meeting on the 23rd at night and baptized nine of the Saints. On the 24th I went to Garroway Hill, fifteen miles distance. I had no meeting because of rain. On the 25th I went to Orcup, three miles, and preached to unbelievers. We had a good meeting. I continued traveling, preaching, and baptizing until all of the conference that would follow counsel were rebaptized and the good spirit was poured out upon them. Brother ANDREW GALLOWAY, the President of the conference, was working with me with heart and soul. According to council I visited and labored some in the Welsh conference, where, in all cases, I was received warmly and was greatly blessed. At one time I was with Brother GILES, the President of the Monmouthshire conference. We stayed all night with a brother whose wife had apostatized and was very bitter against the Saints. Our supper was served to us on our plates. Although hungry and faint my desire for eating immediately left me and I ate no supper. Brother GILES ate heartily. We soon retired to bed. I had been asleep. Brother GILES waked me, groaning in great agony. It occurred to me that he was poisoned. He said: "Brother ELLSWORTH I am poisoned." I immediately arose. Fortunately we had with us a bottle of consecrated oil. I gave him the oil and told him to take a good drink. I then laid my hands upon him and rebuked the poison. He vomited freely. The fever and pain left him. He was healed and we gave God the praise and glory. Brother GILES told me that this brother had told him that his wife had threatened that if he ever brought another Elder there she would poison him.

One night I had been speaking to quite a large company of the Saints when a brother I had not seen before came to me and said: Brother GILES is going home with another man and you will go with me. This I did. When we reached his house he said:

"I saw your elbows through your coat while you were speaking. It came to me that the reason my coat was so much too large for me was that the Lord had it made for you. Try it on." I did and it fit me exactly. He was doubly assured that the coat was mine. The power of God was greatly manifested through my administration. The pain from toothache, especially, yielded to rebuke in the name of the Lord. I found some few who had not obeyed the gospel who were now willing to go forward and be baptized. I found one president of a branch who said that an Elder from Zion who could not live on turnips and sleep under a hedge had better return home. I found that the Hereford Conference was some 250 pounds in debt to the book agent. Their faith was at low ebb. Through the blessings of God and the hearty cooperation of Brother ANDREW GALLOWAY, we rebaptized the people and reduced the debt to about sixty pounds. We also added some to their numbers. In the Autumn the Elders were redistributed. I was called to be Pastor of the Birmingham, Worcester and Hereford Conference. I labored in that capacity for about eighteen months with great joy until I was released to return home in the spring of 1856. I made my home with Brother JOHN GODSALL, who at the same time was called to preside over the Birmingham conference. He was a good man but sorely afflicted in his family with evil spirits. He emigrated to Salt Lake Valley in the fall of 1856. Soon after his departure a young woman by the name of WILLIAMS cut her throat and died. Soon another woman of his family cut her throat but recovered. He suffered from a terrible malady for a few years and died.

In the winter of 1855-1856 I received a letter from President YOUNG calling me to lead the First Handcart Company across the plains. In March of 1856 I was released to return home. I arrived at Iowa City and was placed in charge of the First Handcart Company. The carts were built of green timber, with no skeins on the axles or boxes in the hubs. At Winter Quarters I put in thick hoop iron skeins and tin boxes in the hubs. With these we started over the plains about the first of July. We arrived in Salt Lake City on the 26th of September. We had a few deaths which was the usual thing in companies traveling with wagons. We had three wagons in our company. One used three mules and one horse, and the other two used three yoke of oxen each.

Because the Handcart method was a world innovation in human transportation and that the success of the first attempt rested in the hands of EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH, who was the Captain, we think that future generations will enjoy the brief story given in the following few pages.

A BRIEF RECORD OF THE FIRST HANDCART COMPANY

Elder EDMUND ELLSWORTH, Captain of the Company

Editor's Note: The First Handcart Company left Iowa City, Iowa on the 9th of June, 1856. There were two hundred and seventy-three souls who embarked upon the journey. Thirty-three gave up the trip, seven men, heads of families, and the rest being women and children. Twelve persons died out of the entire company during nearly four months of traveling. Two hundred and twenty-eight men, women and children arrived in Salt Lake City on the 26th of September, 1856. The following is from the record of the Company:

June 9th, 1856. At 5 p.m., the carts were in motion proceeding Zionwards. The Saints were in excellent spirits. The camp traveled about four miles and pitched their tents. All well.

June 10th. We remained in camp all day, owing to three yoke of oxen having strayed from the herd. The brethren went out in search of them. The camp was engaged in various duties.

June 11th. Early this morning the strayed cattle were brought back. About 8 a.m. the camp started forward and traveled five miles. Pitched tents. Brothers ROBINSON'S and JONES' carts broke down.

June 12th. The camp started this morning at 6 a.m. Traveled twelve miles. The road was very dusty. Pitched tents about 2 p.m. All in good spirits.

June 13th. The camp started about 8 a.m. Traveled seven miles. Good roads. All went off well. Visited by a good (many) strangers.

June 14th. The camp started this morning at 6 a.m. In good spirits. Traveled seven miles. Pitched tents about 9 a.m. The roads good. The camp in good spirits. Towards evening Elder JAMES FERGUSON came to us from the General Camp. About 6 p.m. WILLIAM LEE, son of JOHN LEE, died of consumption, age 12 years.

June 15th. Today is Sunday. The Saints remained in camp and held two meetings. The morning meeting commenced at half past ten. Singing. A prayer by Elder HEATON. Elder JOSEPH FRANCE addressed the meeting. Afternoon meeting commenced at half past one o'clock. Singing with prayer by Elder LEONARD. Elder EDWARD FROST addressed the meeting. A great many strangers attended the meetings. Good attention by all present. At nine o'clock this morning LORA PRATTER, daughter of RICHARD PRATTER, died of whooping cough, age 3 years. At half past seven the sacrament was administered to the two companies. It was a time of rejoicing for all. Elder FERGUSON addressed the Saints. About 9 p.m. the above named two children were interred at Little Bear Creek.

June 16th. At half past six a.m. the camp moved off in good spirits. Traveled thirteen miles and rested from half past eleven a.m. until four p.m. at Big Bear Creek. The camp moved two miles and camped for the night. About nine we had a storm of rain.

June 17th. At four a.m. the bugle was blown for all to turn out, and at quarter to seven the camp moved off. Traveled ten miles and rested two hours. At twenty past two we pitched our tents. The journey was performed without an accident. No wood, plenty of water. About twenty minutes past three, JOB WELLING, son of JOB WELLING, died, age one year and seven months. Died of canker or inflammation of the bowels.

June 18th. At four a.m. the bugle sounded for all to turn out. At twenty minutes past five the camp rolled out, and traveled ten miles without an accident. Pitched tents at thirty-five past eight a.m. to give the sisters an opportunity of washing the clothes. Today the body of JOB WELLING was interred three feet from the Northeast corner of Mr. WATROUS' Farm, township 80, Range 17, Section 25.

June 19th. The camp rolled out today at quarter to seven a.m. and traveled fifteen miles. The journey was accomplished without an accident. We camped at ten minutes to twelve noon. Plenty of wood and water. Several were baptized by Elder JOHN OAKLEY for their health. Three miles from Greenhustle.

June 20th. The camp moved off at quarter to seven a.m. Traveled sixteen miles. The road was very hilly and rather rough. It was rather a hard day's travel. About a quarter of eight this morning JOHN LLOYD, wife and family, backed out. He was very much given to drinking whiskey along the road. We passed through the city of Newton this morning about nine a.m. We rested by a stream from ten until twelve. Pitched our tents at four p.m. along side a beautiful stream of water. Plenty of wood. Several were baptized for their health by Elder OAKLEY.

June 21st. At ten minutes to seven the camp moved off and traveled thirteen miles. Rested thirty minutes by the side of a stream, and an hour on the top of a hill. No accident happened to the camp. EDMUND ELLSWORTH, Captain
A. GALLOWAY, Secretary

HANDCART incidents as later recorded by Mary Ann Jones Ellsworth, who was a member of the first company.

We left the shores of England 21 March 1856, a company of 534 members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. We sailed in the ship "Enoch." We arrived in Boston 1 May, 1856 and traveled to Iowa City by train. There we waited for the construction of the handcarts. We left Iowa City 9 June and traveled to Florence, leaving there 16 July. The handcarts were flimsy and were continually breaking down . . . . We were allotted one tent and four handcarts to twenty persons. Our company consisted of 274 members, the other passengers of the ship were in the second company. We traveled from ten to twenty-eight miles each day. We always reached camp long before the three wagons which were attached to our company. We were allowed 171 pounds of baggage for each person. This included clothing, bedding, and cooking utensils. Some people who wanted to take more than allowed placed on their bodies more clothing than usual while being checked. Thus some thin people became stout all at once. After weighing in these same people placed their extra items on the carts. After a few days all members were checked again, unannounced. One old sister carried a teapot and a colander on her apron string all of the way to the Salt Lake Valley. Another sister carried a hat box full of personal items. She died on the way. The Lord was with us and guided us by His spirit, for although tired and foot-sore, we could sing the songs of Zion as we traveled. Some stomachs may reject a supper cooked with water taken from a buffalo wallow and on a fire of buffalo chips, but to us, the food was good. One day we came to a large herd of buffalo. It seemed that the entire prairie was moving. We waited for an hour for the herd to pass so we might move on. We were stopped on the Platte River by a large band of Indians who demanded food. They were in war paint and were very hostile. Captain Ellsworth asked all of us to pray for him while he talked to them. He gave them some beads and they let us go on. For this we were very thankful.

A very remarkable thing happened while we were at the Platte River. One of the oxen, used to pull the wagons, died. Brother Ellsworth asked the brethren what could be done. Should we place a cow in the team? One brother said: "Look, Brother Ellsworth, at that steer on the hill." There stood a large fat steer looking at us. Brother Ellsworth said that the Lord had provided the animal that we may move on to the mountains. The animal worked as well as the others. When we were within two days of Salt Lake City we met some wagons sent with provisions and to help us the remainder of the way. The next morning, when gathering the animals, that steer was gone. After hunting for him for several hours Brother Ellsworth said: "The Lord loaned him to us as long as we needed him."

We were met in Emigration Canyon by the First Presidency, the brass band, and hundreds of people on foot, on horses, and in carriages. It was a day never to be forgotten. We had reached our goal, traveling on foot all of the way. I never left my handcart for a day and only rode over two rivers. We waded streams, crossed high mountains, and pulled our carts at times through heavy sand. We had left comfortable homes, fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, and friends all for our testimony of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ and for the privilege of hearing a prophet's voice and to live with the Saints of God. I have never regretted the trip. We arrived in Salt Lake City 26 September 1856.

CONTINUATION of AUTOBIOGRAPHY of EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH:

Upon arriving in Salt Lake City the President sealed to me MARY ANN BATES and MARY ANN JONES, who were members of the handcart company.

During my absence a daughter was born to each of my wives; to ELIZABETH, LUNA and to MARY ANN, MARY. Soon after my return home I was set apart to be the senior president of the Third Quorum of Seventy. I was also elected alderman on the City Council and Major of the 2d Battalion of Infantry, Nauvoo Legion, and first counselor to Bishop MOON of the first ward. I served in all offices, civil and military, until I moved to Weber County in 1866.

In the spring of 1858 I was called by President YOUNG to take charge of a train of oxen to haul the tithing grain and flour from Salt Lake City to Provo. I continued with this until the Peace Commission arrived. I heard their talks at Provo and also the replies of Presidents YOUNG and KIMBALL. The visitors told us that the Government was disposed to forgive us of our rebellion and that we could return and build and plant and enjoy ourselves. President YOUNG said that we were very thankful for being forgiven for the sins we were never guilty of committing. He said that we would return for a season but if we moved again we would go that way. He pointed to the south. Brother KIMBALL backed up the President and said that he would suggest that when we return we build on wheels so as to be ready for the move.

My wife, ELIZABETH, was confined with her son, JOHN W. She was very sick and about died. She soon recovered when we returned to Salt Lake City.

We moved to Weber County in 1866. There I built a bridge across the Weber River opposite Plan City. I drove the piles for the bridge across the Ogden River at Ogden City in 1868. I took a contract for cutting ties for the Union Pacific Railroad. We cut the timber in Weber canyon. That season I made three thousand dollars and paid three hundred dollars tithing. The next season, 1869, I drove the piles for the railroad bridge over the Weber River. I took charge of the laying of the track for the Utah Central Railroad from Ogden to Salt Lake. In 1870 I drove the piles for the road to Salt Lake City. In the winter of 1870-1871 I superintended the construction of the narrow gage road from Ogden north to Hot Spring.

In 1880 I moved two of my families to Show Low, Apache County, Arizona. If I found a place that suited me, the other two families were to come to me. The two that moved with me were POLLY BATES and POLLY JONES. (At Show Low he purchased the Club Ranch of forty acres.)

In 1884, the 1st of December, I was arrested for polygamy and taken to Prescott. Under $2,000 bond I was instructed to appear at the June term of court to answer the charge. On the 25th of May, in company with my son, FRANK, and JAMES HOGGE, I started for Prescott. We arrived on the 31st, 1885.

June 1. Court convened with Judge HOWARD on the bench.

I was advised by J. C. HENDERSON, my council, to plead guilty to the 3rd count of the indictment, that of unlawful cohabitation.

June 2. I was called to visit Judge HOWARD, when the following questions and answers took place:

"How old are you?" Ans. "Sixty-six."

"When did you marry your last wife?" Ans. "In 1856."

"Do you cohabit with two women at present?" Ans. "No sir."

"Have you during the past three years?" Ans. "According to Judge ZASSIS' interpretation, Yes sir."

"How old is your second wife?" Ans. "Fifty-one."

"How old is her youngest child?" "Twelve years."

"Do you believe it right to disobey law?" Ans. "Not constitutional law."

"Are you to be the judge?" Ans. "Yes sir, if not, who is?"

"Do you believe the Edmund's law unconstitutional?" Ans. "Yes sir."

"From what standpoint?" Ans. "The constitutional amendment No. 10."

"Do you propose to break this law?" Ans. "No sir. I have no occasion for so doing."

"Will you teach others to break this law?" Ans. "I do not propose to answer. If I break the law I am amenable to the law without respect to promises."

After much discussion the judge said:

"As a man I am in favor of releasing you, but as a judge I must obey my instructions. I will be as lenient as possible if you plead as your council advises." I told him if he required anything of me that comprised me with my religion, with my God or my honor with my family I would not plead guilty. This he promised not to do. In court, council asked the privilege of pleading guilty of cohabitation, the 3rd count of indictment. When told to stand up and give reasons why sentence should not be passed, council stated that I was an old man, that for some time I had only lived with one wife. The judge asked if I proposed to obey the law in the future. I answered: "As I understand it."

The sentence was that I pay a fine of $300 within twenty-four hours or serve sixty days in the territorial prison at Yuma. Not having the money I concluded to accept the prison sentence. In the evening the marshal delivered me to the sheriff, who locked me in jail. There was plenty of odors.

June 3. In the morning I ate no breakfast. I had a headache. My heart was lifted to God. The earth looked mournful. The heavens seemed as brass. In the evening I ate a little. I slept very little that night.

- June 4. I ate little breakfast. The clanking of chains and gates and the whistling and surging of fourteen prisoners contrasted with the security at home. I ate some supper and slept at night.
- June 6. This morning I saw HENDERSON. He said the judge had ruled that my prison sentence had commenced on June 1.
- June 7. Sunday. Two prisoners were taken from jail to Phoenix for trial. It was lonely in prison. I thought of my loved ones at home and the unappreciated blessings of those who are free. Prison fare was coffee in the morning, with fresh beef and bread. In the evening, tea, bread, and meat.
- June 8. My back is so lame I can hardly sit up. I was locked out of the room where the bed was by HICKY, the jailor. Passed a weary day.
- June 9. Brother DAN SEDGMILLER visited me, cheering me and said he was acquainted with the sheriff and jailor and would speak to them for me. This day my door was left open for which I was thankful. In the evening Brother FLAKE called to see me on his way home.
- June 10. Time passes slowly. I had a sleepless night. I do not feel well. The ladies of Prescott came into the jail last night with bouquets of flowers.
- June 11. Thursday—feeling quite well, excepting my back, which is better. All the reading I want. We have good course food.
- June 12. Friday. I am feeling much better. The court is grinding on. So far all have been convicted.
- June 13. Very cold and dry; feeling pretty well. Our food is good and substantial; getting used to prison smell and fare. In the evening the U. S. Marshal notified me to be ready to start for Yuma in the morning at six o'clock.
- June 14. Traveled all day and all night on the stage. Very tired but sustained by the power of God.
- June 15. Traveled all day on the stage. Took rail at half-past seven. Arrived at Yuma at 2 o'clock in the morning.
- June 16. I was turned over to the prison. I was stripped and introduced to the prison customs. I found SKOUSEN, ROBINSON, and WILSON, old acquaintances, all in prison for the same offense. Although I was glad to meet them I would have been more glad if they could be at home.

- June 17. Eyes sore, back lame, and generally tired out. I feel that God has sustained me to a wonderful degree.
- June 18. Getting rested. I repaired a sewing machine, wrote a letter to Deseret News. I conversed with brethren in the cell. Rice for supper. A cool breeze.
- June 19. I had a bad pain in my chest during the night. I feel low spirited this morning, but pray to be sustained in life to witness the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God on the earth.
- June 20. Saturday. I feel pretty well. I repaired a clock and wrote a letter home. Weather not quite so hot. It is very hot in the evening and at night a sweater.
- June 21. Sunday. I was kept in the cell until half-past nine o'clock. I have recovered from the effects of the journey. The good spirit said I will return all right to my family.
- June 22. Monday. I am feeling first rate. Mr. GREEN promised to give me some clock work to do. Weather is very hot, sweating in the cell without an overcoat.
- June 23. Tuesday. At work repairing clocks. Feel well, Weather hot.
- June 24. Wednesday. I slept well and feel first rate. I think I shall endure the hot weather although we sweat through the night with no clothes over us.
- June 25. Thursday. I am well and thankful for the good spirit which whispers home and the destiny of Zion, that soon God will rule. Then prisons will not hold Latter-day Saints. This is called the hottest place in the United States. Thermometer ranging from 120 to 130 in the shade—100 feet above sea level and 80 miles from the coast.
- June 26. Friday. A fine, cool morning, slept good and feel well. My heart is drawn out particularly for my family. In the afternoon I had a hard spasm of the heart.
- June 27. Saturday. A hot night with but little sleep. Feel well. At work with clocks.
- June 28. Sunday. I had a shower bath, a luxury in very deed. Pie for supper. Had the sacrament in the cell. A good time. The weather I call warm, yet they all say it is unusually cool.

- June 29. Monday. I repaired a sewing machine and a clock. I feel well, weather hot, too hot to sleep.
- June 30. Tuesday. Repaired a clock. Ten more prisoners arrived from Prescott. Weather hot and sultry.
- July 1. My birthday. Liberty, the sacred boon, is unappreciated by those who enjoy it. It is mourned for by those who are deprived of it. I count half of my prison life today. Thanks. Called on to sit up with a man in the hospital.
- July 2. Thursday. Sick from smell in the hospital.
- July 3. Friday. Had a good sleep but awoke feeling tired.
- July 4. Four cannons fired to remind us of religious freedom. Time rolls slowly. The day that is to give me my freedom seems at a great distance, yet my health is excellent, appetite good. I think I shall go out of this better than I came in. Fire works in the evening.
- July 5. Sunday. SKOUSEN goes out today. We have to stay in the cell until half-past seven, then locked up at half-past three. This is Sunday.
- July 6. Monday Received letters from P. B., JULIA, and RETTA last night. So hot I could not sleep. I feel tired and sleepy but good in the spirit. ROBINSON and BISHOP STEWART out today. SKOUSEN still detained waiting for the marshal.
- July 7. Very warm, too warm to sleep, still I feel well, with a good appetite.
- July 8. Wednesday. Very hot, sweat all night but feel well. Cloudy and sultry today.

At this date my pencil was stolen by a prisoner. When SKOUSEN left I was called to keep the front gate of the prison and was permitted to sleep in the yard. This continued until my time expired. I am leaving Yuma, the hottest place I have ever seen. My health was very poor when I came, but has improved gradually until I was discharged. God, by His spirit, was with me and I rejoice in being counted worthy to suffer for the gospel of Jesus Christ. I took the train at 12 o'clock at night and arrived at Maricopa at six in the morning, where I met Brother WILLIAM PASSEY with a wagon to take me to Mesa City where we arrived at 12 noon. I attended meeting at 2 p.m. Here I met my sons, GEORGE and ORSON, who had come to take me home to Show Low. We left Mesa, 3 August and arrived home on 10 August 1885. I found all well. The folks had prepared a fat calf for the occasion. We had a feast for the return of husband and father. The hot weather had sweat the heart disease nearly away. I was better in health than I had been for years.

I was captivated with the fine fruit and the locality of Mesa City. In the fall my sons, WILLIAM and GEORGE moved to Mesa. The next spring they sent for their mother to come to them. In June I moved her to Mesa and bargained for a place for the other family. It was one mile northeast of the center of the town, containing 40 acres with four acres of grapes and four of orchard and 20 of alfalfa. On the 1st of August I moved MARY ANN JONES to Mesa. We lived in Mesa City for six years. I taught a class in Sunday School during that time. I moved back to Show Low in November of 1892. In 1893 I went to the dedication of the Temple in Salt Lake City.

EDMUND returned to Show Low where he died on the 29th of December 1893 after six weeks of illness, the result of heart failure. He passed away without a struggle, age seventy-four.

The real spirit and testimony of a great pioneer may be appreciated from the following letter written by Edmund Lovell Ellsworth:

Show Low, Apache County, Arizona
25 October 1885

To my dear Son, EDMUND:

I had thought of not writing until my folks had answered my letters to them. As I had answered all of your letters I felt that if you wanted to hear from me you would answer mine. I feel I owe you a duty, as the authorities of the Church have enjoined it upon the heads of families to set their families in order that the Church might prosper and that the Kingdom of God might be built up. As the Lord has placed under my care a large family, I am obliged to set before them an example worthy of their imitation. I have tried through my life to set this example to the best of my ability. If I have erred I have been but human. God, before whose throne I expect to soon appear, knows that I tried to do right, to take a course that I might lead them to eternal life. I hope that those who may judge me unkindly may better my course. I hope that you, my son, may do more and do it better than your father has done. If you do, give God the glory. You were not born and reared a Methodist as your father was, and you do not have to unlearn those errors. We are called upon to keep all of the commandments of God. The Word of Wisdom has become one of the commandments and I hope you are all keeping this with all of the other commandments, and that you are teaching your children to do so. I hope that you do not forget to assemble with the Saints and partake of the emblems of the Lord's supper until He comes.

I enjoin it upon you, as my oldest son, to look after the family that is in that land, as though they were your own, and try to lead them to God. If it is so that your mother cannot do the work for Charlotte, see that this is done. In the vision or dream which I had, your mother and I were hand in hand and we met you and LUNA with CHARLOTTE. She told me that you and LUNA had done her work. The unalloyed joy was unspeakable. There was no evidence of discord. We were all of one heart and mind. My testimony is to you that the joy hereafter of those who gain eternal life is well worth our greatest effort.

The family here are all well. FRANK and LORETTA have gone to St. George to be married. WILLIAM and GEORGE have started to move to Mesa City, on the Salt River. I came through that place on my way from Yuma. I think of all the places our people have ever settled, that this is by far the best. The only drawback is the lack of building timber, and a little too warm in the middle of the summer. While I was there I feasted upon grapes, figs, and peaches. All were the best that I have ever seen. They have no difficulty in raising two crops in one year. When I was there the first of August, the farmers were both planting and harvesting corn. They produce five crops of alfalfa in one year. Three crops had been cut previously to my visit. If you can sell where you are, I think we should all go there for awhile, or until a hold is secured in Mexico.

(At this point in the letter EDMUND LOVELL told his son of his experiences at Prescott and Yuma. These are given previously in the journal.)

Tell your mother that POLLY JONES is to me a good mother and wife, yet at times I yearn for the companion of my youth. I have assurance that I shall have her soon and that our happiness hereafter will be unbounded. Tell her to spare not good counsel to her children, and be assured that morning and night I remember you all before our Heavenly Father. Tell ROWENNAH's children that grandfather remembers them and wants them to be good children, that they may be saved in the Kingdom of God. Tell JOHN, that his father continues to pray for him, and that I feel sorry that he does not write and give evidence that he is going to do better; that God will give him strength to overcome and become a good saint is my constant prayer. Tell your good wife that she is often spoken of as a woman that never caused bad feelings in the family, and whose motto is peace and good will. God bless her forever. I hope she will be as faithful in teaching her children as she has been as a wife to you.

We are a little poor this fall. The cost of court has obliged us to sell some of our cows and part of our mares, or all that we could sell. I still owe $300 to council. This we can pay if we sell out and be out of debt. The Prescott paper lied about me in and out of court. This I wrote up and sent to the Deseret News, which I suppose you saw.

I hope someone will write soon. I cannot think what is the matter, yet I feel to forgive that I may be forgiven.

With love to all I subscribe myself your brother and father in the gospel of peace.

EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH

NOTE: In company with RICHARD FRANKLIN JARDINE, JR., son of LUNA ELLSWORTH, the editor visited West Weber, Utah on 14 September, 1955. FRANK JARDINE was a boy of eight years in 1880 when EDMUND LOVELL left West Weber with his two families for Arizona. FRANK said EDMUND had eight wagons with two horses to each wagon. The loose cattle and horses numbered between forty and fifty and were driven by two of the boys on horses. FRANK said he remembered that many children and some adults of the neighborhood accompanied the party for a few miles as they began their trek south. All of the children of EDMUND were born previous to the migration. The thirteen children of MARY ANN BATES and the twelve of MARY ANN JONES ranged from the age of two to twenty-three years. FANNIE was then eighteen years of age. FRANK JARDINE said (Sept. 14, 1955) "I heard CHARLES GREENWELL ask the father, EDMUND, if he may marry FANNIE." Approval was given and FANNIE did not accompany the family to Arizona. AGNES had been married five years previously. Apparently she and her brother, CHARLES HENRY, did not go to Arizona. The party consisted of the father, the two mothers, and twenty-two children, or a total of twenty-five persons.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY of EDMUND ELLSWORTH<sup>8</sup>

I, EDMUND ELLSWORTH, the son of EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH and ELIZABETH YOUNG was born 7 October 1845 in Nauvoo, Hancock County, Illinois. My father was born 1 July 1819, the second child of JONATHAN ELLSWORTH and SARAH GALLEY. My mother was the oldest child of BRIGHAM YOUNG and MIRIAM WORKS. My father, EDMUND LOVELL, joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in September 1841 and arrived in Nauvoo 7 October 1841. He married ELIZABETH YOUNG 10 July 1842. Their first child, CHARLOTTE, was born 1 July 1843 in Nauvoo and was burned to death in the Autumn of 1852 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

My parents endured all the hardships incident to frontier and pioneer life. In 1847 we crossed the plains to Utah. My father was one of the first pioneers, a member of the first company. My mother, with her two children, came in the second company, with Captain DANIEL SPENCER in command.

My earliest recollections are of the early days in Utah. Some may have fared worse than I did, but all suffered with hunger during the famine of the early fifties. I saw aged Indians feeding dried grasshoppers to their little ones to sustain life. I have seen little boys take their cows to herd in the bottoms south of Salt Lake City without breakfast, and I have dug with them for wild artichokes all day. I have seen a big spotted snake in our house in the 13th Ward, Salt Lake City. In 1854, I drove some of my grandfather's cows from his barn in the 18th Ward, Salt Lake City, to the grist mill on Cannon Creek. I felt sure of one good meal, going to where flour was made. Judge my disappointment when my aunt, who lived at the mill, gave me one-half of a small bran biscuit, which was all she had, and nothing with which to make more. I knew no better at the time than to eat the last mouthful she had, and tramp back home.

In 1854, my father went on a mission to England. He returned in 1856. In 1857, he with my Uncle JOSEPH A. YOUNG, went into the lumber business and there I commenced logging. My father sold his home in the 13th Ward, Salt Lake City and bought property in the southeast part of the city where we lived until 1867. In 1858, which is known in Utah as the year of the move, I drove team between Salt Lake City and Provo. My father located in Provo with his family for the season, while JOHNSTON and his army of U.S. troops passed through Salt Lake City on their way to Camp Floyd in Skull Valley.

In 1860 I was engaged in herding cows in the mountains east of Salt Lake, when JOHNSTON'S army broke camp and started east. When the troops were passing through Emigration Canyon, an officer gave me a fine horse—one that he had ridden from Camp Floyd that day, near one hundred miles. The horse had given out and was so tired that I could not lead him home until the next day. With rest and good care he was soon all right and proved to be as fine a saddle horse as I have ever seen.

About this time my father purchased a saw mill in Mill Creek Canyon, southeast from Salt Lake City, where I went to work chopping and logging. When we first went into this, it was a very common thing to see bear, occasionally a grizzly, but mostly the brown and cinnamon.

In the early spring of 1865 we were engaged in chopping and skidding logs in readiness for the summer's business. On the first day of April, I, with three others, JOHN BOWEN, THOMAS PIERCE, and ROBERT SPERGEON (alias JACOB SYLVESTER STOUT), were caught in a snow slide. BROWN caught hold of a limb on the lower side of a tree and thereby saved himself. The other three of us were swept down the mountainside for nearly half a mile, where I was thrown against a large tree which held me until the snow went by. I sustained one or two broken ribs and otherwise badly bruised—which, by the way, I did not notice until the next day. As soon as I could extract myself from the snow which seemed more like ice, I started down the mountain looking for the others. I had not gone far when I was joined by BOWEN, who I supposed had been buried with the others. We then went together a short distance when we heard groans from below. We hastened to the spot from whence the sound came. There we found TOM PIERCE the worst piece of mangled humanity with life in it that it has been my lot to behold. One leg was broken in three places, with the knee and hip out of joint, and the leg twisted round a small tree which held him from further descent. All his ribs on one side were broken and his head was so badly smashed that we could see his brains. Still he was alive and spoke to me. He lived only a few minutes. The other boy, STOUT, we did not find until a month later. He was buried where the snow was piled the deepest in the ravine. He was well preserved with no broken bones. I suppose that he smothered.

In 1866, my father sold his property in Mill Creek Canyon and moved most of his family north into Weber County where he traded for a large tract of land. He resigned his command of the second battalion of the Nauvoo Legion. I was promoted to the office of Major to succeed him, which office I held for two years, or until I left Utah. I understand the organization was abandoned the following year.

The spring of 1867 (age 22) ELLEN CORNELIA BLAIR and I were engaged to be married. This year and the preceding one I worked the farm and hauled lumber and wood from the canyon I built a two room block house on a piece of land that my father gave me, though I never got the deed. When I had the house nearly finished I was called by PRESIDENT YOUNG, to Arizona on a mission to settle and build up the Muddy Country.

On the 5th day of November, 1867, I married ELLEN CORNELIA BLAIR. My grandfather, President BRIGHAM YOUNG, performed the ceremony in the endowment house, Salt Lake City. Soon after we were married my father sold the house I had built and all that he owned in Salt Lake City to one DAN CLIFF. He received in payment a lot of old shelf-worn goods that were of little value to anyone.

On the 13th of November, 1867, we started south on our mission to the Muddy, with a single team of small horses, an old narrow tracked wagon, which was not fit for the trip, as most all wagons in the south were wide track. PRESTON BLAIR, my wife's brother, and CHARLES JOHNSON started with us. Three days later we fell in with other parties. Some were going to southern Utah and others were going to the Muddy. All went well until we were crossing the Black Ridge, south of Canary, where ELLEN took sick. We stopped for a short time. All of the teams left us. The day was cold and the roads were very rough. When ELLEN had somewhat recovered, we started on and overtook the company late that night at Cottonwood or Harrisville. ELLEN was still quite sick. The next day we reached St. George where ELLEN'S father was living. After stopping with her father two or three days, I left ELLEN and continued on to the Muddy where I arrived about the 10th of December. Some were settling at St. Thomas and others at St. Joseph, eight miles farther up the Muddy. I preferred St. Joseph so I located there. A man by the name of BENNETT presided as Bishop. Soon after locating we had a piece of fine looking land surveyed and platted into five acre lots and all who wanted land drew numbers from a hat. I was very lucky in drawing one of the best lots. Shortly after, when I returned to St. George for my wife, the Bishop gave my lot to a man by the name of Streeper, who gave the Bishop a linen duster. This and similar acts made bad feelings between the new and old settlers.

Upon reaching St. George my team was poor and tired, so I concluded to make the trip back to the Muddy with a large freight train that was going to Southern California for merchandise. The roads were a heavy sand all the way which made travel slow and tedious. NELSON EMPY, hearing of our being on the road with a poor team, came out from St. Joseph with a pair of mules to meet us. We parted with the freight outfit. The freight train was in charge of DAVID CANNON, whom I found to be a good all-round man.

With the help of Mr. EMPY, we reached the Muddy all right. I had a good tent with a lumber floor—the only lumber floor in St. Joseph. By opening the rear of the tent and placing the covered wagon box at the opening, we had what served for a bedroom. This served us very well until I built an adobe room in the Fort which I did before the hot weather. After living in St. Joseph for some time and not being on good terms with the old settlers, and learning of a nice little valley situated about fifteen miles up the Muddy, most of the new settlers moved up there. We had one or two quarrels with the Indians who came in large numbers to drive us back. We were all well armed and had a good leader in ANDREW GIBBONS, who could talk the Indian language as well, if not better, than an Indian. The Indians were pacified and we went to work with a will, some plowing, some started a canal, and others started to build a Fort which we voted should be called Fort Gibbons. While we were thus engaged, some false report reached President YOUNG in Salt Lake City to the effect that we had rebelled and left the settlements where we were called to settle, and that we were in danger of being scalped by the hostile Indians. Word came as fast as man and horses could travel for all who were on the upper Muddy to return to the lower settlements or return to Utah. This gave the old settlers the laugh on us and some of the boys rather than be laughed at returned to Salt Lake City.

After returning to St. Joseph, I, with several others, took up a small piece of land about two miles southeast of the town. We made a ditch about one and one-half miles long and planted corn, cotton, and a garden. WILLIAM WOOD was one interested in the new field. He had a four-horse team. About the time we got our planting done, he lost his horses. He hunted for them for two or three weeks, when he gave up the search. Being in poor circumstances, like the rest of us, he started for the mines in Southern Nevada. Soon after he had left an Indian came to me and told me that some bad Indians on the head of Beaver Dam Wash had WOOD'S horses. I told the Bishop what I had learned and offered to go as one if he would get five others to go with me and get the horses. This he would make no attempt to do, saying that everybody was too busy. I then went to the Captain of Cavalry. He would not go or ask anyone else to go. I finally got five others to go with me. I put some shoes on all of the eight horses that we took, and taking an Indian for guide, we got started the next afternoon and traveled until about midnight. We camped on the desert in the dry sand where we found some grass for the animals. We made an early start next morning, continuing in a northeasterly direction. We crossed the Toquap Wash about 10 a.m. There we found plenty of water in large holes in the rocks. Continuing our way over a trackless desert, we came to the Beaver Dam Wash about dusk. After resting a short time, we rode up the Wash and camped about five miles below where we expected to find the Indians. This night we kept a close watch on our horses. The next morning we were in our saddles about one hour before daylight, and just as it was light enough to see we surprised the Indians before they were up. We expected to encounter about one hundred and twelve, but perhaps lucky for us, most of them had gone north into the mountains on a hunt.

Fortunately they had left the horses at camp and the Indians that were left in camp — about twelve in number — were more than glad to give up the horses, or I should say three of them as they had eaten one. The ride back to St. Joseph was made all right, though we suffered for lack of water. During our absence Mr. WOOD had returned from Nevada and a more delighted man I never have seen. He soon left the Muddy and returned to Salt Lake City, leaving me a new grape vine cradle, a tool used at the time in harvesting grain. The cradle came in very useful to me as with it I got plenty of work to secure by bread.

After the harvesting was done, I went to making dobies. I made enough to build one room in the Fort and a two room house on the new townsite. I also made enough to pay for a cow. I was at this work when our oldest son, EDMUND, was born, 7 August 1868. During the month of July I had OLIVER FREE take my team to haul salt from the Salt Mountain on the Virgin River to Hico, a mining town in southern Nevada. When within twenty-five miles from Hico, he got word that the mills were shut down and that no salt was wanted. He cached the salt and returned. A short time later he left the Muddy and returned to Salt Lake City, having told me where I could find the salt.

About the 20th of August, WILLIAM SEGMILLER and I loaded up with salt and went to Hico where we sold it at a good price. We found the cache which FREE and others had made. We also hauled that to Hico and sold as before. We then bought quite a bill of goods, paying such prices as 40c for sugar, $2.50 a pound for tea; 30c per yard for calico; $50 a case for coal oil; and about such prices for all that we bought.

Returning to the Muddy, we went by way of a timber mountain where we loaded all the timber that we could haul back. It was the time of year when the Indians gather pine nuts. We found a large force of them at work gathering nuts. About the time we got to the timber the Chief's squaw fell from a tree. In falling she fell on a sharp limb which ran through her thigh and suspended her in mid-air. I let the Chief's brother and the squaw ride with me to the Muddy. I never saw a man take better care of a woman than he took of her. At each camping place he would select the best resting place for her, lifting her on and off the wagon in a manner that would be a credit to any race.

While ELLEN was in bed with our first born, fire broke out in St. Joseph. A part of the Fort was consumed in a very short time. Fortunately for us there was one room joining ours that had no roof. Here the fire was stopped; though ELLEN had been dragged from the Fort while the fire was raging.

While making dobbies the latter part of August, I took the ague and shook until I got so weak that I could hardly work. I thought it best to leave the country. I paid a mason to build my house, settled all my accounts and left a nice stack of hay to be sold, and started north about the first of November. We started in the afternoon, taking a boy with us to drive the team. We drove until late. We camped the first night in the Joshuas. We made an early start the next morning and reached the Toquap Wash in the afternoon. The water I found here in the holes was so filthy that the horses would not drink it though they were suffering for water. I gave them all the good water I had hauled thus far, and filled the kegs with the filthy stuff and proceeded on. We made a dry camp in the sand hills that night. Here we found good feed for the horses. I lay all night with the gun in my hand watching the horses as it was here, if anywhere, I felt afraid of the Indians stealing my team. Morning found the horses much refreshed. We reached the Beaver Dam Wash about 3 p.m. We found good water in a well that had recently been dug. We made a late drive that night and reached St. George the next day.

The next party to follow me across the desert was an old couple with their small boy, DAVIDSON, by name. They all perished. They had but one horse and a small buggy. The horse came to the well where he was taken care of by some men who were cleaning the well. The horse had a bridle on, and from appearances, the men mistrusted some evil, so started to retrace the horse's steps. About twelve miles back they found the boy dead where he had fallen from the horse with a keg in his hand, and a short distance further they found the old couple dead under their buggy.

The day we left St. George we reached Pinto. We stopped overnight with an old friend by the name of THALE HASKEL. The next day we drove a short distance over to where Mr. BLAIR was then living, engaged in an iron works. After a short visit with ELLEN'S father, we started on.

We reached Red Creek one afternoon and as it was my day to shake, we camped early, but we walked the streets until nearly dark before we could find anyone that would take us in, although I had money to offer. It was nearly dark when a widow's son came from the canyon with a load of wood. He saw our plight and told us to come with him, that he would do the best he could for us. God bless the boy and his mother too. They took us in to the old Fort and soon had us before a big fire. I was shaking so that I could hardly talk.

At Beaver City we left the boy who had come from the Muddy with us. As we traveled north my health improved, though still shaking with the ague. We reached Salt Lake City on the 20th of November, 1868, when I reported to my grandfather, who, after looking at me a short time said, "Edy, you look rather peaked."

I remained in Salt Lake City all of the winter of 1868-69, shaking with the ague all winter. In the spring I moved to West Weber where an old sailor told me that if I would drink a quart of good brandy just as a chill was coming, he would guarantee that I would never have another chill. I did as he told me and sure enough I have had no more chills to this day.

In the spring of 1869 (age 24) the people of West Weber were taking up some new land. I took 20 acres, the allotted amount, and helped enclose the whole field and make a canal to it. I put in 12 acres of corn, raised a fine crop besides tending to my father's farm and building a two-room adobe house. We lived in a tent during the summer and fall and got into the house before cold weather.

The following spring (1870) after putting in the crops, I, with Uncle ALONZO BLAIR, PRESTON BLAIR, and RICHARD JARDINE, went to southern Nevada where we worked near Pioche until the forepart of August. I was one of the first to haul ore from Pioche to the mills in Dry Valley.

Our second son SETH MILLINGTON, was born 30 August 1870, shortly after my return home. In the spring of 1872 I again went to Pioche, loading freight at Sandy which was then the terminus of the Utah Southern Railroad. I also took some passengers for Pioche and the Starr district. After delivering our freight we went to Pinto, Iron County, Utah, where we spent two weeks in gathering up a herd of cattle for Mr. BLAIR, my wife's father; then having sold our teams we drove the stock to Salt Lake City. In this year, the 28th of October 1872 our third son FRANK was born.

The season of 1873 I worked the farm and the following season I went with my father and brother, BRIGHAM, and RICHARD JARDINE into the lumber business at Piedmont, Wyoming. We made a failure of the undertaking. I lost nearly everything I had, excepting our farm and home. Our daughter, CLARA, was born 31 October 1874. Shortly after returning from Wyoming, I went into Bingham Canyon, Utah and hauled ore until spring, when I sold my team and returned home. This season I worked the farm. The spring of 1876 (age 31) I went to work for my father getting out railroad ties. I put in a drive of eight or ten thousand in Bear River, near Soda Springs, Idaho. We drove to Corinne, Utah, but did not reach there until April 1877, as the river froze while we were driving our ties. I went to work for J. O. SWIFT. I took charge of his lumber business in Willow Creek Canyon, Juab County, Utah. I made the road up the canyon to the timber, set the mill and did a good season's work. I finished hauling lumber about Christmas.

The following spring of 1878, FRANK CROCKER bought the property from Mr. SWIFT and engaged me to run the business. We shut down early in the fall as there was no sale for lumber; business everywhere was dull. Our son, JOHN WILLARD, was born in this year 1878 on the 31st day of October. The spring of 1880 I bought an interest in the Swift saw mill which was located on the Provo River. On the 6th of July of this year our daughter, ELIZABETH, was born. The summer was spent lumbering and was a failure as we found it impossible to drive timber successfully in the Provo River. I sold out to SWIFT and the next year (1881) worked the farm. In the spring of 1882 I took a grading contract on the O.S.L.R.R., 41 miles west from American Falls. I finished the contract on the 6th of July and went to the Poole Island, then in Oneida County, Idaho, with a view of taking up land. I went in company with my brothers, BRIGHAM and JOHN W. and my brother-in-law, RICHARD JARDINE. We camped on the dry bed just north from Lewisville on the 10th of July. We found the stream too high to ford, so left our teams on the south side and we crossed over in a small skiff. The mosquitoes had driven most of the settlers from Menan; in fact we found only one or two men, and they could give us no information about unoccupied land. After spending a short time on the island we returned to our teams, and from that camp we prospected the south side for two or three days. When coming to camp on the third day in the afternoon I told the boys that I was satisfied with the locality where we had camped. My brothers agreed with me and we decided to settle there. We returned to Utah and soon after, the others came back bringing their families, excepting JOHN, who was not married at the time. He came with the others. BRIGHAM and RICHARD built log houses and lived in them that winter.

On March the 10th, 1882, our baby ELIZABETH, died; aged one year and eight months and four days. She was buried at Salina, Utah. I returned to Lewisville in 1883, bought some stock, did some work fencing and ditching, and found a good many settlers flocking in and taking up the land around us. I returned to Utah in September. Our son, ALONZO S. was born on the 16th of September 1883.

The following season (1884) I came to Lewisville and brought the balance of my stock. That season we consolidated our canal system with W. W. PARKS CO., and got out a fair supply of water. During that summer I got out pine logs from the hills and built a two-room house and moved my family up that fall. I put in four or five acres of lucern this year as a trial, others had tried it in Menan and it had failed. I had a good stand but it only grew about six inches high until the third season when it started to grow. From then on it did fine. I had kept it well watered from the time I first put it in. After this, others began to plant, most of them on land that had been cultivated two or three seasons, and on such land we found it did well from the first season.

On the 6th of February, 1885, our baby ALONZO, died after a short illness. He was buried in the Lewisville cemetery. During the summer and fall of this year (1885) I, with my brother BRIGHAM and D. O. BRIAN, did some work getting out timber and rafting and driving on the south fork of Snake River. I think we were the first to try rafting timber down the river, though several parties tried it later that season. All made a failure of the business that season. We all found the Snake River quite a different stream to anything we had ever tried. The raft I undertook to bring down was 18 feet long and three logs deep, the middle being layed crosswise and bolted at the four corners.

This stood the knocks well enough, but we could not guide the thing anywhere. We got it from Bear Creek to Connant Valley. Others who soon attempted to follow made a worse failure than we did. The rafting was abandoned. We put in more timber and drove to the head of the dry bed and hauled with teams from there home. The following year rafting was carried on successfully. Many thousands of logs and poles were brought into the valley that year and the following years.

Camas station on the O.S.L. furnished us a fair market for our oats during the early years of Lewisville. The winters were cold and not enough travel to keep the roads open. We had very hard and disagreeable trips. One in particular, when I took my son, SETH, to drive one of the teams. The roads were drifted full of snow from one to two feet deep all of the way to the sand holes. We reached that place at 11 o'clock at night and 42° below zero. We slept, or tried to sleep, in an open hay loft. When we reached Camas the next morning we saw a man who owned the Sand Hole Ranch. He blamed us for not breaking into the house and making a fire. He told us to go in and make the best we could of the place whenever we passed that way. R. F. JARDINE and I made a trip to Nicolia in the month of February. All went well until we reached Medicine Lodge Creek. From there on the wind blew and the snow drifted so badly that it was almost impossible to travel. All of the large teams had pulled off of the road. The only way that we could proceed was to put the two teams on one wagon and pull it a short distance, then go back to the other wagon and sometime it would be midnight before we got in with the second wagon. By working this way we finally made the trip in two weeks, which we should have made in one.

On May the 6th, 1887, our youngest son, PRESTON B. was born in Lewisville, Idaho. Our oldest son, EDMUND, married EDWINA WALKER, daughter of WILLIAM and LOUISA WALKER in 1888 at Idaho Falls.

From 1885 to 1891 the stockholders in the Parks and Lewisville Irrigation Company had been very successful in enlarging their canal and supplying plenty of water to the stockholders. Some seasons we had to open the channel from the main river into the dry-bed. One year in particular the high water threw up such a gravel bar in the mouth of the dry bed as to entirely shut out all of the water. The different irrigation companies were called on to open a channel. As is usually the case on such occasions, everybody wanted to be boss and the results were $1,900 spent in labor and still no water. I offered to fill all of the canals with water and keep them full for the remainder of the season for $500. At the time no one would listen to me. The whole camp ran out of grub and had to go home. Before leaving, a meeting was called to be held in Rigby the following day. A full house met and various plans discussed. JOSIAH CALL finally got up and said he had understood that ED ELLSWORTH had offered to furnish all the canals with water the remainder of the season for $500 and if Mr. ELLSWORTH was present, he would like to hear from him. I made the offer again. It was motioned that my offer be accepted. The motion carried and at a cost of $280 to $290 I had all of the canals full in four days.

In 1891 the PARKS and LEWISVILLE Company were incorporated with the following to serve as directors for the first year, as appears in the articles of incorporation: ED ELLSWORTH, ALEXANDER KINGHORN, WILLIAM O. SAYER, ISAIAH CAMPBELL and NEAL GILCHRIST.

The fall and winter of 1892-93 the three bridges were built, one across the dry bed, one across the South Fork, and one across Bannock Jim. I took the contract to furnish all the piles and to haul all the iron and other material from the railroad to the bridges.

In 1893 Bingham County was divided and Fremont County was formed with the following men appointed to office by Governor McCONNEL. Commissioners: JOHN DONALDSON, R. F. JARDINE and F. A. PIKE. Probate Judge and Superintendent, MILES CAHOON. Assessor: JESSIE BRANDON; Sheriff, J. B. CUTSHAW; Treasurer, T. J. WINTERS; Clerk and Recorder, R. S. BRAMWELL. All the newly appointed officers met in St. Anthony on the 10th day of April and took the oath of office. The year of 1894 will long be known as the high water year. It proved disastrous to me. I had broken and seeded 120 acres of land which was flooded and the crops were all drowned. I also lost some 200 head of swine, and as is usually the case, most of my creditors, seeing me in the mud, jumped on me. Right here I must say a good word for the ANDERSON BROS. When everything went against me financially, I went into their bank at Idaho Falls and told ROBERT ANDERSON how I was situated and wanted him to take security on some property until I could pay them what I owed them. "No," said he, "Mr. ELLSWORTH, when you are able and can, you come in and settle; don't distress yourself." Shortly after this I turned over some notes and other property to the C.W. & M. Co., and they agreed to settle my account at ANDERSON BROS. which I supposed they had done until four years later when I spoke to ANDERSON BROS. about the old account. Then I learned that it had never been paid though the C.W. & M. Co. had me charged with it.

In 1898 I was appointed by the County Commissioners to fill the unexpired term of CHARLES FRENCH, who was then Probate Judge and Superintendent of Schools. He had been disqualified. His bondsmen, having withdrawn from his bonds, and through his bad habits he was unable to procure other bondsmen. This office I held until the next general election, and I believe I gave general satisfaction.

In 1893 our son, SETH M. was married to JOAN JOHNSON, daughter of CHARLES M. and JOAN JOHNSON. To them was born one child, a daughter, GLADYS. They were divorced a few years later; in 1897 SETH married a second time. This time to MAGGIE BOYCE, widow of ARTHUR BOYCE and daughter of NEAL McMILLAN. MAGGIE died November 1, 1909 in Salt Lake City, Utah, after an operation for appendicitis, leaving two children by SETH; EILEEN, aged ten and KENNETH, aged three years.

Our daughter, CLARA, was married to ADOLPH HOFFMAN in 1896. The ceremony was performed in Lewisville by Bishop R. F. JARDINE. Our son, WILLARD, was killed on the 14th of January 1892 while hunting rabbits after dark. The rabbits were in the habit of coming to feed at the haystack in the night. That night WILLARD took his gun and went across the street to neighbor HENRY BOYCE, where he sat on the butt of a haystack waiting for the rabbits to come in. While sitting there CHARLES SHURTLIFF, Jr. came to the stack from behind WILLARD and shot him in the back of the head, killing him instantly. SHURTLIFF said he mistook the boy for a rabbit. I have never been able to account for such a mistake as there could be no resemblance and being upon the stack where rabbits never go.

In 1891-92 I built the brick house on the farm at Lewisville at a cost of about $2,600. All parts of the house were well made from the foundation up, and with reroofing will be a good house a hundred years hence.

In 1896 I helped set the first line of telephone poles from Idaho Falls to St. Anthony. In 1898 my son FRANK, and I commenced to work for the Bell Telephone Company, hauling poles and running teams for the construction work between Idaho Falls and Montana. The following spring (1899) we worked between Idaho Falls and St. Anthony. The season being cold most of the grain was injured by frost. That fall we went into Star Valley, Wyoming and bought hogs and hauled them down the South Fork with teams. In this way we got a market for our frozen grain.

In 1900, on January 1st, our son FRANK B. was married to MINNIE FISHER at her father's residence at Oxford, Idaho. WILLIAM HOMER performed the ceremony. This year FRANK and I took a contract with the Bell Telephone Company to haul the poles and furnish the teams for camp purposes from Green River to Rawlins, Wyoming. We started work in April. We had some very cold and rough weather the forepart of the season. We reached Rawlins on the 2nd of September and on the 5th I started home with the teams overland by way of the old Lander cut-off route, going north from Rawlins. We reached Lewisville 20 September. We had been quite successful.

FRANK settled in full with his grandmother for the farm he had bought from her in 1901. In February of this year I made a trip to Mackay, prospecting for timber for the Bell Telephone Co., who at that time contemplated building a line from Market Lake to Mackay, but instead of this line they built from Mountain Home to Hailey, where we put our teams to work with FRANK taking charge under foreman SCOTT. He proved to be a fine fellow.

In 1902 we again went to work for the Bell Telephone Company. They started at Blackfoot and ran a line to Mackay. One GEORGE PEARSON was foreman and a more contemptible man would be hard to find. I could see from the beginning that he wanted to put other teams in our place, but we had been with the Company too long and he could find no fault with our work to give grounds for a complaint. He made the season very disagreeable for us and I understand that later he was discharged for some crooked work. Having lost so much time waiting for poles the season was not a very profitable one for us. This was PRESTON'S first season away from home, and he did so well that he was offered more than the usual wages to continue when we got through with our contract.

On the 18th of November, 1902, my Aunt VILATE YOUNG DECKER, my mother's only full sister, died in Lewisville. On the 2nd of February, 1903, my mother died. Her death was so sudden that none of the children could be called to her side, excepting her son, BRIGHAM, who was in the house when she was stricken. Death came a few minutes after she had eaten her dinner. She was buried beside her sister and the same monument marks the resting place of both. They were the two oldest children of BRIGHAM YOUNG. Neither of them had an enemy in the world and were loved by all who knew them.

In the year 1908 I bought a small piece of ground joining the town of Rigby from my son, EDMUND. I built a small house of cement blocks and nicely finished it inside and out. We moved into this house in 1909. Not feeling satisfied with the change, we sold the property back to EDMUND, Jr. in 1911 and returned to Lewisville. We bought JOSEPH RATY'S interest in the Breckenridge farm, adjoining the village of Lewisville on the north. After considerable housecleaning, repairing and painting, we moved into the place in April, 1912. I have never seen ELLEN more contented than she seemed in this place, but our happiness was of short duration. While I was on jury duty at St. Anthony, June 22, 1913, ELLEN took sick. No one seemed to think her case was serious, but she gradually grew worse until she quietly passed away on the 22nd of September. Oh God, pity those who have passed through what I have and have suffered as I have suffered. I can most heartily welcome the end. Let it come as soon as it may. Although my children are as good to me as children can be, I still feel that I am no longer needed, and I sometimes think the end is near. This may be a weakness of the spirit and not of the body.

In the spring of 1914 I turned over to CLARA and her husband, A. B. HOFFMAN, all the interest I had in the RATY farm, and in that July I took a trip through Colorado and into Arizona. I stopped three weeks in Manassa, Colorado with ALONZO and FRANK BLAIR, cousins to ELLEN. Then I went to Show Low, Arizona, where a part of my father's family lived.

I visited there for about three weeks with Aunt POLLY JONES ELLSWORTH, my father's last wife. She was then 77 years old and still enjoying good health. She had a posterity of 145 souls. Three of her sons and one daughter, also three daughters of Aunt POLLY BATES ELLSWORTH, were living at Show Low. I enjoyed a good visit for three weeks. My nephew, EDWIN ELLSWORTH, took me back to Holbrook where I took the train for Mesa, Arizona. There I spent another three weeks visiting with brothers and sisters, whom I had not seen for 35 years. One of my brothers, LOUIS, ran an ostrich farm of three or four hundred birds. This was an interesting sight to one like me who had never seen an ostrich before. While at Mesa, GEORGE ELLSWORTH, his wife, WALLACE S. and his wife, brothers LOUIS and BYRON, together with two nephews and one niece, took a trip up to the Roosevelt Dam.

In May, 1915 I, together with T. G. WILSON, took a contract to do work in the Copper Bluff Mine, situated on the Little Lost River. We started out the latter part of May. I took my granddaughter, AFTON HOFFMAN, and her schoolmate, ZULA WINCHESTER. They stayed with us about six weeks and had a fine time and were very reluctant to return home. In August of that year I took three of my granddaughters, ORBA ELLSWORTH, EILEEN ELLSWORTH and VIOLA ELLSWORTH, and a schoolmate of ORBA'S—BRENDA GARN of Centerville, Utah, on a trip through Yellowstone National Park. We returned by way of Jackson Hole, spending between three and four weeks and having an enjoyable trip. We reached home early in September.

On the 2nd of January 1916 my son, FRANK, and I started on a trip for southern California and Arizona. On the 3rd we reached Salt Lake City; on the 4th we reached Los Angeles. There we found some old acquaintances who showed us the sights of the city. On the 6th we started for San Diego by way of San Pedro, where we took the steamer Harvard and landed at San Diego at 8:30 p.m. On the 8th we visited the fair grounds and U.S. Navy quarters and returned to Los Angeles that afternoon by automobile. On the 9th we started for Arizona, reaching Mesa on the 10th.

On the 11th of October 1912, a day long to be remembered, we held a family reunion of the ELLSWORTH family, or of the part which reside in Idaho. We met in the Commercial Club rooms at Rigby. GERMAN E. ELLSWORTH of the Northern States Mission and JOHN W. HART of Rigby met with us. A fine time was had shaking hands in the forenoon with a program in the afternoon. (EDMUND died 14 September, 1916, in Lewisville, Idaho.

and brother-in-law, RICHARD JARDINE, in a migration to Idaho. With his family, he arrived 17 August 1882 at the point on the Snake River that later became Lewisville. There he filed on a homestead of one hundred and sixty acres of land. The clearing of sagebrush and the diversion of water for irrigation from the Snake River were laborious and time consuming. The family first lived in a tent. By October of 1882 a one room log house was completed. Characteristic of pioneers in a new land, BRIGHAM exchanged skills with his neighbors. He served as a blacksmith and mechanic. He could repair a clock or a farm implement. He could shoe a horse or make a casket for the dead. He constructed headgates and bridges. He extracted teeth, set broken bones, sewed open wounds and gave first aid to all who came to him. His only charge for such services was twenty-five cents for a tooth extraction. He played the violin and often served alone as the "fiddler" for dances in his own and neighboring settlements. He joined with others in forming the early Lewisville orchestra. He hunted game for the family meat supply. He hauled wood and exchanged it for groceries. He spent the summer of 1888 working in the railroad shops at Eagle Rock, later Idaho Falls.

BRIGHAM was known as a generous, hospitable neighbor. He loved his home and family. He was fundamentally religious and taught his children the fundamentals of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Family prayers brought the blessings of the Lord to a happy home. BRIGHAM died 20 November 1922.

He married EMILY ELIZA THEURER, 3 July 1889 in the Logan Temple. She was born 30 August 1865 in Providence, Utah, the daughter of JOHN THEURER and BARBARA WEHRLI. EMILY died 12 April 1942 in Idaho Falls, Idaho.
- ASA CHARLES, always known as "ACE" was the sixth child of nine children of his mother, MARY ANN DUDLEY and the twenty-fifth child of the forty-two children of his father, EDMUND LOVELL ELLSWORTH. He was about mid-way in the order of births.

Readers of the autobiography of EDMUND LOVELL have observed some of the vicissitudes of a polygamous husband and father. The love, guidance, and association of a father, divided among forty-two children, was early augmented by other relatives. Older brothers-in law, and uncles often took the place of the father. Such supervision of a growing boy generally lacked the affection and understanding needed by an adolescent. Too often, because of personal confidence in other relatives, the mother of ACE thought her son was receiving proper tutelage when in fact his abilities were exploited for commercial advantage, with little thought given to the welfare of the youth. So it was with ACE. He was only seven years of age when his oldest sister, MARY, married SPENCER RAYMOND. SPENCER was quick to take advantage of opportunities for gain. Although race horses of the "Seventies" were not registered thoroughbreds, probably as much individual interest and competition entered them as with the Kentucky Derby in later years. Every local holiday was featured by horse races. The jockey, then as now, played an important role. SPENCER observed the agility and the unusual ability of ACE in the handling of horses. ACE was apprenticed by his mother to her son-in-law to serve as a farm chore boy. Each summer while ACE was eight to twelve years old he spent with the RAYMONDS. Being small for his age his weight and adult skill in horsemanship gave the horse he rode a tremendous advantage. Each day as he rode a horse in training, he developed more skill. The compensation of the jockey was board and a pair of new overalls each summer. Too often the riding of a quality horse was more attractive than the school room.

When ACE was twelve to fourteen he was apprenticed to his mother's brother, HYRUM DUDLEY, who operated a wagon freight outfit, hauling supplies from Corinne, Utah, through eastern Idaho, to the mines of Butte, Montana. Exploitation of child labor was unheard of in the late seventies. A freight driver for the cost of only food and clothes was cheap enough. HYRUM drove ahead with his five-span of horses and two wagons, and the boy ACE, followed with ten horses and two wagons. Ten to twenty miles were traveled each day. Camp depended upon the location of water for the horses. Generally grass suitable in quantity was three to five miles from camp. ACE drove team all day and after camp was made and a quick meal, he rode Old Bess, the bell mare, and drove the loose horses to grass. While the horses grazed, ACE, with a quilt by a sage brush, tried to sleep. He was to have the horses back at camp by daylight. At times he would walk in his sleep and be awakened by placing a bare foot on a prickly-pear. In the darkness he could not find his quilt and shoes until daylight.

When the boy arrived with the horses HYRUM would have finished his campfire breakfast. ACE learned to enjoy cold bacon and cold sour-dough biscuits and at times a cold fried egg. Each day the experience was repeated.

From the age of sixteen to twenty (1882-1886) ACE spent his time helping his family pioneer the "Poole Island" at Menan, Idaho, in 1886 ACE entered Brigham Young College at Logan, Utah. He enjoyed a taste of his first formal education. While at the B. Y. C. he met EMILY ELIZA THEURER, the girl he married three years later.

Facilities for a marriage journey in 1889 from the Snake River Valley in Idaho to Logan, Utah served in part as compensation for childhood service as a race-horse jockey. SPENCER RAYMOND loaned to ACE a team of horses and a light wagon for the trip. At Logan, Utah ACE borrowed five dollars for a marriage license. He and EMILY were married 3 July 1889 in the Logan Temple. The next day being a holiday, ACE entered one of his horses in a race. He took first prize with which he paid the loan of the day before.

Before we return to Idaho with the newlyweds, may we mention the family of EMILY. She was the oldest living child of eleven children of JOHN THEURER and BARBARA WEHRLI. She was born in Providence, Utah, 30 August 1865. JOHN THEURER was born 1 September 1837 in Umeken, Argau Canton, Switzerland. His parents were MICHAEL THEURER and BARBARA HORLACHER. At the age of fourteen JOHN was taken from school and apprenticed to a tailor in Zurich. At the age of eighteen, JOHN attended meetings conducted by Mormon missionaries. Influenced somewhat by his mother, JOHN, at the age of nineteen, was baptized into The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. JOHN continued his work as a tailor, evidencing considerable skill as a designer and workman in the making of velvet vests, so popular at that time. His income was four pence a week, in addition to his board which consisted of coffee, bread and potatoes, with meat once a week. His meager earnings were used to assist the family of his father. JOHN emigrated from Switzerland to Utah in 1857. In 1857-1858 he served with the Utah soldiers in Echo Canyon. He moved to Cache Valley in 1859 and was one of the first settlers of Providence. In 1860 JOHN met his mother in Salt Lake City and also the young lady, BARBARA, who he married 4 November 1860. JOHN later served as a missionary in Germany for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He died in Providence, Utah 9 April 1914.

Returning to the marriage of ASA CHARLES ELLSWORTH<sup>8</sup> and EMILY ELIZA THEURER, the honeymoon consisted of a trip of 170 miles from Providence, Utah to Menan, Idaho in a wagon. The journey required about six days. Enroute they camped wherever night overtook them. One morning the two horses could not be found. ACE followed the tracks north toward their home. He overtook the horses about noon, returning to the wagon and his bride in mid-afternoon. Those nine hours spent alone among the sagebrush of the Fort Hall Indian Reservation seemed a week to a maid accustomed to the constant companionship of younger sisters. Each rise of dust on the distant horizon was interpreted to be either the much longed for husband or hostile Indians, quite a mixture of emotions. Hoping to meet her husband each time the dust appeared, EMILY walked toward it, only to see the flying dust disappear as a whirlwind. She did not leave the wagon long for fear marauding Indians may ransack their meager possessions so essential in the building of a new home in the not too hospitable environment of the Upper Snake River Valley. The home was soon established in a one room log cabin, with a dirt roof. The second year another room was added.

ACE worked most of one year at Pocatello, seventy miles south as a yard switchman for the Oregon Shortline Railroad. During the "Cleveland Panic" (or depression) of 1893, ACE worked for awhile in the mines near Hailey, Idaho. For a short time he was employed by his brother-in-law, SPENCER RAYMOND. At four o'clock in the morning ACE would leave with a load of grain, taking it to the market at Idaho Falls, twenty miles away. He would return about dark. After supper he would sack for the next day. Compensation for such a day was fifty cents. Frequently while ACE was away, his young wife would earn two dollars as a seamstress. Even though his wife could earn four times as much in less than half of the hours, ACE objected to her being employed. Years later a good woman, MRS. KINGHORN, said to the writer: "Let me tell you the kind of a man your father was. One morning just at daylight I was in the yard driving cows from my garden. My young husband was on a mission. I was alone with several small children. The neighbor's cows had broken down my fence. Your father came by with a load of wheat on his way to Idaho Falls. He quickly saw my predicament. He tied his team and assisted me in driving the cows from the garden. He asked for the shovel and hammer. He used three hours rebuilding my fence. I urged him to go on, that I could get along. He finished too late for the long trip to Idaho Falls. Your father returned home, thus losing an entire day's work."

ACE made an extra dollar once in a while, playing for dances. At times he carried a large bass fiddle on a horse six miles and played with a violinist and an organist from nine o'clock until morning for one dollar. If it were for a house warming or a church benefit no monetary compensation was received. At times ACE played the old foot-tread organ for the dancing.

In the log house at Menan the third, fourth and fifth children of ACE and EMILY were born. Early in the year of 1900 the family moved to Rexburg, Idaho where ACE filed on a homestead of 160 acres located ten miles east of town at the elbow of Moody Creek. At that time dry-farming had not been tried in eastern Idaho. ACE was the first to try to produce crops without irrigation in the area east of Rexburg. The first year rye was planted for hay. The next year people were surprised that wheat matured. While ACE worked for hire, EMILY helped the oldest son harness the horses and he, at the age of ten, operated the hand plow. The farming venture succeeded better than expected. Within ten years the entire Rexburg Bench was in crops. ACE acquired an additional 160 acres. He then leased state land. In 1910 he operated one of the first combine-harvesters in the area. He used a team of twenty-six horses to propel the machine. All went well until 1912 when in August, two days before the harvest was to begin, a hail storm, the first known in the area, completely destroyed one thousand acres of wheat. A loss of about twenty thousand dollars financially ruined ACE and his farming ventures in the area. He held on for about five years. Creditors for the combine-harvester and farm tractor closed in. What else could they do. ACE never blamed them. He never lost courage in the face of disaster. He had lived a life of service. He was known for his honesty and integrity. He found friends everywhere. Many of them he had given lodging and food without charge.

ACE and EMILY, with three young boys at home, determined to "start over again." They secured new land in the Mud Lake area and all was prospering until ill health overtook ACE. They moved about for employment and school until his health forced a slow-down.

Although only average size—5'10" and about 150 pounds in weight, ACE always did more than his share of work. When pitching hay he seemed to delight in loading his side first and going around the load to help the other fellow. When in the timber for wood or logs he always had his load completed first and then assisted his friends. He was always on the giving and helping side. Because of personal pride to excell and serve, his spirit seemed injured when his family sent him to the Mayo Clinic for an operation and the treatment of cancer. He seemed to recover after a reoccurrence and another operation in Salt Lake City. His wounds were healing. He insisted on being active. If he were to die it would be with his "chaps on." So it was on 20 March 1924; he died from a lung hemorrhage, partly caused by an accident in early manhood thirty years previously, when a four-horse load of calves ran over his body, breaking the the sternum, three ribs on one side and two on the other. An X-ray years later indicated that a broken rib had punctured the lungs. The old wound had given way, causing death.

EMILY continued to make a home for her three younger sons, helping them in college until the youngest one, HEBER, was married in 1930. From that time she lived with her childrein until her death, 12 April 1942. She was a lovely mother. Through sickness and crop failure, never once did she keep a child from school to help her rear her six of nine children. Three of her children died young. She urged her children to go to college, which all of them did. Her frugality and personal encouragement largely accounted for the social, financial, and most important, the religious success of her children. CHILDREN:

22. LEO ELLSWORTH<sup>9</sup> (WILLIAM WALLACE<sup>8</sup>, EDMUND<sup>7</sup>, JONATHAN<sup>6</sup>, ISRAEL<sup>5</sup>, SAMUEL<sup>4</sup>, SAMUEL<sup>3</sup>, JOSIAH<sup>2</sup>, JOSIAH<sup>1</sup>) of Queen Creek, Arizona was born 9 January 1890 in Mesa, Arizona. He married (1st) MARY HANSEN, 15 September 1910, the daughter of HANS HANSEN and LOR-ETTA ELLSWORTH. He married (2nd) HILDA BEATRICE KRENZIEN, 7 September 1950 in Gallup, New Mexico. She was born 20 May 1899 in Stanton, Nebraska, the daughter of GUSTAVE KRENZIEN and MAGDALENA BELZ.

LEO was ordained a High Priest, 11 (May 1918 by Rudger Clawson and served as Bishop of the Lakeside Ward 1918-1920. He moved to Peoria in 1920, becoming a partner in the E. J. BENNETT Investment Company. LEO was associated for eight years with the Valley National Bank, in charge of real estate loans, foreclosures, and the reorganization and sale of foreclosed property. One of his assignments included the bankrupt project at Queen Creek, mentioned later.

Leo<sup>9</sup>
son of William Wallace<sup>8</sup>

Through devotion to the study of the problems of agriculture, LEO developed what his brothers termed an almost uncanny ability to analyze a situation, prescribe a solution, and successfully manage a procedure. With this skill, he and his younger brother, LARENCE took over the bankrupt business of the Griffin Farms in Queen Creek in 1935. The business included a store, farms, machinery, equipment of all kinds, a townsite, and debts galore. Soon another brother, DONALD, was taken into the partnership. The three brothers, by hard work, inspiration and perspiration, paid off the debts, made the business solvent and began to extend their holdings into the formidable Arizona desert. The desert land was practically worthless without water. No river rights were available. Section (640 acres) after section of land was purchased at only a few dollars an acre. Bulldozers quickly smoothed the hummocks of drifted sand. Deep wells were drilled and crops planted. Growing plants responded to the magic of water. Favorable prices for cotton, as the main cash crop, paid operating costs. High prices for livestock made the production of feed crops profitable. Climate made possible five crops of alfalfa a year. Farm after farm was purchased, reclaimed and paid for. The project finally contained twenty five thousand acres, plus range land. The business grew and so did the children of the three brothers. The latter factor suggested a division of the holdings and the discontinuance of the partnership.

While developing the project at Queen Creek LEO served for thirteen years on the loan board of the Federal Farm Loan Assor ciation, and for three years on the governor's Under Ground Water Commission. LEO gave a farm of four hundred acres of irrigated land to the Maricopa Stake Welfare. He gave a farm of one hundred and sixty acres to the Arizona Boys Ranch, as a home to orphan youth. He gave the land and development of the "Ellsworth Park" in Mesa. The project includes fifteen acres and a large fieldhouse suitable for all types of public gatherings. The offices of the Stake Presidency were housed there. The project is an outstanding accomplishment. Seven Queen Creek farms were leased to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, rent free for a ten year period. Income to the Church from these farms has been one hundred thousand dollars a year.

LEO and his wife were assigned in 1954 by the Church to reorganize the Orlando Livestock Ranch at Deer Park, Florida. The property consists of 210,000 acres. The program consists of clearing, draining, diking, and planting crops and grass to support about fifty thousand head of beef cattle.

LEO has been assigned the reorganization of several extensive holdings of the Church Welfare System. He has found himself devoting full time, without salary, to the service of his fellow men.

The generosity of LEO accounts for the ultimate financial underwriting of this book. To him we are all grateful. Children: (of LEO and MARY HANSEN).

I. LEO LAMAR ELLSWORTH<sup>10</sup> was born 28 June 1911 and died 28 November 1921.

II. DUANE GORDON ELLSWORTH<sup>10</sup> was born 20 February 1922, in Peoria, Arizona. He married ETTA MAY FRYE, 23 January 1947, the daughter of GEORGE FRYE and ETTA

At the time of his marriage, LARENCE was employed by the Stewart Grocery Store in Mesa. He later worked for the Lesueur Grocery where he learned to be a meat cutter. He moved, in 1926, to a small date farm southwest of Tempe, where he was employed on the date farm of the University of Arizona. Here, in 1928, LARENCE accepted management of a grocery store at Rittenhouse, Arizona, later known as Queen Creek. In 1935 LARENCE and his brother, LEO, took over the bankrupt business of the Griffin Farms at Queen Creek. The deal included the store, farms, equipment, and all indebtedness. Later a brother, DONALD, entered the partnership. Together they produced vegetables, cotton, potatoes, dates, and livestock. LARENCE and his brothers succeeded in reclaiming, by pump irrigation, thousands of acres of the Arizona desert.

APPENDIX I*

THE ELLSWORTHS AND THEIR NAME

The name of ELLSWORTH is said to have been derived from the residence of its first bearers at a place of that name in Cambridgeshire, England. It was originally spelled EELSWORTH, meaning "Place of the eels," being situated on a stream which was at one time famous for its eels. The name is found on ancient records in the various forms of Eelsworth, Elesworth, Elsworth, Ellesworthe, Ellesworth, Elswort, Elesworde, Aylsworth, Ayleworth, Aylworth, Elworth, Ellisworth, Elsworthe, and Ellsworth, of which the last is the form most generally accepted in America today.

Families of this name were to be found at early dates in the English counties of Cambridge, York, Kent, Gloucester, Devon, Somerset, Essex, Oxford, and London and were, for the most part, of the landed gentry and yeomanry of Great Britain.

Among the earliest records of the family in England were those of Albin de Ellesworthe of Cambridgeshire in 1273, Samson de Ellesworth and Robert de Elesworde of the same country at a slightly later date. Thomas de Ellesworth of the same place in 1292, Sir John Ellsworth of the same line in the early fourteenth century (who is claimed by some authorities to have been the ancestor of the emigrant Josiah or Josias. Henry Ayleworth of Gloucestershire in the early fifteenth century (who was the father of John, father of John and Walter, of whom the first had John, who had Anthony, who was the father of Richard, Mary, John, Francis, Edmund, Peter, Paul, and Frisroid, of whom the first had a son Edward who was the father of, among others, a son named Bray, who was the father in the early seventeenth century of Tracy, Richard, Gyles, Thomas, and several daughters), Johannes or John Ayleworth of the latter sixteenth century (who was the father of Ashton, Edward, William, John, Robert, Wilter, Anthony, and others, of whom the first made his home in Kent County and was the father of Thomas, John, Walter, Roger, and several daughters, and the younger sons also left numerous issue), and Robert Elesworth of London before 1668.

It is not known definitely from which of the many illustrious lines of the family in England the first emigrants of the name to America were descended, but it is generally believed that all of the Ellsworths were of common origin at a remote period.

One of the first of the family to emigrate to America is believed to have been Jeremiah Ellsworth, who is said to have resided at Rowley, Mass., sometime before 1650 and to have been married in 1657 to the Widow Mary Smith. No definite record of his immediate family has been found, but it is supposed that the Jeremiah Ellsworth, who is said to have removed from Rowley to Brentwood, N. H., in the early eighteenth century, as well as others who removed from Rowley, Mass., about the same time to New Hampshire, were the descendants of the emigrant of that name. The last mentioned Jeremiah is said to have had four children, Aaron, Jonathan, Hannah, and John.

The before mentioned emigrant Josiah or Josias Ellsworth is said to have been the son of one John Ellsworth of Yorkshire, a descendant of the Cambridgeshire line, and to have come to Windsor, Conn., about 1646 or shortly thereafter. In 1654 he married Elizabeth Holcomb, by whom he was the father of Josiah, Elizabeth, Mary, Martha, Thomas, Jonathan, John, Job, and Benjamin, all of whom left numerous issue and have many descendants in America today.

One Christopher (some authorities say, Theophilus) Elswort or El (1) worth, who came from Holland, where he is believed to have gone from England, to New York about 1655, is believed by some authorities to have been the brother of the emigrant Josiah or Josias of Windsor. He is believed to have been the father of, among others, a son named Clement, who married Anna Maria Englebert and was the father of Theophilus and probably of others as well.

Arthur Ellsworth of Aylsworth of Kingstown, R. I. before 1679, is also said to have been a brother of the emigrant Josiah. By his wife Mary Brown he is said to have been the father of Robert, Arthur, John, Phillip, Chad, Mary, Elizabeth, Catherine, and Martha.

The descendants of these and possibly of other branches of the family in America have spread to practically every state of the Union and have aided as much in the growth of the country as their ancestors aided in the founding of the nation. They have been noted for their energy, industry, ambition, integrity, piety, patience, perseverance, ingenuity, initiative, loyalty, and courage.

Among those of the name who fought in the War of the Revolution were Captain Charles of Connecticut, Captain Peter of New York, and numerous others in the ranks of the various other New England and Southern colonies.

Robert, John, Henry, Thomas, Walter, Edward, Jeremiah, William, Jonathan, Arthur, Peter, and Josiah are some of the Christian names most highly favored by the family for its male members.

Two of the many members of the family who have distinguished themselves in America at various times were Judge Oliver Ellsworth of Windsor, Conn., famous jurist, who was born in 1745 and died in 1807, and Colonel Ephraim Elmer Ellsworth of New York and Virginia, noted military officer, who was born in 1837 and died in 1861.

One of the most ancient and frequently recurrent of the several coats-of-arms of the English family of Aylworth or Ellsworth is described as follows:

ARMS.—“Argent, a fess engrailed between six billets gules.”

CREST.—“An arm habited sable issuing out of rays or, in the hand proper a human skull argent.”

(Arms taken from Burke's "General Armory," 1884.)

Why YOU HAVE A FAMILY NAME AND WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

Primitive personal names doubtless originated soon after the invention of spoken language, although the date of their first use is lost in the darkness of ages preceding recorded history. For thousands of years thereafter, first or given names were the only designations that men and women bore; and in the dawn of historic times, when the world was less crowded than it is today and every man knew his neighbor, only one title of address was necessary. Only gradually, with the passing centuries and the increasing complexity of civilized society, did a need arise for more specific designations. While the roots of our system of family names may be traced back to early civilized times, actually the hereditary surname as we know it today is a comparatively recent development in human history, dating from a time scarcely earlier than nine hundred years ago.

A surname is a name added to a baptismal or Christian name for the purposes of making it more specific and of indicating family relationship or descent. Classified according to origin, most surnames fall into four general categories; (1) Those formed from the given name of the sire; (2) those arising from bodily or personal characteristics; (3) those derived from locality or place of residence; and (4) those derived from occupation. It is easier to understand the story of the development of our institution of surnames if these classifications are borne in mind.

As early as biblical times, certain distinguishing appellations were occasionally employed in addition to the given name, as, for instance, Joshua the son of Nun, Simon the son of Jonas, Judas of Galilee, and Simon the Zealot. In ancient Greece, daughters were scrupulously named after their fathers, as Chryseis, the daughter of Chryses; and sons' names were usually an enlarged form of the father's, as Hieronymus, son of Hiero. The Romans, with the rise of their civilization, felt the need for some hereditary title; and to meet this need, they invented a complex system whereby every patrician traced his descent by taking several names.

None of these, however, exactly corresponded to surnames as we know them, for the "clan name," though hereditary, was given also to slaves and other dependents. Excellent as this system was, it proved to be but a temporary innovation, for the overthrow of the Western Empire by barbarian invaders brought about its end and a reversion to the primitive custom of a single name.

The ancient Scandinavians and for the most part the Germans had only individual names, and there were no family names, strictly speaking, among the Celts. But as family and tribal groups grew in size, individual names proved inadequate and the need for supplementary designations began to be felt. Among the first employed were such terms as "the Strong," "the Hardy," "the Stern," "the Dreadful-in-battle"; and the nations of northern Europe soon adopted the practice of adding the father's name to the son's, as Oscar son of Ossian, Oscar son of Carnuth, and Dermid son of Duthno.

True surnames, in the sense of hereditary designations, date in England from about the year 1000. Largely they were introduced from Normandy, although there are interesting records of Saxon surnames prior to the Norman Conquest. Perhaps the oldest known surname in England is that borne by Hwita Hatte, a keeper of bees, whose daughter was Tate Hatte. During the reign of Edward the Confessor (1042-1066), there were Saxon tenants in Suffolk bearing such names as Suert Mango, Stigand Soror, Siuward Rulus, and Leurie Hobbesune (Hobson); and the Domesday record of 1085-1086, which exhibits some curious combinations of Saxon forenames with Norman family names, shows surnames in still more general use.

By the end of the twelfth century, hereditary names had become common in England. But even by 1465 they were not universal. During the reign of Edward V., a law was passed to compel certain Irish outlaws to adopt surnames: "They shall take unto them a Surname, either of some Town, or some Colour, as Blacke or Brown, or some Art of Science, as Smyth or Carpenter, or some Office, as Cooke or Butler." And as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century, a somewhat similar decree compelled Jews in Germany and Austria to add a German surname to the single names which they had previously used.

As stated above, family names may be divided into four general classes according to their origin. One of the largest of these classes is that comprising surnames derived from the given name of the father of those who first bore the surname. Such names were formed by means of an added prefix or suffix denoting either "son of" or a diminutive. English names terminating in son, ing, and kn (from the Norse sonr, ingr, kyn) are of this type, as are also the hosts of names prefixed with the Gaelic Mac, the Norman Fitz, the Welsh ap, and the Irish O; (literally "a descendant of.") Thus John's sons became Johnsons; William's sons, Williamsons or Wilsons; Richards sons, Richardsons or Richardses (the final "s" of "Richard's" being a contraction of "son"); Neil's sons, MacNeills; Herbert's sons, FitzHerberts; Thomas's sons, ap Thomases (as has been dropped from many names of which it was formerly a part); and Reilly's sons, O'Reillys. Names of this type are common not only in the British Isles, but also in Germany, the Netherlands, the Scandinavian countries, and throughout other parts of the world.

Another class of surnames, those arising from some bodily or personal characteristic of their first bearer, apparently grew out of what were in the first instance nicknames. Thus Peter the Strong became Peter Strong, Roger of small stature became Roger Little or Roger Small, and black-haired William or blond Alfred became William Black or Alfred White. From among the many names of this type, only a few need be mentioned: Long, Hardy, Wise, Gladman, Lover, Youngman, and Legrand. Such names as Fox and Wolfe perhaps also belong in this group, although some writers suggest that they may be of an ancient totemistic origin instead.

A third class of family names, and perhaps the largest of all, is that comprising local surnames—names derived from and originally designating the place of residence or habitat of the bearer. Such names were popular in France at an early date and were introduced into England by the Normans, many of whom were known by the titles of their estates on the continent and later by the titles of their English possessions. The surnames adopted by the nobility were mainly of this type, being used with the particles de, de la, or del (meaning "of" or "of the".) The Saxon equivalent was the word atte ("at the,") employed in such names as John atte Brook, Edmund atte Lane, Godwin atte Brigg, and William atte Bourne. A vestige of this usage survives in the names Atwell, Atwood, and Atwater; in other cases the Norman de was substituted; and in still others, such as Wood, Briggs, and Lane, the article was dropped. The surnames of some of the Pilgrim fathers illustrates place designations: for instance, Withrop means "from the friendly village"; Endicott, "an end cottage";<sup>4</sup> Bradford, "at the broad ford"; and Standish, a stony park." The suffixes "ford," "ham," "ley," and "ton," denoting locality, are of frequent occurrence in such names as Ashford, Bingham, Burley or Burleigh, and Norton.

While England enjoyed a period of comparative peace under Edward the Confessor, a fourth class of surnames arose—names derived from occupation. The earliest of these seem to have been official names, such as Bishop, Mayor, Fawcett (judge), Alderman, Reeve, Sheriff, Chamberlain, Chancellor, Chaplain, Deacon, Latimer (interpreter), Marshall, Sumner (Summoner), and Parker (park-keeper.) Trade and craft names, although of the same general type, were of somewhat later origin. Currier was a dresser of skins, Webster a weaver, Wainwright a wagon builder, and Baxter a baker. Such names as Smith, Taylor, Barber, Shepherd, Carter, Mason, and Miller are self-explanatory.

Many surnames of today which seem to defy classification or explanation are corruptions of ancient forms which have become disguised almost beyond recognition. Longfellow, for instance, was originally Longueville, Longshanks, Longchamps; Troublefield was Tuberville;<sup>4</sup> Wrinch was Renshaw; Diggles was Douglas; and Snooks was Sevenoaks. Such corruptions of family names, resulting from ignorance of spelling, variations in pronunciation, or merely from the preference of the bearer, tend to baffle both the tenealogist and the stymologist. Shakespeare's name is to be found in some twenty-seven different forms, and the majority of English and Anglo-American surnames have, in their history, appeared in four to a dozen or more variant spellings.

In America, the melting pot of all nations, a greater variety of family names exists than anywhere else in the world. Surnames of every race and nation are represented. While the greater number are of English, Scotch, Irish, or Welsh origin, brought to this country by scions of families which had borne these names for generations prior to emigration, many others, from central and southern Europe and from the Slavic countries, where the use of surnames is generally a more recently established practice, present considerable difficulty to the student of etymology and family history.

Those Americans who bear old and honored names—who trace the history of their surnames back to sturdy emigrant ancestors, or even beyond, across the seas, and into the dim mists of antiquity—may be rightfully proud of their heritage. While the name, in its origin, may seem ingenuous, humble, surprising, or matter-of-fact, its significance today lies not in a literal interpretation of its original meaning but in the many things that have happened to it since it first came into use. In the beginning it was only a word, a convenient label to distinguish one John from his neighbor John who lived across the field. But soon it established itself as a part of the bearer's individuality; and as it passed to his children's children, and their children, it became the symbol not of one of a family and all that the family stood for. Handed down from generation to generation, it grew inseparably associated with the achievement, the tradition, and the glory of the family. Like the coat of arms, that vivid pictorial symbolization of the name which warrior ancestors bore in battle, the name itself, borne through every event of life and through the lives of scores of one's progenitors, became the badge of family honor—the "good name" to be proud of, to protect, and to fight for if need be. As the valiant deeds of the marching generations have clothed it in glory, it has become an institution, a family rallying cry, and the most treasured possession of those who bear it.
