In the memory of my father who would have been 100 years old on

Introduction.

A few months before the death, in March 1930, of my father, Rollin C. Smith, I found a bundle of old faded papers in the attic. They proved to be some papers which father's cousin, Frank Hendee, had passed on to him not long before. While we were interested in these old papers, some dated before 1800, and were thrilled to find the signatures of great-great-grand father Reuben Smith and great-grand-father Samuel Smith, it was not till several months after father's death that I became interested in finding out what there was to know about the family. I have deeply regretted my delay, for my father was interested in his family, and could have given much information not only about the Smith family, but about the Manly family as well, who were his mother's people.

(Genealogy of Manley Family compiled May 1938.)

Such traditions and information as father had could have recalled are now lost to posterity.

Mrs. Helen Carlton # 105 of Poultney gave me the first assistance with a copy of her D.A.R. paper # 155410, and data on the family of Reuben Jr. # 8. This data for the D.A.R paper was originally furnished by Flora Griswold, whose mother's first husband was John Wiley Smith, # 11. I had information from her but her later illness and death prevented me from obtaining further help from that source.

Susan Dean Hubbell, #125, of Ravenna Ohio, contributed the vital statistics of her family, and her tribute to her pioneer grandmother, Tryphena Smith, #10, had added much to the human as well as the historic interest of this work.

Introduction.

Mary Harrison Hubbard # 156 of Salisbury, Vt. has given much help with her data and material from letters in her possession, of the Harrison family. For the interest and moral support given me by these two cousins I am deeply grateful.

The Holden family of No. Clarendon and Rutland, Vt. have contributed their share of data. Estelle Waterstradt # 160, of Dundee, Mich. made a chart of Alendar's #33 descendants which was not only a fine bit of work but a great addition to my files.

Many other descendants of Reuben Smith have sent whatever information they possessed, bible records, etc. and while it is impossible to mention each one, their efforts and help have made this compilation possible. In only one instance was my appeal for data completely ignored, but sufficient has been obtained so that the names of descendants were secured.

It was fortunate that when I began my research in earnest I was living in Pittsford, and was near enough to the Town Clerk's offices in Brandon, Rutland and Chittenden so that I was able to get first hand what information these records afforded.

The Pittsford Town History by Dr. Caverly, yielded some dates and many interesting items about locations of farms and old roads, but most of the material is from Bible and cemetery records of various branches of the family.

I have included several allied families in this compilation, as in many cases I believe such information as I have is not on record in libraries. Other information has has been obtained from various genealogies in the State Library at Madison, Wis, and from the Newberry Library and The Institute of American Genealogy of Chicago. The Whedon data is from Rev. H Curtis Whedon, of Oxford, N.Y. who is compiling the Whedon Genealogy.

Most of this data was collected in 1934, and many births, deaths and marriages have undoubtedly occurred in several branches of the family since then. And there is no doubt but errors in dates have occurred, not to mention the typographical errors.

If the heads of families will make such corrections and additions to their own copies of this pamphlet, and send such information to me it will be greatly appreciated.

Let us hope that this collection of Smith data will inspire the descendants to keep up the work by putting their own histories down in black and white for posterity.

The descendants of Reuben and Lois Smith, over 450 to the 6th generation according to this record, are scattered from Vermont to California and Florida, and my contact with those who have helped has been most pleasant.

The completion of this genealogy has been delayed for a moment, that the record of the youngest member of the family could be included, and now on this day, May 27, 1939 we can add the name of John Robert Dickerman, my third grandchild, born to Edd and Doris # 181 Dickerman of Gainesville Florida.

Early SMITH Settlements.

A Colony of Smiths landed in Virginia in 1607. They were ruled by laws written in blood. For twelve years they languished under the government by Sir Thomas Smith, Treasurer of the Virginia Company in England, and suffered greatly.

The first colony established by the Plymouth Company in 1607 on the coast of Maine was a failure.

A permanent settlement in New England began with the arrival of a body of Separatists in the Mayflower, in 1620, who founded the colony at Plymouth. This was followed in a few years by an exodus of Puritans who planted towns along the coast.

One of the first settlers of New England was Abraham Smith who was resident and land owner in Cambridge in 1646. Christopher Smith, Proprietor of Dedham, was a carpenter, herdsman and weaver.

The surname of Smith is of great antiquity in Scotland. It is sometimes called "Gow", which is the Gaelic for Smith. Traditions account of the origin of the Smith family is that they are all descended from Clan Chaltan. The word smith in Anglo-Saxon is from Smitan - to smith.

There are many Coats-of-Arms belonging to the Smith Families, but they are too numerous to explain here.

(This information has been gleaned from various Smith Genealogies in the Congressional Library, Washington.)

As the first and third engagements were held at the same time it would be impossible for one man to have served in both, so it is evident that more than one man by the name of Reuben Smith were enlisted in the companies that were raised in the Southern part of Vermont.

The Revolutionary Rolls of Vermont give also the following records of engagements in which appear the name of Reuben Smith.

Capt. Timothy Bush's Company of Militia, Scouting at Stafford. Alarm Newberry. Col. Peter Glouff, Oct. 19, 1780, 6 da. (Windsor)

Capt. Jacob Odell's Company, Col. Ira Allen's Regiment of Militia. Oct. 1781. 6 days. 13 miles. (Bennington).

Capt. Abner Seeley's Co. in Col. Benj. Wait's Battalion, July 1, 1781 to Nov. 30, 1781. (Bennington).

During the ten-year period before Vermont joined the Union in 1791 it was not uncommon for the men living in that part of New York State east of the Hudson River to join forces with Vermont for protection, and as Reuben Smith was known to be living in Little Hoosick (see Indenture) in 1788, and in Argyle (see 1790 Census) in 1790 we can assume that he was living in New York during the Revolution.

By a careful checking of the dates it appears that one person could have taken part in the three engagements in Bennington and the one in Sunderland, and as these places were only a few miles from Little Hoosick it is safe to assume that our Reuben saw service at those places.

In the MSS Division of the State Library at Albany, N.Y. is an Indenture, dated March 5, 1788 and signed by Stephen Van Rensselaer and Reuben Smith; as follows: "Reuben Smith of Little Hoosick, N.Y. in the County of Albany, Farmer, in the Manor of Rensselaerwyck, on the east side of the Hudson River, at a place called Little Hoosick, beginning at the southeast corner, a Birch tree"-----etc. "containing one hundred eighty acres, and no more." The rent was 15 bushels a year for sixty years. The signature of Reuben Smith being verified with that on a deed proves he lived in Little Hoosick in 1788.

It would be interesting to know why he broke this contract and moved to Argyle, as he was living there in 1790.

Having supplied the names which are not in the early census reports we have the family of Reuben as it was known to be in 1790 and 1800.

In the Old Baptist Cemetery, Pittsford, Vt, beside the graves of John Wiley Smith and his son, Orlin G. is a stone with the following inscription: "Willy Smith. Born 1796. Died 1816". Could she have been one of the family? If so, she couldn't have been included in the 1800 Census.

It would appear that Diadamia and Huldah did not accompany their parents to Pittsford, and our knowledge of them and their sisters, Mary and Mercy, is very scant.

One of Clarissa's granddaughters recalls hearing her grandmother say that she had thirteen brothers and sisters, and while she never saw her oldest sister she saw her next oldest but once.

That is all we know about Huldah. We have a little information about Diadamia from a letter which she wrote to her sister Lois Smith Harrison of Chittenden, Vt. The name of the state is omitted but I am inclined to think she lived in Michigan as she spoke of friends moving to "Illenoys".

This letter is owned by Lois' great granddaughter, Mary Harrison Hubbard of Salisbury, Vt. and is as follows:

Letter written by Diadama Boon to her sister Lois Harrison.

Grafton Dec 30th 1838

Dear Sister

I received yours dated July 9th and am sorry to have the melancholy news of your sons death but I feel to sympathise with you for I have been called to drink the bitter cup of affliction in losing my husband and children. But the Savior says our afflictions shall not be able ^{greater} than we are able to bare. Therefore if we are faithful we shall one day meet them in Heaven.

S. Rowland Davison moved to Illenoys this fall which was quite a bitter cup for me for I never expect to see him again in this world for old age begins to creep on and I must according to the comon course of Nature bid farewell to earth. My helth however is very good except the infirmities of age and my family were all well the last I heard from them. I should like to see you face to face then I could tell you all about my troubles.

I often reflect on past times when we youst to surround our _____? Fathers fireside then we new nothing about trouble.

We have had quite a revivle in this Town where I liv many soles have been called I trust from Nature darkness to his marvelous sigh which makes me rejoiced.

I was called to morn not long sene the loss of a neighbor Brother Daniel Rhodes Wife but I believe she has gone to a better world for she was a very pius Christian I want you to write when you can for it wont by long before Deth will close the sene with me

I shall close by sending my respects to all inquiring friends. I remain your affectionate sister

Lois S. Harrison.

Diadama Boon.

Poor Diadama, lonesome for her family, sad with the loss of her husband and children but still full of hope for the better things to come! How I wish we could know more about her.

In the City Clerk's Office, Rutland Vt. Book of Deeds 13, page 97 is the record of a Quit Claim Deed which interests me. Omitting all formal wordings it is as follows:

Reuben Smith of Pittsford to the Heirs of John Smith - - for the consideration of one dollar to the full satisfaction of the heirs of John Smith - - - - - release to the heirs, etc. land bounded on the East by Francis Gleason, South by W. Meacham, West by Rutland west line and North by lot - - - third Division by Proprietors of the Town of Rutland it being the three Rights granted by the Governor of New Hampshire to Thomas Blanchard and Oliver Colburn - - - - 60 acres.

Before Reuben Smith
Justice of Peace.

Reuben Sr. had been able to write his name but possibly at his advanced age of 82 he was able only to make his mark. Mercy and Reuben would be his sons and Orlin his grandson. I could find no record of Reuben Jr. being Justice of Peace. Who could have been the John Smith, and was he related to our family? There is record in this same office of the death of one John Smith in 1817, whose father's name was also John.

I find this deed most interesting as it is the only place that we find the name of Mercy.

The D.A.R. record states that Mary married James Dean. I believe James Dean to be the brother of Nathan Dean who married Mary's niece Tryphena. A brother, Luke, lived in Fire Hill near the Smiths, and James is said to have gone to St. Lawrence Co. N.Y with his brother Nathan to find a location. Perhaps more intensive search would find their record.

We have a full record of the other four children of Reuben which will be taken up later.

No trace of the antecedents of Reuben Smith or his wife Lois Everest can be found.

Estelle Waterstradt recalls that her old Aunt said the family were from England. We know that there were many families of Smiths in New England but the most careful search has given us no clue as to which one Reuben could claim.

There is record of the birth of Reuben Smith, son of Samuel and Mary, July 24, 1750 in Fairfield, Ct. but our record gives the place of his birth as Little Hoosic. (Conn. State Library)

At one time there was a migration of families from Connecticut to Dutchess Co. N.Y. The Burtons settled in Arents and the Meads from Hartford went to Nine Partners, and I rather think some Smith families went along too. (Ezra Mead married Trypheni a Burton in Hartford. Their daughter Cynthia married a son of Reuben Smith about 1801 in Vt.) (See Allied Families.) The Meads removed to Rutland Co. Vt in 1789 but it was 16 years later that Reuben Smith bought land in Pittsford.

There is record of a Will of Reuben Smith of Dutchess Co. N.Y. dated May 25, 1798 which leaves the property to the wife Mary and the children, (no names). Brother Nathan Smith and brother-in-law John Lockwood are the Executors; witnesses are Daniel Wright, Jacob Burton and Joseph Pardee. Jacob Burton was Cynthia Mead Smith's grandfather. Was this Reuben the father of our Reuben, and who will be able to do sufficient research to find out?

(This will is not on file in Dutchess Co)

The Everest Family.

There were two immigrant families by the name of Everest. Benjamin came from England and settled in Gaybrook. Isaac was a Planter of Guilford in 1630.

Benjamin had five sons. Zadock and Benjamin were among them and they migrated to Essex Co, N.Y. and Addison Co. Vt, and both were soldiers in the Rev. War. If there were a record of any daughters along with that of the sons I feel sure that the name of Lois would appear. Zadock had a daughter named Lois and she could have been named for his sister.

Zadock had nine other children. Loraine married a Murray and was grandmother of the Murray family of Clarendon Springs. There are families of Everests living in that town at the present time.

On his first deed to property in Pittsford Reuben's name. Address is given as Clarendon. Did his family come up from Argyle and decide to settle in Pittsford? to be near the Everest relatives?

Some authorities claim that the names Everest and Everitt were the same but even so there were families by both names. However the following entry is of interest: "Lois Everitt born Oct. 26, 1752, Woodbury Ct. Descendant of Richard Everitt." Possibly further research along this line might disclose important data.

Following is a copy of the deed to the first land bought by Reuben Smith in Pittsford. It is copied in its entirety and is immensely interesting. The land is situated in that part of the town called Fire Hill, and is high on the mountain side not far from the road "over the mountain to Hubbardton". The roads are not at all good though the rail makes a trip over them daily.

A little spring bubbles out from under a hummock at the foot of a hill near where the old cider mill stood and the spot has been a favorite picnic place of this branch of the Smith whenever occasion allowed. This spring is the beginning of the little mountain stream that flows down the mountain side, through the flat near the Vermont Company's mills at Florence, and joins the Otter Creek not far from the railroad bridge south of the station at Florence.

Recorded Dec. 4th 1798 in Book of Deeds No 3, pp31-33.

Attest: Benj. Cooley, Town Clerk. (Pittsford)

This land Reuben sold to his son Samuel on the 25th day of Sept. 1801, for $370.00; and on the 12th day of Oct. of the same year Reuben and Samuel bought of Ephraim Tucker of Bolton, Holland Co. Conn. a parcel of land for $270.00 described as follows: Beginning at a Maple tree being the NW corner of sa Smiths home lott, thence on sd Smiths west line south east 157 rods to a stake and stones being the SW corner of sd Smiths home lott, thence on the north line of land I sold Col. Kellogg West 1' South 157 rods to a stake and stones, thence North 21' East 113 rods to a stake and stones near a birch tree thence North 1' West 49 rods thence East 1' North a straight line to the place began at containing one hundred and eighteen Acres.

This transaction took place about the time of Samuel's marriage.

On Mar. 25th, 1808 Reuben sold to Samuel for $100.00 13 Acres of land which from its description sounds as if it were the north end of the "Home Farm". Description as follows:

Beginning at a maple tree at the NE Corner of my home farm, thence westerly 55 rods to the NW corner of sd farm, thence south 3' east 37 rods and 20 links to a stake and stones, thence Easterly parallel with the north line 55 Rods to a stake and stones thence North 4' East 37 rods and 20 links to the first bound.

Book 7, pp 389/90.
Pittsford.

On Oct. 12, 1761, Penning Wentworth, Governor of New Hampshire granted twenty five thousand acres to 64 men for the town of Pittsford. These 64 grantees were for the most part from Connecticut and many of them never lived on their grants. (See Pittsford Town History by Dr. Caverly.)

The first purchase of Reuben Smith was the first division of the original right of George Robins who had sold it to Webster; and Ehyrian Tucker had no doubt come into possession of the same as he sold Reuben and Samuel through the same source.

While I have several old deeds in my possession and have copied others from the records in Pittsford there is not a sufficient amount of data to make a satisfactory record of all the various land transactions that took place in the family.

However it is evident from Samuel's will (1823) that all the property had been turned over to him by his father; and the part known as the home farm Samuel willed to his son Orlin, who lived there till 1837. Cephas Brown owns the place now.

A farm south of the home farm Orlin sold to his brother-in-law, Bradley Burditt who lived there till 1862 when he bought the Buck place in Pittsford Village.

REUBEN SMITH lived to be 84 years old and his wife, 78. Both outlived their son Samuel and his wife Cynthia, and all four are buried in the Old Congregational Cemetery in Pittsford village. At the time of his death Reuben had 29 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren, according to the records which we have. These records have now enabled us to the following descendants of our Pioneer Ancestor

SAMUEL SMITH was 19 years of age when he came to Pittsford with his father, and settled on Fire Hill, where he spent the remainder of his life.

There is a tradition in the family about his death which is hard to explain; His son Orlin was often heard to relate how he drove to Albany in the dead of winter to bring home the body of his father who had ^{died} while visiting in Michigan. As Samuel died in August this trip is hard to explain, unless the body had not been shipped until the cold weather had come. The funeral expenses of $25.50 would not include transportation from Michigan even in those days of small costs. The Inventory of his estate was taken in Oct. 1829. We would like the solution of this trip.

And who could Samuel have been visiting in Michigan in 1828? Was it his sister Diadama who wrote in 1832 that she had not seen her family in so long?

There is only one thing we know about the character of Samuel and that is not greatly to his credit. There must have been a rough, primitive streak there somewhere as Rollin #51 was often known to say that he never heard his father, Orlin #13, speak of his father, Samuel, with a kind word.

And Reuben, jr. is reported having a family of sons that he frequently beat. Cynthia must have inherited this bad disposition, as the expression "ugly as Aunt Cynt" has been used in our family since my earliest remembrance! She was a stout, fleshy person as was her brother Orlin, and half brother Samuel Franklin.

Second Generation.

Her sisters Tryphena and Sarah were tiny small boned women who probably favored their mother, Cynthia Mead. Orlin had the same genial disposition as his sisters and a kinder old gentleman I have never known.

Daguerreotypes or photographs of nearly all of Samuel's children are in the possession of the writer and it is to be regretted that the expense of reproducing them prohibits including them in this compilation. There is also a photograph of Clarissa Smith Wolcott-#9

Samuel Smith's first wife was Cynthia Mead of Rutland, who died in 1824. In a few months he was again married to Sarah Bresee of Pittsford. She was born in West Stockbridge, Mass. on Jan. 15, 1795. the daughter of Christopher and Hannah (Hinman) Bresee.

CHRISTOPHER BRESSEE settled in Pittsford in 1797, and bought 166 Acres of land - part of the 3d division of the original right of Charles Whittlesey. This land was later owned by his son and son Wallace and was situated on the road to Bresee's Mills. They had 14 children and Sarah was the 10th.

In 1833, five years after the death of her husband, Sarah quit-claimed her share of her husband's estate to his son Orlin for $800.00. And on Jan. 30, 1842 in Whiting she was married to Harry Holden, son of David and Hannah Holden of Shrewsbury, who was the father of 6 daughters and two sons.

Thus the only Smith ^{grand}grandparents Samuel's/children had (except, of course, his youngest son) were "Grandpa and Grandma Holden", who were no relation at all, except as she was a Step-grandmother and he was her second husband.

That they were greatly beloved by Orlin's family is shown in letters written in the 1860's and by the fact that Orlin's son and wife named their only son Harry Holden Smith.

Sarah Bresee Smith Holden lived to be 72 years old. She died in Shrewsbury, Vt, Oct. 10, 1867; and is buried in the Old Congregational Cemetery in Pittsford by the side of her sister Kate and not far from the grave of her first husband, Samuel Smith.

See Holden Genealogy by Eben Putnam, for Holden data

At the time Samuel married Sarah Bresee his family consisted of his father Reuben and mother Lois, his sons John and Orlin, and five daughters ranging in ages from fourteen to four. Tryphena and Ezra were married and lived in Depuyster, N.Y. It must have taken a woman of strong courage to step into a family of such proportions.

It is interesting to note that Cynthia named her first daughter for her mother,; her first son for her step-father, John

Second Generation.

Wiley, and her second son for her father, Ezra Mead, of whom she must have had scant recollection.

In June 1830, nearly two years after Samuel's death, his sons John and Orlin made an agreement to become "partners in agriculture and farming", and Orlin quit-claimed his share of his father's estate to John for $1000.00

About six months after both were married this partnership was dissolved (April 1832); and Orlin discharged John from his obligation to Cynthia and Sarah as specified in their father's will.

John went to live with his father-in-law, Solomon Hendee, and Orlin stayed on at the home farm which he sold in 1835 to his brother-in-law, Bradley Burditt.

Orlin bought the Amherst Lee farm located on the "Creek Road" (to Brandon); later owned by David Holden, and at the present writing owned by a son of John Landon. This farm Orlin sold to his brother John, whose father-in-law, Solomon Hendee lived in the adjoining farm which had been improved by the erection of a large stone house. John lived here until his death in 1843.7.

Orlin bought the Willis farm in 1837 but sold it in 1846 (?) and moved back to Fire Hill. Just where he lived is not known; possibly with the Burditts who had bought the home farm.

The house on this farm had burned at one time and to its foundations was moved a house from the adjoining farm. This house now stands overlooking the Otter Creek valley and the Nickwaukett Mountain beyond, on whose slope the Manley family lived, and where Orlin went for his wife Mary.

On Oct. 2, 1847 Orlin purchased the Owen farm on Otter Creek from Ashael Wolcott, and here he spent the remainder of his life. This farm is now owned by the Vermont Marble Co. at Florence.

Samuel Smith was selectman in 1813, 1821 and 1823-4. His name appears in a list of wolf hunters in 1809. In 1827 he was selected Custodian of the Key to the Cider mill and in 1826 he was appointed Justice of the Peace.

Following are copies in whole or in part of interesting papers in the possession of the writer. Some of these are faded and torn but there is no mistaking their meaning, or importance.

Tryphena Smith Dean.

I have been asked to write a biography and a tribute to the character and personality of my pioneer grandmother, Tryphena Smith Dean. Would that I had the ability of a Boss Streeter Aldrich to bring her to life, as we see that other pioneer, Abby Deal in "Alatarn in her Hand."

To tell the story of her life is easy, but to describe her experiences, and to delineate the fine courage and happy enthusiasm with which she met the trials of frontier life are more difficult.

Tryphena was the eldest of the ten children of Samuel and Cynthia Mead Smith, and was born near Pittsford, Third Generation.

Vermont, December 17, 1802. Till the end of her life she loved Vermont and New England; and even now her "Vermont stories" are being repeated to her great-great-grandchildren.

Now she laughed as she told one on herself as a child of four or five years. It seems that she and her two little brothers, John and Ezra, were walking together and were accosted by a stranger. Observing that the children were about of a size (Tryphena was always tiny) the man said to the sister and spokesman, "Are these your brothers?" How much difference is there in your ages?" Tryphena answered solemnly, "I think about six weeks."

Tryphena was married at the age of twenty-one to a Pittsford boy, Nathan Dean. A year before their marriage, Nathan in company with a brother or two had taken up land in St. Lawrence County, New York. After keeping shanty alone one summer in the thick woods, he started for Vermont to marry his sweetheart. He traveled on foot and alone, two hundred miles, with his pack containing his clothing, on his back.

After the wedding, the couple returned to New York and began life in the shanty. They proceeded to clear land and to establish a comfortable home. They lived there twelve years during which time four of their five children were born.

Then the pioneer spirit again took possession, and again Nathan started toward the west. He went on foot and alone. He traversed Western New York, Ohio and finally found his "Utopia" in Jackson County, Michigan Territory. He bought 640 acres of land from the government, and returned to his home in St. Lawrence Co.

Third Generation.

The following year, 1836, Nathan Dean brought his family and possessions to the new home in Michigan. Traveling by water as far as Detroit, they proceeded from there with horses and wagon, the latter loaded with their goods. Tryphena rode on top of the load holding her fourteen month-old baby, George. Nathan and the older children were on foot driving the four cows.

At the time they came to Michigan, the country was an almost unbroken wilderness, and wolves and bears and Indians prowled about. The first shanty in which the family lived several months was fourteen feet by eighteen feet, and they had to set out of doors at night in order to make room for beds on the floor. The cooking was done out of doors, a pile of logs supplying the fire; bread was baked in an iron kettle with a tight fitting cover, buried in the hot ashes. Blankets were hung at night for doors and windows, and drinking water was brought from a spring four miles away.

The family often entertained new settlers who were passing through looking for land, and the Indians made frequent calls for something to eat.

Soon a comfortable log house was built, and in this home their last child was born. He was Orlin Smith Dean, my father, and he was born in 1838.

After long years of hard work and hardships, the land was cleared, fertile fields yielded rich harvests, and fine country houses and barns were built. Nathan and Tryphena found themselves prosperous, and they found great happiness in seeing their children and grandchildren enjoying the opportunities their labor and thrift had made possible. My father has told that during those hard years, while the land was being cleared of timber, and afterwards, when the large farm was under cultivation, and immense crops of wheat were being planted and harvested, Tryphena, weighing only ninety pounds, with the help of one WOMAN fed and cared for the small army of men required to do the work. There was little or no machinery in those days; the work was done by man power, and it goes without saying that there were no conveniences in the kitchen.

Third Generation.

But through it all it was the courage, the ambition, the enthusiasm of the wife and mother that furnished the incentive to push the family ahead. Tryphena never complained or knew discouragement. She possessed a remarkable mind, and what she said was worth hearing. Her sense of humor was unique, and there was always a twinkle in her eye. Young people loved her because she was never old.

Tryphena Dean lived to see her ninety-second year, but never lost any of her vivacity, and was active in mind and body until her last illness. Her doctor could find no disease; her heart stopped beating, that was all.

Nathan and Tryphena Dean loved their church, and with four others formed the first Methodist class in the community. In the early years there was an itinerant preacher and meetings were held in the lean log-house. Later the Deans were instrumental in building substantial church buildings.

The family also believed in education, and schools and colleges bear witness to their fidelity.

Nathan Dean died in 1883, at the age of eighty-four.

and Tryphena was permitted to stay with us for eleven more years.

The children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren of this couple have been men and women who have been respected for their integrity and who have measured up in a splendid way to the high standards which were set by these pioneers, Nathan and Tryphena Dean.

Timothy, b Apr. 22, 1701, in Horeneck, (Greenwich) d Manchester, Vt. later than 1790, m (1) Feb. 28, 1723 Martha Weeks, m (2) Sarah Bouton (Benton ?). Removed to Nine Partners, N.Y. before 1764 1764. Removed to Manchester, Vt. about 1769 with his five sons and one daughter. Three sons, James, Ezra and Zebulon settled on Otter Creek near Proctor and Rutland. Stephen went farther north and settled on the farm now owned & owned by Paul Phillips, and formerly owned by Byron Douglas. This family were the first white settlers in Vt.

The "History of Rutland, Co. Vt." gives an account of James who was a colonel in the Rev. War, and a prominent man in the state.

Descendants of Zebulon still live on the west side of the Creek just south of Proctor, where he settled.

Timothy, jr. stayed in Manchester, tho there is record of his buying land near Stephen's in Pittsford. The father Timothy sr. lived in Manchester. (1790 Census.)

Timothy sr. Timothy jr Ezra and Stephen saw service in the Rev. War. (Possibly Zebulon also)

Ezra Mead, b Oct. 9, 1737, d 1888, m 1760 in Hartford, Ct. Tryphena Burton, dau of Jacob and Mary (Herrick) Burton of Preston Ct., b Aug. 10, 1744. She m (2) John Wiley of Wallingford. Aug. 20, 1794. d 1825. They had 14 children: Isaac, Silas, Lydia, Rufus, Ezra, Tryphena, Solomon, Michael, Lydia, Josiah Dorcas, Mary, Peter and Cynthia.

Ezra Mead, 1760.

Ezra Mead settled on the east side of Otter Creek north of the "Double Road Crossing", the farm being known as the "Morris Reynold's Farm" at the time of the distribution of his estate.

"I, James Clagherty, of Rutland, Bennington Co. Vt. sold for 150 pounds to Ezra Mead, land owned by Zedekiah Stone, original grantor, . . . east side of Otter Creek. . . N.W. corner by Roswell Post, Jr. 100 Acres. Mar. 29, 1779."

Very little is known about Ezra Mead and we find no record of his death which occurred in the spring of 1786, according to papers on file in the Probate Office in Rutland. While there is record of some distribution of his property on May 8, 1785, the estate was not settled until Jan. 9, 1826., probably after the death of his wife, who after being a widow for nine years married John Wiley of Wallingford, Vt who was a widower of five months with five small children. There is no record of her death.

While no effort has been made up to date to trace the descendants of Ezra Mead some interesting items have been found.

Following is record of his was service; Vt. Rolls. 117, 301.

Ezra Mead of Greenwich, Addison Co. Vt. served as a private in Capt. Simeon Wright's Co. of Col. Warren's Regt. of Militia, guarding the frontier in 1779.

Ezra Mead also served in Capt. Nathaniel Blanchard's Company in Col. Ebeneser Allen's Regt. of Militia in an Alarm from Oct.12, to Nov .2,1780.

It would seem that Silas was the head of the family after the death of his father. His family in 1790 might have included himself and Michael, (males over 16), Josiah and Peter, his brothers,(Males under 16), and his mother, his wife Huldah, and his four sisters, Lydia, Mary, Dorcas and Cynthia,(Females).

He sold land in Rytland(see records City Clerk's Office, Rutland,

There is a lengthy record of the family in the town history, which relates how the eldest Edward was inclined to "bibe" too greely and once when in his cups was induced to sign on enlistment papers for the army. (1780). When sober he was "in agony of mind" for his family of small children needed him. He decided to make a fortune before he returned but much grief overtook him and he landed at home several years later, very poor, but just in time to rescue his children from a step-father!
